

The value of a decision as authority depends upon how it has been interpreted and how the principles therein announced have been limited or modified and applied, and to what extent it has been followed. — D. E. Hydrick, Justice of Supreme Court, South Carolina.

A more serious difficulty, and one likely to increase in future with the ceaseless growth of recorded cases, is that exact and comprehensive citation cannot be ensured. If the Judge is to be bound by precedents he should have all the relevant authorities at his command. But he cannot carry them all in his head, nor is it always easy to find them, in spite of the many modern devices for facilitating the search. He must depend largely on the assistance of counsel, and since the industry and acumen of the Bar are also fallible, it is not uncommon to meet with cases which might have been decided otherwise, ~~or are even overruled later,~~ because pertinent decisions have not been taken into consideration. (Professor Allen in "Law in the Making.")

Watch the latest Rulings. They are nearest to you and nearest to the Courts.

In one sense no reported case can ever be obsolete while the laws and judicial usages of English-speaking countries are what they are: that is, no man can say beforehand that any given case, however antiquated or trifling it may appear in itself to be, may not at some time have its use for the modern practitioner or text-writer. Every decision in the books is part of the history of the law, and no part of that history can be absolutely insignificant.—(Sir Frederick Pollock, Bart., LL.D., Corpus Professor of Jurisprudence in the University of Oxford.)

Accurate knowledge of the present state of the law upon any subject involves necessarily the history of the development of the law upon that subject, which can only be attained by following down the decision touching upon it. — (Francis M. Scott, Justice, Supreme Court, New York.)

The law is the last interpretation of the law given by the last Judge.

The enunciation of the most elementary principle of law is frequently met by a demand for "an authority in support of that proposition" No time spent upon providing oneself with a precedent is ever wasted even though the book may have to be judiciously hidden from view until required.—(The Hon'ble Sir Cecil Walsh, Kt., K.C., Ex-Offg., Chief Justice, Allahabad High Court.)

The last Judicial Interpretation of the law is the Law on which your case hangs.

To correctly appraise a Judicial decision, it is important to know later applications of its rules to varying states of facts by way of extension or qualification. — (S. Shepard, Chief Justice, Court of Appeal, Washington (U. S. A.).)

PREFACE

Roughly speaking, modern law may be said to fall into two broad categories—case-law or judge-made law and statute-law or law enacted by the Legislature. The whole tendency in modern times is towards codification, i. e., the reduction of the whole corpus juris, so far as practicable, to the form of enacted law. We are told that in recent years there has been a decline in the estimate of the superior value of legislation. But this has not resulted in the reduction of the bulk of enacted law. At any rate, in India there are no signs of any decline in the popularity of legislation as a form of the development of the law. On the other hand, the trend seems to be definitely in the contrary direction. New enactments covering new branches of law are continuously being brought into existence. Even in regard to personal laws like the Hindu and Muhammadan laws the Legislatures have shown considerable activity and introduced several changes by the process of statute-making. The culminating and perhaps the most significant development in this direction is the movement for the codification of Hindu law which has already commenced to take shape.

The aim of the present publication is to make available to the Bench and the Bar in a set of convenient volumes practically the entire statute law passed by the Central Legislature which is of general application to the whole of India. The Acts are given in the alphabetical order of their titles. This has the advantage of enabling an Act to be referred to without having to remember the year and number of the Act — which is the difficulty one feels when referring to the volumes of the Government publication, “Unrepealed Central Acts” in which the arrangement is according to the year and number of the Act. We also have not made any division into civil and criminal Acts as is sometimes done, as we felt that such a division is on the whole an inconvenience rather than an advantage to the profession. In numerous instances, sections of a penal nature are found in enactments which are mainly of a civil nature, e. g., the Stamp Act, Income-Tax Act, Cantonments Act, etc. In such cases it will be highly inconvenient to omit, in the portion that may be allotted to the civil section, the sections of a penal nature and print them in the criminal section. If such a course is adopted, it will detract from the utility of both the portions of the publication. Again, there are Acts like the Evidence Act which will have to appear in both sections. It was, therefore, considered, on the whole, to be the better course to just give all the Acts in their alphabetical order without labelling them as civil or criminal Acts.

Care has been taken to incorporate all the amendments in the various Acts up to date. Even provincial amendments have been given as completely as possible. In the case of the Civil Procedure Code, local amendments by the various High Courts are given. Letters Patent of the different High Courts are also given and also the rules of the Federal Court and the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council.

Besides the above, we have also given the more important of the Acts of the British Parliament applicable to India, such as the Government of India Act, 1935.

We need hardly say that all the Acts have been carefully edited and annotated. Not only have all the amendments been incorporated but also notes have been added giving particulars as to the date and other matters relating to the amendments. Full and copious extracts from Select Committee Reports, Statements of Objects and Reasons and Notes on Clauses have been given in appropriate places under each Act. Besides the above, each Act is preceded by a statement as to how the Act has been affected by subsequent legislation. Further, cognate Acts and provisions have been indicated under the respective enactments.

In addition to the above features, the case-law bearing on the different enactments has been given in the foot-notes under each section. We have taken care to see that the notes are full and it is hoped that the bulk of the relevant Indian case-law would be found summarised in the foot-notes. The notes have been divided into convenient headings of which a synopsis is given for each section. The matter under each heading is presented in a manner which is well adapted for easy and quick reference. It may also be mentioned that what may be treated as a special feature of A. I. R. publications, viz., the giving of the particular page of the report where the point occurs is also present in this publication.

There will be a consolidated subject index at the end of the last volume. This will practically be something more than a general subject index for the whole of the statute law which is of general application to India and the advantages of such an index to the profession are too obvious to require mention. It is also intended to give in the last volume the rules relating to interpretation of statutes. —

It will be seen from the above that no pains have been spared to make the publication as complete and accurate as possible. But, we are aware of the possibility of errors and omissions in a work of this vast nature. We shall feel grateful to our readers if they bring to our notice any such error or omission which they may detect and we shall gladly remedy the defects in the next edition, if, by God's grace, one is called for.

In the preparation of this work we have received the willing and able co-operation of a large body of lawyers working in the legal section of the All India Reporter Office. We take this opportunity of expressing our sincere thanks to all of them. We wish to mention in particular the services of the following gentlemen, Messrs. V. S. Balkundi, B.A., LL.B., and V. B. Bakhale, M.A., LL.B., Assistant Editors, 'The All India Reporter'; and Messrs. D. R. Rajandekar, B.A., LL.B., W. N. Gadgil, B.Sc., LL.B., D. H. Zadgaonkar, B.A., LL.B., K. S. Bakre, B.Sc., LL.B., V. We also desire to thank Mr. D. G. Ranade who was in charge of the administrative side of the organisation, and Mr. D. W. Chitale, B.A., LL.B., Superintendent of the All India Reporter Press, for the fine printing and get up of the volume.

Unrepealed Central Acts

(CIVIL & CRIMINAL)

Volume I

THE GOVERNMENT OF INDIA (ADAPTATION OF INDIAN LAWS) ORDER, 1937.

AT THE COURT AT BUCKINGHAM PALACE, THE 18TH DAY OF MARCH, 1937.

PRESENT :

THE KING'S MOST EXCELLENT MAJESTY IN COUNCIL.

WHEREAS by section two hundred and ninety-three of the Government of India Act, 1935 (hereafter in the recitals to this Order referred to as "the Act") His Majesty is empowered by Order in Council to provide that as from such date as may be specified in the Order any law in force in British India or in any part of British India shall, until repealed or amended by a competent Legislature or other competent authority, have effect subject to such adaptations and modifications as appear to His Majesty to be necessary or expedient for bringing the provisions of that law into accord with the provisions of the Act :

AND WHEREAS a draft of this Order has been laid before Parliament in accordance with the provisions of sub-section (1) of section three hundred and nine of the Act and an Address has been presented to His Majesty by both Houses of Parliament praying that an Order may be made in the terms of this Order :

NOW, THEREFORE, His Majesty, in the exercise of the said powers and of all other powers enabling him in that behalf, is pleased by and with the advice of His Privy Council to order, and it is hereby ordered, as follows :—

1. This Order may be cited as the Government of India (Adaptation of Indian Laws) Order, 1937, and shall come into operation on the first day of April, nineteen hundred and thirty-seven.

2. (1) In this Order the expression "Indian law" means a law as defined in section two hundred and ninety-three of the Act.

(2) The Interpretation Act, 1889, applies for the interpretation of this Order as it applies for the interpretation of an Act of Parliament.

3. The Indian laws mentioned in the Schedules to this Order shall, until repealed or amended by a competent Legislature or other competent authority, have effect subject to the adaptations and modifications directed by those Schedules to be made therein or, if it is so directed, shall cease to have effect.

4. (1) Whenever an expression mentioned in the first column of the table hereinafter printed occurs (otherwise than in a title or preamble or in a citation or description of an enactment) in a Central or Provincial Act or Regulation, whether an Act or Regulation mentioned in the Schedules to this Order or not, then, unless that expression is by this Order expressly directed to be otherwise adapted or modified, or to stand unmodified or to be omitted, there shall be substituted therefor the expression set opposite to it in column two of the said table.

Table of General Adaptations.

Governor-General of India in Council : Governor-General of India : Governor-General in Council : Governor-General : Government of India.	Central Government.
Governor in Council : Governor (except in the expression "Governor's Province") : Lieutenant Governor in Council : Lieutenant Governor : Chief Commissioner (except in the expression "Chief Commissioner's Province") : Local Government : Local Administration.
Gazette of India ; local official Gazette : local gazette ; any other expression denoting a gazette in which official notices of a Government are published, not being the gazette of a district or other sub-division of a Province.	Official Gazette.

Any reference to the Governor (or Lieutenant Governor) of a named Province in Council shall be treated for the purposes of this paragraph as if it were a reference to the Governor (or Lieutenant Governor) in Council of that Province.

(2) A direction in the Schedules to this Order that a specified Indian law or section or portion of an Indian Law shall stand unmodified shall be construed merely as a direction that it is not to be modified or adapted in accordance with the foregoing provisions of this paragraph.

5. (1) Where this Order requires that in any specified Indian law, or in any section or other portion of an Indian law, certain words shall be substituted for certain other words or that certain words shall be omitted, that substitution or omission, as the case may be, shall, except where it is otherwise expressly provided, be made wherever the words referred to occur in that law, or, as the case may be, in that section or portion.

(2) Where this Order requires that in any Indian law a plural noun shall be substituted for a singular noun or vice versa, or a masculine noun for a neuter noun or vice versa, there shall be made also in any verb or pronoun in the sentence in question such consequential amendment as the rules of grammar may require.

6. (1) The following provisions shall have effect where any Indian law which under this Order is to be adapted or modified has before the commencement of this Order been amended, either generally or in relation to any particular area, by the insertion or omission of words, or the substitution of words for other words—

- effect shall first be given in the amending law to any adaptation or modification required by paragraphs three and five of this Order to be made therein;
- the original law shall then be amended, either generally or, as the case may be, in its application to the particular area, so as to give effect to the directions contained in the amending law or, where any adaptation or modification has fallen to be made under sub-paragraph (a), in that law as so adapted or modified; and
- all adaptations or modifications required by this Order to be made in the original law shall then be made in that law as so amended, except so far as in the case of any particular area they may be inapplicable.

(2) In this paragraph references to the amendment of a law by the insertion or omission of words or the substitution of words do not include references to an amendment which is effected merely by directing that certain words shall be construed in a particular manner.

7. Subject to the foregoing provisions of this Order, any reference by whatever form of words in any Indian law in force immediately before the commencement of this Order to an authority competent at the date of the passing of that law to exercise any powers or authorities, or discharge any functions, in any part of British India shall, where a corresponding new authority has been constituted by or under any Part of the Government of India Act, 1935, for the time being in force, have effect until duly repealed or amended as if it were a reference to that new authority.

8. In any Indian law in force immediately before the commencement of this Order any reference by name or description to any territory shall, unless the contrary intention appears or unless it has been, or is by this Order, otherwise expressly provided, be construed as a reference to the territory which bore that name or answered to that description at the date when the enactment containing that name or description came into operation :

Provided that in the application of any enactment to Madras, Bombay, Bihar or the Central Provinces, references in that enactment to Madras, Bombay, Bihar or the Central Provinces, as the case may be, shall be construed as exclusive of so much of those Provinces respectively as was separated therefrom on the constitution of the Provinces of Orissa and Sind.

9. The provisions of this Order which adapt or modify Indian laws so as to alter the manner in which, the authority by which, or the law under or in accordance with which any powers are exercisable, shall not render invalid any notification, order, commitment, attachment bye-law, rule or regulation duly made or issued, or anything duly done, before the commencement of this Order; and any such notification, order, commitment, attachment, bye-law, rule, regulation or thing may be revoked, varied or undone in the like manner, to the like extent and in the like circumstances as if it had been made, issued or done after the commencement of this Order by the competent authority and under and in accordance with the provisions then applicable to such a case.

10. Save as provided by this Order, all powers which under any law in force in British India, or in any part of British India, were immediately before the commencement of Part III of the Government of India Act, 1935, vested in, or exercisable by, any person or authority shall continue to be so vested or exercisable until other provision is made by some Legislature or authority empowered to regulate the matter in question.

11. Nothing in this Order shall affect the previous operation of, or anything duly done or suffered under, any Indian law, or any right, privilege, obligation or liability already acquired, accrued or incurred under any such law, or any penalty, forfeiture or punishment incurred in respect of any offence already committed against any such law.

12. For the avoidance of doubt it is hereby declared that—

(a) nothing in this Order transferring or assigning any functions to the Central Government shall be construed as excluding those functions from the operation of section one hundred and twenty-three or section one hundred and twenty-four of the Government of India Act, 1935;

(b) the transfer by this Order to a Provincial Government of any jurisdiction theretofore exercisable by the Local Government of the Province shall not be construed as excluding that jurisdiction from the operation of sub-section (2) of section two hundred and ninety-six of the said Act ;

(c) nothing in this Order shall affect the provisions of any Order in Council for the time being in force made under section one hundred and fifty-eight, section one hundred and fifty-nine or section one hundred and sixty of the said Act (which empower Orders to be made regulating the relations of India and Burma as to their monetary systems, relief from double taxation, customs, and ancillary and related matters), or under any corresponding provisions in the Government of Burma Act, 1935 ; and

(d) no repeal effected by this Order shall affect the operation of sub-paragraph (2) of paragraph fifteen of the Government of India (Commencement and Transitory Provisions) Order, 1936.

[The Schedule is omitted as the amendments made thereby have been incorporated in the appropriate places in the Acts in this Manual.]

THE GOVERNMENT OF INDIA (ADAPTATION OF INDIAN LAWS) SUPPLEMENTARY ORDER, 1937.

AT THE COURT AT BUCKINGHAM PALACE, THE 29TH DAY OF JULY, 1937.

PRESENT:

THE KING'S MOST EXCELLENT MAJESTY IN COUNCIL.

WHEREAS by section two hundred and ninety-three of the Government of India Act, 1935, (hereafter in the recitals to this Order referred to as "the Act") His Majesty is empowered by Order in Council to provide that as from such date as may be specified in the Order any law in force in British India or in any part of British India shall, until repealed or amended by a competent Legislature or other competent authority, have effect subject to such adaptations and modifications as appear to His Majesty to be necessary or expedient for bringing the provisions of that law into accord with the provisions of the Act:

AND WHEREAS in exercise of the said powers in Order in Council called the Government of India (Adaptation of Indian Laws) Order, 1937 (hereafter in this Order referred to as "the Principal Order") has been made:

AND WHEREAS by sub-section (2) of section three hundred and nine of the Act His Majesty in Council is empowered to vary any Order in Council previously made under the Act:

AND WHEREAS a draft of this Order has been laid before Parliament in accordance with the provisions of sub-section (1) of section three hundred and nine of the Act and an Address has been presented to His Majesty by both Houses of Parliament praying that an Order may be made in the terms of this Order:

NOW, THEREFORE, His Majesty, in the exercise of the said powers and of all other powers enabling him in that behalf, is pleased by and with the advice of His Privy Council to order, and it is hereby ordered, as follows:—

1. This Order may be cited as the Government of India (Adaptation of Indian Laws) Supplementary Order, 1937.

2. The Schedules to the Principal Order shall be modified as directed in the Schedule to this Order, and shall have effect, and be deemed always to have had effect, as so modified.

[As the Schedules to the Principal Order have been modified as directed in the Schedule to this Order, the Schedule to this Order is omitted.]

^a THE ACTING JUDGES ACT, 1867.

(ACT XVI OF 1867)

[1st March 1867.]

An Act to authorize the making of acting appointments to certain Judicial Offices.

WHEREAS the Governor-General of India in Council or the Local Government, as the case may be, is empowered by divers enactments to appoint the Judges of certain Courts in British India: And whereas it has been doubted whether he or it is empowered to appoint persons to act temporarily as such Judges, and it is expedient to remove such doubts; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

a. Short title given by the Indian Short Titles Act, 1897 (XIV of 1897).

This Act has been declared, by notification under S. 3 (a) of the Scheduled Districts Act, 1874 (XIV of 1874) to be in force in the following Scheduled Districts, namely:

The Districts of Hazaribagh, Lohardaga (now the Ranchi District, see Calcutta Gazette, 1899, Pt. I, p. 44), and Manbhum, and Pargana Dhalbhum and the Kolhan in the Districts of Singbhum—See Gazette of India, 1881, Pt. I, p. 504.

Power to appoint acting Judges. 1. In every case in which the ^a[Central Government] or the ^b[Provincial Government], as the case may be, has power under any Act or Regulation to appoint a Judge of any Court in British India, such power shall be taken to include the power to appoint any person capable of being appointed a permanent Judge of such Court, to act as Judge of the same Court for such time as the ^a[Central Government] or the ^b[Provincial Government], as the case may be, shall direct. Every person so appointed to act temporarily as a Judge of any such Court shall have the powers, and perform the duties which he would have had and been liable to perform in case he had been duly appointed a permanent Judge of the same Court.

a. Substituted by A. O. for the words "Governor-General of India in Council."

b. Substituted by A. O. for the words "Local Government."

Certain enactments to be construed as if they contained a clause like section 1 of this Act.

2. Every such Act and Regulation shall be construed as if it contained a special clause to the purport or effect of the first section of this Act.

THE SCHEDULE.—[Repealed.]

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

"The bulk of the existing law relating to the office and duties of the Administrator-General is to be found in Act II of 1874. When this Act became law, it was desired to provide for a class of Administrators-General who were to be remunerated by commission, to furnish security to Government, to be liable for claims brought against them and to be located in the Presidency-towns. The Act has been amended on several occasions and finally in Act V of 1902 legislation was undertaken by which the Administrator-General may be a salaried officer of Government, for whose liabilities Government is responsible, and the fees for whose services are credited to Government, while by the same Act some measure of provincial decentralisation was provided for.

2. The draft Bill carries this process a stage further, and does away with the class of Administrators-General who were remunerated by commission, and makes all Administrators-General Officers of Government remunerated by fixed salaries, whose liabilities are undertaken by Government, and whose fees are credited to Government.

3. The qualification necessary for appointment to the post of Administrator-General under the present law is unnecessarily narrow. The Bill gives Government a wider field of selection for this appointment.

4. Further power is taken by the Bill to permit a more complete system of provincial decentralisation of the office of Administrator-General. It has been considered necessary, on financial grounds, to provide for a modification of the normal qualifications for appointment to the post of Administrator-General when this power is exercised.

5. The Bill also permits greater elasticity in fixing the fees to be levied under the Act. Experience has shown that many estates, which might otherwise have come into the Administrator-General's hands to their benefit, have been debarred from doing so on the ground of expense. While, however, it has been provided that Government may prescribe the fees to be levied under the Act, this power is limited by the provision that only such fees may be prescribed as will produce an annual amount sufficient to discharge the salaries and other expenses incidental to the working of the Act including such sum as Government may determine to ensure their revenue against loss.

6. Following the modern practice certain other matters now expressly provided for in the law, but which are in the nature of subsidiary rules of procedure, have been left to be dealt with under the extended rule-making power provided by the Bill.

7. Certain minor amendments in the substance of the law due to judicial decisions or further experience in the working of the Act have become desirable, and opportunity has been taken to embody them in the Bill.

8. The law relating to the office and duties of the Administrator-General is now contained in five different enactments, and as it is desirable that this branch of the law should be contained in a single enactment consolidation has been undertaken pari passu with the amendments specified above." — Gazette of India, 1912, Part V, page 188.

2. In this Act, unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context,—

(1) "assets" means all the property, moveable and immoveable, of a deceased person, which is chargeable with, and applicable to, the payment of his debts and legacies, or available for distribution among his heirs and next-of-kin:

(2) "exempted person" means an Indian Christian, a Hindu, Muhammadan, Parsi or Buddhist, or a person exempted under section 332 of the Indian Succession Act, 1865^a, from the operation of that Act:

1. Section 2 (1). — [1] The word 'assets' includes both moveable and immovable property. (Vol 13) 1926 Mad. 1026 (1027); (1898) 25 Cal. 65 (73).

[2] Per Sale J.—The term 'assets' is usually defined as meaning and including property of a deceased person chargeable with and applicable to the payment of his debts and legacies. The revenue payable in respect of the estate of a deceased person can hardly be described as a debt of such person. (1904) 31 Cal 572 (588).

^b[(3) "Government" or "the Government" means, in relation to any Province, the Provincial Government, and in relation to British subjects in Indian States, the Central Government]:

(4) "Indian Christian" means a Native of India who is or in good faith claims to be of unmixed Asiatic descent, and who professes any form of the Christian religion:

(5) "letters of administration" includes any letters of administration, whether general or with a copy of the will annexed, or limited in time or otherwise:

(6) "next-of-kin" includes a widower or widow of a deceased person, or any other person who by law would be entitled to letters of administration in preference to a creditor or legatee of the deceased:

(8) "prescribed" means prescribed by rules under this Act:

^c[* * * * *]

^d[(12) "High Court" means —

(a) in relation to Bengal, Assam and the Andaman and Nicobar Islands, the High Court at Calcutta;

(b) in relation to Madras and Coorg, the High Court at Madras;

(c) in relation to Bombay and British Baluchistan, the High Court at Bombay;

(d) in relation to the United Provinces and Ajmer-Merwara, the High Court at Allahabad;

(e) in relation to the Punjab and Delhi, the High Court at Lahore;

(f) in relation to the Provinces of Bihar and Orissa, the High Court at Patna;

(g) in relation to the Central Provinces and Berar, the High Court at Nagpur;

(h) in relation to Sind, the Judicial Commissioner's Court;

(i) in relation to the North-West Frontier Province, the Judicial Commissioner's Court; and

(j) in relation to British subjects in any Indian State, that one of the aforesaid Courts which the Central Government may from time to time notify in this behalf:

(13) "Division" means the Province or State or group of States for which an Administrator-General has been appointed under this Act].

a. See now the Indian Succession Act, 1925 (39 [XXXIX] of 1925), S. 3.

b. Substituted by A. O. for the original clause.

c. Clauses (7), (9), (10) and (11), defining Official Gazette, the Presidencies of Bengal, Bombay and Madras Presidency and Revenues of the Government, respectively, were repealed by A. O. Cl. (11) had been inserted by the Official Trustees and Administrator General's Acts Amendment Act, (21 [XXI] of 1922), S. 5.

d. Clauses (12) and (13) were inserted by A. O.

PART II.

THE OFFICE OF ADMINISTRATOR-GENERAL.

Appointment of Administrators-General.

3. ^a[(1) The Provincial Government for each Province, and the Central Government for British subjects in any Indian State or group of Indian States, shall appoint an Administrator-General:

Provided that nothing herein contained shall be deemed to bar the appointment of the same person as Administrator-General for two or more Divisions.]

(2) No person shall be appointed to the office of Administrator General ^b[* * * * *] who is not —

(a) a Barrister; or

(b) an Advocate, Attorney or Vakil enrolled by a High Court; or

(c) a person holding the office of Deputy Administrator-General at the commencement of this Act; ^c[or

(d) in the case of a Province other than Bengal, Madras or Bombay, a person already in the service of the Crown.]

b. The words "of any of the said Presidencies" were repealed by A. O.

c. Inserted by A. O.

d. Sub-section (3) was repealed by A. O.

4. The Government may appoint a Deputy or Deputies to assist the Administrator-General; and any Deputy so appointed shall, subject to the control of the Government and the general or special orders of the Administrator-General, be competent to discharge any of the duties and to exercise any of the powers of the Administrator-General, and when discharging such duties or exercising such powers shall have the same privileges and be subject to the same liabilities as the Administrator-General.

Appointment and powers of Deputy Administrators-General.
Administrator-General to be a corporation sole, to have perpetual succession and official seal, and to sue and be sued in his corporate name.

a. Substituted by A. O. for "Presidency."

5. The Administrator-General shall be a corporation sole by the name of the Administrator-General of the ^a[Division] for which he is appointed and, as such Administrator-General, shall have perpetual succession and an official seal, and may sue and be sued in his corporate name.

PART III.

RIGHTS, POWERS, DUTIES AND LIABILITIES OF THE ADMINISTRATOR-GENERAL.

(a) Grants of Letters of Administration and Probate.

As regards Administrator-General, High Court to be deemed a Court of competent jurisdiction for the purpose of granting probate or letters of administration.

6. So far as regards the Administrator-General of any ^a[Division], the High Court ^b[* * *] shall be deemed to be a Court of competent jurisdiction for the purpose of granting probate or letters of administration under any law for the time being in force wheresoever within the ^a[Division] the estate to be administered is situate.

a. Substituted by A. O. for "Presidency."

b. The words "at the Presidency-town," were repealed by A. O.

Administrator-General entitled to letters of administration, unless granted to next-of-kin.

7. Any letters of administration, which are granted after the commencement of this Act by the High Court ^a[* * *] shall be granted to the Administrator-General of the ^b[Division] unless they are granted to the next-of-kin of the deceased.

a. The words "at any Presidency-town" were repealed by A. O.

b. Substituted by A. O. for "Presidency."

Administrator-General entitled to letters of administration in preference to creditor, non-universal legatee or friend.

8. The Administrator-General of the ^a[Division] shall be deemed by all the Courts in the ^a[Division] to have a right to letters of administration other than letters pendente lite in preference to that of —

(a) a creditor; or

(b) a legatee other than an universal legatee; or

(c) a friend of the deceased.

a. Substituted by A. O. for "Presidency."

When Administrator-General is to administer estates of persons other than exempted persons.

9. If any person, not being an exempted person, has died leaving within any ^a[Division] assets exceeding the value of ^b[two thousand] rupees, and if no person to whom any Court would have jurisdiction to commit administration of such assets has, within one month after his death, applied in such ^a[Division] for probate of his will, or for letters of administration of his estate, the Administrator-General of the ^a[Division] in which such assets are shall, subject to any rules made by the Government, within a reasonable time after he has had notice of the death of

c. The words "at the Presidency-town" were repealed by A. O.

10. Whenever any person has died leaving assets within the local limits of the ordinary original civil jurisdiction of the High Court at a Presidency town, the Court, on being satisfied that danger is to be apprehended of misappropriation, deterioration or waste of such assets unless letters of administration of the estate of such person are granted, may upon the application of the Administrator-General or of any person interested in such assets or in the due administration thereof, make an order, upon such terms as to indemnifying the Administrator-General against costs and other expenses as the Court thinks fit, directing the Administrator-General to apply for letters of administration of the estate of such person :

Provided that, in the case of an application being made under this section for letters of administration of the estate of an exempted person, the Court may refuse to grant letters of administration, if it is satisfied that such grant is unnecessary for the protection of the assets; and in such case the Court shall make such order as to the costs of the application as it thinks fit.

Provincial Amendment.

BENGAL.—For the words commencing "whenever any person" and ending "at a Presidency-town" substitute the following : — "Whenever any person, not being an exempted person, has died leaving assets within Bengal, or being an exempted person, has died leaving assets within the local limits of the ordinary original civil jurisdiction of the High Court or within any area notified by the Provincial Government in this behalf in the Official Gazette." — BENGAL ACT XI OF 1940.

Power to direct Administrator-General to collect and hold assets until right of succession or administration is determined.

11. (1) Whenever any person has died leaving assets within the local limits of the ordinary original civil jurisdiction of any of the said High Courts, and such Court is satisfied that there is no person immediately available, who is legally entitled to the succession to such assets, or that danger is to be apprehended of misappropriation, deterioration or waste of such assets, before it can be determined who may be legally entitled to the succession thereto, or whether the Administrator-General is entitled to letters of administration of the estate of such deceased person, the Court may, upon the application of the Administrator-General or of any person interested in such assets, or in the due administration thereof, forthwith direct the Administrator-General

1. Section 10.—[1] The bare possibility that the recovery of assets may become barred by limitation is not such danger of misappropriation as would warrant the granting of an order to the Administrator-General. (1863) 1 Mad H C R 234 (239). (Case under S. 12 of Act 8 [VIII] of 1855.)

[2] "Interested in such assets" means "having a direct interest or share in them". (1863) 1 Mad H C R 234 (235). (Debtor to the estate cannot apply.)

[3] As to the effect of grant of letters to Administrator-General, see S. 24.

1. Section 11.—[1] "We have inserted in clause 11 (i. e. S. 11) a provision to indicate by whom applications under this clause may be made. We have further amended the clauses so as to empower the Administrator-General to apply for letters of administration of any estate which may be committed to his charge temporarily, and to retain fees and reimburse himself for expenses lawfully incurred by him on account of such estate. Consequential amendments of clauses 12 and 13 (i. e. Ss. 12 and 13) have also been inserted." — Select Committee Report.

[2] "Succession" does not mean intestate succession only. (Vol 7) 1920 Cal 376 (377).

[3] Administrator-General appointed executor of a will, can obtain an order to take possession of the assets before applying for probate. (Vol 7) 1920 Cal 376 (377).

[4] The words "collection of assets" do not necessarily mean realisation by sale or by actual receipt or possession; they imply the doing of some act in connection with the assets, whereby the Administrator-General incurs trouble of expense or responsibility. (1898) 25 Cal 65 (73); (1863) 1 Mad H C R 171 (176).

[5] A debtor to the estate of a deceased person cannot apply for an order under this section. (1863) 1 Mad H C R 234 (235).

[6] No payment to the prejudice of an estate before the grant of letters of administration can be made good by subsequent administration. Hence, pending the grant of letters a payment to the prejudice of the estate cannot be made by the Administrator-General; but he can make payment for the benefit of, or for the preservation of the assets. (1907) 11 Cal W N 193 (194).

[7] As soon as an order has been made by the High Court authorizing the Administrator-General to collect the assets of the deceased and ordering him, if necessary, to take out letters of administration to his estate, the right of the Administrator-General to the possession of the assets becomes paramount and excludes that of any other person. (1899) 23 Bom 428 (437). (Attachment of deceased's estate subsequent to order to take out letters of administration is void.)

[8] On the question of the re-imbursement of costs incurred by the Administrator-General in a suit to recover property and whether such costs include expenses of taking care of such property, see (1886) 10 Bom 350 (356, 357).

to collect and take possession of such assets, and to hold, deposit, realize, sell or invest the same according to the directions of the Court, and in default of any such directions according to the provisions of this Act so far as the same are applicable to such assets.

(2) Any order of the Court made under the provisions of this section shall entitle the Administrator-General,

- (a) to maintain any suit or proceeding for the recovery of such assets, and
- (b) if he thinks fit, to apply for letters of administration of the estate of such deceased person, and
- (c) to retain out of the assets of the estate any fees chargeable under rules made under this Act, and to reimburse himself for all payments made by him in respect of such assets which a private administrator might lawfully have made.

Provincial Amendment.

BENGAL In sub-section (1) —

(a) for the words commencing "Whenever any person" and ending "the said High Courts" substitute the following —

"Whenever any person, not being an exempted person has died leaving assets in Bengal, or being an exempted person, has died leaving assets within the local limits of the ordinary original civil jurisdiction of the High Court or within any area notified by the Provincial Government in this behalf in the Official Gazette"; and

(b) for the words "such Court" substitute the words "the Court." — BENGAL ACT XI OF 1940.

Grant of probate or letters of administration to person appearing in the course of proceedings taken by Administrator-General under sections 9, 10 and 11.

12. If, in the course of proceedings to obtain letters of administration under the provisions of section 9, section 10, or section 11, any person appears and establishes his claim—

- (a) to probate of the will of the deceased; or
- (b) to letters of administration as next-of-kin of the deceased, and gives such security as may be required of him by law, the Court shall grant probate of the will or letters of administration accordingly, and shall award to the Administrator-General the costs of any proceedings taken by him, under those sections to be paid out of the estate as part of the testamentary or intestate expenses thereof.

13. If, in the course of proceedings to obtain letters of administration under the provisions of section 9, section 10, or section 11, no person appears and establishes his claim to probate of a will, or to a grant of letters of administration as next-of-kin of the deceased, within such period as to the Court seems reasonable, or if a person who has established his claim to a grant of letters of administration as next-of-kin of the deceased fails to give such security as may be required of him by law, the Court may grant letters of administration to the Administrator-General:

Administrator-General not precluded from applying for letters within one month after death.

14. Nothing in this Act shall be deemed to preclude the Administrator-General from applying to the Court for letters of administration in any case within the period of one month from the death of the deceased.

(b) Estates of Persons subject to the Army Act^a [or the Air Force Act].

Act not to affect Regimental Debts Act, 1893.

15. Nothing in this Act shall be deemed to affect the provisions of the Regimental Debts Act, 1893.^b

b. 56 & 57 Vict., c. 5.

Letters of administration not necessary in respect of small estates administered by Administrator-General in accordance with the Regimental Debts Act, 1893.

16. It shall not be necessary for the Administrator-General to take out letters of administration of the estate of any deceased person which is being administered by him in accordance with the provisions of the Regimental Debts Act, 1893,^a if the value of such estate does not on the date when such administration is committed to him exceed rupees

1. Section 15. — [1] See the Regimental Debts Act, 1893 (56 & 57 Vict., c. 5), sections 14, 16 and 25 to 30.

1. Section 16. — [1] "We have amended clause 16 (i. e. S. 16) so as to provide that for the purposes of this clause the value of an estate of a person subject to the Army Act is to be estimated at the date upon which the administration is committed to the Administrator-General." — Select Committee Report.

[2] Section 16 of the Regimental Debts Act, 1893, runs as follows:—"Where any surplus or residue, as the case may be, does not exceed one hundred pounds, no duty shall be payable in the United Kingdom or India in one thousand, but he shall have the same power in regard to such estate as he would have had if letters of administration had been granted to him.

Provincial Amendment

BENGAL—For the words “rupees one thousand” substitute the words “two thousand rupees.”

— BENGAL ACT XI OF 1940.

17. If the Administrator-General applies in accordance with the provisions of the Regimental Debts Act, 1893^a for letters of administration of the estate of any person subject to the Army Act ^b[or the Air Force Act], the Court may grant to him letters of administration limited to the purpose of dealing with such estate in accordance with the provisions of the Regimental Debts Act, 1893.^a Power to grant Administrator-General letters limited to purpose of dealing with assets in accordance with the Regimental Debts Act, 1893.

a. 56 & 57 Vict., c. 5.

b. Inserted by the Repealing and Amending Act, 1927 [X of 1927] S. 2 and Sch. I.

(c) Revocation of Grants.

18. If an executor or next-of-kin of the deceased, who has not been personally served with a citation or who has not had notice thereof in time to appear pursuant thereto establishes to the satisfaction of the Court a claim to probate of a will or to letters of administration in preference to the Administrator-General, any letters of administration granted in accordance with the provisions of this Act to the Administrator-General may be revoked, and probate or letters of administration may be granted to such executor or next-of-kin as the case may be:

Recall of Administrator-General's administration, and grant of probate, etc., to executor or next-of-kin.

Provided that no letters of administration granted to the Administrator-General shall be revoked for the cause aforesaid, except in cases in which a will of the deceased is proved in the ^a[Division], unless the application for that purpose is made within six months after the grant to the Administrator-General and the Court is satisfied that there has been no unreasonable delay in making the application, or in transmitting the authority under which the application is made.

a. Substituted by A. O. for “Presidency.”

19. If any letters of administration granted to the Administrator-General in accordance with the provisions of this Act are revoked, the Court may order the costs of obtaining such letters of administration, and the whole or any part of any fees which would otherwise have been payable under this Act, together with the costs of the Administrator-General in any proceedings taken to obtain such revocation, to be paid to or retained by the Administrator-General out of the estate:

Cost of obtaining administration, etc., may, on revocation, be ordered to be paid to Administrator-General out of assets.

Provided that nothing in this section shall affect the provisions of clause (c) of sub-section (2) of section 11.

20. If any letters of administration granted to the Administrator-General in accordance with the provisions of this Act are revoked, the same shall, so far as regards the Administrator-General and all persons acting under his authority in pursuance thereof, be deemed to have been only voidable, except as to any act done by any such Administrator-General or other person as aforesaid, after notice of a will or of any other fact which would render such letters void:

After revocation, letters granted to Administrator-General to be deemed as to him to have been voidable only.

Provided that no notice of a will or of any other fact which would render any such letters void shall affect the Administrator-General or any person acting under his authority in pursuance of such letters unless, within the period of one month from the time of giving such notice, proceedings are commenced to prove the will, or to cause the letters to be revoked, and such proceedings are prosecuted without unreasonable delay.

21. If any letters of administration granted to the Administrator-General in accordance with the provisions of this Act are revoked, upon the grant of probate of a will, or upon the grant of letters of administration with a copy of the will annexed, all payments made or acts done by or under the authority of the Administrator-General in pursuance of such letters of administration, prior to the revocation, which would have been valid under any letters of administration lawfully granted to him with a copy of such will annexed, shall be deemed valid notwithstanding such revocation.

(d) General.

Administrator - General's petition for grant of letters of administration.

22. Whenever any Administrator-General applies for letters of administration in accordance with the provisions of this Act, it shall be sufficient if the petition required to be presented for the grant of such letters states,

- (i) the time and place of the death of the deceased to the best of the knowledge and belief of the petitioner,
- (ii) the names and addresses of the surviving next-of-kin of the deceased if known,
- (iii) the particulars and value of the assets likely to come into the hands of the petitioner,
- (iv) particulars of the liabilities of the estate if known.

Name in which probate or letters to be granted.

^a[23. All probates or letters of administration granted to any Administrator-General shall be granted to him by that name.]

a. Substituted by A. O. for the original section.

24. Probate or letters of administration granted by the High Court ^a[* * *] to the Administrator-General of any ^b[Division] shall have effect over all the assets of the deceased throughout such ^b[Division], and shall be conclusive as to the representative title against all debtors of the deceased and all persons holding such assets and shall afford full indemnity to all debtors paying their debts and all persons delivering up such assets to such Administrator-General :

Provided that the High Court may direct, by its grant, that such probate or letters of administration shall have like effect throughout one or more of the other ^b[Divisions].

Whenever a grant is made by a High Court to the Administrator-General with such effect as last aforesaid, the Court shall send to the other High Courts a certificate that such grant has been made, and such certificate shall be filed by the Courts receiving the same.

25. (1) Any private executor or administrator may with the previous consent of the Administrator-General of the ^a[Division] in which any of the assets of the estate, in respect of which such executor or administrator has obtained probate or letters of administration, are situate, by an instrument in writing under his hand notified in the Official Gazette, transfer the assets of the estate vested in him by virtue of such probate or letters to the Administrator-General by that name or any other sufficient description.

(2) As from the date of such transfer the transferor shall be exempt from all liability as such executor or administrator, as the case may be, except in respect of acts done before the date of such transfer, and the Administrator-General shall have the rights which he would have had, and be subject to the liabilities to which he would have been subject, if the probate or letters of administration, as the case may be, had been granted to him by that name at the date of such transfer.

a. Substituted by A. O. for "Presidency."

26. (1) When the Administrator-General has given the prescribed notice to creditors and Distribution of assets. others to send in to him their claims against the estate of the deceased, he shall, at the expiration of the time therein named for sending in claims, be at liberty to distribute the assets or any part thereof in discharge of such lawful claims as he has notice of.

(2) He shall not be liable for the assets so distributed to any person of whose claim he had not notice at the time of such distribution.

(3) No notice of any claim which has been sent in and has been rejected or disallowed in part by the Administrator-General shall affect him unless proceedings to enforce such claim are commenced within one month after notice of the rejection or disallowance of such claim has been given in the prescribed manner and unless such proceedings are prosecuted without unreasonable delay.

(4) Nothing in this section shall prejudice the right of any creditor or other claimant to follow the assets or any part thereof in the hands of the persons who may have received the same respectively.

(5) In computing the period of limitation for any suit, appeal or application under the provisions of any law for the time being in force, the period between the date of submission of the claim of a creditor to the Administrator-General and the date of the final decision of the Administrator-General on such claim shall be excluded.

27. (1) When the Administrator-General has, so far as may be, discharged all the liabilities of an estate administered by him, he shall notify the fact in the Official Gazette, and he may, by an instrument in writing, with the consent of the Official Trustee and subject to any rules made by the Government, appoint the Official Trustee to be the trustee of any assets then remaining in his hands.

(2) Upon such appointment such assets shall vest in the Official Trustee as if he had been appointed trustee in accordance with the provisions of the Official Trustees Act, 1913, and shall be held by him upon the same trusts as the same were held immediately before such appointment.

S. 26) as originally drafted no notice of a claim disallowed by the Administrator-General affected him unless proceedings to enforce it were commenced within one month of the date on which such claim was disallowed. We have provided that the period should run from the date when notice of the rejection or disallowance of his claim has been given to the claimant." — Select Committee Report.

[2] Sub-section (5) of S. 26 now provides for the exclusion of period between the date of submission of the claim of a creditor to the Administrator-General and the date of the final decision of the Administrator-General on such claim. In a case arising under the Act of 1874 it was held that even though there was no provision in the Limitation Act that time should cease to run upon a claim being filed or a certificate being issued by the Administrator-General, yet claims which were covered by a certificate issued by the Administrator-General were not to be considered as barred. (Vol 1) 1914 Cal 298 (299).

[3] As to the nature of the suit brought by one of the creditors against the Administrator-General challenging an improper distribution of assets among the creditors, see (Vol 1) 1914 Mad 281 (281, 282) : 38 Mad 500.

1. Section 27. — [1] "We have amended clause 27 (i. e. S. 27) so as to bring it more in accordance with the existing law. We have further provided that any appointment of the Official Trustee under this clause shall be made by an instrument in writing." — Select Committee Report.

28. (1) The High Court ^a [* * *] may, on application made to it, give to the Administrator General of the ^b[Division] any general or special directions as to any estate in his charge or in regard to the administration of any such estate.

Power for High Court to give directions regarding administration of estate.

(2) Applications under sub-section (1) may be made by the Administrator-General or any person interested in the assets or in the due administration thereof.

a. The words "at the Presidency-town" were repealed by A. O.

b. Substituted by A. O. for "Presidency."

29. (1) No Administrator-General shall be required by any Court to enter into any administration-bond, or to give other security to the Court, on the grant of any letters of administration to him by that name.

No security nor oath to be required from Administrator-General.

(2) No Administrator-General or Deputy Administrator-General shall be required to verify, otherwise than by his signature, any petition presented by him under the provisions of this Act, and, if the facts stated in any such petition are not within the Administrator-General's own personal knowledge, the petition may be subscribed and verified by any person competent to make the verification.

Manner in which petitions to be verified by Administrator-General and his Deputy.

(3) The entry of the Administrator-General by that name in the books of a company shall not constitute notice of a trust, and a company shall not be entitled to object to enter the name of the Administrator-General on its register by reason only that the Administrator-General is a corporation and in dealing with assets the fact that the person dealt with is the Administrator-General shall not of itself constitute notice of a trust.

Entry of Administrator-General not to constitute notice of a trust.

30. The Administrator-General may, whenever he desires, for the purposes of this Act, to satisfy himself regarding any question of fact, examine upon oath (which he is hereby authorised to administer) any person who is willing to be so examined by him regarding such question.

Power to examine on oath.

(e) Grant of Certificates.

31. Whenever any person has died leaving assets within any ^a[Division], and the Administrator-General of such ^a[Division] is satisfied that such assets, excluding any sum of money deposited in a Government Savings Bank, or in any Provident Fund to which the provisions of the Provident Funds Act, 1897^b, apply, did not at the date of death exceed in the whole ^c[two thousand] rupees in value, he may, after the lapse of one month from the death if he thinks fit, or before the lapse of the said month if he is requested so to do by writing under the hand of the executor or the widow or other person entitled to administer the estate of the deceased, grant to any person, claiming otherwise than as a creditor to be interested in such assets, or in the due administration thereof, a certificate, under his hand entitling the claimant to receive the assets therein mentioned left by the deceased within the ^a[Division] to a value not exceeding in the whole ^c[two thousand] rupees :

In what case Administrator-General may grant certificate.

1. Section 28. — [1] The High Court should not advise on disputed points of law and fact under S. 28 but only on questions of management of the estate. (Vol 15) 1928 Lah 514 (514).

[2] As to direction by High Court on the recovery of costs out of the estate, see (Vol 1) 1914 Cal 298 (299).

1. Section 29. — [1] "We have added a sub-clause to clause 29 (i. e. S. 29) so as to provide that the entry of the Administrator-General in the books of a company shall not constitute notice of a trust. This clause has been taken from clause 13 of the Official Trustees Bill." — Select Committee Report.

[2] Administrator-General is exempted from verifying otherwise than by his signature. (1899) 26 Cal 404 (406).

1. Section 31 — [1] "We have amended clause 31 (i. e. S. 31) so as to make it clear that certificates can be issued whenever the value of the assets within the Presidency does not exceed Rs. 1000. We have also provided that deposits in Government Savings Banks or in Provident Funds to which the provisions of the Provident Funds Act, 1897, apply should not be taken into account in computing the value of the assets. Lastly, we have made an amendment in the clause which has the effect of limiting the power of the Administrator-General under this clause to cases in which the value of the assets does not exceed Rs. 1000 at the date of the death of the deceased. This amendment reproduces the present law." — Select Committee Report.

[2] The provision contained in S. 31 implies that the certificate when granted will, as a matter of law, entitle the claimant to receive the property. (1910) 34 Bom 506 (509). (Incorporation in Hindu Wills Act, 1870, of S. 187 of Succession Act, 1865, did not affect rights, duties and privileges of Administrator-General of Bombay, Madras and Bengal).

Provided that no certificate shall be granted under this section —

- (i) where probate of the deceased's will or letters of administration of his estate has or have been granted, or
- (ii) in respect of any sum of money deposited in a Government Savings Bank or in any Provident Fund to which the provisions of the Provident Funds Act, 1897^b, apply.

- a. Substituted by A. O. for "Presidency."
- b. See now the Provident Funds Act, 1925 (19 [XIX] of 1925).
- c. Substituted by the Administrator-General's (Amendment) Act, 1926 (32 [XXXII] of 1926), S. 2, for "one thousand".

32. If, in cases falling within section 31, no person claiming to be interested otherwise than as a creditor in such assets or in the due administration thereof obtains, within three months of the death of the deceased a certificate from the Administrator-General under the same section, or probate of a will or letters of administration of the estate of the deceased, and such deceased was not an exempted person, or was an exempted person who has left assets within the ordinary original civil jurisdiction of the High Court, or within any area notified by the Government in this behalf in the Official Gazette, the Administrator-General may administer the estate without letters of administration, in the same manner as if such letters had been granted to him ; and if he neglects or refuses to administer such estate, he shall, upon the application of a creditor, grant a certificate to him in the same manner as if he were interested in such assets otherwise than as a creditor, and such certificate shall have the same effect as a certificate granted under the provisions of section 31, and shall be subject to all the provisions of this Act which are applicable to such certificate :

Provided that the Administrator-General may, before granting such certificate, if he thinks fit, require the creditor to give reasonable security for the due administration of the estate of the deceased.

Provincial Amendment.

BENGAL—After the words "in the Official Gazette, the Administrator-General may" insert the following :

"after the lapse of the said three months, or if he is required so to do in writing under the hand of the executor or the widow or other person entitled to administer the estate of the deceased, before the lapse of the said three months."—BENGAL ACT XI of 1940.

33. The Administrator-General shall not be bound to grant any certificate under section 31 or section 32, unless he is satisfied of the title of the claimant and of the value of the assets left by the deceased within the ^a[Division], either by the oath of the claimant, or by such other evidence as he requires.

- a. Substituted by the Repealing and Amending Act, 1940 (32 [XXXII] of 1940), S. 3 and Sch. II for "Presidency".

34. The holder of a certificate granted in accordance with the provisions of section 31 or section 32, shall have in respect of the assets specified in such certificate the same powers and duties, and be subject to the same liabilities as he would have had or been subject to if letters of administration had been granted to him :

Provided that nothing in this section shall be deemed to require any person holding such certificate,

- (a) to file accounts or inventories of the assets of the deceased before any Court or other authority, or
- (b) save as provided in section 32 to give any bond for the due administration of the estate.

35. The Administrator-General may revoke a certificate granted under the provisions of section 31 or section 32 on any of the following grounds, namely :—

- (i) that the certificate was obtained by fraud or misrepresentation made to him,

1. Section 32. — [1] "Clause 32 (i. e. S. 32) of the Bill as introduced precluded the Administrator-General from administering petty estates of exempted persons under the provisions of that clause. It has been pointed out that this limitation has caused considerable inconvenience in presidency-towns, and the Administrator-General by the clause as amended is authorised to administer petty estates of exempted persons within the presidency-towns and any other areas notified by Government in this behalf." — Select Committee Report.

(ii) that the certificate was obtained by means of an untrue allegation of a fact essential in law to justify the grant though such allegation was made in ignorance or inadvertently.

36. (1) When a certificate is revoked in accordance with the provisions of section 35, the holder thereof shall, on the requisition of the Administrator-General, deliver it up to such Administrator-General, but shall not be entitled to the refund of any fee paid thereon.

(2) If such person wilfully and without reasonable cause omits to deliver up the certificate, he shall be punishable with imprisonment which may extend to three months, or with fine which may extend to one thousand rupees, or with both.

S. 36A.

PROVINCIAL AMENDMENT.

Bengal. — After S. 36 the following section shall be inserted :—

“36A. When a certificate is revoked in accordance with the provisions of Section 35, all payments made Payment to holder bona fide under such certificate to the holder thereof before such revocation, shall not-of certificate before withstanding such revocation, be a legal discharge to the person making the same; and it is revoked. the holder of such certificate may retain, and reimburse himself in respect of, any payments made by him which the person to whom a certificate or probate or letters of administration may afterwards be granted, might lawfully have made.”

— BENGAL ACT XI OF 1940.

Administrator-General not bound to take out administration on account of assets for which he has granted certificate.

37. The Administrator-General shall not be bound to take out letters of administration of the estate of any deceased person on account of the assets in respect of which he grants any certificate, under section 31 or section 32, but he may do so if he revokes such certificate under section 35 or ascertains that the value of the estate exceeded ^a[two thousand] rupees.

38. Where a person not having his domicile in British India has died leaving assets in any ^a[Division] and in the country in which he had his domicile at the time of his death, and proceedings for the administration of his estate with respect to assets in any such ^a[Division] have been taken under section 31 or section 32, and there has been a grant of administration in the country of domicile with respect to the assets in that country, the holder of the certificate granted under section 31 or section 32, or the Administrator-General, as the case may be, after having given the prescribed notice for creditors and others to send in to him their claims against the estate of the deceased, and after having discharged, at the expiration of the time therein named, such lawful claims as he has notice of, may, instead of himself distributing any surplus or residue of the deceased's property to persons residing out of British India who are entitled thereto transfer, with the consent of the executor or administrator, as the case may be, in the country of domicile, the surplus or residue to him for distribution to those persons.

(f) Liability.

39. (1) The revenues of the Government ^a[* * *] shall be liable to make good all sums Liability of Government. required to discharge any liability which the Administrator-General, if he were a private administrator, would be personally liable to discharge, except when the liability is one to which neither the Administrator-General nor any of his officers has in any way contributed, or which neither he nor any of his officers could, by the exercise of reasonable diligence have averted, and in either of those cases the Administrator-General shall not, nor shall the revenues ^b[of the Government], ^c[* * * *] be subject to any liability.

(2) Nothing in sub-section (1) shall be deemed to render ^b[the Government] ^c[* * * *] or the Administrator-General liable for anything done before the commencement of this Act, by or under the authority of the Administrator-General.

[a] The words “of India” were repealed by the Official Trustees and Administrator-General's Acts Amendment Act, 1922 (21 [XXI] of 1922), S. 6. [b] The words “of the Government or” were inserted by the Official Trustees and Administrator-General's Acts Amendment Act, 1922 (21 [XXI] of 1922), S. 6. [c] The words “or the Government of India”, were repealed by A. O.

40. (1) If any suit be brought by a creditor against any Administrator-General, such Creditors' suits against Administrator-General. creditor shall be liable to pay the costs of the suit unless he proves that not less than one month previous to the institution of the suit he had applied in writing to the Administrator-General, stating the amount and other particulars of his claim, and had given such evidence in support thereof as, in the circumstances of the case, the Administrator-General was reasonably entitled to require.

(2) If any such suit is decreed in favour of the creditor, he shall, nevertheless, unless he is a secured creditor, be only entitled to payment out of the assets of the deceased equally and rateably with the other creditors.

PROVINCIAL AMENDMENT.

Bengal. — In sub-section (2) after the word "payment" insert the words "of the amount decreed or ordered by the Court to be paid." — BENGAL ACT XI OF 1940.

Notice of suit not required in certain cases.

41. Nothing in section 80 of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, shall apply to any suit against the Administrator-General in which no relief is claimed against him personally.

PART IV.

FEEs.

42. (1) There shall be charged in respect of the duties of the Administrator-General such Fees. fees, whether by way of percentage or otherwise, as may be prescribed by the Government :

Provided that, in the case of any estate, the administration of which has been committed to the Administrator-General before the commencement of this Act, the fees prescribed under this section shall not exceed the fees leviable in respect of such estate under the Administrator-General's Act, 1874^a, as subsequently amended :

Provided further that, in respect of the duties of the Administrator-General under the Regimental Debts Act, 1893^b, the fees prescribed in this section shall be determined in accordance with the provisions of that Act.

(2) The fees under this section may be at different rates for different estates or classes

1. Section 40 — [1] "We have amended clause 40 (i. e. S. 40) so as to indicate clearly that this clause is not intended to interfere with the rights of secured creditors." — Select Committee Report.

[2] The words "shall be liable to pay the costs" are intended not to impose upon a creditor to whom the condition of exemption is inapplicable an absolute obligation to pay the costs of the suit, but to leave a discretion to the Court to relieve him of the obligation if the circumstances of the case require it. (1898) 25 Cal 54 (63).

[3] The rateable payment referred to in the section is rateable payment out of the assets; it is nowhere provided that it shall be made out of the net income of the estate or any other specific part of the assets. (1898) 25 Cal 54 (61).

[4] Creditor bringing suit against debtor's widow and obtaining attachment before judgment — Property sold and sale proceeds deposited in Court — Later on Administrator-General joined as defendant in place of widow — Creditor obtaining decree in his favour but before his application for execution of decree sale-proceeds handed over to Administrator-General — Held that S. 33 of Act of 24 [XXIV] of 1867 (corresponding to S. 40 of the present Act) took away creditor's right to payment otherwise than rateably with the other creditors. (1871) 6 Mad H C B 346 (348).

[5] A creditor has a right to demand immediate payment of his claim in full when the realizable assets in the hands of the Administrator-General are sufficient for the immediate payment of all claims in full. (1898) 25 Cal 54 (62).

1. Section 42.—[1] Commission is fixed on value of assets as they are ultimately distributed. The amount which the Administrator-General is to receive is a percentage on the assets distributed, provided, they have before distribution been collected by him; if there is a rise or fall in the value of the estate since collection, his commission increases or decreases proportionately. (Vol 9) 1922 Mad 491 (493).

[2] Section 42 (1), first proviso.—For the right of the Administrator-General to charge commission in cases governed by the Administrator-General's Act, 1874, see (1904) 31 Cal 572 (581, 582); (1898) 25 Cal 65 (73); (1876) 1 Mad 148 (152); (Vol 13) 1926 Mad 1026 (1028). (Decision under Act of 1874 — Mere taking letters of administration is not sufficient to get commission.)

[3] Administration commenced before Act of 1913 — For purposes of commission value of assets is to be taken at the date of their distribution. (Vol 9) 1922 Mad 491 (495).

[4] Duties under the Regimental Debts Act, 1893.—Fees for.—Section 14 (5) of the Regimental Debts Act, 1893, is as follows : — "An official administrator shall not take a percentage on the property exceeding three per cent. on the gross amount coming to or remaining in his hands after payment of preferential charges."

As to the payment of preferential charges, see S. 2 of the same Act.

(Regimental Debts Act, 1893, S. 20 — "The expression 'official administrator' means in India the Administrator-General of any presidency or province.") of estates or for different duties, and shall, so far as may be, be arranged so as to produce an amount sufficient to discharge the salaries and all other expenses incidental to the working of this Act (including such sum as Government may determine to be required to insure the revenues of the Government ^c [* * *] against loss under this Act).

[a] Repealed by the Administrator-General's Act, 1913 (3 [III] of 1913). [b] 56 & 57 Vict., c. 5. [c] The words "of India" were repealed by the Official Trustees and Administrator-General's Acts Amendment Act, 1922 (21 [XXI] of 1922), S. 7.

43. (1) Any expenses which might be retained or paid out of any estate in the charge Disposal of fees. of the Administrator-General, if he were a private administrator of such estate, shall be so retained or paid and the fees prescribed under section 42 shall be retained or paid in like manner as and in addition to such expenses.

(2) The Administrator-General shall transfer and pay to such authority, in such manner and at such time as the Government may prescribe, all fees received by him under this Act, and the same shall be carried to the account and credit of the Government ^a [* * * *].

PART V.

AUDIT OF THE ADMINISTRATOR-GENERAL'S ACCOUNTS.

Audit of Administrator-General's accounts. 44. The accounts of every Administrator-General shall be audited at least once annually, and at any other time if the Government so direct, by the prescribed person and in the prescribed manner.

Auditors to examine accounts and report to Government. 45. The auditors shall examine the accounts and forward to the Government a statement thereof in the prescribed form, together with a report thereon and a certificate signed by them showing :—

- (a) whether they contain a full and true account of everything which ought to be inserted therein,
- (b) whether the books which by any rules made under this Act are directed to be kept by the Administrator-General, have been duly and regularly kept, and
- (c) whether the assets and securities have been duly kept and invested and deposited in the manner prescribed by this Act, or by any rules made thereunder, or (as the case may be) that such accounts are deficient, or that the Administrator-General has failed to comply with this Act or the rules made thereunder, in such respects as may be specified in such certificate.

PROVINCIAL AMENDMENT.

Bengal. — For clause (a) substitute the following clauses

"(a) whether the accounts have been audited in the prescribed manner, (aa) whether, so far as can be ascertained by such audit, the accounts contain a full and true account of every thing which ought to be inserted therein." — BENGAL ACT XI OF 1940.

Power of auditors to summon and examine witnesses, and to call for documents. 46. (1) Every auditor shall have the powers of a Civil Court under the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908 :—

- (a) to summon any person whose presence he thinks necessary to attend him from time to time; and
- (b) to examine any person on oath to be by him administered; and
- (c) to issue a commission for the examination on interrogatories or otherwise of any person; and
- (d) to summon any person to produce any document or thing the production of which appears to be necessary for the purpose of such audit or examination.

(2) Any person who when summoned refuses, or without reasonable cause, neglects to attend or to produce any document or thing or attends and refuses to be sworn, or to be examined, shall be deemed to have committed an offence within the meaning of, and punishable under, section 188 of the Indian Penal Code, 1860, and the auditor shall report every case of such refusal or neglect to Government.

47. The costs of and incidental to such audit and examination shall be determined in accordance with rules made by the Government, and shall be defrayed in the prescribed manner.

PART VI

MISCELLANEOUS.

General powers of administration. 48. The Administrator-General may, in addition to, and not in derogation of, any other powers of expenditure lawfully exercisable by him, incur expenditure —

- (a) on such acts as may be necessary for the proper care and management of any property belonging to any estate in his charge; and
- (b) with the sanction of the High Court ^a[* * *] on such religious, charitable and other objects, and on such improvements, as may be reasonable and proper in the case of such property.

Power of person beneficially interested to inspect Administrator-General's accounts etc., and take copies. 49. Any person interested in the administration of any estate, which is in the charge of the Administrator-General shall, subject to such conditions and restrictions as may be prescribed, be entitled at all reasonable times to inspect the accounts relating to such estate and the reports and certificates of the auditor, and on payment of the prescribed fee, to copies thereof and extracts therefrom.

50. (1) The Government shall make rules^a for carrying into effect the objects of this Act and for regulating the proceedings of the Administrator-General.

Power to make rules. (2) In particular and without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing power, such rules may provide for:—

- (a) the accounts to be kept by the Administrator-General and the audit and inspection thereof,
 - (b) the safe custody, deposit and investment of assets and securities which come into the hands of the Administrator-General,
 - (c) the remittance of sums of money in the hands of the Administrator-General in cases in which such remittances are required,
 - (d) subject to the provisions of this Act, the fees to be paid under this Act, and the collection and accounting for any such fees,
 - (e) the statements, schedules and other documents to be submitted to the Government or to any other authority by the Administrator-General and the publication of such statements, schedules or other documents,
 - (f) the realization of the cost of preparing any such statements, schedules or other such documents,
- b [* * * * *]
- (g) the manner in which and the person by whom the costs of, and incidental to, any audit under the provisions of this Act are to be determined and defrayed,
 - (h) the manner in which summonses issued under the provisions of section 46 are to be served and the payment of the expenses of any persons summoned or examined under the provisions of this Act and of any expenditure incidental to such examination, and
 - (i) any matter in this Act directed to be prescribed.

(3) All rules made under this Act shall be published in the Official Gazette, and, on such publication, shall have effect as if enacted in this Act.

[a] For such rules for Bengal, see Gen. R. and O., Vol. IV, p. 406; for Madras, see Madras R. and O., 1923, Vol. I, Pt. II, p. 281; for Bombay, see Bombay R. and O., 1924, Vol. II, p. 773; for the provinces of Assam, U. P. and Punjab, see the local Gazettes of 1914 or the latest editions of the Rules and Orders of those provinces. [b] Clause (ff) inserted by the Repealing and Amending Act, 1914 (10 [X] of 1914), was repealed by the Destruction of Records Act, 1917 (5 [V] of 1917), S. 6 and Schedule.

1. Section 47. — [1] "We have amended clause 47 (i. e. S. 47) and provided that the cost of audit of the accounts of the Administrator-General and the manner in which such cost is to be recovered shall be determined by rules." — Select Committee Report.

51. Whoever, during any examination authorised by this Act, makes upon oath a statement False evidence. which is false and which he either knows or believes to be false or does not believe to be true, shall be deemed to have intentionally given false evidence in a stage of a judicial proceeding.

52. All assets in the charge of the Administrator-General which have been in his custody Assets unclaimed for for a period of twelve years or upwards whether before or after twelve years to be transferred the commencement of this Act without any application for payment to Government. thereof having been made and granted by him shall be transferred, in the prescribed manner, to the account and credit of the Government ^a[* * *] :

Provided that this section shall not authorise the transfer of any such assets as aforesaid, if any suit or proceeding is pending in respect thereof in any Court.

[a] The words "of India" were repealed by the Official Trustees and Administrator-General's Acts Amendment Act, 1922 (21 [XXI] of 1922), S. 7.

53. (1) If any claim is hereafter made to any part of the assets transferred to the account Mode of proceeding by and credit of the Government ^a[* * *] under the provisions of this claimant to recover principal money so transferred. Act, or any Act hereby repealed, and if such claim is established to the satisfaction of the prescribed authority, the Government ^a[* * *] shall pay to the claimant the amount of the principal so transferred to its account and credit or so much thereof as appears to be due to the claimant.

(2) If the claim is not established to the satisfaction of the prescribed authority, the claimant may, without prejudice to his right to take any other proceedings for the recovery of such assets, apply by petition to the High Court ^b[* * *] against the ^c[Government], and such Court, after taking such evidence as it thinks fit, shall make such order in regard to the payment of the whole or any part of the said principal sum as it thinks fit, and such order shall be binding on all parties to the proceeding :

(3) The Court may further direct by whom the whole or any part of the cost of each party shall be paid.

[a] The words "of India" were repealed by the Official Trustees and Administrator-General's Acts Amendment Act, 1922 (21 [XXI] of 1922), Section 7. [b] The words "at the Presidency-town" were repealed by A.O.

[c] Substituted by A. O. for "Secretary of State for India in Council." [d] Inserted by A. O.

54. (1) Whenever any person, other than an exempted person, dies leaving assets within District Judge in certain cases to take charge of property of deceased persons, and to report to Administrator-General. the limits of the jurisdiction of a District Judge, the District Judge shall report the circumstance without delay to the Administrator-General of the ^a[Division] stating the following particulars so far as they may be known to him —

(a) the amount and nature of the assets,

(b) whether or not the deceased left a will and, if so, in whose custody it is,

(c) the names and addresses of the surviving next-of-kin of the deceased, and, on the lapse of one month from the date of the death,

(d) whether or not any one has applied for probate of the will of the deceased or letters of administration of his estate.

(2) The District Judge shall retain the assets under his charge, or appoint an officer under the provisions of section 239^b of the Indian Succession Act, 1865, to take and keep possession of the same until the Administrator-General has obtained letters of administration, or until some other person has obtained probate or such letters or a certificate from the Administrator-General under the provisions of this Act, when the assets shall be delivered over to the holder of such probate, letters of administration or certificate :

1. Section 53. — [1] "In clause 53 (i. e. S. 53) we have made an amendment to indicate that the clause while providing a summary procedure in the case of claims to assets transferred to Government is not intended to deprive any person claiming such assets of any other remedy he may have." — Select Committee Report.

1. Section 54. — [1] "In clause 54 (i. e. S. 54) we have made two amendments: the first imposes on a District Judge the duty of including the names and addresses of the surviving next-of-kin of the deceased in the report which he is required under the law to submit. The second amendment authorises the District Judge when he has taken charge of assets under this clause to expend such sums as may be necessary for the proper care and management of such assets. It is clear that in many cases such expenditure must be necessary." — Select Committee Report.

THE AGRICULTURAL PRODUCE CESS ACT, 1940.

ACT NO. XXVII of 1940.^a

An Act to make better financial provision for the Imperial Council of Agricultural Research.

WHEREAS it is expedient to make better financial provision for the carrying out by the Imperial Council of Agricultural Research of the objects for which it is established as set forth in the Memorandum of Association of that body, and for this purpose to impose on certain articles a cess by way of customs duty on export, the proceeds of which shall be paid to the said Council;

It is hereby enacted as follows:—

[a] For the Statement of Objects and Reasons, see Gazette of India, 1940, Pt. V, p. 114. This Act has been applied to British Baluchistan, see Notification No. 168-N, dated 17th October 1940, Gazette of India, 1940, Pt. I, p. 11.

Short title and extent. 1. (1) This Act may be called the Agricultural Produce Cess Act, 1940
(2) It extends to the whole of British India.

Definitions. 2. In this Act, unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context :—

(a) "Collector" means a Customs-collector as defined in clause (c) of section 3 of the Sea Customs Act, 1878, or a Collector of Land Customs as defined in clause (c) of section 2 of the Land Customs Act, 1924, as the case may be, and

(b) "Council" means the Imperial Council of Agricultural Research.

Imposition of cess. 3. (1) A customs duty at the rate of one-half of one per cent. ad valorem shall be levied on all articles included in the Schedule which are exported from British India :

Provided that the said duty shall not be levied on articles proved to the satisfaction of the Collector not to have been produced in India.

(2) The Central Government may by notification in the Official Gazette, fix for the purposes of levying the said duty tariff values of any articles included in the Schedule, and may alter any tariff values for the time being in force.

4. The Central Government may, after previous consultation with the Council, by notification in the Official Gazette, direct that any article specified in the Schedule shall cease to be subject to the duty imposed by section 3, and thereupon, so long as the notification remains in force, that article shall be deemed not to be included in the Schedule.

Refund of, and exemption from, cess. 5. The Central Board of Revenue may make rules providing, on such conditions as may be specified in the rules, for :—

(a) the refund of duty levied where articles are exported by land and subsequently imported into India, and

(b) the export by land, without payment of the duty, of articles which are subsequently to be imported into India.

Payment of cess to Council and expenditure of cess by Council. 6. (1) The proceeds of the duty levied under this Act reduced by the cost of collection as determined by the Central Government shall be paid to the Council.

(2) The amount so due shall be paid by the Central Government to the Council at intervals of not more than six months.

(3) The expenditure of the money so paid to the Council shall be subject to such limitations as may be imposed by rules made in this behalf by the Central Government.

7. (1) The Council shall constitute a Standing Finance Committee, of which one member shall be chosen from among the representatives of the Central Legislature on the governing body of the Council, and one member shall be an officer appointed by the Central Government.

1. SECTION 4

[1] Under the Bill as introduced the Central Government was given the power to extend the duty to articles not included in the Schedule. In the Act this power has been removed on the recommendation of the Select Committee.

(2) Subject to the provisions of sub-section (1), the constitution, functions and procedure of the Standing Finance Committee shall be regulated in such manner as the Council may with the previous approval of the Central Government determine.

Reserve fund.

8. The Council shall in accordance with the rules made in this behalf by the Central Government create and maintain a reserve fund.

Power of Central Government to make rules.

9. (1) The Central Government may, after consultation with the Council, by notification in the Official Gazette, make rules to carry out the purposes of this Act.

(2) In particular and without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing power, the Central Government may make rules regulating the expenditure of the money paid to the Council under section 6 and providing for the creation, maintenance and management of the reserve fund referred to in section 8.

(3) All rules made under this Act shall be laid before both Chambers of the Central Legislature as soon as may be after they are made.

THE AGRICULTURAL PRODUCE (GRADING AND MARKING) ACT, 1937

[As Amended by Acts XIII of 1942 and XX of 1943.]

ACT NO. I of 1937.^a

[24th February 1937.]

An Act to provide for the grading and marking of agricultural^b [and other] produce.

WHEREAS it is expedient to provide for the grading and marking of agricultural^b [and other] produce; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

[a] For Statement of Objects and Reasons, see Gazette of India, Extraordinary, dated 13th February 1937, p. 71. [b] Inserted by S. 2 of Act No. 13 [XIII] of 1942. [This Act is deemed to have come into force on 24-2-37.]

Short title and extent.

1. (1) This Act may be called the Agricultural Produce (Grading and Marking) Act, 1937.

(2) It extends to the whole of British India, including British Baluchistan and the Sonthal Parganas but excluding Burma.

Explanations.

2. In this Act, unless the contrary appears from the subject or context:—

- (a) "agricultural produce" includes all produce of agriculture or horticulture and all articles of food or drink wholly or partly manufactured from any such produce, and fleeces and the skins of animals;
- (b) "counterfeit" has the meaning assigned to that word by section 28 of the Indian Penal Code;
- (c) "covering" includes any vessel, box, crate, wrapper, tray or other container;
- (d) "grade designation" means a designation prescribed as indicative of the quality of any scheduled article;

- (e) "grade designation mark" means a mark prescribed as representing a particular grade designation;
- (f) "quality," in relation to any article, includes the state and condition of the article;
- (g) "prescribed" means prescribed by rules made under this Act,
- (h) "scheduled article" means an article included in the Schedule; and
- (i) an article is said to be marked with a grade designation mark, if the article itself is marked with a grade designation mark or any covering containing or label attached to such article is so marked.

Prescription of grade designations. 3. The ^a[Central Government] may, after previous publication by notification in the ^b[Official Gazette] make rules^c —

- (a) fixing grade designations to indicate the quality of any scheduled article,
- (b) defining the quality indicated by every grade designation,
- (c) specifying grade designation marks to represent particular grade designations,
- (d) authorising a person or a body of persons, subject to any prescribed conditions, to mark with a grade designation mark any article in respect of which such mark has been prescribed or any covering containing or label attached to any such article,
- (e) specifying the conditions referred to in clause (d) including in respect of any article conditions as to the manner of marking, the manner in which the article shall be packed, the type of covering to be used, and the quantity by weight, number or otherwise to be included in each covering,
- (f) providing for the payment of any expenses incurred in connection with the manufacture or use of any implement necessary for the reproduction of a grade designation mark or with the manufacture or use of any covering or label marked with a grade designation mark ^d[or with measures for the control of the quality of articles marked with grade designation marks including testing of samples and inspection of such articles or with any publicity work carried out to promote the sale of any class of such articles,] and
- (g) providing for the confiscation and disposal of produce marked otherwise than in accordance with the prescribed conditions with a grade designation mark.

AGRICULTURISTS' LOANS ACT, 1884.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

"The object of this Bill is to repeal the Northern India Takkavi Act and re-enact it with certain amendments which appear to be desirable.

First. — The existing law makes no provision for recovery as an arrear of land revenue of interest on loans made under it and of the costs (if any) incurred by the Government in making the loans. Section 3 of Act X of 1879 only provides for the recovery in this way of the principal sum advanced. Section 5 of the Bill supplies this omission by providing that interest and costs (if any) may be recovered as arrear of land-revenue in the same manner as the principal.

Secondly — Act X of 1879 extends to certain limited areas, namely, the North-Western Province and Oudh, the Punjab, the Central Provinces, Assam and Ajmer. At present there is no law in force in Bengal and Coorg under which advances of the nature of those with which the Act deals can be made. There are provisions relating to such advances in the laws in force in Bombay, Madras and British Burma; but the Local Government of Bombay and Madras are authorised to accept the extension of Northern India Act to their provinces; and the Chief Commissioner of British Burma says that if that Act is not extended in his province, it will be necessary to amend the law at present in force there in order to provide for the recovery of interest on advances. Provision has, therefore, been made in section 2 of the Bill empowering any Local Government, if it thinks fit, to extend the Act to the whole or any part of the territories under its administration.

Thirdly. — A new section 6 has at the request of the Punjab Government been inserted in the Bill similar to section 9 of the Land Improvement Loans Act, 1883, recognising the principle of making loans on the joint responsibilities of village-communities.

Lastly. — As the term "Takkavi" is, it is understood, applied in some parts of India to advances of the nature of those to which the Land Improvement Loans Act relates, it is proposed to alter the present title and to style the new Act 'The Agriculturists' Loans Act'." —Gazette of India, 1884, Part V, page 2.

[7] The amount due to Government and recoverable under S. 5 as applied to Berar is recoverable not as a land revenue but as an arrear of land revenue and hence is governed by S. 141 (d), Berar Land Revenue Code. (Vol 29) 1942 Nag 50 (51).

PROVINCIAL AMENDMENTS.

C. P. & BERAR—For section 5 the following sections shall be substituted, namely —

"5. (1) Subject to such rules as may be made under section 4, a loan granted under this Act with any interest due thereon, shall, in default of payment, be recovered by the Deputy Commissioner in all or any of the following modes, namely :—

- (a) from the borrower—as if it were an arrear of land revenue due by him ;
- (b) from his surety, if any — as if it were an arrear of land revenue due by him ;
- (c) out of any land hypothecated by the borrower as security for the loan — as if it were an arrear of land revenue due in respect of that land ;
- (d) out of property comprised in collateral security, if any — according to the procedure for the realization of land revenue by the sale of immoveable property other than the land on which that revenue is due.

(2) It shall be in the discretion of the Deputy Commissioner acting under this section to determine the order in which he will resort to the various modes of recovery permitted by it.

5A. Where land is hypothecated by a borrower as security for a loan under this Act, such loan together with interest due thereon and costs of recovery shall except in respect of land revenue and rent have priority over all encumbrances and charges, created on the borrower's interest in such land before the date of the order granting the loan." —C. P. & BERAR ACT 6 [VI] OF 1946, S. 2.

6. When a loan is made under this Act to the members of a village community or to any other persons on such terms that all of them are jointly and severally bound to the Government for the payment of the whole amount payable in respect thereof, and a statement showing the portion of that amount which as among themselves each is bound to contribute is entered upon the order granting the loan and is signed, marked, or sealed by each of them or his agent duly authorized in this behalf and by the officer making the order, that statement shall be conclusive evidence of the portion of that amount which as among themselves each of those persons is bound to contribute.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

"Aerial navigation in British India is at present governed by the Indian Aircraft Act, 1911, and the rules made thereunder. In 1919 an International Convention for the regulation of Aerial Navigation was signed by the plenipotentiaries of 27 countries, with the object of establishing regulations of universal application and of encouraging peaceful intercourse with nations by means of aerial communications. To this Convention India was a signatory.

The Convention deals with all questions relating to international aerial navigation, and also provides for the institution of a permanent International Commission for Air Navigation with very wide powers as regards the formulation of rules for the marking of aircraft, the grant of certificates, rules of the air and so forth. This Commission meets from time to time to amend the annexes of the Convention, which contain the detailed rules to be observed by the aircraft of all signatory States and by all aircraft when within the borders of those States.

For some years past the inadequacy of the Indian Aircraft Act, 1911, has been increasingly felt, and the stage has now been reached where it is no longer possible to control air traffic efficiently, or to implement

India's international obligations without fresh legislation. The present Bill, therefore, is designed to enlarge the rule-making powers of the Governor-General in Council in order to meet modern developments to enable Government to give full effect to the provisions of the International Convention and its annexes, and to provide for certain other matters on which legislation has become necessary."—Gazette of India, 1934, Pt. V, p. 82

ACT NO. XXII of 1934^a

An Act to make better provision for the control of the manufacture, possession, use, operation, sale, import and export of aircraft.

WHEREAS it is expedient to make better provision for the control of the manufacture, possession, use, operation, sale, import and export of aircraft; It is hereby enacted as follows :—

[a] For Report of Select Committee, see Gazette of India, 1934, Pt. V, p. 195.

Short title and extent. 1. (1) This Act may be called the Indian Aircraft Act, 1934.

(2) It extends to the whole of British India, including British Baluchistan and the Sonthal Parganas ^a[and applies also —

- (a) to British subjects and servants of the Crown in any part of India,
- (b) to British subjects who are domiciled in any part of India wherever they may be,
- (c) to, and to persons on, aircraft registered in British India wherever they may be.]

[a] Inserted by the Indian Aircraft (Amendment) Act, 1939 (37 [XXXVII] of 1939), S. 2. [29-9-1939.]

Definitions.

2. In this Act, unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context,—

(1) "aircraft" means any machine which can derive support in the atmosphere from reactions of the air, and includes balloons whether fixed or free, airships, kites, gliders and flying machines;

(2) "aerodrome" means any definite or limited ground or water area intended to be used, either wholly or in part, for the landing or departure of aircraft, and includes all buildings, sheds, vessels, piers, and other structures thereon or appertaining thereto;

(3) "import" means bringing into British India; and

(4) "export" means taking out of British India.

3. The ^a[Central Government] may, by notification in the ^b[Official Gazette], exempt from Power of Central Government to exempt certain aircraft. ^c[all or any of the provisions of this Act] any aircraft or class of aircraft and any person or class of persons, or may direct that such provisions shall apply to such aircraft or persons subject to such modifications as may be specified in the notification.

[c] The words "all or any of the provisions of this Act" were substituted for the words "the provisions of this Act, and of the rules made thereunder, or from any of such provisions" by the Indian Aircraft (Amendment) Act, 1939 (37 [XXXVII] of 1939), S. 3. [29-9-1939].

4. The ^a[Central Government] may, by notification in the ^b[Official Gazette], make such Power of Central Government to make rules to implement the Convention of 1919. rules ^cas appear to ^d[it] to be necessary for carrying out the Convention relating to the regulation of Aerial Navigation signed at Paris, October 13, 1919, with Additional Protocol, signed at Paris, May 1, 1920, and any amendment which may be made thereto under the provisions of Article 34 thereof.

[a] Substituted by A. O. for "Governor-General in Council." [b] Substituted by A. O. for "Gazette of India."

[c] Substituted by A. O. for "him".

5. (1) The ^a[Central Government] may, by notification in the ^b[Official Gazette], make Power of Central Government to make rules. rules ^cregulating the manufacture, possession, use, operation, sale, import or export of any aircraft or class of aircraft.

(2) Without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing power, such rules may provide for:—

- (a) the authorities by which any of the power conferred by or under this Act are to be exercised,

- ^d[(aa) the regulation of air transport services, and the prohibition of the use of aircraft in such services except under the authority of and in accordance with a licence authorising the establishment of the service,
- (ab) the information to be furnished by an applicant for, or the holder of, a licence authorising the establishment of an air transport service to such authorities as may be specified in the rules,]
- (b) the licensing, inspection and regulation of aerodromes, the conditions under which aerodromes may be maintained and the fees which may be charged thereat, and the prohibition or regulation of the use of unlicensed aerodromes,
- (c) the inspection and control of the manufacture, repair and maintenance of aircraft and of places where aircraft are being manufactured, repaired or kept,
- (d) the registration and marking of aircraft,
- (e) the conditions under which aircraft may be flown, or may carry passengers, mails or goods; or may be used for industrial purposes and the certificates, licences or documents to be carried by aircraft,
- (f) the inspection of aircraft for the purpose of enforcing the provisions of this Act and the rules thereunder, and the facilities to be provided for such inspection,
- (g) the licensing of persons employed in the operation, manufacture, repair or maintenance of aircraft,
- (h) the air-routes by which and the conditions under which aircraft may enter or leave British India, or may fly over British India, and the places at which aircraft shall land,
- (i) the prohibition of flight by aircraft over any specified area, either absolutely or at specified times or subject to specified conditions and exceptions,
- (j) the supply, supervision and control of air-routes beacons, aerodrome lights, and lights at or in the neighbourhood of aerodromes or on or in the neighbourhood of air-routes,
- ^e[(jj) the installation and maintenance of lights on private property in the neighbourhood of aerodromes or on or in the neighbourhood of air-routes, by the owners or occupiers of such property, the payment by the Central Government for such installation and maintenance, and the supervision and the control of such installation and maintenance, including the right of access to the property for such purposes,]
- (k) the signals to be used for purposes of communication by or to aircraft and the apparatus to be employed in signalling,
- (l) the prohibition and regulation of the carriage in aircraft of any specified article or substance,
- (m) the measures to be taken and the equipment to be carried for the purpose of ensuring the safety of life,
- (n) the issue and maintenance of log-books,
- (o) the manner and conditions of the issue or renewal of any licence or certificate under the Act or the rules, the examinations and tests to be undergone in connection therewith, the form, custody, production, endorsement, cancellation, suspension or surrender of such licence or certificate, or of any log-book,
- (p) the fees to be charged in connection with any inspection, examination, test, certificate or licence, made, issued or renewed under this Act,
- (q) the recognition for the purposes of this Act of licences and certificates issued elsewhere than in British India relating to aircraft or to the qualifications of persons employed in the operation, manufacture, repair or maintenance of aircraft and,
- (r) any matter subsidiary or incidental to the matters referred to in this sub-section ^f[including the taking of steps necessary to secure compliance with or to prevent contravention of, the rules regulating such matters, or where any such rule has been contravened, to rectify, or to enable proceedings to be taken in respect of such contravention.]

^g[(3) Every rule made under this section shall be laid as soon as may be after it is made before Rules to be laid before each of the Chambers of the Central Legislature, while it is in session, both Chambers. for a total period of one month which may be comprised in one session or in two or more Sessions, and if before the expiry of that period, or where the period for which the rule is so laid, before one Chamber does not coincide with that for which it is so laid before the other, before the expiry of the later of these periods, both Chambers agree in making any modification in the rule or both Chambers agree that the rule should not be made, the rule shall thereafter have effect only in such modified form or be of no effect, as the case may be.]

Power of Central Government to make orders in emergency.

6. (1) If the ^a[Central Government] is of opinion that in the interests of the public safety or tranquillity the issue of all or any of the following orders is expedient, ^b[it] may, by notification in the

- (a) cancel or suspend, either absolutely or subject to such conditions as ^b[it] may think fit to specify in the order, all or any licences or certificates issued under this Act,
- (b) prohibit, either absolutely or subject to such conditions as ^b[it] may think fit to specify in the order, or regulate in such manner as may be contained in the order, the flight of all or any aircraft or class of aircraft over the whole or any portion of British India,
- (c) prohibit, either absolutely or conditionally, or regulate the erection, maintenance or use of any aerodrome, aircraft factory, flying-school or club, or place where aircraft are manufactured, repaired or kept, or any class or description thereof, and
- (d) direct that any aircraft or class of aircraft or any aerodrome, aircraft factory, flying school or club, or place where aircraft are manufactured, repaired or kept, together with any machinery, plant, material or things used for the operation, manufacture, repair or maintenance of aircraft shall be delivered, either forthwith or within a specified time, to such authority and in such manner as ^b[it] may specify in the order, to be at the disposal of His Majesty for the public service.

(2) Any person who suffers direct injury or loss by reason of any order made under clause (c) or clause (d) of sub-section (1) shall be paid such compensation as may be determined by such authority as the ^a[Central Government] may appoint in this behalf.

(3) The ^a[Central Government] may authorise such steps to be taken to secure compliance with any order made under sub-section (1) as appear to ^b[it] to be necessary.

(4) Whoever knowingly disobeys, or fails to comply with, or does any act in contravention of, an order made under sub-section (1) shall be punishable with imprisonment for a term which may extend to three years, or with fine, or with both, and the Court by which he is convicted may direct that the aircraft or thing (if any) in respect of which the offence has been committed, or any part of such thing, shall be forfeited to His Majesty.

Power of Central Government to make rules for investigation of accidents.

7. (1) The ^a[Central Government] may, by notification in the ^b[Official Gazette], make rules^c providing for the investigation of any accident arising out of or in the course of ^d[the navigation —

- (a) in or over British India of any aircraft, or
- (b) anywhere of aircraft registered in British India.]
- (2) Without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing power, such rules may —
- (a) require notice to be given of any accident in such manner and by such person as may be prescribed,
- (b) apply for the purposes of such investigation, either with or without modification, the provisions of any law for the time being in force relating to the investigation of accidents,
- (c) prohibit pending investigation access to or interference with aircraft to which an accident has occurred, and authorise any person so far as may be necessary for the purposes of an investigation to have access to, examine, remove, take measures for the preservation of or; otherwise deal with any such aircraft, and

(d) authorise or require the cancellation, suspension, endorsement or surrender of any licence or certificate granted or recognised under this Act when it appears on an investigation that the licence ought to be so dealt with, and provide for the production of any such licence for such purpose.

8. (1) Any authority authorised in this behalf by the ^a[Central Government] may detain Power to detain aircraft. any aircraft, if in the opinion of such authority —

(a) having regard to the nature of an intended flight, the flight of such aircraft would involve danger to persons in the aircraft or to any other persons or property, or

(b) such detention is necessary to secure compliance with any of the provisions of this Act or the rules applicable to such aircraft; or such detention is necessary to prevent a contravention of any rule made under, ^b[clauses (d), (e), (h), (i), (k) or (l) of sub-section (2) of section 5 or the commission of an offence punishable under section 11.]

(2) The ^a[Central Government] may, by notification in the ^c[Official Gazette], make rules^d regulating all matters incidental or subsidiary to the exercise of this power.

[a] Substituted by A. O. for "Governor-General in Council." [b] Substituted for the original words by the Defence of India Act, 1939 (35 [XXXV] of 1939), S. 6. ^a[8B (1) If the Central Government is satisfied that India or any part thereof is visited Emergency powers for protecting the public health. by or threatened with an outbreak of any dangerous epidemic disease, and that the ordinary provisions of the law for the time being in force are insufficient for the prevention of danger arising to the public health through the introduction or spread of the disease by the agency of aircraft, the Central Government may take such measures as it deems necessary to prevent such danger.

(2) In any such case the Central Government may, without prejudice to the powers conferred by section 8A, by notification in the Official Gazette, make such temporary rules with respect to aircraft and persons travelling or things carried therein and aerodromes as it deems necessary in the circumstances.

(3) Notwithstanding anything contained in section 14, the power to make rules under sub-section (2) shall not be subject to the condition of the rules being made after previous publication, but such rules shall not remain in force for more than three months from the date of notification :

Provided that the Central Government may by special order continue them in force for a further period or periods of not more than three months in all."]

[a] Section 8B was inserted by the Indian Aircraft (Amendment) Act, 1938 (22 [XXII] of 1938), S. 2, [24-9-1938.]

1. Section 8B.—[1] The Governor-General in Council had till the passing of the Government of India Act, 1935 power to prescribe temporary emergency regulations under S. 2 of the Epidemic Diseases Act (3 [III] of 1897). After 1st April 1935, this power was removed and located in the Provincial Government, for the Province. This Act gives the Central Government the power of emergent regulation to protect India against the introduction of dangerous disease. Under this Act, the power to make rules or regulations is not subject to the condition of previous publication for three months which is required under S. 14 of the Indian Aircraft Act, but the rules so framed shall not remain in force for more than three months from the date of notification.

9. (1) The provisions of Part VII of the Indian Merchant Shipping Act, 1923, relating to Wreck and Salvage. to Wreck and Salvage shall apply to aircraft on or over the sea or tidal waters as they apply to ships, and the owner of an aircraft shall be entitled to a reasonable reward for salvage services rendered by the aircraft in like manner as the owner of a ship.

(2) The ^a[Central Government] may, by notification in the ^b[Official Gazette], make such modifications of the said provisions in their application to aircraft as appear necessary or expedient.

[a] Substituted by A. O. for "Governor-General in Council." [b] Substituted by A. O. for "Gazette of India".

10. In making any rule under section 5, section 7, ^a[section 8, section 8A or section 8B] the ^b[Central Government] may direct that a breach of it shall be punishable with imprisonment for any term not exceeding three months, or with fine of any amount not exceeding one thousand rupees, or with both.

Penalty for act in contravention of rule made under this Act.

[a] The words and figures "Section 8 or Section 8A" were substituted for the original words and figure "or Section 8" by the Indian Aircraft (Amendment) Act, 1936 (7 [VII] of 1936), S. 3. And the words and figures "Section 8A or Section 8B" were substituted for "or Section 8A" by the Indian Aircraft (Amendment) Act, 1938 (22 [XXII] of 1938) S. 3. [24-9-1938.] [b] Substituted by A. O. for "Governor-General in Council".

11. Whoever wilfully flies any aircraft in such a manner as to cause danger to any person or to any property on land or water or in the air ^a[or in such a manner as to interfere with any of His Majesty's forces, ships or aircraft] shall be punishable with imprisonment for a term which may extend to six months, or with fine which may extend to one thousand rupees, or with both.

Penalty for flying so as to cause danger.

[a] Inserted by the Defence of India Act, 1939 (35 [XXXV] of 1939), S. 6. This amendment shall have effect only during the continuance of the said Act.

12. Whoever abets the commission of any offence under this Act or the rules, or attempts to commit such offence, and in such attempt does any act towards the commission of the offence, shall be liable to the punishment provided for the offence.

Penalty for abetment of offences and attempted offences.

13. Where any person is convicted of an offence punishable under any rule made under ^a[clauses (c), (d), (e), (h), (i), (j), (k) or (l) of sub-section (2) of section 5 or punishable under section 11], the Court by which he is convicted may direct that the aircraft or article or substance, as the case may be, in respect of which the offence has been committed, shall be forfeited to His Majesty.

Power of Court to order forfeiture.

[a] Substituted by the Defence of India Act, 1939 (35 [XXXV] of 1939), S. 6. This amendment shall have effect only during the continuance of the said Act.

14. [Rules to be made after publication.] Omitted by the Defence of India Act, 1939 (35 [XXXV] of 1939), S. 6.

Note: — The amendment made by the Defence of India Act, 1939, shall have effect only during the continuance of that Act.

15. The provisions of section 42 of the Indian Patents and Designs Act, 1911, shall apply to the use of an invention on any aircraft not registered in British India in like manner as they apply to the use of an invention in a foreign vessel.

Use of patented invention on aircraft not required in British India.

16. The ^a[Central Government] may, by notification in the ^b[Official Gazette], declare that any or all of the provisions of the Sea Customs Act, 1878, shall with such modifications and adaptations as may be specified in the notification, apply to the import and export of goods by air.

Power to apply customs procedure.

[a] Substituted by A. O. for "Governor-General in Council." [b] Substituted by A. O. for "Gazette of India."

17. No suit shall be brought in any Civil Court in respect of trespass or in respect of nuisance by reason only of the flight of aircraft over any property at a height above the ground which having regard to wind, weather and all the circumstances of the case is reasonable, or by reason only of the ordinary incidents of such flight.

Bar of certain suits.

18. No suit, prosecution or other legal proceeding shall lie against any person for anything in good faith done or intended to be done under this Act.

Saving for acts done in good faith under the Act.

19. (1) Nothing in this Act or in any order or rule made there under shall apply to or in respect of any aircraft belonging to or exclusively employed in His Majesty's naval, military or air forces, or to any person in such forces employed in connection with such aircraft.

Saving of application of Act.

(2) Nothing in this Act or in any order or rule made thereunder shall apply to or in respect of any lighthouse to which the Indian Lighthouse Act, 1927, applies or prejudice or affect any right or power exercisable by any authority under that Act.

20. [Repeals.] Repealed by the Repealing Act, 1938 (I of 1938), S. 2 and Schedule.

SUPPLEMENTAL.

129. Power to make rules.

THE SCHEDULE.—[Repealed.]

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

"The first batch of Indian Air Force Officers from Cranwell will be arriving in India early in the summer of 1932 and after a period of one year's attachment to a unit of the Royal Air Force will be posted to the new Indian Air Unit. Meanwhile the other Indian Ranks are being recruited and will have received their initial training by the time that the officers have completed their period of attachment. On that point, i.e., the summer of 1933, the Indian Air Force will come into complete existence.

2. It is necessary to provide by an Act of the Indian Legislature for the discipline of the Officers and men of the new force since the British Air Force Act does not apply, as it stands, to the Indian personnel nor is restricted in its operation to British India.

3. Legislation can be undertaken in one of two ways :—

(a) by a Bill to apply the British Air Force Act with suitable modifications.

(b) by a self-contained Bill bearing the same general relation to the British Air Force Act as the Indian Army Act bears to the British Army Act.

4. As regards alternative (a) S. 177 of the British Air Force Act gives power to the Legislature in India, or to any of the dominions or colonies to extend or apply all or any of the provisions of the British Act to the officers, non-commissioned officers and men of locally raised Air Force subject to such adaptations, modifications and exceptions as may be specified.

The course thus indicated has been carefully considered by the Government of India, who do not, however, propose to adopt it, partly on account of the unsuitability of the British Act to an Indian Force and still more on account of very complicated nature of the adaptations, modifications and exceptions that would be necessary. The British Air Force Act which is an adaptation of the British Army Act has a very long history behind it and has been so heavily amended from time to time that its arrangement has unavoidably become confused and some of its provisions not easy to trace. These draw-backs, unavoidable in England, can be avoided in India and it is undesirable to burden an Indian personnel with difficulties which trouble even the British Officer. Therefore, large portions of the Act have no application to India as, for instance, para. 3, several of the sections in para. 4 under the heading "Summary and other legal proceedings" and several of the sections in para. 5. But in spite of this the Bill required to adopt the Air Force Act shall be very lengthy and comparatively few of the sections would accept amendment; some would be slightly amended and others extensively amended.

The second schedule to the Air Force (Constitution) Act, 1917, which modified the Army Act into the Air Force Act is long and complicated though some of its provisions are merely formal. The schedule necessary to adapt the Air Force to Indian conditions would be just as long and full of points both of vagueness and intricate drafting. The recommended Act which would be the result of a Bill on these lines, would necessarily differ very widely from the Air Force Act, and the desired object, namely, to retain the similarity between the Indian and the British Acts would not in point of fact be achieved.

5. The Government of India accordingly recommend the adoption of course (b) above, and are accordingly moving to introduce a self-contained Air Force Bill which in its general form, follows the Indian Army Act of 1911,—the Indian Army Act as executed in its present shape for 20 years covering a period of highly intensive use. It has been amended several times, suddenly, but not heavily and it is still the same measure, in arrangements and in substance. It is drafted in fairly simple English easily comprehended by the Indian officers, and it has been reprinted in translations known to the rank and file. The personnel of the Indian Air Force will very generally be trained from the classes which now furnish records to the Indian Army, among whom some knowledge of the Indian Act is current. The Indian Act was drafted with regard to the Indian Criminal Law and section 6 (22) deliberately imposes the terminology of the I. P. C. There can be no doubt that an Act on the lines of the Indian Army Act will be much better understood by the Indian personnel than the Act on the English lines; and it is probable that even the attached British personnel will find less difficulty in following the simple Act on the Indian lines than a heavily amended and complicated Air Force Act.

6. The accompanying Bill, therefore, is a self-contained measure which the honourable members will be able to study without continual reference to other Acts. The material got is drawn both from the Indian Army Act and from the British Air Force Act. The frame work, mode of drafting and substance of the Indian Army Act, have been adopted as far as possible; but where that Act departs widely from the standards of the Air Force Act, the provisions of the latter have been adopted. The provisions in which there is a widest departure from the Indian Army Act are contained in Chapters 3 and 4 on Air Force business and punishments. These chapters have been drafted so as to secure that members of the Indian Air Force will be punishable for any offence with no greater severity than members of the Royal Air Force."

ACT NO. XIV OF 1932^a

An Act to provide for the administration and discipline of the Indian Air Force.

WHEREAS it is intended to establish an Indian Air Force;

AND WHEREAS it is expedient to provide for the administration and discipline of that Force and for purposes connected therewith;

It is hereby enacted as follows :—

[a] For Report of Select Committee, see Gazette of India, 1932, Pt. V, p. 103.

CHAPTER I.

PRELIMINARY.

Short title and commencement.

1. (1) This Act may be called the Indian Air Force Act, 1932.

(2) It shall come into force on such date^a as the ^b[Central Government] may, by notification in the ^c[Official Gazette], appoint.

[a] 8th October 1932; see Gazette of India, 1932 Pt. I, p. 1149. [b] Substituted by A. O. for "Governor-General in Council." [c] Substituted by A. O. for "Gazette of India."

Persons subject to this Act.

2. (1) The following persons shall be subject to this Act, namely—

(a) officers and warrant officers of the Indian Air force,

(b) persons enrolled under this Act,

(c) persons not otherwise subject to military ^a[, naval] or air force law, who, on active service, in camp, on the march, or at any frontier post specified by the ^b[Central Government] by notification in this behalf, are employed by, or are in the service of, or are followers of, or accompany any portion of, the Indian Air Force.

(2) Every person who has become subject to this Act under sub-section (1), clause (a) or (b), shall remain so subject until duly discharged or dismissed.

[a] Inserted by the Amending Act, 1934 (35 [XXXV] of 1934), S. 2 and Schedule. [b] Substituted by A. O. for "Governor-General in Council."

3. (1) The ^a[Central Government] may, by notification, direct that any persons or class of persons subject to this Act under section 2, sub-section (1), clause (c), shall be so subject as officers, warrant officers or non-commissioned officers, and may authorise any officer to give a like direction with respect to any such person and to cancel such direction.

(2) All persons subject to this Act other than officers, warrant officers and non-commissioned officers shall, if they are not persons in respect of whom a notification or direction under sub-section (1) is in force, be deemed to be of a rank inferior to that of a non-commissioned officer.

[a] Substituted by A. O. for "Governor-General in Council."

4. Every person subject to this Act under section 2, sub-section (1), clause (c), shall, for the purposes of this Act, be deemed to be under the commanding officer of the corps, unit or detachment (if any) to which he is attached, and if he is not attached to any corps, unit or detachment, under the command of any officer who may for the time being be named as his commanding officer by the officer commanding the force with which such person may for the time being be serving, or of any other prescribed officer, or, if no such officer is named or prescribed, under the command of the said officer commanding the force :

Commanding officer of certain persons.

Provided that an officer commanding a force shall not place a person under the command of an officer of official rank inferior to that of such person if there is present at the place where such person is any officer of higher rank under whose command he can be placed.

5. (1) Whenever persons subject to this Act are serving whether within or without India Officers to exercise powers in certain cases. under an officer not subject to this Act, the ^a[Central Government] may prescribe the officer by whom the powers which, under this Act, may be exercised by officers commanding units, shall, as regards such persons, be exercised.

(2) The ^a[Central Government] may confer such powers either absolutely or subject to such restrictions, reservations, exceptions and conditions as ^b[it] may think fit.

[a] Substituted by A. O. for "Governor-General in Council." [b] Substituted by A. O. for "he."

(21) "prescribed" means prescribed by rules made under this Act; and

(22) all words and expressions used herein and defined in the Indian Penal Code, 1860, and not hereinbefore defined, shall be deemed to have the meanings respectively attributed to them by that Code.

CHAPTER II.

ENROLMENT, ATTESTATION, DISMISSAL, DISCHARGE AND REDUCTION.

7. Upon the appearance before the prescribed enrolling officer of any person desirous of being enrolled, the enrolling officer shall read and explain to him, or cause to be read and explained to him in his presence, the conditions of the service for which he is to be enrolled; and shall put to him the questions set forth in the prescribed form of enrolment, and shall, after having cautioned him that if he makes a false answer to any such question he will be liable to punishment under this Act, record or cause to be recorded his answer to each such question.

8. If, after complying with the provisions of section 7, the enrolling officer is satisfied that the person desirous of being enrolled fully understands the questions put to him and consents to the conditions of service, and if he perceives no impediment, he shall sign and shall cause the person to sign the enrolment paper, and the person shall be then deemed to be enrolled.

9. The enrolling officer shall not cause any person to sign the enrolment paper unless he is satisfied that such a person is a subject of His Majesty or of a Prince or Chief in India, and:—

(a) is of unmixed Indian descent, or

(b) if he is of mixed Indian and non-Indian descent, is domiciled in India, or

(c) if he is of unmixed non-Indian Asiatic descent, is domiciled in India and his father and grandfather were domiciled in India.

^a[10. Every person who has for the space of three months been in the receipt of air force pay and been borne on the rolls of any unit shall be deemed to have been duly enrolled and shall not be entitled to claim his discharge on the ground of any irregularity or illegality in his enrolment or on any other ground whatsoever; ^b[and if any person, in receipt of air force pay and borne on the rolls as aforesaid, claims his discharge before the expiry of three months from his enrolment on such irregularity or illegality or other ground shall, until he is discharged] in pursuance of his claim, affect his position as a person enrolled under this Act or invalidate any proceedings, act or thing taken or done prior to his discharge.]

[a] Section 10 was substituted for the original by the Army and Air Force (Enrolment) Ordinance, 1942 (58 [LVIII] of 1942), S. 3. [26-10-1942]. [b] These words were substituted by the Repealing and Amending Act, 1945 (6 [VI] of 1945), S. 3 and Sch. II. [16-4-1945].

Persons to be attested. 11. The following persons shall be attested, namely —

(a) all persons enrolled as combatants,

(b) all other enrolled persons prescribed by the ^a[Central Government].

[a] Substituted by A. O. for "Governor-General in Council."

12. (1) When a person who is to be attested is reported fit for duty or has completed the prescribed period of probation, an oath or affirmation shall be administered to him in the prescribed form by his commanding officer in front of his unit or such portion thereof as may be present, or by any other prescribed person.

(2) The form of oath or affirmation prescribed under this section shall contain a promise that the person to be attested will be faithful to His Majesty, his heirs and successors, and that he will serve in the Indian Air Force and go wherever he is ordered by air, land or sea, and that he will obey all commands of any officer set over him, even to the peril of his life.

(3) The fact of an enrolled person having taken the oath or affirmation directed by this section to be taken shall be entered on his enrolment paper, and authenticated by his signature and by the signature of the officer administering the oath or affirmation.

Dismissal by Central Government.

13. The ^a[Central Government] may at any time dismiss from the service any person subject to this Act.

[a] Substituted by A. O. for "Governor-General in Council."

Dismissal by the Air Officer Commanding or prescribed officer.

14. The Air Officer Commanding His Majesty's Air Forces in India, or any prescribed officer, may at any time dismiss from the service any person subject to this Act other than an officer.

15. The prescribed authority may, in conformity with any rules prescribed in this behalf, discharge from the service any person subject to this Act.

Certificate to person dismissed or discharged.

16. Any enrolled person who is dismissed or discharged from the service shall be furnished by his commanding officer with a certificate setting forth —

- (a) the authority dismissing or discharging him,
- (b) the cause of his dismissal or discharge, and
- (c) the full period of his service in the Indian Air Force.

17. (1) Any enrolled person who is entitled under the conditions of his enrolment to be discharged, or whose discharge is ordered by competent authority, and who, when he is so entitled or ordered to be discharged, is serving out of India, and requests to be sent to India, shall, before being discharged, be sent to India with all convenient speed.

Discharge and dismissal out of India.

(2) Any person subject to this Act who is dismissed from the service and who, when he is so dismissed, is serving out of India, shall be sent to India with all convenient speed :

Provided that, where any such person is sentenced to dismissal combined with any other punishment, such other punishment, or, in the case of a sentence of imprisonment, a portion of such other punishment, may be inflicted before he is sent to India.

Reduction.

18. (1) The Air Officer Commanding His Majesty's Air Forces in India, or any prescribed officer, may at any time reduce any warrant officer or any non-commissioned officer to a lower grade or to a lower rank or to the ranks, or any airman other than a warrant officer or non-commissioned officer to a lower class in the ranks.

(2) The commanding officer of an acting non-commissioned officer may order him to revert to his permanent grade as a non-commissioned officer or, if he has no permanent grade above the ranks, to the ranks.

CHAPTER III.

PUNISHMENTS AND PENAL DEDUCTIONS.

19. Punishments may be inflicted in respect of offences committed by persons subject to this Act, and convicted by court-martial, according to the scale following, that is to say —

- (a) death ;
- (b) imprisonment, which shall be of two degrees, namely —
 - (i) long imprisonment, which shall be rigorous and for a term not less than three years and not exceeding fourteen years, and
 - (ii) short imprisonment, which may be rigorous or simple, for a term not exceeding two years,
- (c) in the case of airmen, detention for a term not exceeding two years ;
- (d) dismissal from the service ;

- (e) in the case of officers and warrant officers, suspension from rank, pay and allowances for a period not exceeding two months ;
- (f) reduction, in the case of a warrant officer, or a non-commissioned officer, to a lower grade, or to a lower rank or to the ranks ;
- (g) in the case of officers, warrant officers, and non-commissioned officers, forfeiture of seniority of rank ;
- (h) in the case of officers, warrant officers, and non-commissioned officers, reprimand or severe reprimand ;
- (i) forfeitures and stoppages as follows, namely —
 - (i) forfeiture of service for the purpose of promotion, increased pay, pension or any other prescribed purpose ;
 - (ii) forfeiture of any military ^a [, naval] or airforce decoration or military ^a [, naval] or air force reward ;
 - (iii) forfeiture, in the case of a person sentenced to dismissal from the service, of all arrears of pay and allowances due to him at the time of such dismissal ;
 - (iv) stoppages of pay and allowances until any proved loss or damage occasioned by the offence of which he is convicted is made good ;
 - (v) on active service, forfeiture of pay and allowances for a period not exceeding three months.

[a] Inserted by the Amending Act, 1934, (35 [XXXV] of 1934) S. 2 and Schedule.

20. Where in respect of any offence under this Act there is specified particular punishment, there may be awarded in respect of that offence instead of such particular punishment (but subject to the other provisions of this Act as to punishments and regard being had to the nature and degree of the offence) any one punishment lower in the above scale than the particular punishment.

21. (1) Where any person, subject to this Act and under the rank of warrant officer, on active service is guilty of any offence, it shall be lawful for a court-martial to award for that offence any such punishment as may be prescribed as a field punishment. Field punishment shall be of the character of personal restraint or of hard labour but shall not be of a nature to cause injury to life or limb.

(2) Field punishment shall, for the purpose of commutation, be deemed to stand in the scale of punishments next below dismissal.

22. A sentence of a court-martial may award, in addition to or without any other punishment, any one or more of the punishments specified in clauses (d), (f), (h) and (i) of section 19.

23. A warrant officer or non-commissioned officer sentenced by court-martial to imprisonment, detention, field punishment or dismissal from the service, shall be deemed to be reduced to the ranks.

24. When any enrolled person on active service has been sentenced by court-martial to dismissal or to imprisonment, whether combined with dismissal or not, the prescribed officer may direct that such person may be retained to serve in the ranks, and where such person has been sentenced to imprisonment, such service shall be reckoned as part of his term of imprisonment.

25. (1) The ^a [Central Government] may prescribe the minor punishments to which persons subject to this Act shall be liable without the intervention of a court-martial, and the officer or officers by whom, and the extent to which, such minor punishments may be awarded.

(2) Detention and, in the case of persons subject to this Act on active service, any prescribed field punishment may be specified as minor punishments:

Provided that —

- (a) the term of such detention or field punishment shall not exceed twenty-eight days, and
- (b) detention or field punishment shall not be awarded to any person of or above the rank of non-commissioned officer, or who, when he committed the offence in respect of which it is awarded, was of or above such rank.

(3) The provisions of sections 77, 78 and 79 shall apply to the proceedings of officers empowered to award minor punishments under this section as if such officers were courts-martial.

[a] Substituted by A. O. for "Governor-General in Council."

Deductions from pay and allowances. 26. (1) The following penal deductions may be made from the pay and allowances of an officer of the Indian Air Force, that is to say —

(a) all pay and allowances due to an officer who absents himself without leave or overstays the period for which leave of absence has been granted to him, unless a satisfactory explanation has been given to his commanding officer and has been approved by the ^a[Central Government];

(b) any sum required to make good such compensation for any expenses, loss, damage or destruction occasioned by the commission of any offence as may be determined by the court-martial by whom he is convicted of such offence ^b[or by an officer exercising authority under section 25];

(c) any sum required to make good the pay of any officer or airman which he has unlawfully retained or unlawfully refused to pay;

(d) any sum required to make good any loss, damage or destruction of public or service property which, after due investigation, appears to the ^a[Central Government] to have been occasioned by any wrongful act or negligence on the part of the officer.

(2) The following penal deductions may be made from the pay and allowances of an airman, that is to say —

(a) all pay and allowances for every day of absence either on desertion or without leave, or as a prisoner of war, and for every day of imprisonment or detention awarded by a criminal Court, a court-martial or an officer exercising authority under section 25, or of field punishment, awarded by a court-martial or such officer;

(b) all pay and allowances for every day whilst he is in custody on a charge for an offence of which he is afterwards convicted by a criminal Court or court-martial, or on a charge of absence without leave for which he is afterwards awarded imprisonment detention or field punishment by an officer, exercising authority under section 25;

(c) all pay and allowances for every day on which he is in hospital on account of sickness certified by the medical officer attending on him to have been caused by an offence under this Act committed by him;

(d) for every day on which he is in hospital on account of sickness certified by the medical officer attending on him to have been caused by his own misconduct or imprudence such sum as may be prescribed;

(e) all pay and allowances ordered by a court-martial to be suspended or forfeited;

(f) any sum ordered by a court-martial to be stopped;

(g) any sum required to make good such compensation for any expenses caused by him, or for any loss of or damage or destruction done by him to any arms, ammunition, equipment, clothing, instruments, service necessities, or military decoration, or to any buildings or property, as may be awarded by his commanding officer;

(h) any sum required to pay a fine awarded by a criminal Court, a court-martial exercising jurisdiction under section 58 or an officer exercising authority under section 25:

Provided that the total deductions from the pay and allowances of a person subject to this Act made under clauses (e) to (g), both inclusive, shall not (except in the case of a person sentenced to dismissal) exceed in any one month one-half of his pay and allowances for that month.

Explanation. — For the purposes of clauses (a) and (b) —

(i) no person shall be treated as absent, imprisoned, or detained, unless the absence, imprisonment, or detention has lasted six hours or upwards, except where the absence prevented the absentee from fulfilling any air force duty which was thereby thrown on some other person;

(ii) a period of absence, imprisonment, or detention which commences before and ends after midnight may be reckoned as a day;

(iii) the number of days shall be reckoned as from the time when the absence, imprisonment, or detention commences; and

(iv) no period of less than twenty-four hours shall be reckoned as more than one day.

[a] Substituted by A. O. for "Governor-General in Council." [b] Added by the Indian Army and Indian Air Force (Amendment) Act, 1943 (21 [XXI] of 1943), S. 6. [13-8-1943].

Deductions from public money other than pay. 27. Any sum authorised by this Act to be deducted from the pay and allowances of any person may, without prejudice to any other mode of recovering the same, be deducted from any public money due to him other than a pension.

Remission of deductions. 28. Any deduction from pay and allowances authorised by this Act may be remitted in such manner and to such extent and by such authority as may from time to time be prescribed.

29. In the case of all persons subject to this Act being prisoners of war whose pay and allowances have been forfeited under section 26, but in respect of whom a remission has been made under section 28, it shall be lawful, notwithstanding any provision in any enactment or any rule of law to the contrary, for proper provision to be made by the prescribed authorities out of such pay and allowances for any dependants of such persons, and any such remission shall in that case be deemed to apply only to the balance thereafter remaining of such pay and allowances.

30. The pay of an officer or airman of the Indian Air Force shall be paid without any deduction other than the deductions authorised by this Act or by any other enactment for the time being in force or prescribed by the ^a[Central Government].

CHAPTER V.

ARREST AND PROCEEDINGS BEFORE TRIAL.

59. (1) Any person subject to this Act who is charged with an offence may be taken into Custody of offenders. air force custody.

(2) Any such person may be ordered into air force custody by any superior officer.

(3) The charge against every person taken into air force custody shall, without unnecessary delay, be investigated by the proper authority, and as soon as may be, either proceedings shall be taken for punishing the offence, or such person shall be discharged from custody.

60. Whenever any person subject to this Act, who is accused of any offence under this Act, Arrest by civil authorities. is within the jurisdiction of any Magistrate or police-officer, such Magistrate or officer shall aid in the apprehension and delivery to air force custody of such person upon receipt of a written application to that effect signed by his commanding officer.

61. (1) Whenever any person subject to this Act deserts, this commanding officer shall give Capture of deserters. written information of the desertion to such civil authorities as, in his opinion, may be able to afford assistance towards the capture of the deserter; and such authorities shall thereupon take steps for the apprehension of the said deserter in like manner as if he were a person for whose apprehension a warrant had been issued by a Magistrate, and shall deliver the deserter, when apprehended, to air force custody.

(2) Any police-officer may arrest without warrant any person, reasonably believed to be subject to this Act and to be travelling without authority, and shall bring him without delay before the nearest Magistrate, to be dealt with according to law.

62. (1) When any person subject to this Act has been absent without due authority from Inquiry on absence without leave. his duty for a period of twenty-one days, a Court of inquiry shall, as soon as practicable, be assembled and, upon oath or affirmation administered in the prescribed manner, shall inquire respecting the absence of the person, and the deficiency, if any, of property of ^a[the Crown] entrusted to his care, or of his arms, ammunition, equipments, instruments, clothing or necessities; and, if satisfied of the fact of such absence without due authority or other sufficient cause, the Court shall declare such absence and the period thereof, and the said deficiency, if any; and the commanding officer of the unit to which the person belongs shall enter in the court-martial book of the unit a record of the declaration.

(2) If the person declared absent does not afterwards surrender, or is not apprehended, he shall, for the purposes of this Act, be deemed to be a deserter.

[a] Substituted by A. O. for "the Government."

63. For the prompt and instant repression of irregularities and offences committed in the field Provost-marshal. or on the march, provost-marshal may be appointed by the Air Officer Commanding His Majesty's Air Forces in India; and the powers and duties of such provost-marshal shall be regulated according to the established custom of war and the rules of the service.

64. The duties of a provost-marshal so appointed are to take charge of persons in air force Duties and powers. custody, to preserve good order and discipline and to prevent breaches thereof by persons subject to this Act.

He may at any time arrest and detain for trial any person subject to this Act who commits an offence and may also carry into effect any punishments to be inflicted in pursuance of the sentence of a court-martial.

CHAPTER VI.

["The personnel of the Indian Air Force is to be Indian but the officers passing the court-martial may be either Indian or European, as they may be drawn from any of His Majesty's Naval, Land or Air Force. We discussed at some length the proposal that an Indian accused should be given right to call to be tried by Indians; but came to the conclusion that such a provision is not applicable, at least for some years to come. It will take some time before any officer of the Indian Air Force will be qualified to sit on the court-martial. Even if they are qualified, they will not be numerous and it might involve any commensurate delay in giving an accused a right to demand that only officers from other forces who are Indians should sit on the court-martial. We think it is sufficient at present to record recommendation that as far as possible officers sitting on a court-martial trying an Indian accused should be Indians." — Select Committee Report.]

CONSTITUTION, JURISDICTION AND POWERS OF COURTS-MARTIAL.

65. For the purposes of this Act there shall be three kinds of courts-martial, that is Kinds of courts-martial. to say,—

- (1) general courts-martial;
- (2) district courts-martial; and
- (3) field general courts-martial.

Power to convene general courts-martial.

66. A general court-martial may be convened by the ^a[Central Government], or by any officer empowered in this behalf by warrant of the ^a[Central Government].

[a] Substituted by A. O. for "Governor-General in Council."

67. A district court-martial may be convened by any authority having power to convene Power to convene district courts-martial. a general court-martial, or by any officer empowered in this behalf by warrant of any such authority.

Limitation of powers of convening authorities.

68. A warrant issued under section 66 or section 67 may contain such restrictions, reservations or conditions as the authority issuing it may think fit.

Convening of field general courts-martial.

69. The following authorities shall have power to convene a field general court-martial, that is to say —

- (a) an authority empowered in this behalf by an order of the ^a[Central Government];
- (b) on active service, the commanding officer of the forces in the field, or any officer empowered by him in this behalf;
- (c) the commanding officer of any detached portion of the Indian Air Force on active service, when, in his opinion, it is not practicable, with due regard to discipline or the exigencies of the service, that an offence should be tried by a general court-martial, and circumstances prevent a reference to higher authority.

[a] Substituted by A. O. for "Governor-General in Council."

70. A general court-martial shall consist of not less than five officers each of whom must Composition of general courts-martial. have held a commission during not less than three whole years and of whom not less than four must be of a rank not below that of a flight lieutenant.

Composition of district courts-martial.

71. A district court-martial shall consist of not less than three officers.

Composition of field general courts-martial.

72. A field general court-martial shall consist of not less than three officers.

Dissolution of courts-martial.

73. (1) If a court-martial after the commencement of a trial is reduced below the smallest number of officers of which it is by this Act required to consist, it shall be dissolved.

(2) If, on account of the illness of the accused before the finding, it is impossible to continue the trial, a court-martial shall be dissolved.

(3) Where a court-martial is dissolved under this section, the accused may be tried again.

Jurisdiction and powers of courts-martial generally.

74. Save as otherwise provided by or under this Act, courts-martial shall have —

(a) jurisdiction to try and to punish all air force offences, and all civil offences committed by persons subject to this Act;

(b) exclusive jurisdiction to try all air force offences which are not also civil offences; and

(c) exclusive power to award the punishments specified in this Act.

Jurisdiction and powers of general and field general courts-martial.

75. A general or field general court-martial shall have power to try any person subject to this Act for any offence made punishable therein, and to pass any sentence authorised by this Act.

Jurisdiction and powers of district courts-martial. 76. A district court-martial shall have power to try any person subject to this Act other than an officer for any offence made punishable therein, and to pass any sentence authorised by this Act other than a sentence of death or imprisonment for a term exceeding two years.

Prohibition of second trial. 77. When any person subject to this Act has been acquitted or convicted of an offence by a court-martial or by a criminal court, or has been summarily dealt with for an offence under section 25, he shall not be liable to be tried again for the same offence by a court-martial.

Limitation of trial. 78. No trial by court-martial of any person subject to this Act for any offence (other than ^a[an offence committed after the 7th day of December 1941 while the person in question was a prisoner of war or was present in enemy territory or] an offence of mutiny, desertion or fraudulent enlistment) shall be commenced after the ^b[expiration of a period of three years (in the computation of which period any time spent by the person in question after the aforesaid date as a prisoner of war or in enemy territory or in evading arrest shall be excluded)] from the date of such offence, and no such trial for an offence of desertion (other than desertion on active service) or of fraudulent enlistment shall be commenced if the person in question has, subsequently to the commission of the offence, served continuously in an exemplary manner for not less than three years with any portion of His Majesty's regular forces.

Explanation.—For the purposes of this section “mutiny” means any of the offences specified in section 35 ^c[and “enemy territory” means any area at the time of the presence therein of the person in question under the sovereignty of or administered by or in occupation of a State at that time at war with His Majesty.]

[a] Inserted by the Indian Army and Indian Air Force (Amendment) Ordinance, 1945 (42 [XLII] of 1945), S.3 [the amendment shall be deemed always to have been made with effect from 7-12-1941]. [b] Substituted for the words “expiration of three years”, ibid (do). [c] Added, ibid (do).

79. Any person subject to this Act who commits any offence against it may be tried and punished for such offence in any place whatever.

Order in case of concurrent jurisdiction of criminal court and court-martial. 80. When a criminal court and a court-martial have each jurisdiction in respect of a civil offence, it shall be in the discretion of the prescribed air force authority to decide before which court the proceedings shall be instituted, and, if that authority decides that they shall be instituted before a court-martial, to direct that the accused person shall be detained in air force custody.

Power of criminal court to require delivery of offender. 81. (1) When a criminal court having jurisdiction is of opinion that proceedings ought to be instituted before itself in respect of any civil offence, it may, by written notice require the prescribed air force authority at the option of such authority either to deliver over the offender to the nearest Magistrate to be proceeded against according to law, or to postpone proceedings pending a reference to the ^a[Central Government].

(2) In every such case the said authority shall either deliver over the offender in compliance with the requisition or shall forthwith refer the question as to the court before which the proceedings are to be instituted for the determination of the ^a[Central Government], whose order upon such reference shall be final.

Trial by court-martial no bar to subsequent trial by criminal court. 82. (1) Notwithstanding anything contained in section 26 of the General Clauses Act, 1897, or in section 403 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, a person convicted or acquitted by a court-martial may be afterwards tried by a criminal court for the same offence or on the same facts.

(2) If a person sentenced by a court-martial in pursuance of this Act to punishment for an offence is afterwards tried by a criminal court for the same offence or on the same facts, that court shall, in awarding punishment, have regard to the air force punishment he may already have undergone.

CHAPTER VII.

PROCEDURE OF COURTS-MARTIAL.

President. 83. At every court-martial the senior member shall sit as president.

84. Every general court-martial shall, and every district court-martial may, be attended by a judge advocate, who shall be either an officer belonging to the department of the Judge Advocate General in India, or, if no such officer is available, a fit person appointed by the convening officer.

85. (1) At all trials by courts-martial, as soon as the court is assembled, the names of the president and members shall be read over to the accused, who shall thereupon be asked whether he objects to being tried by any officer sitting on the court.

(2) If the accused objects to any such officer, his objection, and also the reply thereto of the officer objected to, shall be heard and recorded, and the remaining officers of the court shall, in the absence of the challenged officer, decide on the objection.

(3) If the objection is allowed by one-half or more of the votes of the officers entitled to vote, the objection shall be allowed, and the member objected to shall retire, and his vacancy may be filled in the prescribed manner by another officer, subject to the same right of the accused to object.

(4) When no challenge is made, or when challenge has been made and disallowed, or the place of every officer successfully challenged has been filled by another officer to whom no objection is made or allowed, the court shall proceed with the trial.

86. (1) Every decision of a court-martial shall be passed by an absolute majority of votes; and where there is an equality of votes, as to either finding or sentence, the decision shall be in favour of the accused:

Provided that no sentence of death shall be passed without the concurrence of two-thirds at the least of the members of the court.

(2) In matters other than a challenge or the finding or sentence, the president shall have a casting vote.

87. An oath or affirmation in the prescribed form shall be administered to every member of every court-martial and to the judge advocate at the beginning of the trial.

88. Every person giving evidence at a court-martial shall be examined on oath or affirmation, and shall be duly sworn or affirmed in the prescribed form.

89. (1) The convening officer, the president of the court, the judge advocate, or the commanding officer of the accused person, may, by summons under his hand, require the attendance before the court, at a time and place to be mentioned in the summons, of any person either to give evidence or to produce any document or other thing.

(2) In the case of a witness amenable to air force^a, [naval] or military authority, the summons shall be sent to the officer commanding the corps, ^a[ship,] unit, department or detachment to which he belongs, and such officer shall serve it upon him accordingly.

(3) In the case of any other witness, the summons shall be sent to the Magistrate within whose jurisdiction he may be or reside, and such Magistrate shall give effect to the summons as if the witness were required in the court of such Magistrate.

(4) When a witness is required to produce any particular document or other thing in his possession or power, the summons shall describe it with reasonable precision.

(5) Nothing in this section shall be deemed to affect the Indian Evidence Act, 1872, sections 123 and 124, or to apply to any document in the custody of the postal or telegraph authorities.

(6) If any document in such custody is, in the opinion of any District Magistrate, Chief Presidency Magistrate, High Court or Court of Session, wanted for the purpose of any court-martial, such Magistrate or Court may require the postal or telegraph authorities, as the case may be, to deliver such document to such person as such Magistrate or Court may direct.

(7) If any such document is, in the opinion of any other Magistrate or of any Commissioner of Police or District Superintendent of Police, wanted for any such purpose, he may require the postal or telegraph authorities, as the case may be, to cause search to be made for and to detain such document pending the orders of any such District Magistrate, Chief Presidency Magistrate or Court.

[a] Inserted by the Amending Act, 1934 (35 [XXXV] of 1934), S. 2 and Schedule.

90. (1) Whenever, in the course of a trial by court-martial, it appears to the court that the examination of a witness is necessary for the ends of justice, and that the attendance of such witness cannot be procured without an amount of delay, expense or inconvenience which, in the circumstances of the case, would be unreasonable, such court may address the Judge Advocate General in order that a commission to take the evidence of such witness may be issued.

(2) The Judge Advocate General may then, if he thinks necessary, issue a commission to any Presidency Magistrate, District Magistrate or Magistrate of the first class, within the local limits of whose jurisdiction such witness resides, to take the evidence of such witness.

(3) When the witness resides in ^a[any Indian State or tribal area] in which there is an official representing ^b[the Central Government or the Crown Representative], the commission may be issued to such official.

(4) The Magistrate or official to whom the commission is issued, or if he is the District Magistrate, he or such Magistrate of the first class as he appoints in this behalf, shall proceed to the place where the witness is or shall summon the witness before him and shall take down his evidence in the same manner, and may for this purpose exercise the same powers, as in trials of warrant-cases under the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898.

(5) Where the commission is issued to such official as is mentioned in sub-section (3), he may delegate his powers and duties under the commission to any official subordinate to him whose powers are not less than those of a Magistrate of the first class in British India.

(6) When the witness resides out of India, the commission may be issued to any British consular officer, British Magistrate or other British official competent to administer an oath or affirmation in the place where such witness resides.

(7) The prosecutor and the accused person in any case in which a commission is issued may respectively forward any interrogatories in writing which the court may think relevant to the issue, and the Magistrate or official to whom the commission is issued shall examine the witness upon such interrogatories.

(8) The prosecutor and the accused person may appear before such Magistrate or official by pleader or, except in the case of an accused person in custody, in person, and may examine, cross-examine and re-examine (as the case may be) the said witness.

(9) After any commission issued under this section has been duly executed, it shall be returned, together with the deposition of the witness examined thereunder, to the Judge Advocate General.

(10) On receipt of a commission and deposition returned under sub-section (9), the Judge Advocate General shall forward the same to the court at whose instance the commission was issued or, if such court has been dissolved, to any other court convened for the trial of the accused person; and the commission, the return thereto and the deposition shall be open to the inspection of the prosecutor and the accused person, and may, subject to all just exceptions, be read in evidence in the case by either the prosecutor or the accused, and shall form part of the proceedings of the court.

(11) In every case in which a commission is issued under this section the trial may be adjourned for a specified time reasonably sufficient for the execution and return of the commission.

Explanation. — In this section, the expression "Judge Advocate General" means the Judge Advocate-General in India and includes a Deputy Judge Advocate-General.

Conviction of one offence permissible on charge of another.

91. (1) A person charged before a court-martial with desertion may be found guilty of attempting to desert or of being absent without leave.

(2) A person charged before a court-martial with attempting to desert may be found guilty ^a[* * *] of being absent without leave.

(3) A person charged before a court-martial with using criminal force may be found guilty of assault.

(4) A person charged before a court-martial with using threatening language may be found guilty of using insubordinate language.

(5) A person charged before a court-martial with any of the offences specified in clause (a), clause (b), clause (d), or clause (e) of section 44 may be found guilty of any other of these offences with which he might have been charged.

(6) A person charged before a court-martial with an offence punishable under section 58 may be found guilty of any other offence of which he might have been found guilty if the provisions of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, were applicable.

(7) A person charged before a court-martial with any other offence under this Act may, on failure of proof of an offence having been committed in circumstances involving a more severe punishment, be found guilty of the same offence as having been committed in circumstances involving a less severe punishment.

(8) A person charged before a court-martial with any offence under this Act may be found guilty of having attempted to commit or of abetment of that offence although the attempt or abetment is not separately charged.

General rule as to evidence.

92. The Indian Evidence Act, 1872, shall, subject to the provisions of this Act, apply to all proceedings before a court-martial.

93. A court-martial may take judicial notice of any matter within the general, naval, Judicial notice. military or air force knowledge of the members.

94. In any proceeding under this Act, any application, certificate, warrant, reply or Presumption as to signatures. other document purporting to be signed by an officer in ^a[the service of the Crown] shall, on production, be presumed to have been duly signed by the person and in the character by whom and in which it purports to have been signed, until the contrary is shown.

[a] Substituted by A. O. for the civil, military or air force service of the Government."

95. Any enrolment paper purporting to be signed by an enrolling officer shall, in proceedings under this Act, be evidence of the person enrolled having Enrolment paper as evidence. given the answers to questions which he is therein represented as having given. The enrolment of such person may be proved by the production of a copy of his enrolment paper purporting to be certified to be a true copy by the officer having the custody of the enrolment paper.

96. (1) A letter, return or other document respecting the service of any person in, or the Presumption as to certain documents. dismissal or discharge of any person from, any portion of His Majesty's Forces, or respecting the circumstance of any person not having served in, or belonged to, any portion of his Majesty's Forces, if purporting to be signed by or on behalf of the ^a[Central Government] or the Commander-in-Chief in India or by any prescribed officer, shall be evidence of the facts stated in such letter, return or other document.

(2) An Army List, ^b[Navy List,] Air Force List or Gazette purporting to be published by authority shall be evidence of the status and rank of the officers or warrant officers therein mentioned, and of any appointment held by such officers or warrant officers and of the corps, ^b[ship,] unit, battalion, arm, branch or department of the service to which such officers or warrant officers belong.

(3) Where a record is made in any service book in pursuance of this Act or of any rules made thereunder or otherwise in pursuance of air force duty, and purports to be signed by the commanding officer or by the officer whose duty it is to make such record, such record shall be evidence of the facts thereby stated.

(4) A copy of any record in any service book purporting to be certified to be a true copy by the officer having the custody of such book shall be evidence of such record.

(5) Where any person subject to this Act is being tried on a charge of desertion or of absence without leave, and such person has surrendered himself into the custody of, or has been apprehended by, a provost-marshal, assistant provost-marshal or other officer, or any portion of His Majesty's Forces, a certificate purporting to be signed by such provost-marshal, assistant provost-marshal or other officer, or by the commanding officer of that portion of His Majesty's Forces and stating the fact, date and place of such surrender or apprehension, shall be evidence of the matters so stated.

(6) When any person subject to this Act is being tried on a charge of desertion or of absence without leave, and such person has surrendered himself into the custody of, or has been apprehended by a police-officer not below the rank of an officer in charge of a police-station, a certificate purporting to be signed by such police-officer and stating the fact, date and place of such surrender or apprehension, shall be evidence of the matters stated.

(7) Any document purporting to be a report under the hand of any Chemical Examiner or Assistant Chemical Examiner to Government upon any matter or thing duly submitted to him for examination or analysis and report may be used as evidence in any proceeding under this Act.

97. (1) If at any trial for desertion, absence without leave, overstaying leave or not rejoining Reference by accused to Government officer. when warned for service, the person tried states in his defence any sufficient or reasonable excuse for his unauthorised absence, and refers in support thereof to any officer in ^a[the service of the Crown], or if it appears that any such officer is likely to prove or disprove the said statement in the defence, the court shall address such officer and adjourn until his reply is received.

(2) The written reply of any officer so referred to shall, if signed by him, be received in evidence and have the same effect as if made on oath before the court.

(3) If the court is dissolved before the receipt of such reply, or if the Court omits to comply with the provisions of this section, the convening officer may, at his discretion, annul the proceedings and order a fresh trial by the same or another court-martial.

[a] Substituted by A. O. for "the civil, military or air force service of Government."

98. (1) When any person subject to this Act has been convicted by a court-martial of any offence such court-martial may inquire into, and receive and record evidence of, any previous convictions of such person, either by a court-martial established under this Act or any other enactment or by a criminal Court, and may further inquire into and record the service character of such person.

(2) Evidence received under this section may be either oral or in the shape of entries in, or certified extracts from, court-martial books or other official records; and it shall not be necessary to give notice before trial to the person tried that evidence as to his previous convictions or service character will be received.

99. When any property regarding which any offence appears to have been committed, or which appears to have been used for the commission of any offence, is produced before a court-martial during a trial, the court may make such order as it thinks fit for the proper custody of such property pending the conclusion of the trial, and if the property is subject to speedy or natural decay may, after recording such evidence as it thinks necessary, order it to be sold or otherwise disposed of.

CHAPTER VIII.

CONFIRMATION, REVISION, PARDON AND REMISSION OF SENTENCES.

Finding and sentence invalid without confirmation. 100. No finding or sentence of a general or district court-martial shall be valid except so far as it may be confirmed as provided by this Act.

1. Section 98.—[1] "This section relates to evidence which may be adduced in a court-martial after the accused is convicted, relating to his previous convictions and general character. The section as originally drafted would appear to admit of evidence relating to a man's private life and to that extent it was too wide. The section, therefore, is amended in order to admit only evidence relating to previous convictions and to a man's character as an officer or airman" — Select Committee Report.

Power to confirm finding and sentence of general court-martial.

103. A warrant issued under section 101 or section 102 may contain such restrictions, reservations or conditions as the authority issuing it

Confirmation of finding and sentence of field general court-martial.

104. (1) Save as provided in sub-sections (2) and (3), a finding and sentence of a field general court-martial shall not require to be confirmed, and may be carried out forthwith.

(2) The finding and sentence of a field general court-martial shall require to be confirmed —

(a) in the case of the trial of an officer,

(b) in the case of a sentence of death or of imprisonment for a term exceeding two years, and

(c) in any other case if so ordered by the convening authority.

(3) Such finding and sentence may be confirmed by the convening authority or, if the convening authority so directs, by an authority, superior to the convening authority.

105. Subject to such restrictions as may be contained in any warrant issued under section 101 or section 102, a confirming authority may, if it confirms the sentence of a court-martial, mitigate or remit the punishment thereby awarded, or commute that punishment for any punishment or punishments lower in the scale laid down in section 19.

106. When any person subject to this Act is tried and sentenced by court-martial while on board ship, the finding and sentence so far as not confirmed and executed on board ship may be confirmed and executed in like manner as if such person had been tried at the port of disembarkation.

Revision of finding or sentence.
and on such revision, the court, if so directed by the confirming authority, may take additional evidence.

107. (1) Any finding or sentence of a court-martial which requires confirmation may be once revised by order of the confirming authority;

(2) The Court, on revision, shall consist of the same officers as were present when the original decision was passed, unless any of those officers are unavoidably absent.

(3) In case of such unavoidable absence the cause thereof shall be duly certified in the proceedings, and the Court shall proceed with the revision, provided that, if a general court-martial, it still consists of five officers, or, if a district court-martial, of three officers.

^a108. (1) Where a finding of guilty by a court-martial, which has been confirmed, or which does not require confirmation, is found for any reason to be invalid, or cannot be supported by the evidence, the authority which would have had power under section 110, to commute the punishment awarded by the sentence, if the finding had been valid, may substitute a new finding, if the new finding could have been validly made by the court-martial on the charge and if it appears that the court-martial must have been satisfied of the facts establishing the offence specified or involved in the new finding, and may pass a sentence for the said offence.

(2) Where a sentence passed by a court-martial, which has been confirmed, or which does not require confirmation, not being a sentence passed in pursuance of a new finding substituted under sub-section (1), is found for any reason to be invalid, the authority which would have had power under section 110 to commute the punishment awarded by the sentence if it had been valid may pass a valid sentence.

(3) The punishment awarded by a sentence passed under sub-section (1) or sub-section (2).

shall not be higher in the scale of punishments than or in excess of the punishment awarded by the sentence for which a new sentence is substituted under this section.]

109. (1) Whenever, in the course of a trial by court-martial, it appears to the Court that Provision where accused is a lunatic the person charged is of unsound mind and consequently incapable of making his defence, or that such person committed the act alleged, but was by reason of unsoundness of mind incapable of knowing the nature of the act or that it was wrong or contrary to law, the Court shall record a finding accordingly, and the president of the Court shall forthwith report the case to the confirming authority, or, in the case of a field general court-martial, to the prescribed officer.

(2) A confirming authority to whom a case is reported under sub-section (1) may, if it does not confirm the finding, take steps to have the accused person tried by the same or another court-martial for the offence with which he was originally charged.

(3) A prescribed officer to whom a case is reported under sub-section (1) and a confirming authority confirming a finding in any case so reported to it shall order the accused person to be kept in custody in the prescribed manner, and, where the confirming authority is not itself the ^a[Central Government], shall report the case for the orders of the ^a[Central Government].

(4) On receipt of a report under sub-section (1) or sub-section (3), the ^a[Central Government] may order the accused person to be detained in a lunatic asylum or other suitable place of safe custody.

(5) Where an accused person, having been found by reason of unsoundness of mind to be incapable of making his defence, is in custody or under detention, the prescribed officer may —

(a) if such person is in custody under sub-section (3), on the report of a medical officer that he is capable of making his defence, or

(b) if such person is detained under sub-section (4), on a certificate such as is referred to in section 473 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898,

take steps to have such person tried by the same or another court-martial for the offence with which he was originally charged or, provided that the offence is a civil offence, by a criminal court.

(6) A copy of every order made by the prescribed officer under sub-section (5) shall forthwith be sent to the ^a[Central Government].

[a] Substituted by A. O. for "Governor-General in Council."

110. (1) When any person subject to this Act has been convicted by a court-martial of any Pardons and remissions. offence, the ^a[Central Government] or the prescribed officer may —

(a) either without conditions or upon any conditions which the person sentenced accepts, pardon the person or remit the whole or any part of the punishment awarded; or

(b) mitigate the punishment awarded, or commute such punishment for any less punishment or punishments mentioned in this Act.

(2) If any condition on which a person has been pardoned or a punishment has been remitted is, in the opinion of the authority which granted the pardon or remitted the punishment, not fulfilled, such authority may cancel the pardon or remission, and thereupon the sentence of the Court shall be carried into effect as if such pardon had not been granted or such punishment had not been remitted :

Provided that in the case of a person sentenced to imprisonment, such person shall undergo only the unexpired portion of his sentence.

(3) When under the provisions of section 23 a non-commissioned officer is deemed to be reduced to the ranks, such reduction shall, for the purposes of this section, be treated as a punishment awarded by sentence of a court-martial.

[a] Substituted by A. O. for "Governor-General in Council."

CHAPTER IX.

EXECUTION OF SENTENCES AND DISPOSAL OF PROPERTY.

111. In awarding a sentence of death a court-martial shall, in its discretion, direct that the Sentence of death. offender shall suffer death by being hanged by the neck until he be dead, or shall suffer death by being shot to death.

112. Whenever any person is sentenced under this Act to imprisonment, the term of his sentence shall, whether it has been revised or not, be reckoned to commence on the day on which the original proceedings were signed by the president.

Commencement of sentence of imprisonment. ^a[113. Whenever any sentence of imprisonment is passed under this Act, or whenever any sentence so passed is commuted to imprisonment, the confirming officer, or, in the case of a sentence which does not require confirmation, the court or in either case such officer as may be prescribed may direct either that the sentence shall be carried out by confinement in a civil prison or by confinement in a military or air force prison, and the commanding officer of the person under sentence or such other officer as may be prescribed, shall forward a warrant in the prescribed form to the officer in charge of the prison in which the person under sentence is to be confined, and shall forward him to such prison with the warrant :

Provided that in the case of a sentence of imprisonment for a period not exceeding three months, in lieu of a direction that the sentence shall be carried out by confinement in a civil, military or air force prison, a direction may be made that the sentence shall be carried out by confinement in air force custody :

Provided further that on active service a sentence of imprisonment may be carried out by confinement in such place as the officer commanding the forces in the field may from time to time appoint.]

117. Where a sentence of transportation is imposed by court-martial under section 58, the offender, until he is transported, shall be dealt with in the same manner as if he had been sentenced to rigorous imprisonment, and shall be deemed to have been undergoing his sentence of transportation during the term of his imprisonment.

118. When a sentence of fine is imposed by a court-martial under section 58 whether the trial was held within British India or not, a copy of such sentence, signed and certified by the president of the Court or the officer holding the trial, as the case may be, may be sent to any Magistrate in British India, and such Magistrate shall thereupon cause the fine to be recovered in accordance with the provisions of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, for the levy of fines as if it was a sentence of fine imposed by such Magistrate.

119. (1) After the conclusion of a trial before any court-martial, the Court or the authority confirming its finding or sentence or any authority superior to such authority, or in the case of a finding or sentence which does not require confirmation, the officer commanding the unit within which the trial was held, may make such order as it or he thinks fit for the disposal by destruction, confiscation, delivery to any person claiming to be entitled to possession thereof, or otherwise, of any property or document produced before the Court or in its custody, or regarding which any offence appears to have been committed or which has been used for the commission of any offence.

(2) Where any order has been made under sub-section (1) in respect of property regarding which an offence appears to have been committed, a copy of such order signed and certified by the authority making the same may, whether the trial was held within British India or not, be sent to a Magistrate in any presidency-town or district in which such property for the time being is, and such Magistrate shall thereupon cause the order to be carried into effect as if it was an order passed by such Magistrate under the provisions of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898.

Explanation.—In this section the term “property” includes, in the case of property regarding which an offence appears to have been committed, not only such property as has been originally in the possession or under the control of any party but also any property into or for which the same may have been converted or exchanged, and anything acquired by such conversion or exchange whether immediately or otherwise.

Establishment and regulation of air force prisons and detention barracks. ^a[119A. (1) The Central Government may set apart any building or part of a building or any place under its control as an air force prison or detention barracks for the confinement of persons sentenced to imprisonment or detention under this Act.

(2) The Central Government may by rules provide —

(a) for the government, management and regulation of such air force prisons and detention barracks,

(b) for the appointment and removal and powers of inspectors, visitors, governors and officers thereof,

(c) for the labour of prisoners and persons undergoing detention therein and for enabling such prisoners or persons to earn by special industry and good conduct a remission of a portion of their sentence, and

(d) for the safe custody of such prisoners or persons and the maintenance of discipline among them and the punishment by personal correction, restraint or otherwise, of offences committed by them :

Provided that such rules shall not authorise corporal punishment to be inflicted for any offence nor render the imprisonment or detention more severe than it is under the law for the time being in force relating to civil prisons in British India.

(3) Rules made under this section may provide for the application to air force prisons or detention barracks of any of the provisions of the Prisons Act, 1894 relating to the duties of officers of prisons and the punishment of persons not prisoners.]

CHAPTER X.

SPECIAL RULES RELATING TO PERSONS AND PROPERTY.

Complaints against superior officers and airmen. 120. (1) If an officer of the Indian Air Force thinks himself wronged by his commanding officer, or other superior officer, and on due application made to his commanding officer does not receive the redress to which he may consider himself entitled, he may complain to the ^a[Central Government] in order to obtain justice.

(2) If any airman thinks himself wronged in any matter by any officer other than the officer under whose command or orders he is serving, or by any airman, he may complain thereof to the officer under whose command or orders he is serving, and if he thinks himself wronged by the officer under whose command or orders he is serving, either in respect of his complaint not being redressed or in respect of any other matter, he may complain thereof to his commanding officer, and if he thinks himself wronged by his commanding officer, either in respect of his complaint not being redressed or in respect of any other matter, he may complain thereof to the prescribed officer; and every officer to whom a complaint is made in pursuance of this section shall cause such complaint to be inquired into, and shall, if on inquiry he is satisfied of the justice of the complaint so made, take such steps as may be necessary for giving full redress to the complainant in respect of the matter complained of.

Privileges of persons attending courts martial. 121. (1) No president or member of a court-martial, no judge advocate, no party to any proceeding before a court-martial, or his legal practitioner or agent, and no witness acting in obedience to a summons to attend a court-martial, shall, while proceeding to, attending on or returning from a court-martial, be liable to arrest under civil or revenue process.

(2) If any such person is arrested under any such process, he may be discharged by order of the court-martial.

Exemption from arrest for debt. 122. (1) No officer or person enrolled in the Indian Air Force shall be liable to be arrested for debt under any process issued by, or by the authority of, any civil or revenue court or revenue officer.

(2) The Judge of any such Court may examine into any complaint made by such person or his superior officer of the arrest of such person contrary to the provisions of this section, and may, by warrant under his hand, discharge the person, and award reasonable costs to the complainant, who may recover those costs in like manner as he might have recovered costs awarded to him by a decree against the person obtaining the process.

(3) For the recovery of such costs no fee shall be payable to the Court by the complainant.

Property exempted from attachment. 123. Neither the arms, clothes, equipment accoutrements or necessities of any person subject to this Act, nor any animal used by him for the discharge of his duty, shall be seized, nor shall the pay and allowances of any such person or any part thereof be attached, by direction of any civil or revenue court or any revenue-officer, in satisfaction of any decree or order enforceable against him.

Application to reservists. 124. Every person belonging to the Indian Air Force Reserve shall, when called out for or engaged upon or returning from training or service, be entitled to all the privileges accorded by sections 122 and 123 to a person subject to this Act.

Priority of hearing by courts of cases in which persons subject to this Act are concerned. 125. (1) On the presentation to any court by or on behalf of any person subject to this Act of a certificate, from the proper air force authority, of leave of absence having been granted to or applied for by him for the purpose of prosecuting or defending any suit or other proceeding in such court, the court shall, on the application of such person, arrange, so far as may be possible, for the hearing and final disposal of such suit or other proceeding within the period of the leave so granted or applied for.

(2) The certificate from the proper air force authority shall state the first and last day of the leave or intended leave, and set forth a description of the case with respect to which the leave was granted or applied for.

(3) No fee shall be payable to the Court in respect of the presentation of any such certificate, or in respect of any application by or on behalf of any such person for priority for the hearing of his case.

(4) Where the Court is unable to arrange for the hearing and final disposal of the suit or other proceeding within the period of such leave or intended leave as aforesaid, it shall record its reasons for having been unable to do so, and shall cause a copy thereof to be furnished to such person on his application without any payment whatever by him in respect either of the application for such copy or of the copy itself.

(5) If in any case a question arises as to the proper air force authority qualified to grant such certificate as aforesaid, such question shall be at once referred by the Court to an officer commanding a unit, whose decision shall be final.

Property of deceased persons and deserters. 126. The following rules are enacted respecting the disposal of the property of every person subject to this Act who dies or deserts —

(1) The commanding officer of the unit to which the deceased person or deserter belonged shall secure all the moveable property belonging to the deceased or deserter that is in camp or quarters, and cause an inventory thereof to be made, and draw any pay and allowances due to such person.

(2) In the case of a deceased person who has left in a Government savings bank (including any post office savings bank, however named) a deposit not exceeding one thousand rupees, the commanding officer may, if he thinks fit, require the secretary or other proper official of the bank to pay the deposit to him forthwith, notwithstanding anything in any departmental rules, and after the payment thereof in accordance with such requisition, no person shall have any right in respect of the deposit except as hereinafter provided.

(3) In the case of a deceased person whose representative is on the spot and has given security for the payment of the service or other debts in camp or quarters (if any) of the deceased, the commanding officer shall deliver over any property received under clauses (1) and (2) to that representative.

(4) In the case of a deceased person whose estate is not dealt with under clause (3), and in the case of any deserter, the commanding officer shall cause the moveable property to be sold by public auction, and shall pay the service and other debts in camp or quarters (if any), and, in the case of a deceased person, the expenses of his funeral ceremonies, from the proceeds of the sale and from any pay and allowances drawn under clause (1) and from the amount of the deposit (if any) received under clause (2).

(5) The surplus, if any, shall, in the case of a deceased person, be paid to his representative (if any), or, in the event of no claim to such surplus being established within twelve months after the death, be remitted to the prescribed person.

(6) In the case of a deserter, the surplus (if any) shall be forthwith remitted to the prescribed person and shall, on the expiry of three years from the date of his desertion be forfeited to His Majesty, unless the deserter shall in the mean time have surrendered or been apprehended.

^a[(7) In the case of a person dying or deserting while on active service, the references in the foregoing rules to the commanding officer shall be construed as references to the Standing Committee of Adjustment, if any, appointed in this behalf in the manner prescribed; and the power conferred by rule 2 to require payment of a deposit left in a Government savings bank shall be read as a power to require the payment from any deposit left in any bank, notwithstanding anything in the rules of the bank, of a sum, not exceeding one thousand five hundred rupees, equal to the nearest multiple of one hundred rupees above the amount estimated by the Standing Committee of Adjustment as necessary to meet the service and other debts in camp or quarters of the deceased.

(8) The decision of the commanding officer or the Standing Committee of Adjustment, as the case may be, as to what are the service and other debts in camp or quarters of a deceased person and as to the amount payable therefor shall, without prejudice to any jurisdiction otherwise exercisable by a court of law, be final.]

Explanation ^b[1].—A person shall be deemed to be a deserter within the meaning of this Meaning of deserter. section who has without authority been absent from duty for a period of twenty-one days and has not subsequently surrendered or been apprehended.

^b[Explanation 2. — The expression 'service and other debts in camp or quarters' includes for the purposes of this section money due as—air force debts, namely, sums due in respect of, or of any advance in respect of —

(a) quarters,

(b) mess, band, and other service accounts,

(c) air force clothing, appointments and equipments, not exceeding a sum equal to six months' pay of the deceased, and having become due within eighteen months before his death.]

127. Property deliverable and money payable to the representative of a deceased person

Disposal of certain property without production of probate, etc. under section 126 may, if the total value or amount thereof does not exceed one thousand rupees, and if the prescribed person thinks fit, be delivered or paid to any person appearing to him to be entitled to receive it or to administer the estate of the deceased, without requiring the production of any probate, letters of administration, certificate or other such conclusive evidence of title; and such delivery or payment shall be a full discharge to those ordering or making the same and to the ^a[Crown] from all further liability in respect of the property or money; but nothing in this section shall affect the rights of any executor or administrator or other representative, or of any creditor of a deceased person against any person to whom such delivery or payment has been made.

CHAPTER XI.

SUPPLEMENTAL.

129. (1) The ^a[Central Government] may make rules^b for the purpose of carrying into effect the provisions of this Act.

(2) In particular, and without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing power, such rules may provide for —

- (a) the discharge from the service of persons subject to this Act;
- (b) the specification of the punishments which may be awarded as field punishments under sections 21 and 25;
- (c) the assembly and procedure of courts of inquiry, and the administration of oaths or affirmations by such courts;
- (d) the convening and constituting of courts-martial;
- (e) the adjournment, dissolution and sittings of courts-martial;
- (f) the procedure to be observed in trials by courts-martial;
- (g) the confirmation and revision of the findings and sentences of courts-martial;
- (h) the carrying into effect sentences of courts-martial;
- (i) the forms of orders to be made under the provisions of this Act relating to courts martial and imprisonment;
- (j) the constitution of authorities to decide for what persons, to what amounts and in what manner, provision should be made for dependants under section 29, and the due carrying out of such decisions; and
- (k) any matter in this Act directed to be prescribed.

(3) All rules made under this Act shall be published in the ^c[Official Gazette], and on such publication, shall have effect as if enacted in this Act.

THE INDIAN AIR FORCE VOLUNTEER RESERVE (DISCIPLINE) ACT, 1939.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

"In order to provide additional personnel required to man Auxiliary Air Force units it is necessary to create an Indian Air Force Volunteer Reserve.

2. This force will on formation be subject to the Indian Air Force Act, 1932, in the same manner as persons belonging to his Majesty's Indian Air Force.

3. Legislation is therefore required for the following purposes:—

(a) To provide that members of the Indian Air Force Volunteer Reserve shall be subject to the Indian Air Force Act, 1932, when under training or called into actual service.

(b) To impose on members of the Indian Air Force Volunteer Reserve penalties for failing to join a unit or attend at any place, when required so to join or attend for the purpose of undergoing training or of entering into actual service.

4. The Indian Air Force Volunteer Reserve (Discipline) Ordinance, 1939 (VII of 1939) will be repealed simultaneously with the passing of this Act."

— Gazette of India, 1939, Pt. V, p. 221.

ACT NO. XXXVI of 1939.^a

[29th September 1939.]

An Act to provide for the discipline of members of the Indian Air Force Volunteer Reserve raised in British India on behalf of His Majesty.

WHEREAS it is expedient to provide for the discipline of members of the Indian Air Force Volunteer Reserve raised in British India on behalf of His Majesty ;

It is hereby enacted as follows :—

[a] This Act has been applied to —British Baluchistan, see Gazette of India, 1940, Pt. I, p. 790; the Darjeeling district and the partially excluded areas of the Mymensingh district, by Bengal Government Notification No. 372, P., dated 19th January, 1940 ; the Chittagong Hill Tracts with effect from 6th January, 1940, by Bengal Government Notification No. 820-E. A., dated 23rd January, 1940.

Short title, extent and commencement.

1. (1) This Act may be called the Indian Air Force Volunteer Reserve (Discipline) Act, 1939.

(2) It extends to the whole of British India and applies to members of the Indian Air Force Volunteer Reserve wherever they may be.

(3) It shall come into force on such date^a as the Central Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, appoint in this behalf.

[a] The 6th January 1940, see Notification No. 15, dated 6th January, 1940, Gazette of India, 1940, Pt. I, p. 14.

Power to make rules for regulation of the Indian Air Force Volunteer Reserve.

2. The Central Government may make rules for the government, discipline and regulation of the Indian Air Force Volunteer Reserve.

3. Every member of the Indian Air Force Volunteer Reserve, while undergoing training in any unit, or otherwise, in pursuance of rules made under section 2, or when called into actual service in the Indian Air Force, in pursuance of the said rules, shall be subject to the Indian Air Force Act, 1932, in the same manner as a person belonging to His Majesty's Indian Air Force, and shall continue to be so subject until duly released from such training or service, as the case may be.

4. (1) If any member of the Indian Air Force Volunteer Reserve, when required, in pursuance of rules made under section 2, to join a unit or attend at any place for the purpose of undergoing training, fails without reasonable excuse to join or attend in accordance with such requirement, he shall be punishable with fine which may extend to two hundred rupees.

(2) If any member of the Indian Air Force Volunteer Reserve, when called into actual service in the Indian Air Force, and required by such call to join any unit or attend at any place, fails without reasonable excuse to comply with such requirement at or within such time as the Central Government may, by order, direct he shall be liable to be apprehended and punished, in the same manner as a person in or belonging to the Indian Air Force deserting or improperly absenting himself from duty, except that the punishment shall not exceed imprisonment which may extend to two years.

5. When any member of the Indian Air Force Volunteer Reserve is required, in pursuance of the rules made under section 2, to join any unit or attend at any place for the purpose of undergoing training or is called into actual service in the Indian Air Force, a certificate purporting to be signed by an officer appointed in this behalf under the said rules and stating that the said member failed to join or attend in accordance with such requirement or call shall, without proof of the signature or appointment of such officer, be evidence of the matter stated therein.

6. No court inferior to that of a Presidency Magistrate or Magistrate of the first class shall try an offence punishable under sub-section (1) of section 4.

7. The Indian Air Force Volunteer Reserve (Discipline) Ordinance, 1939,^a is hereby repealed; and any rules made, anything done and any action taken under the said Ordinance shall be deemed to have been made, done or taken under this Act as if this Act had commenced on the 16th day of September, 1939.

[a] Ordinance 7 [VII] of 1939.

THE ANAND MARRIAGE ACT, 1909.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

"The object of the Bill is to set at rest doubts which may be raised of the validity of the marriage rite of the Sikhs called "Anand."

This form of marriage has long been practised among the Sikhs but there are good reasons to believe that, in the absence of validating enactment, doubts may be thrown upon it and Sikhs may have to face great difficulties in future and incur heavy expenses on suits instituted in the Civil Courts. It is also apprehended that in the absence of such law some Judicial Officers may be uncertain as to the validity of this orthodox Sikh custom.

It is desirable, therefore, that all doubts should be set at rest for the future by passing this enactment which merely validates and accepting the rite by following any new principles." — Gazette of India, 1908, Part V, page 357.

ACT NO. VII of 1909.^a

[22nd October 1909.]

An Act to remove doubts as to the validity of the marriage ceremony common among the Sikhs called Anand.

WHEREAS it is expedient to remove any doubts as to the validity of the marriage ceremony common among the Sikhs called Anand; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

[a.] For Report of Select Committee, see Gazette of India, 1908, Pt. V; 1909, Pt. V, p. 1034; and for Proceedings in Council, see ibid, 1908, Pt. VI, p. 156, and ibid, 1909, Pt. VI, pp. 156, 161 and 165.

Short title and extent. 1. (1) This Act may be called the Anand Marriage Act, 1909; and

(2) It extends to the whole of British India.

2. All marriages which may be or may have been duly solemnized according to the Sikh marriage ceremony called Anand shall be, and shall be deemed to have been with effect from the date of the solemnization of each respectively, good and valid in law.

Exemption of certain marriages from Act.

3. Nothing in this Act shall apply to —

(a) any marriage between persons not professing the Sikh religion, or

(b) any marriage which has been judicially declared to be null and void.

Saving of marriages solemnized according to other ceremonies.

4. Nothing in this Act shall affect the validity of any marriage duly solemnized according to any other marriage ceremony customary among the Sikhs.

Non-validation of marriages within prohibited degrees.

5. Nothing in this Act shall be deemed to validate any marriage between persons who are related to each other in any degree of consanguinity or affinity which would, according to the customary law of the Sikhs, render a marriage between them illegal.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

"The object of this measure is to preserve to India its ancient monuments in antiquities and to prevent the excavation by unauthorised persons of sites of historic interest and value.

2. In 1898 the question of antiquarian exploration and research attracted attention, and the necessity of taking steps for the protection of monuments and relics of antiquity was impressed upon the Government of India. It was then apparent that legislation was required to enable the Government to discharge their responsibilities in the matter and a Bill was drafted on the lines of the existing Acts of Parliament modified so as to embody certain provisions which have found a place in recent legislation regarding the antiquities of Greece and Italy. This draft was circulated for the opinions of local Governments and their replies submitted showed that the proposals incorporated in it met with almost unanimous approval, the criticism received being directed, for the most part, against matters of detail. The draft has since been revised, the provisions of the Draft Bill prepared by the Government of Bengal have been embodied so far as they were found suitable and the present Bill is the result.

3. The first portion of the Bill deals with protection of "Ancient monuments" an expression which has been defined in clause 2 [now section 2]. The measure will apply only to such of these as are from time to time expressly brought within its contents through being declared to be "protected monuments." A greater number of more famous buildings in India are already in possession or under the control of the Government; but there are others worthy of preservation which are in the hands of private owners. Some of these have already been insured or are fast falling into decay. The preservation of these is the chief object of the clause of the Bill now referred to and the provisions of the Bill are in general accordance with the policy enunciated in Section 23 of the Religious Endowments Act, 1863 (20 [XX] of 1863), which recognises and saves the right of the Government "to prevent injury to and preserve buildings remarkable in their antiquity and for their historical or architectural value or required for the convenience of the public." The power to intervene is at present limited to cases to which Section 3 of the Bengal Regulation XIX of 1810 or Section 3 of the Madras Regulation VII of 1817 applies. In framing the present Bill the Government has aimed at having the necessity of good-will and securing the co-operation of the owners concerned and it hopes that the action which it is proposed to take may tend rather to the encouragement than to the suppression of private effort. The Bill provides that the owner or the manager of the building which merits greater care than it has been receiving may be invited to enter into an agreement for its protection and that in the event of his refusing to come to terms the collector may proceed to acquire it compulsorily or take proper course to secure its application. It has been made clear that there is to be no resort to compulsory acquisition in the case the monument is used in connection with religious observations, or in other case until the owner has had an opportunity of entering into an agreement of the kind indicated above; and it is expressly provided that the monument maintained by the Government under the proposed Act, shall not be used for any purpose inconsistent with its character or with purpose of its foundation, and that, so far as is compatible with the object in view the public shall have access to it free of charge. By the 4th proviso of clause 11 [now section 10] it is laid down that in assessing the value of the monument for the purpose of compulsory acquisition under the Land Acquisition Act, 1894 (1 [I] of 1894) its archæological, artistic or historical merits shall not be taken into account. The object of the Government as purchaser being to preserve at the public expense and for the public benefit an ancient monument with all its associations, it is considered that the value of those associations should not be paid for.

[Note: — As the 4th proviso of clause 11 was the subject of unfavourable comment, it was omitted by the Select Committee.]

4. The second portion of the Bill deals with moveable objects of historical or artistic interest and these may be divided into two classes; the first consists of ornaments, enamels, silver and copper vessels, Persian and Arabian Manuscripts, and curios general. These are for the most part portable and consequently difficult to trace; they are as a rule artistic; are of historic interest and it would be impracticable even were it desirable to prevent a dealer from selling and a traveller from buying them. The sculptural carvings, images, bas-reliefs, inscriptions and the like form a distinct class by themselves, in that their value depends upon their local connection. Such antiquities may, as in the case of those of Swat, be found outside India or in Native States and this the Legislature cannot reach directly; while as regards the British territory and under the existing law, it is impossible to go beyond the provisions of the Indian Treasure Trove Act, 1878 (6 [VI] of 1878). In these circumstances, it is proposed, by clause 18 of the Bill to take power to prevent the removal from British India of any antiquities which it may be deemed desirable to retain in the country, and at the same time to prevent importation. By thus putting a stop or draft in such articles it is believed that it will be possible to protect against spoilation a number of interesting places situated without and beyond British territory. Clause 19 aims at providing for antiquities such as sculptures and inscriptions which belong to another place and ought therefore to be kept in situ or deposited in local museums. The removal of these, it is proposed to enable the local Government to prohibit by notification and the clause also provides that, if the object is moveable, the owner may require the Government to purchase it out-right and that, if it is immovable the Government shall compensate the owner for any loss caused to him by the prohibition. Clause 20 [now S. 19] deals with the compulsory purchase of such antiquities if that is found to be necessary for their preservation and the owner is not willing on personal or religious grounds to part with them. In such cases it is proposed that the price to be paid should be assessed by the Collector, subject to a right of appeal to the local Government; but it is for consideration whether the Land Acquisition Act of 1894 should be followed and reference to the Courts allowed.

5. The third portion of the Bill deals with excavations and gives power to make rules to prohibit or regulate such operations.

6. The general power to make rules is given by clause 22 [now S. 23], and clause 23 [now S. 24] is intended to protect acts done or in good faith intended to be done, under the law which it is now proposed to enact." — Gazette of India, 1903, Part V, page 513.

ACT HOW AFFECTED BY SUBSEQUENT LEGISLATION

ACT NO. VII of 1904^a

An Act to provide for the preservation of Ancient Monuments and objects of archaeological, historical, or artistic interest.

WHEREAS it is expedient to provide for the preservation of ancient monuments, for the exercise of control over traffic in antiquities and over excavation in certain places, and for the protection and acquisition in certain cases of ancient monuments and of objects of archaeological, historical or artistic interest. It is hereby enacted as follows:—

[a] For Report of the Select Committee, see Gazette of India, 1904, Pt. V, p. 57; and for Proceedings in Council, see ibid., 1903, Pt. VI, pp. 166, 191; ibid., 1904, Pt. VI, pp. 20 and 76. This Act has been declared to be in force in the Khondmals District by the Khondmals Laws Regulation, 1936, (IV of 1936), S. 3 and Schedule; and in the Angul District by the Angul Laws Regulation, 1936 (V of 1936), S. 3 and Schedule.

Short title and extent.

1. (1) This Act may be called the Ancient Monuments Preservation Act, 1904.

(2) It extends to the whole of British India, inclusive of British Baluchistan, the Sonthal Parganas and the Pargana of Spiti.

Definitions.

2. In this Act, unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context, —

(1) "ancient monument" means any structure, erection or monument, or any tumulus or place of interment, or any cave, rock-sculpture, inscription or monolith, which is of historical, archaeological or artistic interest, or any remains thereof, and includes —

(a) the site of an ancient monument;

(b) such portion of land adjoining the site of an ancient monument as may be required for fencing or covering in or otherwise preserving such monument; and

(c) the means of access to and convenient inspection of an ancient monument;

(2) "antiquities" include any moveable objects which ^a[the Central Government], by reason of their historical or archaeological associations, may think it necessary to protect against injury, removal or dispersion:

(3) "Commissioner" includes any officer authorized by ^b[the Central Government] to perform the duties of a Commissioner under this Act:

(4) "maintain" and "maintenance" include the fencing, covering in, repairing, restoring and cleansing of a protected monument, and the doing of any act which may be necessary for the purpose of maintaining a protected monument or of securing convenient access thereto:

(5) "land" includes a revenue-free estate, a revenue-paying estate, and a permanent transferable tenure, whether such estate or tenure be subject to incumbrances or not: and

(6) "owner" includes a joint owner invested with powers of management on behalf of himself and other joint owners, and any manager or trustee exercising powers of management over an ancient monument, and the successor in title of any such owner and the successor in office of any such manager or trustee :

Provided that nothing in this Act shall be deemed to extend the powers which may lawfully be exercised by such manager or trustee.

[a] Substituted by A. O. for "the Government." [b] Substituted by A. O. for "the Local Government."

3. (1) The ^a[Central Government] may by notification^b in the ^c[Official Gazette], declare Protected monuments. an ancient monument to be a protected monument within the meaning of this Act.

(2) A copy of every notification published under sub-section (1) shall be fixed up in a conspicuous place on or near the monument, together with an intimation that any objections to the issue of the notification received by the ^a[Central Government] within one month from the date when it is so fixed up will be taken into consideration.

(3) On the expiry of the said period of one month, the ^a[Central Government], after considering the objections, if any, shall confirm or withdraw the notification.

(4) A notification published under this section shall, unless and until it is withdrawn, be conclusive evidence of the fact that the monument to which it relates is an ancient monument within the meaning of this Act.

[a] Substituted by A. O. for "Local Government." [b] For notifications under this section, see General Rules and Orders and different Local Rules and Orders. [c] Substituted by A. O. for "Local Official Gazette."

Ancient Monuments.

Acquisition of rights in or guardianship of an ancient monument. 4. (1) The Collector, with the sanction of the ^a[Central Government], may purchase or take a lease of any protected monument.

(2) The Collector, with the like sanction, may accept a gift or bequest of any protected monument.

(3) The owner of any protected monument may, by written instrument, constitute the Commissioner the guardian of the monument, and the Commissioner may, with the sanction of the ^a[Central Government], accept such guardianship.

(4) When the Commissioner has accepted the guardianship of a monument under sub-section (3), the owner shall, except as expressly provided in this Act, have the same estate, right, title and interest in and to the monument as if the Commissioner had not been constituted guardian thereof.

(5) When the Commissioner has accepted the guardianship of a monument under sub-section (3), the provisions of this Act relating to agreements executed under section 5 shall apply to the written instrument executed under the said sub-section.

(6) Where a protected monument is without an owner, the Commissioner may assume the guardianship of the monument.

[a] Substituted by A. O. for "Local Government."

5. (1) The Collector may, with the previous sanction of ^a[the Central Government], propose to the owner to enter into an agreement with ^b[the Central Government] for the preservation of any protected monument in his district. Preservation of ancient monument by agreement.

(2) An agreement under this section may provide for the following matters, or for such of them as it may be found expedient to include in the agreement —

(a) the maintenance of the monument;

(b) the custody of the monument, and the duties of any person who may be employed to watch it;

(c) the restriction of the owner's right to destroy, remove, alter or deface the monument or to build on or near the site of the monument;

(d) the facilities of access to be permitted to the public or to any portion of the public and to persons deputed by the owner or the Collector to inspect or maintain the monument;

(e) the notice to be given to ^c[the Central Government] in case the land on which the monument is situated is offered for sale by the owner, and the right to be reserved to ^c[the Central Government] to purchase such land, or any specified portion of such land, at its market-value;

(f) the payment of any expenses incurred by the owner or by ^c[the Central Government] in connection with the preservation of the monument;

(g) the proprietary or other rights which are to vest in His Majesty in respect of the monument when any expenses are incurred by °[the Central Government] in connection with the preservation of the monument;

(h) the appointment of an authority to decide any dispute arising out of the agreement; and

(i) any matter connected with the preservation of the monument which is a proper subject of agreement between the owner and °[the Central Government].

(4) The terms of an agreement under this section may be altered from time to time with the sanction of °[the Central Government] and with the consent of the owner.

(5) With the previous sanction of °[the Central Government], the Collector may terminate an agreement under this section on giving six months' notice in writing to the owner.

(6) The owner may terminate an agreement under this section on giving six months' notice to the Collector.

(7) An agreement under this section shall be binding on any person claiming to be owner of the monument to which it relates, through or under a party by whom or on whose behalf the agreement was executed.

(8) Any rights acquired by °[the Central Government] in respect of expenses incurred in protecting or preserving a monument shall not be affected by the termination of an agreement under this section.

[a]. Substituted by A. O. for "the Local Government." [b]. Substituted by A. O. for "the Secretary of State for India in Council." [c]. Substituted by A. O. for "the Government." [d]. Sub-section (3) was repealed by A. O.

6. (1) If the owner is unable, by reason of infancy or other disability, to act for himself, Owners under disability or not in possession. the person legally competent to act on his behalf may exercise the powers conferred upon an owner by section 5.

(2) In the case of village-property, the headman or other village-officer exercising powers of management over such property may exercise the powers conferred upon an owner by section 5.

(3) Nothing in this section shall be deemed to empower any person not being of the same religion as the persons on whose behalf he is acting to make or execute an agreement relating to a protected monument which or any part of which is periodically used for the religious worship or observances of that religion.

7. (1) If the Collector apprehends that the owner or occupier of a monument intends Enforcement of agreement. to destroy, remove, alter, deface, or imperil the monument or to build on or near the site thereof in contravention of the terms of an agreement for its preservation under section 5, the Collector may make an order prohibiting any such contravention of the agreement.

(2) If an owner or other person who is bound by an agreement for the preservation or maintenance of a monument under section 5 refuses to do any act which is in the opinion of the Collector necessary to such preservation or maintenance, or neglects to do any such act within such reasonable time as may be fixed by the Collector, the Collector may authorize any person to do any such act, and the expense of doing any such act or such portion of the expense as the owner may be liable to pay under the agreement may be recovered from the owner as if it were an arrear of land-revenue.

(3) A person aggrieved by an order made under this section may appeal to the Commissioner, who may cancel or modify it and whose decision shall be final.

8. Every person who purchases, at a sale for arrears of land-revenue or any other public demand, or at a sale made under the Bengal Patni Taluks Regulation, 1819, an estate or tenure in which is situated a monument in respect of which any instrument has been executed by the owner for the time being, under section 4 or section 5, and every person claiming any title to a monument from, through or under an owner who executed any such instrument, shall be bound by such instrument.

9. (1) If any owner or other person competent to enter into an agreement under section 5 Application of endowment to repair of an ancient monument. for the preservation of a protected monument, refuses or fails to enter into such an agreement when proposed to him by the Collector, and if any endowment has been created for the purpose of keeping such monument in repair, or for that purpose among others, the Collector may institute a suit in the Court of the District Judge, or if the estimated cost of repairing the monument does not exceed one thousand rupees, may make an application to the District Judge for the proper application of such endowment or part thereof.

(2) On the hearing of an application under sub-section (1), the District Judge may summon and examine the owner and any person whose evidence appears to him necessary, and may pass an order for the proper application of the endowment or of any part thereof, and any such order may be executed as if it were the decree of a Civil Court.

10. (1) If the ^a[Central Government] apprehends that a protected monument is in danger of being destroyed, injured or allowed to fall into decay, ^b[the Central Government] may direct the Provincial Government to acquire it] ^{Compulsory purchase of ancient monument.} under the provisions of the Land Acquisition Act, 1894, as if the preservation of a protected monument were a "public purpose" within the meaning of that Act.

(2) The powers of compulsory purchase conferred by sub-section (1) shall not be exercised in the case of —

(a) any monument which or any part of which is periodically used for religious observances; or

(b) any monument which is the subject of a subsisting agreement executed under section 5.

(3) In any case other than the cases referred to in sub-section (2) the said powers of compulsory purchase shall not be exercised unless the owner or other person competent to enter into an agreement under section 5 has failed, within such reasonable period as the Collector may fix in this behalf, to enter into an agreement proposed to him under the said section or has terminated or given notice of his intention to terminate such an agreement.

[a] Substituted by A. O. for "Local Government." [b] Substituted by A. O. for "the Local Government may proceed to acquire it."

^a[10A. (1) If the ^b[Central Government] is of opinion that mining, quarrying, excavating, blasting and other operations of a like nature should be restricted or regulated for the purpose of protecting or preserving any ancient monument, the ^b[Central Government] may, by notification in the ^c[Official Gazette], make rules —

(a) fixing the boundaries of the area to which the rules are to apply;

(b) forbidding the carrying on of mining, quarrying, excavating, blasting or any operation of a like nature except in accordance with the rules and with the terms of a licence; and

(c) prescribing the authority by which, and the terms on which, licences may be granted to carry on any of the said operations.

(2) The power to make rules given by this section is subject to the condition of the rules being made after previous publication.

(3) A rule made under this section may provide that any person committing a breach thereof shall be punishable with fine which may extend to two hundred rupees.

1. Section 10 — Award by Court — Appeal on—[1] Government actually acquiring immovable property under S. 10—The owners of the property have the full rights which they would have under the Land Acquisition Act, including the right to appeal to the High Court from an award of Court provided by S. 54 of the Land Acquisition Act. — (Vol 5) 1918 Bom. 245 (246).

Compensation. — [2] For factors that cannot be taken into consideration while fixing the compensation, see (Vol 5) 1918 Bom. 245 (246).

1. Section 10A. — "The Ancient Monuments Preservation Act, 1904, does not contain any provisions empowering the Government (i) to control excavation by or enlist the aid of archaeologists, whether Indian or foreign, outside the Department or Universities and learned societies in excavation work, or (ii) to regulate the disposal of antiquities found by such outside agencies . . . Experience of countries such as Egypt and Mesopotamia shows that the help of expert outside agencies as well as of learned bodies in India would materially assist in the expansion or archaeological exploration in India. . . . But if the aid of outside agencies is to be enlisted it is necessary that the operations of these agencies should be suitably controlled, both as regards the conduct of exploration and excavation and the disposal of the antiquities that may be discovered as a result of them." — See Gazette of India, 1931, Part V, p. 111. In order to achieve this object S. 10A was inserted and Ss. 20 to 20C were substituted by Act 18 [XVIII] of 1932.

(4) If any owner or occupier of land included in a notification under sub-section (1) proves to the satisfaction of the ^b[Central Government] that he has sustained loss by reason of such land being so included, the ^b[Central Government] shall pay compensation in respect of such loss.]

[a] Section 10A was inserted by the Ancient Monuments Preservation (Amendment) Act, 1932 (18 [XVIII] of 1932), S. 2. [b] Substituted by A. O. for "Local Government." [c] Substituted by A. O. for "Local Official Gazette."

11. (1) The Commissioner shall maintain every monument in respect of which the Maintenance of certain Government has acquired any of the rights mentioned in section 4 protected monuments. or which the Government has acquired under section 10.

(2) When the Commissioner has accepted the guardianship of a monument under section 4, he shall, for the purpose of maintaining such monument, have access to the monument at all reasonable times, by himself and by his agents, subordinates and workmen, for the purpose of inspecting the monument, and for the purpose of bringing such materials and doing such acts as he may consider necessary or desirable for the maintenance thereof.

12. The Commissioner may receive voluntary contributions towards the cost of maintaining Voluntary contributions. a protected monument and may give orders as to the management and application of any funds so received by him :

Provided that no contribution received under this section shall be applied to any purpose other than the purpose for which it was contributed.

Protection of place of worship from misuse, pollution or desecration. 13. (1) A place of worship or shrine maintained by the Government under this Act shall not be used for any purpose inconsistent with its character.

(2) Where the Collector has, under section 4, purchased or taken a lease of any protected monument, or has accepted a gift or bequest, or the Commissioner has, under the same section, accepted the guardianship thereof, and such monument, or any part thereof, is periodically used for religious worship or observances by any community, the Collector shall make due provision for the protection of such monument, or such part thereof, from pollution or desecration —

(a) by prohibiting the entry therein, except in accordance with conditions prescribed with the concurrence of the persons in religious charge of the said monument or part thereof, of any person not entitled so to enter by the religious usages of the community by which the monument or part thereof is used, or

(b) by taking such other action as he may think necessary in this behalf.

Relinquishment of Government rights in a monument. 14. With the sanction of ^a[the Central Government], the Commissioner may —

(a) where rights have been acquired by ^b[the Central Government] in respect of any monument under this Act by virtue of any sale, lease, gift or will, relinquish the rights so acquired to the person who would for the time being be the owner of the monument if such rights had not been acquired, or

(b) relinquish any guardianship of a monument which he has accepted under this Act.

Traffic in Antiquities.

17. (1) If the ^a[Central Government] apprehends that antiquities are being sold or removed to the detriment of India or of any neighbouring country, ^b[it] may, by notification^c in the ^d[Official Gazette], prohibit or restrict the bringing or taking by sea or by land of any antiquities or class of antiquities described in the notification into or out of British India or any specified part of British India.

(2) Any person who brings or takes or attempts to bring or take any such antiquities into or out of British India or any part of British India in contravention of a notification issued under sub-section (1), shall be punishable with fine which may extend to five hundred rupees.

(3) Antiquities in respect of which an offence referred to in sub-section (2) has been committed shall be liable to confiscation.

(4) An officer of Customs, or an officer of Police of a grade not lower than Sub-Inspector, duly empowered by the ^e[Central Government] in this behalf, may search any vessel, cart or other means of conveyance, and may open any baggage or package of goods if he has reason to believe that goods in respect of which an offence has been committed under sub-section (2) are contained therein.

(5) A person who complains that the power of search mentioned in sub-section (4) has been vexatiously or improperly exercised may address his complaint to the ^e[Central Government], and the ^e[Central Government] shall pass such order and may award such compensation, if any, as appears to it to be just.

Protection of Sculptures, Carvings, Images, Bas-reliefs, Inscriptions or like objects.

18. (1) If ^a[the Central Government] considers that any sculptures, carvings, images, bas-reliefs, inscriptions or other like objects ought not to be moved from the place where they are without the sanction of ^b[the Central Government], ^a[the Central Government] may, by notification^c in the ^d[Official Gazette], direct that any such object or any class of such objects shall not be moved unless with the written permission of the Collector.

(2) A person applying for the permission mentioned in sub-section (1) shall specify the object or objects which he proposes to move, and shall furnish, in regard to such object or objects, any information which the Collector may require.

(3) If the Collector refuses to grant such permission, the applicant may appeal to the Commissioner, whose decision shall be final.

(4) Any person who moves any object in contravention of a notification issued under sub-section (1), shall be punishable with fine which may extend to five hundred rupees.

(5) If the owner of any property proves to the satisfaction of ^a[the Central Government] that he has suffered any loss or damage by reason of the inclusion of such property in a notification published under sub-section (1), ^a[the Central Government] shall either —

(a) exempt such property from the said notification,

(b) purchase such property, if it be moveable, at its market-value, or

(c) pay compensation for any loss or damage sustained by the owner of such property, if it be immoveable.

THE APPELLATE JURISDICTION ACT, 1929.^a

[5th February 1929.]

An Act to make further provision with respect to the constitution of the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council and to authorise the appointment of an additional Lord of Appeal in Ordinary.

BE it enacted by the King's Most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons, in this present Parliament assembled and by the authority of the same, as follows :—

[a] This Statute was published for general information under No. 12-III/29-P, dated 25th June 1929 — see Gazette of India dated 29th June 1929.

1. (1) His Majesty may by Letters Patent appoint two persons qualified as provided in this section to be members of the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council, and may from time to time fill any vacancies caused by death or otherwise in the offices of the persons so appointed.

Power to appoint Indian Judges, etc., as additional members of the Judicial Committee.

1. Section 21.—Acquisition of antiquities by Government.—[1] In ascertaining the market-value of moveable antiquities or the compensation to be paid to the owners for acts done under this Act, only the provisions of the Land Acquisition Act enumerated in this section are to guide the Court. (Vol 5) 1918 Bom. 245 (246).

^a[(2) A person shall be qualified under this section if he is a Privy Councillor, and

(a) is or has been a Judge of the Federal Court in India, a High Court in British India or the High Court at Rangoon, or

(b) is a barrister, advocate or pleader of not less than fourteen years standing who practises, or has practised, in British India or British Burma.

In this sub-section the expression "High Court in British India" means a Court which is a High Court for the purposes of the Government of India Act, 1935, and, as respects any period before the commencement of Part III of that Act, a Court which was a High Court within the meaning of clause (24) of section 3 of an Act of the Indian Legislature known as the General Clauses Act, 1897.]

(3) A person appointed a member of the Judicial Committee under this section shall hold his office during good behaviour subject to a power of removal by His Majesty on an address presented to His Majesty by both Houses of Parliament, but shall retire therefrom on attaining the age of seventy-two years.

(4) There shall be paid to each person appointed a member of the Judicial Committee under this section a yearly salary of two thousand pounds, and the said salary shall be charged on and paid out of the Consolidated Fund or the growing produce thereof.

(5) If provision is made for the payment to any such person out of ^b[the revenues of the Federation of India, the revenues of the Governor-General of India in Council or the revenues of Burma, as the case may be] of any sum, not exceeding two thousand pounds, by way of increase of salary, that sum may be received by that person, and his salary shall be treated as being increased accordingly.

(6) His Majesty may, by Letters Patent, grant to any person appointed a member of the Judicial Committee under this section who having served as such member for a period of five years or upwards —

(a) retires on attaining the age of seventy-two; or

(b) is, before attaining such age as aforesaid, disabled by permanent infirmity from discharging the duties of his office, a pension by way of annuity, to be continued during his life, of one thousand pounds a year, and any such pension shall be charged on and paid out of the Consolidated Fund or the growing produce thereof.

(7) Section 30 of the Judicial Committee Act, 1833,^c and section 4 of the Appellate Jurisdiction Act, 1887,^d shall be repealed, but nothing in this repeal shall, in the case of any person who at the passing of this Act is entitled under those sections to attend the sittings of the Judicial Committee, affect his right so to attend, or the payment to him of the allowance which at the passing of this Act he is receiving under those sections.

Concerning the binding of Apprentices.

FOR better enabling children, and especially orphans and poor children brought up by public charity, to learn trades, crafts, and employments, by which, when they come to full age, they may gain a livelihood; It is enacted as follows:—

[a] This Act has been declared to be in force in the whole of British India, except the Scheduled Districts, by the Laws Local Extent Act, 1874 (15 [XV] of 1874), S. 3.

It has been declared, by notification under the Scheduled Districts Act, 1874 (14 [XIV] of 1874), S. 3 (A) to be in force in the following Scheduled Districts, namely:—

SIND—See Gazette of India, 1880, Pt. I, p. 672. — West Jalpaiguri, the Western Duars, the Western Hills of Darjiling, the Darjiling Tarai, and the Damson Sub-Division of the Darjiling District, ibid, 1881, Pt. I, p. 74 — The District of Hazaribagh, Lohardaga (now the Ranchi District, see Calcutta Gazette, 1899, Pt. I, p. 44), and Manbhum, and Pargana Dhalbhum and the Kolhan in the District of Singhbhum; ibid, 1881, Pt. I, p. 504 — The Scheduled portion of the Mirzapur District, ibid, 1879, Pt. I, p. 383 — Jaunsar Bawar, ibid, 1879, Pt. I, p. 382 — The Districts of Hazara, Peshawar, Kohat, Bannu, Dera Ismail Khan and Dera Ghazi Khan. (Portions of the Districts of Hazara, Bannu, Dera Ismail Khan and Dera Ghazi Khan and the Districts of Peshawar and Kohat now form the N.-W. F. P., see Gazette of India, 1901, Pt. I, p. 857, and ibid, 1902, Pt. I, p. 575; but its application has been barred in that part of the Hazara District known as Upper Tanawal, by the Hazara (Upper Tanawal) Regulation, 1900 (2 [II] of 1900), S. 3, ibid, 1886, Pt. I, p. 48) — The Scheduled Districts of the C. P., ibid, 1879, Pt. I, p. 771 — The Scheduled Districts in Ganjam and Vizagapatam, ibid, 1898, Pt. I, p. 870 — The District of Sylhet, ibid, 1879, Pt. I, p. 631 — The rest of Assam (except the North Lushai Hills), ibid, 1897, Pt. I, p. 299.

It has been extended, by notification under S. 5 of the last mentioned Act to the following Scheduled Districts, namely:— Kumaon and Garhwal, see Gazette of India, 1876, Pt. I, p. 606 — The Tarai of the Province of Agra, ibid, 1876, Pt. I, p. 505.

It has been declared, by notification under S. 3 (b) of the same Act, not to be in force in the Scheduled Districts of Lahaul. See Gazette of India, 1886, Pt. I, p. 301.

Instruments of apprenticeship executed by a Magistrate under this Act, or by which a person is apprenticed by or at the charge of a public charity, are exempted from stamp duty by the Stamp Act, 1899 (2 [II] of 1899), Sch. I, Art. No. 9.

1. Any child, above the age of ten, and under the age of eighteen years, may be bound apprentice by his or her father or guardian to learn any fit trade, craft, or employment, for such term as is set forth in the contract of apprenticeship.

Apprenticing of child between 10 and 18 years old.

ticeship, not exceeding seven years, so that it be not prolonged beyond the time when such child shall be of the full age of twenty-one years, or, in the case of a female, beyond the time of her marriage.

Evidence of age in questions as to right to service

2. The age set forth in the contracts shall be evidence of the age of the child, in all questions which arise as to the right of the master to the continuance of the service.

Powers of Magistrate or Justice acting for orphans, etc.

3. Any Magistrate or Justice of the Peace may act with all the powers of a guardian under this Act, on behalf of any orphan, or poor child abandoned by its parents, or of any child convicted before him, or any other Magistrate of vagrancy, or the commission of any petty offence.

4. Any orphan or poor child, brought up by any public charity, may be bound apprentice by the governors, directors, or managers thereof, as his or her guardians for this purpose.

5. [Apprenticing of such boy in sea-service.] Repealed by the Indian Merchant Shipping Act, 1923 (XXI of 1923), section 296.

6. [Apprenticing of such boy in ship of the East India Company.] Repealed by the Repealing Act, 1870, (XIV of 1870).

7. [Who to be agent of master of apprentice serving in ship.] Repealed by the Indian Merchant Shipping Act, 1923 (XXI of 1923), section 296.

8. Every contract of apprenticeship shall be in writing, according to the form given in the Form and contents of contract of apprenticeship. Schedule (A) annexed to this Act, or to the like effect, which shall set forth the conditions agreed upon, particularly specifying the age of the apprentice, the term for which he is bound, and what he is to be taught.

9. Every such contract shall be signed by the person to whom the apprentice is bound, Signatures to contract. and by the person by whom he is bound, and by the apprentice, when he is of the age of fourteen years or more at the time of binding; but, when the apprentice is bound by the governors, directors, or managers of a public charity, the signature of two of them, or of their secretary or officer, shall be sufficient on behalf of the persons binding the apprentice.

10. No such contract shall be valid unless it be executed in the manner aforesaid, nor until it has been deposited in the office of the Chief Magistrate of the place or district where it has been executed, ^a[* * ]; and the person in whose office any such contract is deposited shall give to each of the parties a copy thereof, certified under his hand, which certified copies shall be received as evidence of the contract, without formal proof of the handwriting of the Magistrate ^b[ * *].

Contract not valid unless executed as prescribed, and deposited.

Copies to be given to parties.

[a] The words "or if the apprentice is bound to the sea-service, in the office of the person appointed under Act, of 1841, to make registry of ship at the port where he is to begin his service" were repealed by the Indian Merchant Shipping Act, 1923 (21 [XXI] of 1923), S. 296. [b] The words "or Registering officer" were repealed, ibid.

11. The terms of service may be changed at any time during the apprenticeship, or the contract may be determined, with the consent of both parties to the contract or their personal representatives, and with the consent of the apprentice, if he is above the age of fourteen years: Provided that the changes agreed to or the termination of the contract shall be expressed in writing on the original contract, with the signature of the proper parties according to section [9]^a of this Act; and the Magistrate ^b[* * *] shall thereupon make under his hand corresponding endorsements on the office-copies, which shall be brought to him at the same time for that purpose.

[a] Substituted for "8" by the Amending Act, 1891, (12 [XII] of 1891). [b] The words "or Registering Officer" were repealed by the Indian Merchant Shipping Act, 1923 (21 [XXI] of 1923).

12. The master of any apprentice bound under this Act may, with the consent of the Assignment of apprentice to new master. person by whom he was bound, and with the consent of the apprentice if he is above the age of fourteen years, assign such apprentice to any other person, who is willing to take him for the residue of his apprenticeship, and subject to the conditions thereof: Provided that such person shall, by endorsement under his own hand on the contract, declare his acceptance of such apprentice, and acknowledge himself bound by the agreements and covenants therein mentioned to be performed on the part of the master, and that the consent of the other parties aforesaid shall be expressed in writing on the same, and signed by them respectively : And every such assignment shall be certified on the office-copies of the contract under the hand of the Magistrate ^a[* * *] according to the form given in Schedule (B) annexed to this Act.

[a] The words "or Registering Officer" were repealed by the Indian Merchant Shipping Act, 1923, (21 [XXI] of 1923).

13. Upon complaint made to any Magistrate in the said territories^a by or on behalf of Powers of Magistrate in case of complaint by apprentice against master. any apprentice bound under this Act, of refusal or neglect to provide for him, or to teach him according to the contract of apprenticeship, or of cruelty, or other ill-treatment by his master, or by the agent under whom he shall have been placed by his master, the Magistrate may summon the master or his agent, as the case may be, if he shall be within his jurisdiction, to appear before him at a reasonable time, to be stated in the summons, to answer the complaint ; and at such time, whether the master or his agent be present or not (service of the summons being proved), may examine into the matter of the complaint; and, upon proof thereof, may cancel the contract of apprenticeship, and assess upon the offender, whether he shall be the master or his agent, a reasonable sum for behoof of the apprentice, not exceeding four times the amount of the premium paid upon the binding, or if no premium, or a less premium than fifty rupees was paid, not exceeding two hundred rupees; and, if the offender shall not pay the sum so assessed, may levy the same by distress and sale of his goods and chattels, and if the offender shall not be the master, but his agent, by distress and sale of the goods and chattels of the master also.

[a] i. e., British India, the reference being to the expression "territories under the Government of the East India Company" which occurred in S. 5 supra since repealed.

14. No contract of apprenticeship shall be cancelled, nor shall any master or his Power of master or his agent to chastise apprentice. agent be liable to any criminal proceeding, on account of such moderate chastisement for misbehaviour, given to any apprentice by his master or the agent of his master, as may lawfully be given by a father to his child; and the provision for enabling the contract of apprenticeship to be cancelled shall not bar any criminal Liability of master or agent for assault, &c. proceeding against any master or his agent for an assault, or other offence committed against his apprentice, for which he would be liable to be punished, had it been against his child, whether or not any proceedings be taken for cancelling the contract of apprenticeship.

15. Upon complaint made to any Magistrate, by or on behalf of the master of any Power of Magistrate in case of complaint by master against apprentice. apprentice bound to him under this Act, of any ill-behaviour of such apprentice, or if such apprentice shall have absconded, the Magistrate may issue his warrant for apprehending such apprentice, and may hear and determine the complaint, and punish the offender by an order for keeping the offender, if a boy, in confinement in any debtor's prison or other suitable place, not being a criminal gaol, for any time not exceeding one month, of which one week may be in solitary confinement, during which time such allowance shall be made for his subsistence by the master or his agent as the Magistrate shall order; and, if the offender be a boy of not more than fourteen years of age, may order him to be privately whipped: or, if the offender be a girl, or in the case of any boy the Magistrate deem any such punishment unfit, he may pass an order empowering the master of the apprentice or his agent to keep the offender in close confinement in his own house, or on board the vessel to which he belongs, upon bread and water, or such other plain food as may be given without injury to the health of the apprentice, for a period not exceeding one month.

16. Upon complaint of wilful and repeated ill-behaviour on the part of the apprentice, and

Cancellation of contract for misconduct of apprentice. on the demand of the master, the Magistrate may order the contract of apprenticeship to be cancelled, whether or not the charge is proved; but only with the consent of the apprentice and of his father or guardian, if the charge is not proved; and such cancelling shall be with or without refund of the whole or part of any premium that may have been paid to the master on binding such apprentice, as to the Magistrate seems fit on consideration of the case; and all sums so refunded shall be applied under the direction of the Magistrate for behoof of the apprentice.

17. The Magistrate may order any sum recovered for behoof of the apprentice on cancelling the contract to be either laid out in binding him to another master, or otherwise for his benefit, or to be paid to the person by whom any premium was paid when he was bound apprentice.

18. No Magistrate shall entertain a complaint on the part of a master against an apprentice under this Act, unless it be brought within one month after the cause of complaint arose; or, if the cause of complaint arose on board ship during a voyage, within one month after the arrival thereof at a port or place in the said territories; and no Magistrate shall entertain a complaint on the part of an apprentice against his master or the agent of his master under this Act, unless it be brought within three months after the cause of complaint arose; or, if the cause of complaint arose on board ship during a voyage, within three months after the arrival thereof at a port or place in the said territories.

19. If the master of any apprentice shall die before the end of the apprenticeship, the contract of apprenticeship shall be thereby determined; and a proportionate part, corresponding to the unexpired portion of the term, of any premium, which shall have been paid to such master on the binding of the apprentice to him, shall be returned by the executors or administrators out of the estate of the deceased to the person or persons who shall have paid the same; unless the executors or administrators of the deceased master shall continue the business in which such apprentice shall have been employed, and shall, within three months from the death of the late master, make offer in writing to keep the apprentice on the terms of the original contract; in which case the estate of the deceased shall be discharged from all liabilities on account of such premium.

20. If such offer to keep the apprentice shall be made as aforesaid, the same shall be fully expressed and certified by the executors ^a[or] administrators on the original contract of apprenticeship; and also on the office copies thereof, by the Magistrate ^b[* * *]; and the apprentice shall be bound to the executors or administrators so keeping him for the remaining term of his apprenticeship.

[a] Substituted for the word "and" by the Amending Act, 1891 (12 [XII] of 1891), Sch. II. [b] The words "or Registering Officer" were repealed by the Indian Merchant Shipping Act, 1923 (21 [XXI] of 1923).

21. Any apprentice bound under this Act, whose master shall die during the apprenticeship, shall be entitled to maintenance for three months from and after the death of his master, out of the assets left by him: Provided that during such three months such apprentice shall continue to live with, and serve as an apprentice, the executors or administrators of such master, or such person as they appoint.

22. The apprentice of any person against whom a commission of bankruptcy shall be issued, or who shall be adjudged to have committed an act of insolvency during the apprenticeship, shall be discharged from all obligation under the contract of apprenticeship, and, if any premium was paid on binding him as an apprentice, he or the person by whom he was bound, shall be entitled to claim the amount thereof, as a debt against the estate of the bankrupt or insolvent.^a

[a] Cf. the Bankrupt Law Consolidation Act, 1849 (12 and 13 Vict., c. 106), S. 170.

23. For the purposes of this Act, all British subjects, wherever or of whatever parents born, as well as other persons in ^a[British India] without the towns of Calcutta and Madras and the town and island of Bombay, shall be amenable to the jurisdiction of the Courts and Magistrates of ^b[British] India.

[a] Substituted by A. O. for the original words as amended by the Repealing Act 1874 (16 [XVI] of 1874). [b] Inserted by A. O.

24. An appeal shall lie from any order passed by any Magistrate without the said towns and island to the Court of Session to which such Magistrate is subordinate, provided the appeal is made within one month from the date of the order.

25. In this Act the words "master," "owner," "person," and the pronoun "he" shall be understood to include several persons as well as one person, and females as well as males, and bodies corporate as well as individuals, unless there is something in the context repugnant to such construction.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

"The law of arbitration in British India is at present substantially contained in two enactments, the Indian Arbitration Act, 1899 (IX of 1899), and the Second Schedule to the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908. The operation of the 1899 Act is limited to the Presidency-towns and to such other areas as it may be extended by the appropriate Provincial Government: its scope is confined to "arbitration by agreement without the intervention of a Court." The Second Schedule to the Code of Civil Procedure deals with arbitrations outside the operation and scope of the 1899 Act: it relates for the most part to arbitration in suits, though arbitration without intervention of a Court is also briefly provided for. This Schedule also contains an alternative method whereby the parties to a dispute or any of them may file their arbitration agreement before a Court which after a certain procedure, refers the matter to an arbitrator.

The question of amending and consolidating this law is not new. The Civil Justice Committee in 1925 recommended several changes in the arbitration law. The Act of 1899 was based largely on the then English law, to which several substantial amendments have been effected by an Amending Act of Parliament in 1934 (24 & 25 Geo. V, c. 14). In 1938 the Central Government placed an officer on special duty to examine the question, and the present Bill is the outcome of this examination. The existing law, the amended English law and the recommendations of the Civil Justice Committee have been scrutinised together, and the present Bill, which, seeks to consolidate and standardise the law relating to arbitration throughout British India, in its detail extracts from the sources referred to those principles of law which, it is considered, are most suitable to British India. . . ."

[11th March, 1940]

An Act to consolidate and amend the law relating to Arbitration Act.

WHEREAS it is expedient to consolidate and amend the law relating to arbitration in British India;

It is hereby enacted as follows:—

[a] For the Report of the Select Committee, see Gazette of India, 1940, Pt. V, page 35.

This Act has been applied to—

British Baluchistan, see Notification No. 168-N., dated 17th October 1940, Gazette of India, 1940, Pt. I, page 1478;

CHAPTER I.

INTRODUCTORY.

Short title, extent and commencement.

1. (1) This Act may be called the Arbitration Act, 1940.

(2) It extends to the whole of British India.

(3) It shall come into force on the 1st day of July, 1940.

Definitions.

2. In this Act, unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context,—

(a) "arbitration agreement" means a written agreement¹ to submit,² present or future differences³ to arbitration, whether an arbitrator is named therein or not.

[1899—S. 4 (b).]

Section 1. — [1] Section 2 of Act IX of 1899 has been omitted in the Act of 1940. That Section ran as follows:— "2. Subject to the provisions of S. 23, this Act shall apply only in cases where, if the subject-matter submitted to arbitration were the subject of a suit, the suit could, whether with the leave of the Court or otherwise, be instituted in a Presidency town: Provided that the Provincial Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, declare this Act applicable in any other local area as if it were a Presidency town."

SECTION 2 (a) — SYNOPSIS.

1. Arbitration agreement — Acceptance.

2. Arbitration agreement — Dispute.

Section 2 (contd.)

3. Arbitration agreement—Effect on right to sue.

4. Arbitration agreement — Form of.

5. Arbitration agreement — Writing and signature.

6. Option to one party.

7. Parties to agreement.

8. Present and future differences.

9. "Submit".

1. Arbitration agreement — Acceptance. — [1] Merely sending notes of contract of arbitration by one party to another without any notes confirming the contract by the other is not a "submission". (Vol 27) 1940 Bom 93 (94) : 1 L R (1940) Bom 249.

[2] Where parties agreeing to do business on certain terms, one of which is reference to arbitration, assent to those terms by conduct, such agreement amounts to submission. (Vol 18) 1931 Bom. 81 (84, 85).

[3] The claimants submitted to the Association a claim against the respondent which they signed and sent to the Association. The arbitrators appointed by the Association laid the document before the respondent and he wrote thereon in his own hand and over his signature, his answer to the claim. He was well aware that the object of the document was to lay before the arbitrators in writing the difference which was to be decided between the parties. It was held that the document constituted a written agreement to submit the difference to arbitrators. (Vol 8) 1921 All 273 (275) : 43 All 348.

2. Arbitration agreement — Dispute. — [1] Existence of a dispute is an essential condition for the arbitrator's jurisdiction to act. Mere failure to pay cannot be said to be a dispute. (Vol 18) 1931 Bom 164 (165, 166).

[2] In order to give jurisdiction to arbitrators to make an award in respect of a contract on contract the party must show the existence of disputes regarding cotton contracts and that there is an agreement in writing to submit those disputes to arbitration. Where the very existence of the contract is denied, the arbitrators have no jurisdiction. (Vol 19) 1932 Bom 341 (343).

[3] Where, at the date of the reference, the claim, the subject-matter of submission, is statute-barred, there being no subsisting differences to be referred to arbitration, a party cannot be compelled to refer such differences. (Vol 13) 1926 Sind 209 (211) : 19 Sind L R 24.

[4] Failure to pay claims is itself a matter of difference under the Arbitration Act. (1911) 5 Sind L R 7 (9).

3. Arbitration agreement—Effect on right to sue.

—[1] Submission must be construed as a deprivation by a party of his right to have a dispute decided by a Court of law and it must appear from the terms of the submission that the party has so deprived himself. (1910) 34 Bom 1 (10).

4. Arbitration agreement — Form of. — [1] No special form of submission is necessary. It is enough for the purposes of the Act if the agreement is reduced to writing. A bond may contain a valid submission. (1910) 4 Sind L R 26 (28).

[2] An agreement to submit may be collected from a series of documents even though they are to be connected by parol evidence. (Vol 7) 1920 All 258 (260) : 42 All 525.

[3] Terms of agreement falling under S. 2 (a) need not be contained in one document. They may be found in correspondence. (Vol 26) 1939 Sind 357 (358, 359) : 1 L R (1939) Kar 769.

[4] The petition of compromise in a suit for accounts may amount to submission. (Vol 11) 1924 Lah 405 (407).

[5] Bye-laws under Bombay Cotton Contracts Act making reference compulsory in case of disputes, coupled with agreement of parties to abide by them, amount to submission in writing. (Vol 18) 1931 Bom 81 (86).

[6] The words 'office dharma' (office terms) do not constitute a written agreement to submit differences to arbitration. (1912) 6 Sind L R 278 (283).

[7] Marine insurance policy laid down that all disputes must be referred to arbitration in England for settlement; the clause amounted to a submission to arbitration. (Vol 11) 1924 Bom 381 (381).

[8] A bill of lading provided that all claims shall be determined at the port of destination according to British law, or at the ship owner's option, in the United Kingdom and to the exclusion of the jurisdiction of any other country. It was held that definition of "submission" in S. 4 (equivalent to S. 2 (a) in the Act of 1940) cannot be extended to include such agreement. (Vol 12) 1925 Bom 449 (450) : 49 Bom 854.

[9] A general reference to arbitration is enough to bind the parties and it need not state the exact points for determination. (1911) 5 Sind L R 7 (8).

[10] Letters of parties authorizing to arbitrate do not require stamps. (1895) 19 Bom 32 (33).

5. Arbitration agreement—Writing and signature.

—[1] Submission should be in writing in order to satisfy the Act. (Vol 11) 1924 Sind 91 (93, 94) : 17 Sind L R 93; (1909) 33 Bom 69 (69).

[3] But in the following cases it is held that submission must be in writing and signed by both parties or their authorised agents. (Vol 13) 1926 Cal 933 (940) : 53 Cal 65 ; (1913) 19 Ind Cas 925 (926, 927).

[4] It is not necessary that there should be signatures of both the parties to the written document. One signed by one of the parties and accepted by the other is enough. (Vol 21) 1934 Cal 796 (797) : 61 Cal 702.

[5] Acceptance of the written agreement might be in the form of a signed document by both parties containing all the terms or a signed document by one party containing the terms and a plain acceptance either signed or orally accepted by the other party, or, in the third case, an unsigned document containing the terms of the submission to arbitration agreed to orally by both parties. (Vol 18) 1931 All 136 (138) : 53 All 384.

6. Option to one party.—[1] Option to one of the parties does not remove the agreement from the operation of S. 2 (a). (Vol 13) 1926 Sind 27 (30). But in (Vol 16) 1929 Sind 83 (84) where option was provided in written agreement to submit to arbitration exercisable by one party only, it was held that the award was invalid.

7. Parties to agreement.—[1] Principal can authorise his agent to refer a dispute to arbitration. (1923) 73 I C 609 (611) (Pesh).

8. Present and future differences.—[1] The words of the definition of "submission" are wide enough to include cases where agreement is made without there being at the time when it is made, any difference between the parties either in existence or in contemplation. (Vol 26) 1939 Sind 357 (358, 359) : 1 L R (1939) Kar 769.

9. "Submit".—[1] The word "submission" was defined in the Act of 1899 to mean "a written agreement to submit present or future differences to arbitration, whether an arbitrator is named therein or not." As to the meaning and scope of this definition see : (Vol 4) 1917 Sind 95 (95) : 10 Sind L R 1 ; (Vol 11) 1924 Sind 91 (93, 94) : 17 Sind L R 93; (Vol 4) 1927 Sind 95 (95) : 10 Sind L R 1 ; (Vol 11) 1924 Lah 405 (407).

(b) "award" means an arbitration award;

(c) "Court" means a Civil Court having jurisdiction to decide the questions forming the subject-matter of the reference if the same had been the subject-matter of a suit, but does not, except for the purpose of arbitration proceedings under section 21, include a Small Cause Court;

[1899—S. 4 (a).]

(d) "legal representative" means a person who in law represents the estate of a deceased person, and includes any person who intermeddles with the estate of the deceased, and, where a party acts in a representative character, the person on whom the estate devolves on the death of the party so acting;

(e) "reference" means a reference to arbitration.

CHAPTER II.

ARBITRATION WITHOUT INTERVENTION OF A COURT.

Provisions implied in arbitration agreement. 3. An arbitration agreement, unless a different intention is expressed therein, shall be deemed to include the provisions set out in the First Schedule in so far as they are applicable to the reference.

[1899—S. 6.]

4. The parties to an arbitration agreement may agree that any reference thereunder shall be to an arbitrator or arbitrators to be appointed by a person designated in the agreement either by name or as the holder for the time being of any office or appointment.

[1899—S. 7.]

Authority of appointed arbitrator or umpire irrevocable except by leave of Court. 5. The authority of an appointed arbitrator or umpire shall not be revocable except with the leave of the Court, unless a contrary intention is expressed in the arbitration agreement.

SECTION 2 (c).

1. Jurisdiction of the Court.—[1] To give the Court jurisdiction it is not necessary that the whole cause of action should arise there. The Court has jurisdiction also when the parties reside within its jurisdiction or the land was within its jurisdiction. All the trustees except 4 who lived in England, resided in Bombay. The trustees executed a lease of the trust property situate outside Bombay. The lease was executed outside Bombay. In the application by the trustees to set aside an award in respect of the aforesaid lease, it was held that the Bombay High Court had jurisdiction. (Vol 30) 1943 Bom 32 (34).

SECTION 2 (e).

1. Reference, meaning of.—[1] Reference is a delegation of authority to a named arbitrator and an agreement to be bound by the award of such authority. (Vol 11) 1924 Sind 91 (93, 94) : 17 Sind L R 93.

[2] The word "reference" does not necessarily involve a formal reference to arbitration on stamped paper. (Vol 11) 1924 Sind 91 (93, 94) : 17 Sind L R 93.

1. Section 3.—[1] The intention of the parties must be the sole guide for determining the mode of working out the submission and reaching a final decision. (Vol 21) 1934 Bom 476 (478).

[2] Paragraph 2 of Sch. I is, by virtue of this section, inapplicable where the agreement referring the dispute to arbitration provides for a reference to an umpire in case of difference of opinion between the arbitrators. (Vol 32) 1945 Lah 34 (35).

SECTION 5—SYNOPSIS.

1. General principles.

2. Revocation of reference to arbitrator.

1. General principles.—[1] Until acceptance, which need not be in writing, by arbitrator on reference signed by both parties, there is no appointment of arbitrator. (Vol 11) 1924 Sind 91 (93) : 17 Sind L R 93.

[2] Powers vested in Courts of revoking submission to named arbitrators ought to be sparingly used. They should be exercised only where substantial miscarriage of justice would otherwise result. (Vol 15) 1928 Sind 195 (195).

[3] The power of Court to revoke is discretionary and must be used only when the applicant will otherwise be subjected to multiplied expenses and interminable delay and there is no likelihood of a speedy end of the strife. (1909) 1 Ind Cas 14 (17) (Bom) (Per Davar J. in the judgment appealed from).

[4] A valid submission once made is irrevocable without leave of Court under S. 5 and if arbitrator refuses to act, S. 8 should be followed. (Vol 5) 1918 Sind 21 (22) : 11 Sind L R 101.

[5] If a matter in dispute is not within the jurisdiction of arbitrators the proper remedy of a party to the submission is to apply to Court for leave to revoke submission. (Vol 24) 1937 Mad 405 (406).

[6] Procedure for revocation is by motion in open Court and not by application in Chambers. (1909) 1 I. C. 14 (16) (Bom) (Per Davar J. in the order appealed from).

[7] A clause in an insurance policy provided for reference to arbitrator before certain tribunal. The reference actually made was, however, to another tribunal and did not refer to the clause in the policy. It was held that the award made by the latter tribunal was valid. (Vol 13) 1926 Sind 8 (9).

[8] Nomination or appointment of an arbitrator is complete when a party has communicated it in clear and unequivocal language in writing to other party or when it is communicated to both the parties by a third person as intended by the parties themselves. (Vol 12) 1925 Sind 12 (13, 14).

[9] Where arbitrators who are willing to act are nominated, any subsequent nomination of a new arbitrator is a nullity and does not affect the competency of Arbitration agreement not to be discharged by death of party thereto.

6. (1) An arbitration agreement shall not be discharged by the death of any party thereto, either as respects the deceased or any other party, but shall in such event be enforceable by or against the legal representative of the deceased.

(2) The authority of an arbitrator shall not be revoked by the death of any party by whom he was appointed.

(3) Nothing in this section shall affect the operation of any law by virtue of which any right of action is extinguished by the death of a person.

7. (1) Where it is provided by a term in a contract to which an insolvent is a party that Provisions in case of insolvency. any differences arising thereout or in connection therewith shall be referred to arbitration, the said term shall, if the receiver adopts the contract, be enforceable by or against him so far as it relates to any such differences.

(2) Where a person who has been adjudged an insolvent had, before the commencement of the insolvency proceedings, become a party to an arbitration agreement, and any matter to which the agreement applies is required to be determined in connection with, or for the purposes of, the insolvency proceedings, then, if the case is one to which sub-section (1) does not apply, any other party to the agreement or the receiver may apply to the Court having jurisdiction in the insolvency proceedings for an order directing that the matter in question shall be referred to the arbitrators previously appointed. (Vol 12) 1925 12 (13, 14).

[10] The following cases decided prior to the 1899 Act to the effect that submission to arbitration is irrevocable except for good cause, may be consulted. (1867-69) 12 Moo. Ind App 112 (130) (P C); (1898) 20 All 145 (148); (1885) 7 All 273 (276); (1874-75) 8 Mad H C R 46 (56); (1890) 17 Cal 200 (207).

[11] Whether an appeal lies against an order granting leave to revoke authority, see Notes on S. 39.

2. Revocation of reference to arbitrator.— [1] No party to an agreement to refer to arbitration can, after a reference has been made, revoke the submission unless for good cause and a mere arbitrary revocation of the authority is not permitted. (1867) 12 Moo Ind App 112 (130) (P C); (1904) 27 Mad 112 (115); (Vol 1) 1914 Mad 280 (280); (Vol 19) 1932 All 348 (349); (1885) 7 All 273 (276); (Vol 1) 1914 Oudh 327 (328); 17 Oudh Cas 386; (Vol 4) 1917 Lah 65 (68); 1917 Pun Re No. 12; (1901) 4 Oudh Cas 17 (21).

[2] The following have been held to amount to "sufficient cause" for revoking a submission to arbitration —

(a) The fact that the arbitrator is colluding with the opposite party. (1906) 29 All 13 (14).

[See (Vol 24) 1937 Oudh 436 (438); 13 Luck 428. (Where the arbitrators though not partial to one party cannot yet command the confidence of the opposite party, it is wholly inequitable to compel the other party to submit themselves to their arbitration.)]

(b) The fact that the arbitrator is discovered to have been acting as a mukhtear for one of the parties without remuneration or to be indebted to such party. (1902) 29 Cal 278 (282).

(c) Unreasonable delay in the conduct of the proceedings before the arbitrators, not caused by the party seeking to revoke the submission. ('90) 17 Cal 200 (207, 208).

(d) Relationship of the arbitrator to one of the parties, unknown to the other. (Vol 20) 1933 Sind 68 (69, 70).

[3] The following do not constitute "sufficient cause" for revocation of a submission :

(i) Delay in the conduct of the proceedings, where such delay is caused by the very party seeking to revoke. (Vol 5) 1918 Pat 83 (86); 4 Pat L Jour 394.

(ii) The fact that one of the arbitrators figured as a witness for the prosecution in a security proceeding against the party seeking to revoke. (Vol 19) 1932 All 348 (349).

(iii) The fact that the arbitrator is entering into foreign matters and that a minor is likely to be interested in the arbitration and that he would not be bound by it. ('74) 21 Suth W R 395 (396).

[4] Where the arbitrator passed an award but had not filed it in Court, it was held that where an award has been given, the only question before the Court is whether the award is valid and the proper procedure is to direct the arbitrator to file it and not to consider whether the reference should be revoked. (Vol 24) 1937 All 141 (143) (S B).

Revocation of reference by death of a party.

[5] The death of a party pending reference does not revoke the reference. ('10) 4 Sind L R 14 (17); ('11) 14 Cal L Jour 188 (196). (Even in the case of submission without the intervention of Court, it is not revocable without just and sufficient cause.); ('11) 33 All 645 (647). (Death after application, but before order of reference — Arbitrator's authority not revoked.); (Vol 25) 1938 Oudh 125 (127); 14 Luck 65. (The test is what is the nature of the submission — Ordinary presumption is that the arbitration should not end on the death of any of the parties.)

[6] On the death of a party his representatives to whom the right to sue survives should be brought on record. ('04) 27 Mad 112 (116); (Vol 11) 1924 Lah 725 (726, 727). (If they are not brought on the record the award is not binding on them.)

[7] Where suit abates because of the expiry of period of limitation for bringing the legal representatives of the deceased on record, the award though made prior to such death cannot be filed in the Court. ('12) 36 Bom 105 (109).

[See however (Vol 25) 1938 Oudh 125 (127); 14 Luck 65. (Party dying after enquiry before arbitration is finished but before award is made — Award not invalid merely because the son of the deceased is not made a party.)]

1. Section 6. — [1] Under S. 5 of the old Act also, death of a party did not operate as revocation of a submission. (1910) 4 Sind L R 14 (17).

[2] A reference to arbitration signed by the representatives of a firm does not terminate by the death of such representatives. (Vol-20) 1933 Sind 115 (116).

arbitration in accordance with the agreement, and the Court may, if it is of opinion that, having regard to all the circumstances of the case, the matter ought to be determined by arbitration, make an order accordingly.

(3) In this section the expression "receiver" includes an Official Assignee.

Power of Court to appoint arbitrator or umpire.

8. (1) In any of the following cases —

(a) where an arbitration agreement provides that the reference shall be to one or more arbitrators to be appointed by consent of the parties, and all the parties do not, after differences have arisen, concur in the appointment or appointments; or

SECTION 8 — SYNOPSIS

1. Section 8.

2. Section 8 (1) (a).

3. Section 8 (1) (b).

4. Section 8 (2).

5. Section 8 (2)—Powers of arbitrator.

1. Section 8. — [1] This section, dealing with the Court's power to appoint an arbitrator in certain cases, reproduces with some verbal changes section 8 of the 1899 Act. The Select Committee in their Report on this section say: "We have removed an obscurity from clause 8 (1) (a) where it was not clear whether failure to concur in any one of the appointments or failure to concur in all the appointments was contemplated. We have omitted the words "or is removed" from section 8 (1) (b) and also from section 9 to remove the inconsistency which would otherwise exist between these sections and section 12, which gives to the Court and not to the parties power to appoint arbitrators in place of arbitrators removed by the Court."

[2] Section 8 (1) (a) of the 1899 Act ran as follows:—"In any of the following cases: (a) where a submission provides that the reference shall be to a single arbitrator, and all the parties do not, after differences have arisen, concur in the appointment of an arbitrator", etc. As to meaning and scope of clause (a) see (Vol 18) 1931 Mad 170 (173); 54 Mad 198; (Vol 6) 1919 Bom 24; 43 Bom 809; (Vol 26) 1939 Sind 81 (83, 85); (Vol 14) 1927 Sind 177; (Vol 11) 1924 Sind 29 (32); 17 Sind L R 164; (Vol 30) 1943 Cal 484 (486); 1 I L R (1943) 2 Cal 298.

2. Section 8 (1) (a). — [1] A notice to name an arbitrator to act along with one appointed by the party issuing notice, does not amount to asking to concur in appointing a single arbitrator. (1909) 3 Sind L R 221 (222).

3. Section 8 (1) (b). — [1] Where an arbitrator refuses to act, the Court cannot compel him to arbitrate. ('85) 7 All 20 (21, 22); (Vol 8) 1921 All 361 (362); 43 All 101; ('85) 7 All 523 (526, 528); (Vol 17) 1930 Lah 125 (126); (Vol 7) 1920 Lah 202 (202).

[2] An arbitrator has full power to retract his resignation before it is accepted or acted upon by the Court and an award subsequently made is not invalid on account of the first refusal. ('88) 10 All 137 (145); ('71) 15 Suth W R 37 (38).

[3] Where the Court asks an arbitrator to reconsider his resignation or refusal, and he thereupon agrees to act, the award will not be invalid. (Vol 16) 1929 Bom 50 (51); 52 Bom 568; (Vol 24) 1937 All 582 (585); (Vol 15) 1928 All 740 (744); 50 All 955; ('75) 23 Suth W R 429 (431) (PC); ('71) 15 Suth W R 37 (38).

[4] Where an arbitrator demands his fees in advance and refuses to act further, a new arbitrator can be appointed. (Vol 24) 1937 Cal 523 (525).

[5] Refusal by the arbitrator cannot be implied from his conduct as, for instance, where he fails to submit the award within time fixed. (Vol 1) 1914 Cal 448 (449);

(Vol 24) 1937 Cal 523 (525); (Vol 24) 1937 All 582 (585); (Vol 20) 1933 Sind 115 (116). (Where an arbitrator neglects to act for nearly three years, another arbitrator may be appointed in his place.)

[6] An order which may be passed in the event of the death of an arbitrator, can only be made under the Arbitration Act and then only if the conditions as to written notices prescribed by S. 8 have been fulfilled. (Vol 18) 1926 Cal 730 (731, 732).

[7] There was a mutual agreement to refer to two arbitrators, one of whom refused to act. It was held that S. 8 (1) (b) applies, as the expression "an appointed arbitrator" can mean one of two appointed arbitrators. (Vol 16) 1929 Cal 177 (179); 56 Cal 548.

[8] The fact that the arbitrator refused to arbitrate is no ground for refusing to enforce the arbitration clause of the contract. Section 8 (1) (b) is applicable to such a case. (Vol 20) 1933 Sind 75 (77); 27 Sind L R 169.

[9] Parties jointly appointing two arbitrators. One dying, the Court can supply the vacancy under S. 8 (1) (b) read with S. 8 (2). (Vol 26) 1939 Sind 81 (81, 82).

4. Section 8 (2). — [1] The personnel of the arbitrators may be changed by mutual consent of the parties. (Vol 11) 1924 Cal 665 (666).

[2] After notice to the opposite party, all the parties may themselves appoint an arbitrator provided all the parties agree. (Vol 5) 1918 Lah 151 (152); 1918 Pun Re No. 112; ('66) 1 Agra H C R 109 (109, 110).

[3] A notice to the opposite party is essential before the Court acts under this section. (Vol 15) 1928 All 674 (674, 675); (Vol 18) 1931 All 761 (762, 764); 53 All 778. (No notice to opposite party—Act of Court in proceeding to make appointment of arbitrator is irregular); (Vol 16) 1929 All 144 (145); 51 All 501; (Vol 6) 1919 All 219 (220); 41 All 578; (Vol 12) 1925 Lah 374 (375); (Vol 20) 1933 Oudh 540 (542); 9 Luck 225; (Vol 12) 1925 Oudh 361 (364).

[4] If a party does not object to, and acquiesces in, the appointment by the Court of the nominee of the opposite party, it will be estopped from questioning the validity of the appointment. (Vol 16) 1929 All 559 (560); ('10) 1910 Pun L R No. 27, page 63 (64).

[5] The terms of the submission to arbitration were that an umpire should be selected from out of the seven persons named therein. The first umpire chosen declined to act. It was held that the Court must appoint a person from the remaining six arbitrators. ('71) 7 Mad H C R 72 (75, 76).

[6] In making a new appointment the Court cannot compel an unwilling party to pay remuneration to the arbitrator appointed by the Court, specially when there is no provision for the same in the original reference. (Vol 16) 1929 All 144 (145); 51 All 501.

[7] If the Court appoints an arbitrator before the expiry of the period mentioned in sub-section (2), it acts with material irregularity. (Vol 20) 1933 Oudh 540 (542); 9 Luck 225.

- (b) if any appointed arbitrator or umpire neglects or refuses to act, or is incapable of acting, or dies, and the arbitration agreement does not show that it was intended that the vacancy should not be supplied, and the parties or the arbitrators, as the case may be, do not supply the vacancy; or
- (c) where the parties or the arbitrators are required to appoint an umpire and do not appoint him; any party may serve the other parties or the arbitrators, as the case may be, with a written notice to concur in the appointment or appointments or in supplying the vacancy.

(2) If the appointment is not made within fifteen clear days after the service of the said notice, the Court may, on the application of the party who gave the notice and after giving the other parties an opportunity of being heard, appoint an arbitrator or arbitrators or umpire, as the case may be, who shall have like power to act in the reference and to make an award as if he or they had been appointed by consent of all parties.

[1999—S. 8; Civil Procedure Code, Sch. II, Para. 5.]

Power to party to appoint new arbitrator or, in certain cases, a sole arbitrator.

9. Where an arbitration agreement provides that a reference shall be to two arbitrators, one to be appointed by each party, then, unless a different intention is expressed in the agreement,—

- (a) if either of the appointed arbitrators neglects or refuses to act, or is incapable of acting, or dies, the party who appointed him may appoint a new arbitrator in his place;

SECTION 9 — SYNOPSIS

1. Scope.
2. Section 9 (a).
3. Section 9 (b).

1. Scope — [1] Section 9 applies only in absence of contract to the contrary. (Vol 8) 1921 Mad 58 (60) : 44 Mad 406.

[2] Where an arbitration clause provides that if a party on notice by the other party to appoint an arbitrator, does not appoint one within a fixed time, then, the party giving notice is at liberty to appoint another arbitrator. Section 9 does not apply. (Vol 20) 1933 Sind 6 (7, 8).

[3] Section 9 provides for substitution in case where each party is entitled to appoint an arbitrator. It does not provide for the case where one party is entitled to appoint two arbitrators. (Vol 20) 1933 Sind 6 (7).

[4] Contract in contravention of S. 9 excludes operation of this section. The contract between A and B was that if the parties failed to appoint their arbitrators or the arbitrators chosen by them died, the vacancy would be filled in by C. Arbitrator chosen by A gave an award as the sole arbitrator. Held that in view of the contract S. 9 (b) did not apply and the award was invalid. (Vol 9) 1922 P C 374 (377, 378) : 49 Ind App 366 : 50 Cal 1 (P C).

[5] Where an arbitration clause provided for arbitration under the rules of the Bengal Chamber of Commerce or at the option of the sellers, by two European sugar importers and the sellers exercised such option but did not appoint their arbitrators nor did the buyers proceed under S. 9 held that the buyers were not entitled to revert to the other mode of arbitration and award made by Bengal Chamber of Commerce was set aside. (Vol 11) 1924 Cal 828 (829, 830) : 51 Cal 657.

[6] Official Receiver or trustee in bankruptcy is not party within S. 9, nor can he be compelled to be a party where the bankrupt's estate is debtor and not creditor. (Vol 13) 1926 Sind 209 (210) : 19 Sind L R 24.

2. Section 9 (a). — [1] Arbitrator's non-attendance on the date fixed may be construed as refusal to act. (Vol 17) 1930 All 675 (677).

[2] Where an arbitrator appointed by one party is made sole arbitrator under S. 9, the other party refusing to appoint its own, but he afterwards refuses to act, procedure to be followed is not that laid down in S. 8 (1) (b), but that in S. 9 and the sole arbitrator will be replaced by another arbitrator chosen by the first party. (Vol 16) 1929 Sind 55 (56). (Affirming (Vol 14) 1927 Sind 177.)

[3] In case more than one arbitrator is to be appointed, one has to be appointed as convener. (Vol 17) 1930 All 675 (677).

3. Section 9 (b). — [1] One of two arbitrators refused to act after appointment, and the other acted as sole arbitrator without complying with the procedure of S. 9 (b). His award must be set aside. (1928) 110 Ind Cas 290 (292) (P C).

[2] Award by arbitrator appointed by one party before expiry of the time allotted to the other to appoint one, is a nullity. (1909) 3 Sind L R 237 (239).

- (b) if one party fails to appoint an arbitrator, either originally or by way of substitution as aforesaid, for fifteen clear days after the service by the other party of a notice in writing to make the appointment, such other party having appointed his arbitrator before giving the notice, the party who has appointed an arbitrator may appoint that arbitrator to act as sole arbitrator in the reference, and his award shall be binding on both parties as if he had been appointed by consent:

Provided that the Court may set aside any appointment as sole arbitrator made under clause (b) and either, on sufficient cause being shown, allow further time to the defaulting party to appoint an arbitrator or pass such other order as it thinks fit.

Explanation.—The fact that an arbitrator or umpire, after a request by either party to enter on and proceed with the reference, does not within one month comply with the request may constitute a neglect or refusal to act within the meaning of section 8 and this section.

10. (1) Where an arbitration agreement provides that a reference shall be to three arbitrators, one to be appointed by each party and the third by the two appointed arbitrators, the agreement shall have effect as if it provided for the appointment of an umpire, and not for the appointment of a third arbitrator, by the two arbitrators appointed by the parties.

(2) Where an arbitration agreement provides that a reference shall be to three arbitrators to be appointed otherwise than as mentioned in sub-section (1), the award of the majority shall, unless the arbitration agreement otherwise provides, prevail.

(3) Where an arbitration agreement provides for the appointment of more arbitrators than three, the award of the majority, or if the arbitrators are equally divided in their opinions, the award of the umpire shall, unless the arbitration agreement otherwise provides, prevail.

Power to Court to remove arbitrators or umpire in certain circumstances.

11. (1) The Court may, on the application of any party to a reference, remove an arbitrator or umpire who fails to use all reasonable dispatch in entering on and proceeding with the reference and making an award.

(2) The Court may remove an arbitrator or umpire who has misconducted himself or the proceedings.

(3) Where an arbitrator or umpire is removed under this section, he shall not be entitled to receive any remuneration in respect of his services.

(4) For the purposes of this section the expression "proceeding with the reference" includes, in a case where reference to the umpire becomes necessary, giving notice of that fact to the parties and to the umpire.

Section 9 (contd.)

[3] When reference to two arbitrators one by each party is made each party has right to appoint another in place of the arbitrator refusing to act. One party refusing to appoint the other can appoint sole arbitrator after notice to other party. (Vol 12) 1925 Bom 469 (469) : 49 Bom 706.

[4] Where the contract is silent as to what party should appoint his arbitrator first, a party should himself nominate his arbitrator before calling upon his opponent to nominate an arbitrator under S. 9 (b). (Vol 16) 1929 Sind 58 (60).

[5] Where the arbitration clause in an indent provided for reference to two arbitrators and that if buyers failed to appoint arbitrator, the sellers would have power to appoint arbitrator on behalf of buyers but not vice versa. Held, buyers had their right under S. 9, to nominate the arbitrator appointed by them as the sole arbitrator. (Vol 20) 1933 Sind 328 (328, 329) : 27 Sind L R 186.

[6] Where the sole arbitrator is appointed without notice being given but the appointment is not objected to in time, the absence of notice under S. 9 (b) is deemed to be waived. (Vol 7) 1920 P C 128 (128, 129) (P C).

[7] There was a provision in a contract to appoint two arbitrators, one by each. The contract also provided for a different course to be adopted if one of the parties failed to nominate an arbitrator. If the arbitrators appointed by one party refuse to give adjournment to move the High Court to have their appointment set aside, their refusal does not amount to misconduct. (Vol 8) 1921 Mad 58 (60) : 44 Mad 406.

1. Section 11.—[1] Misjoinder of parties and causes of action in arbitration proceedings do not involve a question of jurisdiction; but if a party objects to such misjoinder and if the arbitrators ignore the objection, they may be charged with misconduct. (1911) 11 Ind Cas 274 (276) (Sind).

[2] A servant of one of the parties can act as an arbitrator. The fact that the engineer of one of the parties to the contract, who was nominated as arbitrator in the contract, had a duty to watch the works in respect of which the contract was given and might already have formed an opinion upon the matters in dispute is not enough, in the absence of any evidence that he would not act fairly, to prevent him from being the proper person to decide the dispute. (Vol 20) 1933 Sind 75 (77) : 27 Sind L R 169.

[3] As to the meaning of the word "misconduct" see Notes on S. 30.

12. (1) Where the Court removes an umpire who has not entered on the reference or one or more arbitrators (not being all the arbitrators) the Court may, on the application of any party to the arbitration agreement, appoint persons to fill the vacancies.

Power of Court where arbitrator is removed or his authority revoked.

(2) Where the authority of an arbitrator or arbitrators or an umpire is revoked by leave of the Court, or where the Court removes an umpire who has entered on the reference or a sole arbitrator or all the arbitrators, the Court may, on the application of any party to the arbitration agreement, either —

- (a) appoint a person to act as sole arbitrator in the place of the person or persons displaced, or
- (b) order that the arbitration agreement shall cease to have effect with respect to the difference referred.

(3) A person appointed under this section as an arbitrator or umpire shall have the like power to act in the reference and to make an award as if he had been appointed in accordance with the arbitration agreement.

13. The arbitrators or umpire shall, unless a different intention is expressed in the agreement, have power to—

Powers of arbitrator.

- (a) administer oath to the parties and witnesses appearing;
- (b) state a special case for the opinion of the Court on any question of law involved, or state the award, wholly or in part, in the form of a special case of such question for the opinion of the Court;
- (c) make the award conditional or in the alternative;
- (d) correct in an award any clerical mistake or error arising from any accidental slip or omission;
- (e) administer to any party to the arbitration such interrogatories as may, in the opinion of the arbitrators or umpire, be necessary.

[1899—S. 10 ; Civil P. C., Sch. II, Para. 11.]

14. (1) When the arbitrators or umpire have made their award, they shall sign it and shall give notice in writing to the parties of the making and signing thereof and of the amount of fees and charges payable in respect of the arbitration and award.

Award to be signed and filed.

1. Section 13. — [1] Umpire must give reasonable facilities for parties to appear and state their case and evidence. (1911) 5 Sind L R 89 (90).

[2] Umpire is not bound to state a special case. Aggrieved party should apply immediately to revoke the submission. If it fails to do this, it cannot question the award after it is passed. (Vol 8) 1921 Cal 576 (576).

[3] It is in the discretion of the arbitrators whether to state a special case or not and the Court has no power to enforce its rulings or directions upon them. (1909) 1 Ind Cas 14 (16) (Bom). (Per Davar's order appealed from); (Vol 15) 1928 Mad 107 (114).

[4] Opinion of Court is not binding on the arbitrators nor can it operate as res judicata. (Vol 12) 1925 Sind 88 (86).

[5] An arbitrator has jurisdiction to enquire and decide whether a party to the submission has signed it, or whether the signature is that of a partnership and if so, who the individual partners are. (1911) 11 Ind Cas 274 (275, 276) (Sind).

[6] Parties referred to arbitration certain matters of reference including disputes not forming subject-matter of the suit. On difference of opinion between the arbitrators special case was stated for the opinion of the High Court and a decision was passed. Held that the case fell under S. 13 so far as it related to the agreement which was not the subject of the Court's order. (1911) 35 Bom 130 (136, 137).

SECTION 14 — SYNOPSIS

1. Section 14 (1).

2. Section 14 (2).

3. Section 14 (3).

I. Section 14 (1).—[1] Award under S. 14 must be in writing and must be signed. (Vol 11) 1924 Rang 319 (320); (1910) 1910 Mad W N 53 (60).

[2] There is a distinct statutory provision that the award must be signed by the persons who made it. The want of signatures of some of the arbitrators from the award invalidates the award. (Vol 15) 1928 Pat 231 (232).

[3] An award was brought to Court by one of several arbitrators at the instance of a party. Written submission to arbitration by the parties was not filed along with the award as required by the Original Side Rules. Further, the award was signed only by one of the arbitrators and not by all. Held, that the award could not be made a rule of the Court. (Vol 16) 1929 Mad 31 (32). (Vol 3) 1916 Pat 190 (193): 1 Pat L Jour 306. (Decree passed in accordance with award not signed by arbitrators before filing it is invalid.)

[4] Where the parties agree to abide by the decision of the majority of arbitrators, the refusal of the minority to sign the award will not invalidate the proceedings provided they were present throughout the proceedings and took part in the deliberations. (Vol 3) 1916 Pat 156 (157): 1 Pat L Jour 90.

[5] The resignation of one arbitrator and his refusal

(2) The arbitrators or umpire shall, at the request of any party to the arbitration agreement or any person claiming under such party or if so directed by the Court and upon payment to sign the majority view does not invalidate the award. (Vol 10) 1923 Lah 411 (412).

[6] Where the agreement of reference requires that the award must be unanimous to bind the parties the requirement is fulfilled if all the arbitrators agree in a certain decision even though one of the arbitrators accidentally, inadvertently or deliberately fails to sign the award. (Vol 32) 1945 Pat 140 (145) : 23 Pat 719.

[7] Where a memorandum of award was prepared and signed by the arbitrators, but before engrossing the same on stamp paper, one of the arbitrators finds that owing to a misunderstanding of the language adopted in the memorandum, his opinion has to be changed, his refusal to sign the original memorandum engrossed on stamp paper is perfectly legal; when the memorandum was drawn up and signed there was no completed award in the strict sense, so as to exhaust the powers of the arbitrators to deal further with the matter. (1911) 14 Cal L Jour 189 (209, 211).

2. Section 14 (2).—[1] Under the present section it is obligatory on the Court to give notice of the filing of the award to the parties concerned. Under the corresponding old section (S. 11 of the Act of 1899) this obligation was on the arbitrators or the umpire.

[2] According to the contract between the parties, a dispute was referred firstly to arbitrators, then to an umpire and then to a committee of appeal. Held that the committee were really a fresh set of arbitrators called in by the parties and the award of the committee could be filed in Court. (Vol 14) 1927 Cal 647 (649, 651) : 55 Cal 180; (Vol 21) 1934 Bom 476 (480).

[Contra (Vol 14) 1927 Cal 391].

[3] The arbitrators must, at the request of one or other party, file the award or a copy of it in the Court. (1910) 7 Mad L Tim 355 (361).

[5] A Court is not competent to act on an award unless it is not only signed by all the arbitrators, but is also properly placed before the Court by the arbitrators and by no other persons. Where award was sent to Court by post and none of the arbitrators took responsibility for saying as to who caused the award to be sent to Court, the award was held not properly placed before the Court, and as such could not be acted upon by the Court. (Vol 16) 1929 Pat 178 (180).

[6] A Court cannot compel the arbitrators to file the award when their fees and charges are not paid. (Vol 27) 1940 Sind 144 (144).

[7] Arbitrators can refuse to produce the award in Court if their remuneration is not paid but they are not prohibited from producing award in Court on non-payment. (Vol 32) 1945 Nag 117 (118) : ILR (1945) Nag 323.

[8] An arbitrator can file an award in Court even in absence of an application for filing by a party. (Vol 32) 1945 Nag 117 (118) : ILR (1945) Nag 323.

[9] Limitation Act, Art. 178 (as amended by Arbitration Act) applies only to cases where a party applies to Court for filing award either under S. 14 (2) or under S. 88. But where the application is made by the arbitrator himself, the article has no application. (Vol 30) 1943 Sind 33 (34, 35) : ILR (1942) Kar 466.

[10] Although S. 38 does not expressly empower the applicant under it, who has obtained possession of an award through the assistance of the Court, to file the award in Court, such a power can properly and necessarily be inferred from it. (Vol 30) 1943 Sind 33 (34) : ILR (1942) Kar 466.

[11] Order directing an award to be filed is not necessary under the Act. (Vol 15) 1928 Mad 107 (115).

[12] An order of a Court merely stating that the award be consigned to record room and the validity of the award shall be determined at the time of execution of the award is not a proper order filing the award. (Vol 31) 1944 All 66 (76) : ILR (1943) All 907.

[13] Where an application for filing an award is made by the arbitrators at the request of one of the parties to the arbitration, the proper procedure is to allow the parties to the arbitration to take up the litigation in their hands and relieve the arbitrators. If the application made by the arbitrators at the request of one of the parties is dismissed by the Court, the parties aggrieved can continue the revision application before High Court. And in such a case the High Court can, if necessary, set aside the order of the Court. (Vol 32) 1945 Nag 117 (119) : ILR (1945) Nag 323.

NOTICE.—[14] Where no notice has been given of the filing of the award, the decree passed in accordance with the award must be set aside. (Vol 8) 1921 Oudh 154 (154) : 24 Oudh Cas 263; (Vol 13) 1926 Cal 1018 (1019). (It is a ground for revision); (Vol 15) 1928 Nag 166 (167).

[15] The fact that parties might have received knowledge of the award having been filed in Court, aliunde does not amount to such a notice. (Vol 17) 1930 Lah 228 (229).

[16] Parties are entitled to notice even if they have knowledge of the date on which the award is filed. (Vol 12) 1925 Lah 619 (619).

[17] Where an award is filed without notice to the defendant and a decree is passed on the award before the expiry of the time allowed by Art. 158, Limitation Act, for filing objections, the procedure is illegal and the decree must be set aside. (Vol 8) 1921 Oudh 148 (148) : 24 Oudh Cas 234.

[18] Where the arbitrator recommends that the plaintiff's claim be decreed ex parte as the defendant had failed to appear before him, before passing a decree in terms of the award, the Court should issue notice to the defendant. (Vol 22) 1935 All 852 (853).

[19] Notice is not necessary where the parties are present in Court when the award is filed. (1913) 1913 Pun L R No. 310 page 1045 (1050).

[20] Where a notice of filing of an award is not given to the party but the order filing the award is communicated to his pleader and the pleader admits such communication, it is a sufficient compliance with the section having regard to O. 3, R. 5, Civil P. C. (Vol 14) 1927 Cal 619 (621).

[21] When the arbitrator himself brings in the award to the Court, the Court is bound to give notice to the parties that the award has been filed, and the Court cannot possibly pass a decree in terms of the award unless such notice has been given. But if the parties or their pleaders bring in an award and ask that it should be filed, and the Court informs the pleaders or the parties that they should file objections within the prescribed time then it cannot be said that no notice was given. In such a case no material irregularity is committed which entitles the Court to set aside the whole of the proceedings. (Vol 13) 1926 Bom 312 (312).

3. Section 14 (3).—[1] The Court is bound to give the parties an opportunity of objecting before it pronounces its opinion. (Vol 12) 1925 Bom 22 (25) : 48 Bom 668.

of the fees and charges due in respect of the arbitration and award and of the costs and charges of filing the award, cause the award or a signed copy of it, together with any depositions and documents which may have been taken and proved before them, to be filed in Court, and the Court shall thereupon give notice to the parties of the filing of the award.

(g) Where the arbitrators or umpire state a special case under clause (b) of section 13, the Court, after giving notice to the parties and hearing them, shall pronounce its opinion thereon and such opinion shall be added to, and shall form part of, the award.

[1899—S. 11; Civil P. C., Sch. II, Paras. 10, 11 and 20]

Power of Court to modify award.

15. The Court may by order modify or correct an award⁴—

(a) where it appears that a part of the award is upon a matter not referred to arbitration and such part can be separated from the other part and does not affect the decision on the matter referred; or

SECTION 15—SYNOPSIS

(1) Clause (a)

(2) Clause (b)

(3) Clause (c)

(4) "The Court may by order modify or correct an award."

1. Clause (a).—[1] If the Court considers that the arbitrators giving award in a case have gone beyond the scope of their authority and have determined a matter not referred to arbitration, it is its duty to take action under S. 15. (Vol 15) 1928 Lah 915 (916).

[2] In a suit for dissolution of partnership and for accounts, the plaintiff claimed interest but defendant denied it. The matter was referred to arbitration, one of the points referred being whether the defendant was liable to pay any money and, if so, the amount due. It was held that the arbitrator could include in his award the sum payable by the defendant as interest both on sums advanced to the firm and on those advanced to defendant for his personal use, and also for the period before and after the suit and up to the date of the award. (Vol 7) 1920 Cal 413 (414).

[3] Where a suit for injunction against joint owners of property, some of whom are minors, is referred to arbitration and no sanction of the Court is obtained in respect of the minors, the award is not separable and consequently cannot be corrected by separating it in respect of the minors and granting the injunction against the majors only. (Vol 25) 1938 Lah 582 (583).

2. Clause (b).—[1] The Court has no power to rectify or correct an award unless the award is imperfect in form or the obvious error is of such a character that it can be amended without affecting the decision of the arbitrator. It is well-settled that the Court acts without jurisdiction if it modifies an award because it takes a view different from that held by the arbitrator. (Vol 12) 1925 Cal 332 (333).

[2] Section 15 applies only if the "imperfection in form" exists in the award at the time when it is filed in Court by the arbitrator and not if it comes into existence at a subsequent stage on the happening of an unanticipated event. (Vol 17) 1930 Lah 26 (31) : 11 Lah 342.

[3] In adjudging the amount payable by one party to another, an arbitrator has full power to direct payment by instalments. The directions as to the number, amount, mode and time of payment of these instalments are, therefore, matters within the discretion of the arbitrator and the essential parts of an award which a Court has no power to modify. (Vol 17) 1930 Lah 26 (31) : 11 Lah 342.

[4] Where arbitrators decided that a certain property was not endowed property but that it should not be partitioned and must continue as endowed property, the award contains an obvious error and the Court can modify and correct the award. ('09) 2 Ind Cas 858 (858) (All).

3. Clause (c).—[1] The Court is bound to correct any obvious mistakes or slips in an award as in the case of decrees. The award in accordance with which the Court has to pronounce judgment is the one that embodies the real intention of the parties. (1913) 24 Mad L Jour 483 (483, 484).

[2] The Court has no jurisdiction to modify or correct an award if the mistake is not merely clerical or arithmetical. (Vol 8) 1921 Bom 191 (192, 193) : 45 Bom 512; (Vol 12) 1925 Sind 89 (90).

[3] An award was made upon the basis of certain figures contained in certain documents relied on by both the parties and a decree was passed according to the award without any objection from any of the parties. It was subsequently found that there was a mistake in the figures, on which the award was based and the party who was affected by the mistake applied for correction of the error. It was held that the application was not to correct an error patent and apparent on the face of the record. (Vol 14) 1927 Mad 720 (722).

4. "The Court may by order modify or correct an award".—[1] If a Court goes beyond the powers conferred by this section and makes substantial modifications because it takes a different view from that held by the arbitrator as to what was just and fair in this or that set of circumstances, it acts without jurisdiction. (Vol 3) 1916 Lah 4 (5) : 1916 Pun Re No. 78.

[2] The Court has no jurisdiction to go into the merits of the dispute and come to a conclusion of its own, with the result that a very distinct alteration is made in the award. When the parties agree to have their disputes decided by their arbitrators, they agree to accept the decision of the arbitrators whether it might be right or wrong and the Court can only alter the award within the limits laid down by the Act. (Vol 8) 1921 Bom 191 (192, 193) : 45 Bom 512.

[3] The power of the Court to modify an award is limited by Clauses (a), (b) and (c). Where the arbitrator decided that plaintiff had by efflux of time lost his right to a plot of land but as defendant had acquired the legal title without incurring any expense, he should compensate plaintiff by paying him Rs. 125, it was held that though the question of compensating the plaintiff had not been referred to arbitration, the Court had no power to modify the award by expunging the provision as to compensation. (Vol 20) 1933 Lah 139 (140).

[4] Where the legal effect of one of the alternative adjudication in an award is to invest the owner of an estate with the right to claim an "easement of necessity" over the road leading from the public street to the parent estate, this right must be claimed and established in appropriate legal proceedings against the owner of the servient tenement. It cannot be incor-

- (b) where the award is imperfect in form, or contains any obvious error which can be amended without affecting such decision; or
- (c) where the award contains a clerical mistake or an error arising from an accidental slip or omission.

[Civil P. C., Sch. II, Para. 12.]

16. (1) The Court may from time to time remit the award or any matter referred to arbitration to the arbitrators or umpire for reconsideration upon such terms as it thinks fit—

- (a) where the award has left undetermined any of the matters³ referred to arbitration, or where it determines any matter not referred to arbitration² and such matter cannot be separated without affecting the determination of the matters referred; or

SECTION 16 — SYNOPSIS.

1. Sub-section (1).
2. Sub-section (1), clause (a) — Award determining matter not referred to arbitration.
3. Sub-section (1), clause (a) — "Left undetermined any of the matters."
4. Sub-section (1), clause (b).
5. Sub-section (1), clause (c).
6. Sub-section (2).
7. Sub-section (3).

1. Sub-section (1)—[1] Section 16 empowers the Court to remit the award to the arbitrator himself for reconsideration where there are omissions or defects therein which are such as cannot be modified or corrected by the Court itself under Section 15. (1867) 7 Suth W R 406 (406, 407).

[2] The Court is confined to the specific grounds mentioned in this section and has no power to remit an award on other grounds. (1881) 3 All 636 (642); (Vol 22) 1935 Lah 113 (114). (Court remitting award when none of the grounds mentioned existed — Court acts without jurisdiction). (1911) 14 Oudh Cas 308 (311); (1911) M W N 151 (161) (F B). (Alleged defect in the tribunal which gave the award is no ground for remitting it.); ('84) 10 Cal 11 (13). (An objection by a party that he did not agree to the terms of the reference is not a ground under this paragraph.); (Vol 4) 1917 Mad 312 (313). (The fact that the obligations imposed under the award have been performed between the date of the award and the date of the application to file it is no ground.); (Vol 23) 1936 Nag 197 (198) : ILR (1936) Nag 44; (Vol 11) 1924 Sind 51 (55) : 19 Sind L R 152.

[See also (Vol 21) 1934 All 939 (940). (It is doubtful whether the want of provision in the promissory note for the payment of interest is a kind of objection to the legality under clause (c).)]

[3] The Court cannot remit the award in part only and treat the award as to the other part as final. (Vol 13) 1926 All 567 (570).

[4] When the Court decides to remit the award under this section it is not final and so long as it is not final and is in the hands of the arbitrator, it can be altered by him; (1867) 7 Suth W R 406 (407); (Vol 13) 1926 All 567 (569); (Vol 13) 1926 Lah 519 (520) : 7 Lah 327. Compare S. 10 of the English Arbitration Act, 1889, which runs thus : — "In all cases of references to arbitration the Court or a Judge may from time to time remit the matters referred, or any part of them to the reconsideration of the arbitrators or umpire."

[5] The Court has a discretion to remit or not to remit an award. (Vol 13) 1931 Lah 215 (216); (1905) 1905 Pun Re No. 41, page 148.

[See also (Vol 20) 1933 Mad 697 (699). (In the absence of objection by party, Court is not bound suo motu to remit award.)]

[6] Where there is any circumstance in the position of the arbitrator such as tends to produce a bias in his mind, the Court will, in its discretion, refuse to remit the award to the arbitrator for reconsideration. (Vol 12) 1925 Sind 51 (52).

[7] There is no period of limitation for an application to the Court to remit the award. (Vol 20) 1933 All 643 (649); (Vol 6) 1919 Mad 877 (877).

2. Sub-section (1), clause (a). — Award determining matter not referred to arbitration. — [1] If the award decides matters not within the scope of the submission, it is void as regards the portion in excess of the submission. If such portion is separable from and independent of the remainder, effect can be given to the rest of the award. (Vol 3) 1916 Cal 806 (807); (Vol 26) 1939 Lah 303 (309). (Only share of minor in property referred — Arbitrator's decision that no partition should take place during minority is beyond terms of reference—Decision is void but rest of award declaring minor's share stands.)

[2] If the extraneous matters cannot be separated without affecting the determination of the matters referred, the Court may remit the award for reconsideration. (Vol 20) 1933 Mad 862 (865); (1896) 1896 Pun Re No. 60; (Vol 13) 1926 Mad 201 (204); (Vol 22) 1935 Lah 52 (53). (In this case award was set aside.)

[See also (Vol 22) 1935 Lah 52 (53).]

[3] Unless and until the contrary is shown, the Court will presume that the arbitrator has determined only such matters as were in dispute and were referred to him and the burden of proving that the arbitrator has awarded on matters not within the submission is on the party impeaching the award. (Vol 25) 1938 Sind 59 (62).

[4] The principle that when a separable portion of an award is bad, the remainder of the award is good and can be maintained is a general principle and is not limited in its application to cases in which the award determines matters in excess of those submitted for arbitration. (Vol 23) 1936 Oudh 72 (74). (Award dealing with immovable property and moveable property — Portion dealing with immovable property bad for want of registration — Such portion separable — It can be rejected and the rest of the award maintained.)

3. Sub-section (1), clause (a). — “Left undetermined any of the matters.” — [1] Where the arbitrators have not, in their award, decided any matter referred to them, the Court may, under clause (a), remit the award for reconsideration. (1881) 3 All 286 (291, 292); (Vol 20) 1933 Lah 530 (532). (Question referred to arbitration—Arbitrators giving only provisional order leaving certain questions to be decided by Court—Award should be remitted for reconsideration); (Vol 12) 1925 All 393 (394); (Vol 5) 1918 Cal 247 (247). (Reference authorising to proceed ex parte if a party absent—One party absent—Arbitrator's award without evidence—Held he should have heard the evidence of the other side and, therefore, award remitted under this clause); (Vol 1) 1914 Cal 497 (498); (1912) 1912 Mad W N 1076 (1077).

[2] It is open to the parties to waive remittal. (1894) 21 Cal 590 (600); 21 Ind App 47 (PC); (Vol 15) 1928 Pat 7 (10); 6 Pat 556; (1911) 14 Cal L Jour 188 (208).

[See however (Vol 10) 1923 Mad 576 (576, 577). Held that under the circumstances there was no implied agreement that the award should be void unless an award were given in respect of all the matters referred for decision.)]

[3] Where all the parties agree before the arbitrator that an incomplete award may be made or where they all represent that there is no longer any controversy between them upon a particular point, the fact that the award is incomplete or silent on such point will not vitiate it. (Vol 18) 1921 All 384 (387); 43 All 108; (Vol 17) 1930 Cal 255 (257). (Party affirming the award by taking benefits under it cannot turn round and say that the award is invalid); (1879) 4 Cal L Rep 92 (94). (Parties may allow the arbitrators to take seriatim the matters in dispute and to deliver series of awards); (Vol 15) 1928 Pat 7 (10, 11); 6 Pat 556. (Parties agreed to the partition by stages and asked that the properties remaining undivided should be the subject of a further award.)

[See also (Vol 12) 1925 All 103 (106). (Omission to partition one item of property on account of impossibility does not vitiate award); (Vol 6) 1919 Cal 1030 (1031). (Where some of the matters referred to have not been decided, the Court cannot allow a party without the consent of the other to withdraw his claim as to those matters.)]

[4] An award cannot be said to be incomplete because, in a suit involving a number of issues the arbitrators have not given a decision on each of them. It is enough if they give a decision on the whole matter in issue between the parties. (1902) 29 Cal 167 (186); 29 Ind App 51; 1902 Pun Re No. 25 (PC); (1899) 22 Mad 202 (204); (1911) 1911 Pun W R No. 13, page 31 (35); (1870) 2 N W P H C R 150 (151).

[5] It is well settled that the Courts will make every reasonable intendment in favour of an award being a final, certain and sufficient termination of the matters in dispute. (Vol 25) 1938 Sind 59 (62).

4. Sub-section (1), clause (b) — [1] An award, to be capable of execution, ought to be certain, so that no reasonable doubt can arise upon the face of it as to the arbitrators' meaning or as to the nature and extent of the rights and duties imposed by it upon the parties. (Vol 8) 1916 Oudh 160 (161).

[See also (Vol 27) 1940 Lah 24 (26). (Joint property partitioned by arbitration without intervention of Court — Mere fact that no specific directions have been given about ventilators and drains existing on property does not tender award invalid on ground of being indefinite.)]

[2] The fact that a particular expression used in an award is capable of more than one interpretation does not show that it is so indefinite as to be incapable of execution. (Vol 3) 1916 Oudh 226 (228).

[3] Where the arbitrators give the method for calculating the amount awarded without specifying the actual amount due, the award can be considered as sufficiently certain. (1912) 15 Cal L Jour 360 (364); (Vol 17) 1930 Lah 22 (23); (Vol 9) 1922 Cal 447 (452).

[4] An award cannot be set aside on the ground of uncertainty upon a point on which there is no controversy between the parties. (Vol 25) 1938 Sind 59 (62). (Cargay v. Aitchison, (1823) 2 B & C 170 and Plummer v. Lee, (1837) 2 M & W 495, followed.)

5. Sub-section (1), clause (c). [1] Where the arbitrators decide a question specifically submitted to them for decision, but such decision happens to be erroneous in law, it cannot be said that there is any error apparent on the face of the award and the Court has no right to sit in judgment over the views of the arbitrator. (Vol 22) 1935 Rang 16 (17). (Wrong decision on question of succession of orasa sons among Burmans.); (78) 2 All 181 (187, 191) (F B); (Vol 12) 1925 Sind 186 (188); 19 Sind L R 54; (Vol 8) 1916 Oudh 285 (285); 19 Oudh Cas 48; (1902) 29 Cal 167 (183); 29 Ind App 51; 1902 Pun Re No. 25 (P C); (Vol 28) 1936 Nag 197 (199); 1 L R (1936) Nag 44; (Vol 26) 1939 Cal 557 (557).

[2] S sued V and others for a share in the family properties. V contended in defence that S was born blind and that, therefore, he was not entitled to any share under the Hindu law. The suit was then referred to arbitration and the arbitrators awarded S a life interest in a fourth share of the properties subject to its becoming an absolute interest in case he married. It was held that the award was not vitiated by an error of law apparent on the face of the award. (Vol 5) 1918 Mad 296 (297); 41 Mad 1022.

[3] Where a question of law is not specifically submitted to the arbitrators for decision, and they state a wrong legal proposition and base their award on the matters referred to them on such proposition, there is an error of law on the face of the award. (Vol 12) 1925 Sind 186 (188); 19 Sind L R 54.

[4] “An error in law on the face of the award means that you can find in the award or a document actually incorporated thereto, as for instance, a note appended by the arbitrator stating the reasons for his judgment, some legal proposition which is the basis of the award and which you can say is erroneous.” (Vol 10) 1923 P C 66 (69); 47 Bom 578; 50 Ind App 324 (P C). (Reversing (Vol 7) 1920 Bom 256); (Vol 27) 1940 Oudh 405 (408).

[5] A, an arbitrator, states a special case and gets an opinion of the Court. In making the award, he states that opinion and bases his award upon it. The appellate Court finds that the opinion as given is erroneous. There is an error in law on the face of the award which will entitle the appellate Court to remit the award for reconsideration. (1912) 1912 App Cas 673 (692), British Westing-house Company v. Underground Electric Railway Company.

[6] A reference was made to arbitrators to divide family properties between a Hindu father and his sons. The eldest son had assisted the father to attain success in his business and thus to acquire the property. In consideration of that the arbitrators awarded him Rs. 11,000 in excess of his share describing it as “Jyeshtha Bhagam”. It was held that though the rule of “Jyeshtha Bhagam” is obsolete and illegal, the mere use of the term in the award did not make it illegal, when the Court is satisfied that the extra amount was really given to the eldest son for services rendered.

(b) where the award is so indefinite as to be incapable of execution; or

(c) where an objection to the legality of the award is apparent upon the face of it.

(2) Where an award is remitted under sub-section (1) the Court shall fix the time within which the arbitrator or umpire shall submit his decision to the Court:

Provided that any time so fixed may be extended by subsequent order of the Court.

(3) An award remitted under sub-section (1) shall become void on the failure of the arbitrator or umpire to reconsider it and submit his decision within the time fixed.

[1899—S. 13; Civil P. C., Sch. II, Paras. 14 and 15 (1).]

17. Where the Court sees no cause to remit the award or any of the matters referred to arbitration for reconsideration or to set aside the award, the Court shall, after the time for making an application to set aside the award has expired,

[8] An arithmetical error in the award made by the arbitrator in arriving at the sums due by one party to another is not an illegality apparent on the face of the award. (Vol 12) 1925 Lah 86 (86).

[9] Where a dispute arising out of a contract is referred to arbitrators and a reference is made in the award to a contention of one party, it does not open the door to seeing first what the contention is and then going to the contract on which the rights of parties depend to see if that contention is sound. (Vol 10) 1923 P C 66 (69): 47 Bom 578: 50 Ind App 324 (P C).

[10] Where an award makes an allusion to the contract very guardedly and for the purpose only of earmarking the origin of the dispute in question, it does not enable a party to contend that the contract was incorporated into the award by the reference mentioned above and then to say that the award discloses an error in law in construing the terms of the contract. (Vol 14) 1927 P C 164 (165): 54 Ind App 427: 21 Sind L R 101: 55 Cal 126 (P C).

7. Sub-section (3).—[1] Where an award is remitted to the arbitrators who decline to submit a fresh award, the award so remitted becomes void and the Court must try the case itself. (1889) 16 Cal 806 (808, 810); (1865) 3 Suth W R 168 (169); (1893) 1893 All W N 45 (45).

[2] In such a case the finding of corruption or misconduct is not necessary. (1867) 7 Suth W R 406 (407).

[3] Where after the remittal, the arbitrators on reconsideration come to the same conclusion as their previous one, the award does not become void. (1881) 1881 All W N 25 (26).

1. "After the time . . . expired."—[1] An application to set aside an award must, under Article 158 of the Limitation Act, as amended in 1940, be made within thirty days from the date of service of the notice of filing of the award. Section 5 of the Limitation Act does not apply to such applications and the Court cannot excuse the delay in the presentation thereof. (Vol 14) 1927 Lah 273 (273, 274) : 8 Lah 274 ; (1913) 18 Cal L Jour 35 (37) ; (Vol 4) 1917 Nag 211 (212) : 13 Nag L R 172.

[2] Under section 12 of the Limitation Act the time requisite for obtaining a copy of the award can be deducted. (Vol 20) 1933 Rang 38 (38) ; (Vol 19) 1932 Mad 588 (588) ; (1907) 29 All 584 (586) ; (Vol 6) 1919 Cal 224 (225) : 46 Cal 721 ; (1902) 29 Cal 167 (182, 183) : 29 Ind App 51 : 1902 Pun Re No. 25 (P O).

[3] The privilege which S. 4 of the Limitation Act confers on a party does not prejudice the right of the other party to obtain judgment in terms of the award within 30 days of the date of service of notice. (Vol 29) 1942 Cal 566 (567). (Limitation of 30 days expiring on Sunday — Judgment passed on next day — Application to set aside award also filed on same day — Judgment held valid.)

1A. Application to set aside an award—See S. 30.

2. Binding effect of award. — [1] A judgment and decree passed in accordance with an award may constitute res judicata as much as a judgment and decree which result from the decision of the Court after the matter has been fought to the end. (1897) 21 Bom 465 (467) ; (1881) 7 Cal 727 (729) ; (1879) 5 Cal L Rep 388 (340).

[See (Vol 3) 1916 All 358 (359). (Award in mutation proceedings is not res judicata on a question of title and possession.)]

[See also (Vol 11) 1924 All 62 (62, 63) : 45 All 628. (Executing Court cannot go behind the decree based on award.)]

[2] A valid award operates to merge and extinguish all claims covered by the submission and is binding on the parties to the reference even though it has not been made a rule of Court under this section. (1892) 1892 All W N 238 (238) ; (1913) 1913 Pun L R No. 275 p. 919 (924) ; (Vol 7) 1920 Mad 615 (617). (Portion of award dealing with matters outside scope of suit and as such incapable of being basis of decree under this para. — Still it is binding on the parties.) ; (1911) 5 Sind L R 240 (242).

[3] An award does not become ineffectual or invalid as between the parties to the reference, merely because other parties to the suit have not joined in the reference. (Vol 8) 1921 Nag 176 (178). (Especially when it has been acted upon.)

[4] A person who is a stranger to the reference is neither bound by nor can enforce the award. (1883-84) 6 All 322 (328) : 11 Ind App 20 (P C) ; (1909) 5 Mad L Tim 199 (200).

3. Court acting as arbitrator.—[1] A consent by the parties to abide by the decision of the Court is not such a reference to arbitration as is contemplated by this Act. The decision of the Court in such a case, however, operates as a consent decree and is, therefore, not appealable. (Vol 7) 1920 Mad 800 (802) : 42 Mad 625. (Same principle applies even if reference is made to presiding Judge and another person jointly.) ; (Vol 6) 1919 Mad 150 (152).

[See however (Vol 16) 1929 All 577 (577) : 51 All 886. (Decision is in nature of arbitrator's award and hence not appealable.) ; (1899) 23 Bom 752 (755) ; (1911) 38 Cal 421 (424). (Court cannot review such a decision.) ; (1902) 26 Mad 76 (77) ; (Vol 12) 1925 Nag 463 (464) : 21 Nag L R 84 ; (Vol 2) 1915 Mad 1074 (1074). (Award of Court is itself a decree and objections to award must be taken by way of appeal from the decree.)]

[2] Where the parties agree not to let in evidence but that the Court may make a local inspection, the decision of the Court in the suit is neither a consent decree nor an award and is, therefore, appealable. (Vol 16) 1929 All 116 (117).

4. Decree based upon invalid award—Appeal.

— [1] Under the old Civil Procedure Code, it was held that S. 522 presupposed a valid and legal award and that, therefore, an appeal lay against a decree based upon an invalid award. [2] After the Privy Council decision in (1902) 29 Cal 167 (183, 184, 185) : 29 Ind App 51 : 1902 Pun Re No. 25 (P O), it has been held by all the Courts except the Calcutta High Court that no appeal lay against a decree based even on an invalid award. According to the Calcutta view appeal lies even where validity of the reference is attacked : (Vol 28) 1941 Cal 202 (205) ; (Vol 18) 1931 Cal 211 (213, 219) : 58 Cal 628 ; (Vol 18) 1931 Cal 109 (109, 111) ; (Vol 6) 1918 Cal 232 (233) ; (Vol 5) 1918 Cal 336 (337) ; (1905) 9 Cal W N 873 (874) ; (1885) 11 Cal 37 (41) ; (1897) 24 Cal 469 (471) ; (Vol 12) 1925 Cal 812 (814) : 52 Cal 559. (Validity of reference attacked on the ground that Sch. II does not apply to execution proceedings.)

Section 17 (contd.)

[3] The intention of the Legislature is that objections to the award on the ground of its invalidity must be decided by the Court making the reference and that an appeal against the decree on such ground is incompetent. (Vol 1) 1914 All 446 (449) : 21 Ind Cas 989; (1891) 36 All 69 (75) (FB); (1912) 9 All L Jour 258 (259, 260); (1913) 39 Cal 822 (826, 827); (1931) 132 Ind Cas 180 (181) (Lah); (Vol 3) 1916 Mad 963 (963); (Vol 1) 1914 Mad 675 (675, 676) : 38 Mad 256; (Vol 2) 1915 Mad 484 (485); (Vol 3) 1916 Mad 660 (661, 662). [4] The remedy in case where the Court has no jurisdiction to entertain the suit is by way of revision and not by an appeal. (1885) 8 Mad 235 (235, 236). (Decree on award under S. 522 in suit beyond the pecuniary jurisdiction of the Court—Decree set aside in revision.)

[See however (Vol 24) 1937 Lah 268 (269). (In this case the decision in (Vol 15) 1928 Lah 730 is distinguished on the ground that in that case objections to the award had been filed whereas in the present case no objection had been filed and so the Court had no option but to pass a decree in accordance with the award and it was not thereafter open to the parties to raise the objection afterwards.)]

5. Decree in accordance with award—Finality of.—[1] Objections relating to matters antecedent and leading up to the award cannot be raised after the award becomes final. In fact the Court is bound to pronounce judgment in accordance with the award, and pass a decree following it. (Vol 24) 1937 Lah 268 (269). (And it is not open to either party to object to the validity of the award on any ground by appeal or by revision.)

[3] Where, a decree is in accordance with the award no appeal will lie against it on the ground that the arbitrators were guilty of misconduct, or on the ground that the award is in excess of the powers conferred upon the arbitrators. (1908) 35 Cal 648 (659) : 1908 Pun Re No. 80 : 35 Ind App 88 (P C); (1907) 29 All 457 (462) (F B); (1902) 1902 Pun Re No. 88, page 371 (375) (F B); (Vol 26) 1939 Pat 526 (529) : 18 Pat 193.

[4] Prohibition as to appeal will apply only where the decree is pronounced after the expiry of the period of limitation for making an application to set aside the award. Where a decree is passed before the expiry of such period, an appeal is not barred by this Section. [5] If the parties accept the award filed in Court and agree that a decree may be passed in terms of the award Court has power to pass the decree without waiting for the expiry of the period prescribed by Article 158 of the Limitation Act and the decree so passed is valid being a decree by consent of parties. 6. Decree not in accordance with award — Finality of. — [1] An appeal will lie from a decree based on an award where it is in excess of the award or is not in accordance with the award. (Revision does not lie.)

[See also (Vol 17) 1930 Lah 477 (478). (Held to be in accordance with award.)]

[2] Where the decree allows payment of the amount due by instalments or interest or costs not granted by the award, the decree is not in accordance with the award and an appeal will therefore lie. (1886) 8 All 449 (451); (1875) 23 Suth W R 105 (105); (1909) 1909 Pun L R No. 97 page 359 (360).

[Compare (Vol 17) 1930 Lah 477 (478).]

[3] An appeal will lie where a decree is based partly on an award and partly on the Court's findings. (Vol 13) 1926 All 567 (569).

[4] The mere fact that the judgment is in excess of the award will not give a right of appeal if the decree is in accordance with the award. (1908) 8 Cal L Jour 475 (477).

[5] An appeal will not lie against a decree based on a modified award, though it may not be in accordance with the original award. (Vol 17) 1930 Lah 219 (220); (Vol 19) 1932 Cal 713 (713, 714). [6] The appellant is not entitled to address the Court on all points raised before the lower Court. His appeal will lie only in so far as the decree and the award differ. (1908) 8 Cal L Jour 475 (477).

[7] Appellant's attack must be confined to the legality of the decree as compared with the award. (Vol 15) 1928 Lah 849 (850).

7. Decree without hearing objections to award — Appeal. — [1] Where a decree is passed in terms of an award although without considering the objections raised against it, yet the award forms the basis of a decree and therefore no appeal lies against the decree passed on such an award. In such cases the High Court can interfere only by way of revision. (Vol 3) 1916 Cal 806 (807); (Vol 3) 1916 Mad 927 (927); (Vol 21) 1934 Mad 619 (620); (Vol 20) 1933 Rang 38 (38). [2] Where a decree based upon an award is attacked on the ground that a sufficient opportunity was not given to a party to substantiate his objections to the award, it has been held that the Court acts with material irregularity in the exercise of its jurisdiction and that the decree may be set aside in revision. (Vol 3) 1916 Cal 806 (807); (Vol 8) 1921 Lah 249 (250); (Vol 4) 1917 Oudh 240 (241); (Vol 21) 1934 Mad 619 (620).

8. Enforcement of award. — [1] Where a decree is passed in terms of an award, the award can be enforced only by way of execution of the decree and no separate suit will lie therefor. (Vol 12) 1925 P C 34 (35); 52 Cal 314: 52 Ind App 79 (PC).

[2] A suit will not lie to enforce an award which was declared void by the Court in proceedings under S. 20. (1907) 1907 Pun Re No. 19, page 86.

[7] Award when filed in Court shall have the force of a decree. So no decree need be passed. (Vol 25) 1938 Pesh 3 (4); (Vol 14) 1927 Cal 562 (563); (Vol 20) 1933 P C 61 (62, 63): 60 Cal 670 (P C).

[8] Words 'enforceable as if it were a decree' do not exclude right of decree-holder to apply for execution periodically until 12 years have elapsed. All provisions of Civil Procedure Code and Limitation Act governing execution of decrees apply to enforcing of award. (Vol 11) 1924 Lah 544 (544); (Vol 11) 1924 Cal 117 (118).

[9] Proceedings for enforcement of an award are governed by S. 47, Civil P. C. Objection that award was one without jurisdiction will not preclude this applicability. (Vol 21) 1934 Lah 49 (50).

[10] Order 21, R. 50, Civil P. C., applies to proceedings to enforce an award. (Vol 12) 1925 Sind 293 (294); (Vol 20) 1933 Bom 433 (435): 58 Bom 162.

[11] Order 21, R. 50, Civil P. C., applies to an award against the firm, filed under the Arbitration Act. Courts cannot refuse enforcement of such award unless it is remitted back to arbitrators or set aside. (Vol 16) 1929 Sind 28 (29): 23 Sind L R 422.

[12] Provisions of O. 21, R. 2, relating to decrees are equally applicable to awards under the Act. (Vol 14) 1927 Sind 66 (75).

[13] An award against a firm cannot be executed against the members individually unless they had notice of the arbitration and of the filing of the award. (Vol 14) 1927 Bom 428 (436).

[14] When award is made against two firms, question as to the partner constituting the firms is to be enquired into by the executing Court. (Vol 12) 1925 Sind 293 (294): 19 Sind L R 1.

[16] Order declaring shares only where award demanded actual partition by appointing a Commissioner for that purpose is not the enforcement of such award. (1912) 6 Sind L R 146 (146, 149).

[17] The holder of an award is entitled to execute the award although he may have transferred his rights under it unless and until such transferee applies to the Court under O. 21, R. 16, Civil P. C. (Vol 26) 1939 Cal 492 (484).

[18] Unless the want of jurisdiction is apparent on the face of the record, the execution Court cannot go into a question as to validity of the award made by the arbitrators. For want of jurisdiction judgment-debtor can institute a regular suit. (Vol 25) 1938 All 232 (233, 234): 1 L R (1938) All 389.

[19] Suit lies to have an award declared void, even though the award is enforced in execution. (Vol 9) 1922 P C 374 (377): 50 Cal 1: 49 Ind App 366 (P C).

9. Legislative changes. — [1] Section 15 (2) of the old Act has been incorporated into S. 13 (cl. (c)). The old S. 15 (1) broadly corresponds with the present section with the following changes. Under S. 15 (1), an award of the arbitrators was not incorporated into a decree but was enforceable as if it were a decree of the Court, whereas under the present section, the Court is to pronounce a judgment according to the award and upon the judgment so pronounced a decree is to follow. The provisions for allowing time to set aside the award and barring appeal from the decree passed on the award are new.

10. "Pronounce judgment according to the award." — [1] Where the Court sees no ground to remit an award and no application has been made to set aside the award or where such application has been refused, the Court has no option but to pronounce judgment according to the award. (Vol 11) 1924 Pat 603 (604): 3 Pat 839; (Vol 11) 1924 All 788 (789): 46 All 686; (1870) 2 N W P H C R 150 (153); (Vol 24) 1937 Lah 268 (269). (Objection taken to referring Court's jurisdiction to entertain suit but no objection raised to award—Court is bound to pass decree in terms of award—Award cannot then be challenged.)

[See also (Vol 20) 1933 Oudh 547 (548): 9 Luck 219. (Transfer of case to another Court after order of reference, but before award — Award filed before Court to which case transferred—Latter Court has jurisdiction to pass decree in terms of award.)]

[2] If any portion of an award deals with matters outside the scope of the suit, the Court should not embody such portion of the award in its decree. (Vol 7) 1920 Mad 615 (617). (Award on matters not embodied in decree being outside the scope of suit is as binding as a decree.)]

[3] This section indicates that it is the function of the Court to pronounce judgment and not the function of the arbitrator. It is not, therefore, for the arbitrator to decree or dismiss the suit. (Vol 22) 1935 All 372 (372).

[4] Where the defendant does not file any application to set aside the award, and the Court pronounces judgment in accordance with it, the decree which follows thereupon is not an ex parte decree even though the defendant is absent at the time the decree is passed. (Vol 11) 1924 Pat 603 (604) : 3 Pat 889. (In this case although there was an application to set aside the award it was dismissed for default.). (1900) 1900 Pun Re No. 98, page 393.

[5] Where an application to set aside such a decree is refused, the order is not appealable. (Vol 11) 1924 Pat 803 (604) : 3 Pat 889.

[6] Where an application to set aside is dismissed for default, an application to restore the same is maintainable notwithstanding that a decree is passed in the meanwhile. (Vol 7) 1920 All 215 (215). (The validity of the decree in such a case would depend upon the finding of the Court after considering the objections on merits.)

[7] This section does not provide that the decree that is to follow upon the judgment must be the decree of the Court which grants the application for reference to arbitration. (Vol. 28) 1941 All 101 (104); ILR (1941) All 193.

11. Revision. — [1] An application for revision against a decree in accordance with an award does not lie merely on the ground of the erroneous decision of the lower Court in respect of any of the grounds of objections falling under Ss. 16 and 30. (1902) 29 Cal 167 (185) : 29 Ind App 51 : 1902 Pun Re No. 25 (P O); (Vol 23) 1936 All 740 (741); (Vol 19) 1932 All 76 (78); (Vol 16) 1929 Cal 831 (832); (Vol 12) 1925 Cal 475 (476). [2] Where the action of the Court with reference to the arbitration proceedings is attacked on any of the grounds mentioned in S. 115, Civil P. [3] Where a Court passes a decree on an award without giving notice of the filing of the award to the parties as required by S. 14 (2), it acts with material irregularity and revision lies against the decree. [See also (Vol 13) 1926 Lah 584 (585). (Court is not bound to fix a date for evidence suo motu.)]

[5] Where the lower Court has refused an adjournment in the judicial exercise of its discretion, the High Court cannot interfere in revision (Vol 1) 1914 Mad 675 (676) : 38 Mad 256; (Vol 3) 1916 Pat 403 (404).

[6] Where the Court compels an unwilling arbitrator to decide the matter referred to him, a decree passed upon such an award may be set aside in revision. (Vol 8) 1921 All 361 (362) : 43 All 101.

[7] Where the reference to arbitration is itself impugned as being invalid, it has been held by the High Court of Allahabad that a decree based on the award is open to revision on the ground of its being without jurisdiction. or such application having been made, after refusing it, proceed to pronounce judgment according to the award, and upon the judgment so pronounced a decree shall follow and no appeal shall lie from such decree except on the ground that it is in excess of, or not otherwise in accordance with, the award.

[1899—S. 15; Civil P. C., Sch. II, Paras 16 and 21]

18. (1) Notwithstanding anything contained in section 17, at any time after the filing of Power of Court to pass the award, whether notice of the filing has been served or not, upon interim orders. being satisfied by affidavit or otherwise that a party has taken or is about to take steps to defeat, delay or obstruct the execution of any decree that may be passed upon the award, or that speedy execution of the award is just and necessary, the Court may pass such interim orders as it deems necessary.

(2) Any person against whom such interim orders have been passed may show cause against such orders, and the Court, after hearing the parties, may pass such further orders as it deems necessary and just.

Power to supersede arbitration where award becomes void or is set aside.

19. Where an award has become void under sub-section (3) of section 16 or has been set aside, the Court may by order supersede the reference and shall thereupon order that the arbitration agreement shall cease to have effect with respect to the difference referred.

Section 17 (contd.)

— No revision because remedy by suit to set aside decree is available.; (Vol 19) 1932 Oudh 156 (158) : 7 Luck 642.

[9] The mere fact that objection is raised to the validity of the reference and is erroneously overruled by the Court does not make revision competent and that revision would lie against such an order only if in passing it, the Court has acted illegally or with material irregularity. (Vol 24) 1937 All 65 (76) : ILR (1937) All 317 (FB); (Vol 26) 1939 Bom 296 (297); 41 Bom LR 485 (489).

[10] Failure to affix a copy of decree to the application for revision against an order confirming the award is not fatal to the application. (Vol 23) 1936 Sind 172 (174) : 30 Sind LR 271.

12. Second appeal. — [1] Where a decree is passed in accordance with an award and an appeal is wrongly entertained against it and the decree is set aside in appeal, a second appeal lies, the reason being that the decree of the lower appellate Court is not one in accordance with the award. (Vol 1) 1914 All 446 (449, 450) : 36 All 69 (FB) ; (1899) 9 All L Jour 258 (260); (1899) 22 Mad 172 (173); (1902) 26 Mad 76 (77); (Vol 13) 1926 Pat 164 (165); (Vol 5) 1918 Nag 191 (192, 193); (1905) 2 Cal L Jour 142 (143).

[2] Where a Court of first instance wrongly refuses to pass a decree in accordance with an award and a Court of Appeal reverses the decree of the first Court and passes a decree in accordance with the award, such a decree is open to second appeal. [3] Where an award is modified and an appeal is filed not against the order modifying the award but against the decree passed in accordance with the modified award, a second appeal will lie. (Vol 22) 1935 Pat 109 (110).

13. Suit to set aside award. — See Notes on Section 32.

14. Valuer and arbitrator. — [1] Where the intention of the parties is that the person to whom the matter is referred should hold an enquiry in the nature of a judicial enquiry, and hear the respective cases of the parties, and decide upon evidence laid before him, the case is one of arbitration. See (Vol 20) 1933 All 861 (879) : 56 All 39 (SB). (Agreement to abide by statement of particular witness is not reference to arbitration.)]

[2] Where a person is appointed to ascertain some matter for the purpose of preventing differences from arising and not of settling them when they have arisen, the case is not one of arbitration. (1903) 30 Cal 831 (842); (1901) 28 Cal 155 (163).

[3] No judgment can be given under this section on the basis of the valuator's decision. (1901) 28 Cal 155 (163).

[4] R filed a suit against C for injunction and damages for encroachment upon her property. In the suit a consent order was made that C was to purchase R's interest in the property at a price to be settled by certain referees. The referees settled the price and the lower Court gave judgment under this Section in favour of R treating the said valuation as an award. It was held by the appellate Court that the referees were valuers rather than arbitrators and, therefore, the lower Court could not give judgment under this Section. (1901) 28 Cal 155 (163).

[5] Where an agreement to lease contained a clause that at the expiration of the period of lease, the lessor should take over all the buildings then standing on the property at a value to be fixed by certain persons it was held that the valuation made by such persons was not an award and could not, therefore, be filed in Court. (1903) 30 Cal 831 (842).

CHAPTER III.

ARBITRATION WITH INTERVENTION OF A COURT WHERE THERE IS NO SUIT PENDING.

20. (1) Where any persons have entered into an arbitration agreement¹⁰ before the institution of any suit with respect to the subject-matter of the agreement or any part of it, and where a difference has arisen to which the agreement applies, they or any of them, instead of proceeding under Chapter II, may apply to a Court having jurisdiction in the matter³ to which the agreement relates, that the agreement be filed in Court.¹¹

(2) The application shall be in writing and shall be numbered and registered as a suit¹⁴ between one or more of the parties interested or claiming to be interested as plaintiff or plaintiffs and the remainder as defendant or defendants, if the application has been presented by all the parties, or, if otherwise, between the applicant as plaintiff and the other parties as defendants.

(3) On such application being made, the Court shall direct notice thereof to be given to all parties to the agreement other than the applicants, requiring them to show cause within the time specified in the notice why the agreement should not be filed.

(4) Where no sufficient cause is shown,¹⁵ the Court shall order the agreement to be filed, and shall make an order of reference to the arbitrator appointed by the parties,⁷ whether in the agreement or otherwise, or, where the parties cannot agree upon an arbitrator, to an arbitrator appointed by the Court.

(5) Thereafter the arbitration shall proceed in accordance with, and shall be governed by, the other provisions of this Act so far as they can be made applicable.

[Civil P. C., Sch. II Para. 17]

SECTION 20—SYNOPSIS.

1. Applicability and scope.
2. Agreement must relate to matters within Court's jurisdiction.
3. Agreement relating to appointment to public office.
4. Agreement to refer matters in a pending litigation.
5. Agreement to refer, who can enter into.
6. Appointment of Receiver.
7. "Arbitrator appointed by the parties."
8. Court's power to appoint an umpire.
9. Death or refusal of arbitrator to act.
10. "Entered into an arbitration agreement."
11. "Filed in Court."
12. Revision.
13. Revocation of reference to arbitration. See Notes on S. 5.
14. "Shall be numbered and registered as a suit."
15. "Where no sufficient cause is shown."

1. Applicability and scope.—[1] The provisions of this section apply only to cases where in pursuance of the agreement to refer, the arbitrators have not functioned and made their award. Where the award has actually been delivered, the proper course is to take proceedings under S. 14 to enforce the award. (Vol 2) 1915 All 369(371):38 All 85;(Vol 5)1918 Lah 284 (285). [See however (Vol 23) 1936 Bom 401 (401, 402). (An award was passed on a reference made under an agreement to refer future disputes — It was held that the agreement should be filed and not the award.)]

[2] Where an application is filed under this section, but before it is disposed of the arbitrators deliver their award, the application is rendered infructuous, and the remedy of the parties is to apply under S. 14. (Vol 15) 1928 Lah 170 (172).

[3] A mere filing of an application under this section does not oust the jurisdiction of the arbitrator to give his award. (Vol 19) 1932 All 348 (350).

[4] Arbitration in a pending suit stands on a different footing from an agreement made out of Court to refer a dispute to arbitration. In a pending suit, the authority of the arbitrator is derived from the order of the Court making the reference, and if this order is defective there is no proper reference and consequently there can be no legal award. On the other hand, in a private reference it is the agreement entered into between the parties which confers jurisdiction on the arbitrators to deal with the dispute. In such a case, if proceedings are taken under this section and a reference secured under sub-s. (4) thereof, it is not this reference which constitutes the arbitrator as a private tribunal. It is merely the machinery by which the tribunal already constituted by the agreement of parties is made to function. (Vol 15) 1928 Lah 170 (173).

[5] The provisions of this section are permissive and do not oblige a party to apply under this section. (Vol 18) 1931 Oudh 127 (129) : 6 Luck 591; (1897-'01) 2 Upp Bur Rul 286. (Held, suit not barred.)

2. Agreement must relate to matters within Court's jurisdiction.—[1] Before an application can be filed under this Section it is essential that the agreement to refer should relate to matters which the Court is competent to try and has jurisdiction to pass a final decree upon. (Vol 21) 1934 Sind 29 (32).

[2] Where an agreement relates to the partition of revenue-paying land, it cannot be filed under this Section as the Civil Court has no jurisdiction to partition the revenue. (Vol 4) 1917 Lah 218 (218).

[See also (1938) 40 Pun L R 966 (967). (Some of the matters included in agreement to refer, being within jurisdiction of Revenue Court, agreement cannot be filed.)]

[3] Where an agreement relates to matters partly within and partly beyond the jurisdiction of the Court, it has been held that the Court cannot strike out that portion of the agreement beyond its jurisdiction in order to give itself jurisdiction unless the parties agree to this being done with a view to the Court proceeding under this section. (1883)1883 Pun Re No. 5; (Vol 1) 1914 Lah 296 (297).

Section 20 (contd.)

[But see (Vol 17) 1930 Lah 836 (838, 839): 11 Lah 470. (Distinguishing on facts 1883 Pun Re No. 5 and (Vol 1) 1914 Lah 296 — Jai Lal J., also doubted the correctness of the above two decisions.)]

[4] The refusal to refer to arbitration is a part of the cause of action for an application under this section. The application can, therefore, be filed in the Court within whose jurisdiction the refusal to refer was made. (Vol 20) 1933 Lah 18 (21).

3. Agreement relating to appointment to public office.—[1] The succession to the trusteeship of a public trust or charity is a matter affecting the public interests and a dispute regarding it cannot be referred to arbitration. (Vol 4) 1917 Pat 392 (392). (Dispute relating to appointment of mutwalli.); (1910) 32 All 503 (516).

[See also (Vol 2) 1915 Cal 745 (748). (Executor or administrator cannot make a reference contradicting a will.); (Vol 15) 1928 Cal 275 (276). (Do.)]

[2] It has been held by the High Court of Madras that an agreement to refer to arbitration, even if relating to a public office is not necessarily unlawful or opposed to public policy, but must be scrutinized by the Court for the purpose of ascertaining whether it is in violation of the trusts of the institution or affects adversely the interests of the public. (Vol 9) 1922 Mad 429 (432)

4. Agreement to refer matters in a pending litigation. — [1] The provisions of this section cover only cases where parties, without recourse to litigation, agree to refer their differences to arbitration. (1913) 36 Mad 353 (356).

[2] An agreement to refer made by the parties to a litigation without the intervention of the Court cannot be recognized. (Vol 14) 1927 Sind 66 (72); (Vol 8) 1921 Sind 65 (67, 68): 16 Sind L R 174 (FB).

[See however (Vol 25) 1938 All 46 (46). (It was remarked in this case that there is nothing in Para. 20, Sch. II, Civil P. C., to suggest that it is only persons who are not parties to a litigation that can refer their differences to arbitration — But in this case, the suit was pending in a Revenue Court when the parties went to arbitration.)]

[3] Such an agreement cannot be filed under this section as if it was an agreement to refer without recourse to litigation. If an award has been passed on such a reference, it cannot be made the basis of a proceeding under S. 14. (Vol 17) 1930 Bom 98 (104): 54 Bom 197; (1902) 30 Cal 218 (228); (Vol 1) 1914 Bom 184 (186, 187): 38 Bom 687. (It cannot be recognized at all); (Vol 13) 1926 Sind 5 (6); (1912) 1912 Pun Re No. 115.

[4] As to whether such an agreement can be recognized, independent of this Schedule, as an adjustment of the suit under O. 23, R. 3, there was a conflict of opinions for which see AIR Commentaries on Code of Civil Procedure 4th (1944) Edn., O. 23, R. 3, Note 9 Now see Proviso to S. 47.

[5] Where after an agreement to refer was entered into in a pending suit, the suit itself was withdrawn, an application filed under this section subsequent to such withdrawal is not incompetent and an award made in pursuance of the same is valid. (Vol 17) 1930 Lah 1066 (1066); (Vol 22) 1935 Lah 59 (59); (Vol 20) 1933 Pesh 18 (22); (Vol 11) 1924 Pat 488 (491): 3 Pat 443.

[6] An agreement to refer relating to matters not involved in the suit is perfectly valid, though entered into pending suit. Thus, where during the pendency of probate proceedings the parties agreed to refer to arbitration the question of the division of the estate, and the agreement left untouched the powers of the Court to issue probate, and the arbitrators also did not deal with that question, it was held that the agreement and the award thereon were valid. (Vol 10) 1923 Bom 365 (366).

[See also (Vol 24) 1937 Lah 843 (844): I L R (1937) Lah 433. (Agreement to refer dispute relating to division of property of deceased testator to arbitration—Subsequent proceedings by one of parties for letters of administration of will of deceased—Application by rest under Sch. 2, Para. 17, Civil P. C., during administration proceedings, to file agreement regarding arbitration is quite competent — Proper course for Court is to stop administration proceedings till application under Sch. 2, Para. 17 is decided.)]

5. Agreement to refer, who can enter into. —

[1] The mother of a Hindu minor who is his guardian can bind the minor by an agreement to refer the disputes in the family to the decision of arbitrators under this section if she finds that it is for the benefit of the minor. (Vol 26) 1939 Cal 557 (557).

[2] One partner in a firm cannot enter into an agreement to refer on behalf of the firm. (Vol 19) 1932 Lah 291 (292).

6. Appointment of Receiver.—[1] In a proceeding under the Arbitration Act, the Court has got power to appoint a Receiver when an application under sub-s. (1) has been made, even though no notices have been served on the parties as required under sub-s. (3) and though the proceedings have not become arbitration proceedings. (Vol 33) 1946 Pat. 70 (72, 73): 24 Pat 616.

7. "Arbitrator appointed by the parties."—[1] A submission to arbitration must be strictly construed as it deprives the party to the submission of the right, which he has under the common law, to have the dispute to which the submission relates, decided by a Court of law. (Vol 17) 1930 Sind 202 (203).

[2] The jurisdiction of the Court to order a reference under this section is derived from the agreement of the parties and the Court must refer in accordance with the terms of the agreement. (Vol 18) 1931 Mad 28 (32): 54 Mad 469. (One of the three arbitrators dying before completion of proceedings—Court cannot add the third arbitrator in lieu of one who died.); (Vol 21) 1934 Oudh 67 (69): 9 Luak 321. (Court cannot refer the matter to two out of three arbitrators named in the agreement where the third refuses to act.)

[See also (Vol 18) 1921 Pat 161 (162): 6 Pat L Jour 287. (Court cannot refer again, on the first reference proving abortive, on its own motion.)]

[3] If it fails to do so, it acts with material irregularity in the exercise of its jurisdiction. (1911) 1911 Pun Re No. 35.

[4] Where the agreement is to refer to the arbitration of two European merchants of Karachi, the Court has no power to order a reference to an Indian merchant of Amritsar. (1911) 1911 Pun Re No. 35.

[5] Where according to the terms of an agreement to refer an umpire should be appointed from out of seven persons named, the Court cannot appoint as an umpire, a person who is not one of the seven persons so named. (1871) 7 Mad H C R 72 (76).

[6] An order directing a party to nominate an arbitrator cannot be passed before the agreement is actually filed under the earlier portion. (Vol 13) 1926 Lah 505 (505).

[7] The word "arbitration" in sub-s. (5) means arbitration by the arbitrators appointed in accordance with the provisions of sub-s. (4). (Vol 33) 1946 Pat 70 (73): 24 Pat 616.

8. Court's power to appoint an umpire — [1]

Where the agreement to refer does not contain any provision for appointing an umpire in case of difference between the arbitrators, the Court cannot appoint an umpire under this Section. (1886) 8 All 64 (66); (1892) 1892 Pun Re No. 191, page 558 (558).

Section 20 (contd.)

[See also (Vol 18) 1931 Bom 529 (531, 532). (Court appointing umpire as sole arbitrator — Held not justified.)]

9. Death or refusal of arbitrator to act.—The following points touching this subject were decided under the provisions of Civil P.C., Sch. II, Paras. 17 (4), 19 and 5.

[1] As to the power of the Court to make an appointment under sub-para. (4) of Para. 17 the High Court of Allahabad has expressed the view that the expression "if there is no such provision and the parties cannot agree" covers also a case where there has been a provision for a particular arbitrator who is either dead or has retired. If he has died or refuses to act, it is as though there were no provisions. (Vol 9) 1922 All 133 (133) : 44 All 523; (Vol 25) 1938 All 414 (416).

[2] But the High Court of Bombay has dissented from this view and has held that sub-para. (4) is not open to such a construction. (Vol 18) 1931 Bom 529 (531).

[3] Where the death or refusal of the arbitrator takes place subsequent to the agreement but before it is filed into the Court under this section, the agreement becomes incapable of performance on the death or refusal of the arbitrator and the Court cannot order such agreement to be filed under Para. 17. Where an agreement is to refer to the arbitration of three specified persons, and one of them dies pending arbitration proceedings, the Court cannot order the agreement to be filed under Para. 17 and direct the remaining arbitrators to act or appoint a new arbitrator in his place as it will not be consistent with the provisions of the agreement to do so. (1874) 12 Beng L R App 13 (14); (Vol 20) 1933 Rang 331 (333); (Vol 18) 1931 Mad 23 (31, 32) : 54 Mad 469; (1912) 1912 Mad W N 957 (958); (Vol 6) 1919 Lah 231 (231, 232) : 1919 Pun Re No. 155, page 414. (But where there is a distinct provision authorizing a party to appoint another arbitrator it does not become incapable of performance); (Vol 25) 1938 Lah 859 (861) : I L R (1939) Lah 23; (Vol 21) 1934 Oudh 67 (69) : 9 Luck 321; (Vol 22) 1935 Oudh 179 (180); (Vol 5) 1918 Low Bur 114 (115).

[See also (Vol 13) 1926 Cal 730 (731, 732); (Vol 25) 1938 Lah 859 (861) : I L R (1939) Lah 23. (Agreement to refer dispute to arbitrators nominated by each party — One of nominated arbitrators refusing to act — Court has no power to replace him by appointing another.)]

[4] The High Court of Allahabad has held that where an arbitrator refuses to act pending arbitration proceedings, the Court can, on a subsequent application under Para. 17, appoint a new arbitrator. (Vol 8) 1921 All 188 (190); (Vol 9) 1922 All 133 (133) : 44 All 523.

[5] According to the High Court of Lahore, where an arbitrator named refuses to act, the question whether a new arbitrator can be appointed is one depending on the intention of the parties. If the dominant intention is that the matter should be referred to arbitration then the fact that the parties agreed on the personnel makes no difference, and the Court can appoint a new arbitrator. If, on the other hand, the essence of the agreement is to refer the matter to a particular individual only, the Court has no power to appoint a new arbitrator. (Vol 20) 1933 Lah 18 (19, 20).

[See also (Vol 24) 1937 Cal 388 (389) : I L R (1937) 2 Cal 434. (An agreement to have a dispute settled by one or more individuals is one thing ; an agreement to go to arbitration rather than to litigate in the Courts is quite another.)]

[6] Where the death or refusal of the arbitrator takes place subsequent to the filing of the award under this section, the power of the Court to appoint a new arbitrator has been assumed in the following cases.

Even in such cases the power of the Court to make a new appointment should be consistent with the terms of the agreement. (Vol 13) 1926 All 55 (56) : 48 All 27; (Vol 22) 1935 Oudh 179 (180); (Vol 21) 1934 Oudh 67 (69) : 9 Luck 321; (Vol 18) 1931 Bom 529 (531); (Vol 24) 1937 Cal 388 (389) : I L R (1937) 2 Cal 434.

10. "Entered into an arbitration agreement."—

[1] It is essential that the agreement to refer should be in writing before it can be filed under this section. (See S. 2 (a).) (1902) 30 Cal 218 (228) ; (Vol 22) 1935 All 886 (887).

[2] The agreement to refer need not be signed by the parties; any writing so long as it embodies the whole of the agreement would be sufficient. (Vol 22) 1935 All 886 (887).

11. "Filed in Court." — [1] The word "filed" was not used in the sense that the written agreement must be physically produced in the Court before it can be accepted or ordered to be acted upon. If it is proved that the parties agreed to refer the dispute between them by means of a written document, the fact that the particular piece of paper on which it is written is not available does not affect procedure under this section. Such agreement may be proved by secondary evidence when evidence of that nature is admissible under the Evidence Act. (Vol 32) 1945 Lah 264 (265). (Dissenting from (Vol 22) 1935 All 886 and (Vol 7) 1920 Lah 396.)

12. Revision. — [1] The omission of the Court to register and number the application as a suit is an irregularity. But if the irregularity is acquiesced in by the parties, it does not affect the merits of the case and affords no ground for interference in revision. (Vol 1) 1914 Lah 145 (146) : 1914 Pun Re No. 28.

[2] An application to challenge the validity of an arbitration agreement or to have the effect of that agreement determined does not fall either under this section or S. 39 (1) (iv). Hence, revision against the order refusing such an application lies. (Vol 30) 1943 Lah 295 (296).

13. Revocation of reference to arbitrator. — See Notes on Section 5.

14. "Shall be numbered and registered as a suit." — [1] An application under this section must be regarded as a suit for the purposes of the Civil Procedure Code, inasmuch as it has to be "numbered and registered as a suit." (Vol 14) 1927 Bom 259 (259); (Vol 15) 1928 Mad 969 (971).

[But see (Vol 8) 1921 Bom 389 (390) : 45 Bom 329; (Vol 8) 1921 Pat 161 (161) : 6 Pat L Jour 287. [2] The provisions of Civil Procedure Code O. 9, R. 13, O. 23 Rr. 1 and 3 and O. 38 R. 5 can be applied to such applications. (Vol 9) 1922 Pat 376 (378) : 1 Pat 48; (Vol 15) 1928 Mad 969 (971); (1904) 31 Cal 516 (518). (Withdrawal as per O. 23, R. 1.); (Vol 8) 1921 Lah 34 (38) : 2 Lah 114. (Compromise as per O. 23, R. 3.); (1910) 1910 Pun W R No. 38, p. 94 (99); (Vol 9) 1922 Oudh 189 (196) : 25 Oudh Cas 213. (Do.); (Vol 14) 1927 Bom 259 (260).

[4] An application under this section is not a "suit" within the meaning of—

(a) Limitation Act, 1908 ; (Vol 10) 1923 Rang (226, 227) : 1 Rang 256. (Benefit under S. 6 of Limitation Act, will not be available.)

CHAPTER IV.

ARBITRATION IN SUITS.

21. Where in any suit all the parties interested agree³ that any matter in difference¹⁵ between them in the suit shall be referred to arbitration, they may at any time before judgment is pronounced¹⁰ apply in writing to the Court⁵ for an order of reference.

[Civil P. C., Sch. II Para. 1.]

(c) the Court-fees Act, 1870; (1884) 10 Cal 11 (14). (The proper court-fee on application to file an award is that prescribed for applications and not the court-fee upon a plaint.)

(e) or for the purposes of the taxation of the pleader's fee on such applications; (Vol 17) 1930 Oudh 89 (90) : 5 Luck 678. (For pleader's fee it is governed by Oudh Civil Rules of 1929.)

15. "Where no sufficient cause is shown." —

[1] Agreements to refer to arbitration stand on the same footing as all other lawful agreements by which the parties are bound by the terms of what they have agreed to, and from which, i.e., the agreement to refer, they cannot retire, unless the scope and object of the agreement cannot be executed, or unless it be shown that manifest injustice will be the consequence of binding the parties to the contract. (1867) 12 Moo Ind App 112 (130, 131) (PC).

[2] All grounds on which a contract will be voidable such as fraud, misrepresentation, etc., which will enable a party to avoid a contract or which render a contract unenforceable against a party will constitute "sufficient cause" against filing the agreement under this section. (1921) 3 Lah L Jour 276 (278, 279). (Agreement of reference providing for appointment of new arbitrator in case the arbitrator originally appointed refuses to act — Resignation of such arbitrator is not "sufficient cause" for not filing the agreement.); (Vol 20) 1933 Sind 68 (70). (Sufficient cause is not confined to fraud, misrepresentation and undue influence.)

[3] Where the agreement to refer is shown to be vitiated by fraud or mistake or by misrepresentation or is not consented to by all the parties, the Court will decline to file the agreement. (1890) 3 C P L R 89 (92); (Vol 6) 1919 Lah 140 (142); (Vol 20) 1933 Sind 68 (69, 70). (Where the agreement was the result of misuse of confidence); (1893) 1893 Pun Re No. 49, page 216; (Vol 4) 1917 Upp Bur 6 (6).

[4] Where an agreement to refer is entered into by the de facto guardian of a Muhammadan minor, it cannot be filed under this section as such guardian has no authority in law to act for the minor. (Vol 8) 1921 Cal 818 (819) : 47 Cal 713.

[5] The guardian mother of a Hindu minor has authority to agree to refer the disputes that have arisen inside the family to the decision of arbitrators and such an agreement can be filed under this section. (Vol 26) 1939 Cal 557 (557).

[6] Where the conduct of the parties shows that they have abandoned and cancelled the agreement to refer, the Court will refuse to order the same to be filed. (Vol 7) 1920 Nag 29 (30). (Parties inactive for six years after reference to arbitration — Reference cancelled.)

[7] Delay in making the application may be a sufficient cause for refusing to order the agreement to be filed, but it must be such as to lead to the inference that the parties had abandoned the reference to arbitration; anything short of it is not sufficient. (Vol 20) 1933 Lah 18 (21).

[8] An agreement, the submission under which has been revoked for good cause, cannot be filed under this section. (1890) 17 Cal 200 (207, 208).

[9] The words "sufficient cause" cover all the grounds of justice, equity and good conscience on which a Court thinks an agreement should not be filed. (Vol 24) 1937 Oudh 436 (437) : 13 Luck 428.

[10] Where the arbitrators, though not partial to one party, cannot command the confidence of the other party, it is wholly inequitable to compel such party to submit to their arbitration. (Vol 24) 1937 Oudh 436 (437) : 13 Luck 428.

[11] Where the original document embodying the agreement between the parties is not forthcoming and no copy proved to be the duplicate of the agreement has been produced, and the terms of the agreement cannot be ascertained exactly and therefore it would be impossible for the arbitrator to decide how to act, "sufficient cause" is shown for not ordering the agreement to be filed. (Vol 22) 1935 All 886 (888).

[12] Held that reference in arbitration clause to the Arbitration Act meant "statutory provisions relating to arbitration" and not the Arbitration Act, 1899, so that the clause could not be said to be meaningless where the said Act did not apply but Civil P. C., Sch. II, did. (Vol 27) 1940 Cal 105 (107) : I.L.R. (1939) 2 Cal 181.

SECTION 21 — SYNOPSIS

1. Agreement to abide by the decision of the Court.
2. Agreement to abide by a particular statement of a witness.
3. "All the parties interested agree."
4. Application must be by all the parties.
5. "Apply in writing to the Court."
6. Arbitration in execution proceedings.
7. Arbitration in insolvency proceedings.
8. Arbitration in probate proceedings.
9. Arbitration in suits for restitution of conjugal rights.

11. Authority of agent to refer.
12. Authority of guardian or manager of joint Hindu family.
13. Authority of pleader to refer.
14. Form of agreement to refer.
15. "Matter in difference."
16. Matter outside suit.
17. Powers of appellate Court.
18. Revocation of reference to arbitration.
19. Withdrawal of suit after reference.

1. Agreement to abide by the decision of the Court. — [1] A consent by the parties to abide by the decision of the Court is not a reference to arbitration. (Vol 6) 1919 Mad 150 (151). (Doubting 26 Mad 76 and approving 23 Bom 752); (Vol 7) 1920 Mad 800 (801); 42 Mad 625. (Agreement to abide by the decision of Judge with two other persons.); (Vol 24) 1937 Oudh 224 (225); 13 Luck 152. (Consent to abide by decision of Court to be given after local inspection.)

[2] However, on general principles of jurisprudence, the award given by the Court in such a case is binding on the parties for they cannot retract their consent to abide by the decision of the Court after such decision is given. (Vol 6) 1919 Mad 150 (152); (Vol 16) 1929 Mad 800 (801); 42 Mad 625; (Vol 8) 1921 All 310 (310); 43 All 266; (1899) 23 Bom 752 (755); (Vol 24) 1937 Oudh 224 (225); 13 Luck 152.

2. Agreement to abide by a particular statement of a witness. — [1] An agreement that certain person should be appointed referee and that the suit should be decided in accordance with the statement of such person is not an agreement of reference to arbitration. (Vol 26) 1939 All 176 (176). (Following (Vol 20) 1933 All 861 (879); 56 All 39 (S B) — Statement made by such person will be binding on parties as admission under Evidence Act, S. 20.)

3. "All the parties interested agree." — [1] Foundation of the jurisdiction of the Court to make an order of reference is an agreement between all the parties interested. (1902) 29 Cal 167 (183); 29 Ind App 51; 1902 Pun Re No. 25 (P C); (Vol 13) 1926 All 238 (239); 48 All 239. (Subsequent agreement does not validate a reference which was invalid for want of consent of all.); (Vol 7) 1920 Cal 113 (114); 47 Cal 555 (F B); (1864) 1 Suth W R 80 (81). (A party cannot, unless specially authorised, assent to an arbitration on behalf of another.); (Vol 7) 1920 Mad 852 (854); 42 Mad 632. (Ex parte person is a "party interested."); (Vol 22) 1935 Pat 16 (17). (Pleader appointed on behalf of all defendants — Agreement to refer to arbitration signed by pleader as pleader — No objection taken to arbitration proceedings — All defendants held parties to reference.); (Vol 7) 1920 Sind 107 (110); 14 Sind L R 156.

[2] Court cannot force a submission on a reluctant party. (166) 10 Moo Ind App 413 (425, 426) (P C); (168) 1868 Pun Re No. 28, page 72 (73). (Consent should be voluntary.); (169) 1869 Pun Re No. 52. (A submission to arbitration may be recommended but not ordered by the Court.)

[3] Where some of the parties do not agree, the order of reference is invalid against all the parties. (Vol 7) 1920 Cal 113 (114); 47 Cal 555 (F B); (Vol 26) 1939 All 49 (51). (Decree passed by the Court in terms of the award, based on a void reference, is not valid and is liable to be set aside.); (Vol 22) 1935 All 1014 (1015); (Vol 22) 1935 All 34 (35); 57 All 484. (Judgment-debtors jointly and severally liable for decree — Application for reference to arbitration by decree-holder and only some of them — Order of reference by Court is illegal.); (Vol 17) 1930 All 840 (841); 53 All 97. (Party to reference can object to illegality.); (Vol 11) 1924 Cal 353 (353). (The applicant for reference in this case wanted to set the award aside and it was set aside.); (Vol 4) 1917 Cal 481 (483). (Party to submission also can object to the validity of reference on the ground of non-joinder of parties interested — It is a matter of jurisdiction and consent cannot give jurisdiction.); (Vol 12) 1925 Cal 812 (814); 52 Cal 559. (Do.); (Vol 17) 1930 Mad 646 (647); (Vol 14) 1927 Mad 1154 (1155); (1926) 1926 M W N 391 (391). (Objection can be taken by any party.); (Vol 20) 1933 Oudh 384 (385); 9 Luck 73; (Vol 7) 1920 Sind 107

[4] Objection to validity of reference on the ground of non-agreement between all parties can be raised at any stage. (Vol 5) 1913 Cal 336 (336); (Vol 17) 1930 Mad 646 (647) (An objection can be raised in revision); (Vol 14) 1927 All 563 (563); 49 All 812.

[5] A subsequent consent by one of the parties, who did not join in the reference at the time the reference was made, does not make the arbitration proceedings valid. (Vol 12) 1925 Mad 621 (623, 624).

[6] All the parties to the suit need not agree to the reference. All interested parties must join in the reference. (Vol 15) 1928 Cal 108 (111); (Vol 11) 1924 Pat 33 (35, 36); 2 Pat 777.

[8] The question whether a party is "interested" or not depends on the facts of every case. (Vol 15) 1928 Bom 248 (249); 52 Bom 408; (Vol 20) 1933 All 739 (740, 741). (Suit on pro-note executed by A in favour of B and assigned to C — Relief claimed against A and in the alternative against B — B is interested person.); (Vol 21) 1934 Pat 19 (21). (The test is to see the nature of the suit and not the possibility of the omitted parties having any interest in a future litigation which may arise as a result of decree in the suit); (Vol 4) 1917 Pat 136 (138).

[10] An unnecessary or pro forma party is not an interested party. (1913) 35 All 107 (108, 109). (Unnecessary party.); (Vol 21) 1934 All 658 (660). (Pro forma defendant.); (Vol 21) 1934 Pat 19 (21). (Do.); (Vol 13) 1926 All 238 (239); 48 All 239. (Do.); (1897) 2 Hay 583; (1912) 14 Ind Cas 562 (562) (Mad); (Vol 4) 1917 Pat 136 (138).

[11] A person who has been exonerated at the time of reference is not an interested party. (Vol 10) 1923 Mad 502 (503).

[12] A person who is ex parte in a suit or a person against whom no relief is claimed is not necessarily a person not interested. (Vol 10) 1923 Mad 502 (503); (Vol 16) 1929 All 763 (765); 52 All 84; (Vol 16) 1929 Lah 174 (175); (Vol 22) 1935 Sind 212 (213); 29 Sind L R 399; (Vol 25) 1938 Oudh 154 (155); (Vol 12) 1925 Mad 621 (622, 623); (Vol 17) 1930 Sind 256 (258); 24 Sind L R 470; (Vol 14) 1927 Sind 239 (240); 22 Sind L R 135; (Vol 7) 1920 Mad 852 (854); 42 Mad 632; (Vol 16) 1929 Lah 477 (478); (Vol 4) 1917 Cal 481 (483); (Vol 25) 1938 Oudh 154 (155). (If a person is ex parte in a suit, he does not thereby cease to be a party interested in the reference.)

[13] A defendant who makes a complete admission of the plaintiff's claim entitling the latter to a judgment under O. 12, R. 16 of the Civil P. C., is no longer

Section 21 (contd.)

"interested" and need not join the reference by the plaintiff and other defendants. (Vol 12) 1925 Oudh 201 (202).

4. Application must be by all the parties.—

[1] All the parties interested must agree to the reference and also apply to the Court. If, before the application is made to the Court, one of the parties resiles from the agreement, no order of reference can be passed on the ground that he previously agreed to a reference being made. (1911) 1911 Pun Re No. 17; (1933) 34 Pun L R 247 (248).

5. "Apply in writing to the Court."—[1] A commissioner was appointed for the examination of witnesses and on the day fixed for appearance before the commissioner, the parties presented to him an application addressed to the Court and stating that they had agreed to refer their dispute to arbitration. The commissioner forwarded the application together with the proceedings recorded by him to the Court which referred the matter to arbitration. It was held that in the circumstances of the case, the presentation of the application to the commissioner was sufficient. (Vol 20) 1933 Oudh 521 (522); 9 Luck 203.

6. Arbitration in execution proceedings.—

[1] Court executing a decree cannot refer the matter in execution proceedings to arbitration. (Vol 12) 1925 Cal 812 (814); 52 Cal 559. (Party to reference can afterwards plead that Court had no jurisdiction to refer.); (Vol 22) 1935 All 125 (125). (A reference made in execution is invalid.); (Vol 23) 1936 All 378 (380); 58 All 797. (Held Sch. II, Civil P. C., did not apply of its own force to proceedings under O. 21, R. 58 nor was it rendered applicable under the provisions of S. 141.); (Vol 25) 1938 Pesh 80 (80); (Vol 24) 1937 Bom 111 (112); 1 L R (1937) Bom 144.

[But see (Vol 30) 1943 Oudh 304 (306). ("Suit" includes execution.)]

7. Arbitration in insolvency proceedings.—

[1] An insolvency Court has no power to refer the whole insolvency proceedings to arbitrators to decide whether a person should or should not be declared an insolvent. (Vol 3) 1916 Lah 170 (171); 1916 Pun Re No. 50.

8. Arbitration in probate proceedings.—

[1] A dispute relating to genuineness of a will cannot be referred to arbitration. (Vol 17) 1930 All 840 (841); 53 All 97.

[2] An application for revocation of the grant of probate cannot be referred to arbitration. (1894) 1894 Pun Re No. 72, page 240 (241).

9. Arbitration in suits for restitution of conjugal rights.—[1] A suit for restitution of conjugal rights can be referred to arbitration. (Vol 21) 1934 Oudh 494 (494); (Vol 32) 1945 Mad 269 (270); 1 L R (1946) Mad 134.

[2] The factum or validity of a marriage, in a suit for restitution of conjugal rights, can be referred to arbitration. (Vol 16) 1929 Lah 394 (395); (Vol 5) 1918 Lah 357 (358); (Vol 16) 1929 Lah 177 (178).

10. "At any time before judgment is pronounced."—[1] The parties are entitled to have the matter in difference between them referred to arbitration at any time before the judgment is pronounced. The Court has no discretion to reject an application for a reference to arbitration. (Vol 2) 1915 Cal 70 (70). (Notwithstanding that much time of the Court may have been occupied in hearing a case.)

[See also (1911) 33 All 645 (645, 647). (Appellate Court also cannot decline to make reference.)]

[2] Where in a partition suit the parties agree as to their respective shares in the properties and a preliminary decree is passed incorporating such agreement, the question as to how the properties are to be divided may be referred to arbitration and the division of the properties as made in the final decree may be based on the award of the arbitrators. (Vol 26) 1939 Pat 526 (528); 18 Pat 193.

11. Authority of agent to refer.—[1] An authorized agent can make a reference on behalf of his principal. (1886) 12 Cal 173 (178); (1883) 1883 Pun Re No. 170, page 530 (531); (1882) 1882 Pun Re No. 48, page 140 (140).

[3] The principal can subsequently ratify the agent's act of reference. (1886) 9 Mad 451 (452); (1897) 24 Cal 469 (472).

[4] A partner cannot make a reference on behalf of his firm. (1910) 11 Cal L Jour 658 (664); (Vol 13) 1926 All 238 (240); 48 All 239; (Vol 19) 1932 Lah 291 (292); (Vol 19) 1932 Cal 343 (343); (1900) 22 All 135 (138). (Reference cannot be made without special authority.); (Vol 6) 1919 Mad 1161 (1162). (Do.); (Vol 13) 1926 Lah 91 (93). (Reference made by one partner on behalf of firm is invalid—All partners must join.); (Vol 19) 1932 Bom 516 (519).

12. Authority of guardian or manager of joint Hindu family.—[1] The next friend or a natural guardian can refer disputes to arbitration, where there is no suit pending in respect of them, if the reference is for the benefit of the minor. (Vol 7) 1920 Bom 32 (34); 44 Bom 202, (1903) 27 Bom 287 (291); (Vol 2) 1915 Low Bur 110 (111); (1892) 19 Cal 334 (335); (1864) 2 Mad H C R 47 (49); (1864) 1 Suth W R 230 (231). [3] As to the powers of a guardian ad litem to agree to refer the subject-matter of the suit to arbitration, see the A. I. R. Commentaries on the Civil Procedure Code, 4th (1944) Edn., O. 32, R. 7, Note 15.

13. Authority of pleader to refer. — [1] A pleader has no authority to refer the matter in difference to arbitration. (Vol 4) 1917 Pat 136 (137, 138); (Vol 6) 1919 Cal 232 (233); (Vol 11) 1924 Nag 338 (342, 343); (Vol 16) 1929 Lah 171 (172); (Vol 19) 1932 Cal 343 (344). (Attorney.); (Vol 22) 1935 Pat 16 (17). [See (Vol 16) 1929 Cal 322 (324) : 56 Cal 21. (Vakalatnama using words 'shalisham' or 'solenama karibain'—Held, pleader was vested with sufficient authority to refer the matter to arbitration.)]

[2] A counsel has implied authority to refer to arbitration matters in dispute. (Vol 19) 1932 Lah 373 (374) : 13 Lah 775.

[3] Neither a counsel, nor a pleader who has an express authority to refer, can delegate his power to another pleader. (Vol 19) 1932 Lah 373 (374) : 13 Lah 775. (Counsel.); (Vol 18) 1926 Lah 563 (564). (Pleader.)

[4] A reference to arbitration by counsel who had express instructions against the reference, is not binding on the party. (Vol 15) 1928 Cal 378 (380).

[5] A pleader has no authority to revoke the appointment of an arbitrator by the party, without the latter's knowledge or instructions. (Vol 9) 1922 Nag 39 (40) : 18 Nag L R 140.

[6] Where unequivocal power is given by the client (purdanashin lady) to the pleader in the power-of-attorney to refer the suit to arbitration, a separate express authority is not necessary for reference to arbitration. (Vol 31) 1944 Lah 280 (281, 282).

[7] Where an advocate is authorized by his client to appear for him in appeal but not to act for him, the signature of the advocate on the application to refer the dispute to arbitration would be unauthorized, but his oral consent would bind his client. (Vol 33) 1946 All 1 (3).

14. Form of agreement to refer. — [1] Agreement to refer must clearly state the matters in dispute which are referred to arbitration. (Vol 17) 1930 All 319 (320); (Vol 6) 1919 Pat 74 (76); (Vol 22) 1935 Oudh 499 (500) : 11 Luck 475. (Where the parties agree that the arbitrators should decide matter in dispute between the parties as set out in the pleadings the reference cannot be said to be vague—It is sufficiently definite as regards the points of difference between the parties.); (1879) 1879 Pun Re No. 67, page 182 (183).

[2] It has been held in cases arising under the corresponding provision of Para. 1 of Sch. II, Civil P. C., that the provision of the requirement of an application in writing to the Court is only directory and not mandatory. Hence, an award is not invalid on the ground of absence of a written application if it is clear that the parties did agree to refer. (1900) 27 Cal 61 (63); (Vol 15) 1928 Mad 48 (49); (1908) 30 All 32 (35); (Vol 22) 1935 Oudh 499 (500) : 11 Luck 475. (Record of agreement in Court's proceedings bearing signature of parties constitutes sufficient compliance with Para. 1 of Sch. II.); (1911) 9 Ind Cas 412 (413)

[But see (1879) 1879 Pun Re No. 67.]

[3] Where the parties have agreed and applied to the Court for a reference, the mere fact that one of them has not affixed his signature to the application does not vitiate the reference. (Vol 2) 1915 P C 79 (80); 43 Cal 290 : 43 Ind App 1 (PC); (Vol 33) 1946 All 1 (3) : I L R (1945) All 882; (Vol 32) 1945 Lah 34 (35). (Some of the parties not joining — All parties appearing before arbitrator through pleader—Defect in reference cured.)]

[4] Where a pleader duly authorised signs the application for his client, the reference is valid. (Vol 14) 1927 Lah 362 (364) : 8 Lah 693.

[See also (Vol 22) 1935 Pat 16 (17). (Pleader appointed in suit on behalf of all defendants — Agreement to refer signed by pleader as pleader—No objection taken to arbitration proceedings — Held all defendants were parties to reference.)]

[5] The guardian ad litem of the minor was present in the Court and assented to the application for reference. He did not sign the reference. It was held that the reference was valid. (Vol 2) 1915 P C 79 (80) : 43 Cal 290 : 43 Ind App 1 (PC).

15. "Matter in difference." — [1] A matter in difference is a matter in dispute which implies an assertion of right by one party and the repudiation thereof by another. (Vol 18) 1931 Bom 164 (166). (Mere non-payment by one partner does not amount to dispute.)

[2] A dispute as to uncertified payment or adjustment can be a matter in difference. (Vol 12) 1925 Cal 812 (813) : 52 Cal 559.

[3] The matter in difference must have arisen at the time of reference; it need not have arisen at the time of the agreement to refer. (Vol 18) 1931 Bom 164 (166); (1903) 30 Cal 831 (839, 840); (Vol 1) 1914 Bom 123 (124) : 38 Bom 638; (Vol 7) 1920 Cal 143 (143) : 46 Cal 534; (Vol 17) 1930 All 319 (320).

[4] In a partition suit the parties agreed as to their respective shares but did not agree as to how the properties should be divided. It was held that the question was a matter in difference. (Vol 26) 1939 Pat 526 (527) : 18 Pat 193.

[5] Whether there is any matter in difference has to be decided on facts of each case. (Vol 7) 1920 Cal 143 (143, 144) : 46 Cal 534.

[6] Matter in difference must be one arising in the suit and between the parties to the suit. The Court has no power to refer to arbitration any questions other than those in question in the suit, or any questions in which any person, not a party to the suit, is concerned. (Vol 12) 1925 P C 293 (297) : 53 Ind App 1 : 53 Cal 258 (PC). (Confirming (Vol 11) 1924 Cal 567.)

[7] A reference is competent on a question of law or a question of fact. (1902) 29 Cal 167 (168) : 29 Ind App 51; 1902 Pun Re No. 25(PC); (Vol 2) 1915 Cal 745 (748).

Appointment of arbitrator.

22. The arbitrator shall be appointed in such manner as may be agreed upon between the parties.

[Civil P. C., Sch. II Para. 2.]

23. (1) The Court shall, by order, refer⁵ to the arbitrator the matter in difference³ which he is required to determine, and shall in the order specify such time as it thinks reasonable⁴ for the making of the award.²

(2) Where a matter is referred to arbitration, the Court shall not, save in the manner and to the extent provided in this Act, deal with such matter in the suit.

Section 21 (contd.)

[8] An error made by the arbitrators on point of law referred to them does not vitiate the award. (Vol 3) 1916 Oudh 285 (285); 19 Oudh Cas 48.

[9] The matter in difference must relate only to the private rights of the parties. A suit under S. 92, Civil P. C., is not one for the determination of the private rights of the parties to the litigation, hence such matter cannot be referred to arbitration. (Vol 10) 1923 Nag 112 (114).

[See (Vol 21) 1934 All 368 (370); 56 All 721. (Parties litigating for title and possession of mutt in their own right — Mutt not of nature of public charity — Disputes inter se can be referred to arbitrator.)]

[10] The selection of the guardian for a minor cannot be referred to arbitration. (Vol 11) 1924 Mad 484 (484); 47 Mad 459.

[11] A criminal complaint cannot be referred to arbitration. (Vol 16) 1929 Lah 394 (395).

[12] Where a question arises as to what the matter was that was referred to arbitration, it is for the Court to decide what was referred to arbitration. (Vol 13) 1926 Mad 752 (753).

[13] When the whole case is referred to arbitration, the question of costs is also referred to arbitration. (Vol 5) 1918 Nag 108 (109).

16. Matters outside suit. — [1] Matters outside the suit cannot be referred to arbitration under this section. (Vol 8) 1921 Mad 709 (709); (Vol 12) 1925 P C 293 (297); 58 Ind App 1; 53 Cal 258 (P C); (Vol 24) 1937 Sind 174 (175); 30 Sind L R 478. [2] Agreement to recognize an award made on matters beyond the scope of the matters in difference mentioned in the reference is void. (Vol 15) 1928 Sind 81 (81); 21 Sind L R 253.

[3] An application for reference included matters outside the suit. The Court ordered a reference only as to the matters in difference in the suit. It was held that the reference was not illegal. (Vol 14) 1927 Cal 52 (54).

[See however (Vol 22) 1935 Mad 1053 (1054). (Reference to arbitration through Court—Question not in suit also referred to arbitration — Reference illegal and award cannot be enforced.)]

[4] Parties applied for reference to arbitration of matters in difference between them in the suit and on the same day made a separate reference as to matters outside the suit. It was held that the order of reference made by the Court with regard to the subject-matter of the suit was valid. (Vol 14) 1927 Cal 52 (54).

17. Powers of appellate Court. — [1] Where the appellate Court remits a case under O. 41, R. 25, Civil P. C., the lower Court has no power to refer the case to arbitration. (1885) 7 All 523 (526, 527).

[2] The appellate Court by its order of remand cannot direct the lower Court to refer the matter to arbitration. (1874) 22 Suth W R 396 (396).

[3] The appellate Court can with the consent of the parties refer the matter to arbitration. (1911) 38 All 645 (647); (1875) 7 N W P H O R 243 (248, 249) (FB); (1891) 18 Cal 507 (509); (1886) 12 Cal 173 (177); (1880) 3 Mad 78 (79).

[4] Where the lower Court passes a decree not in accordance with the award but the appellate Court, holding that the award is not open to any objection, passes a decree in accordance with the award, it is final. (1888) 10 All 8 (11, 12).

18. Revocation of reference to arbitration — See Notes on S. 5.

19. Withdrawal of suit after reference. — [1] The Court has no jurisdiction to allow a withdrawal of the suit after reference. (1887) 9 All 168 (172); (Vol 25) 1938 All 56 (57); I L R (1938) All 146.

[2] A suit cannot be allowed by the Court to be withdrawn after an award on reference has been made. (1902) 7 Cal W N 186 (187); (1884) 6 All 211 (213); (Vol 3) 1916 Oudh 141 (141); (Vol 6) 1919 Cal 1080 (1081). (Portion of the claim under reference cannot be withdrawn without the consent of other party.)

1. Section 22.—[1] It is essential that the parties should either name the arbitrators or consent to the nomination of the arbitrators by the Court. An award made by the arbitrators selected by the Court cannot be forced upon the parties in the absence of consent of the parties. (1865) 5 Suth W R 21 (24) (PC).

[2] A party may waive an irregularity in the appointment of arbitrators. If a party appears before the arbitrators under protest, he cannot be held to have forfeited his right to question the validity of the proceedings. (1865) 5 Suth W R 21 (25) (PC).

[3] Whether the arbitrators nominated are willing to act as arbitrators should be first ascertained by the Court. Till then no reference should be made. (1864) 1864 Suth W R Gap 338 (339).

SECTION 23 — SYNOPSIS

1. Effect of order of reference.
2. "Making of the award."
3. "Matter in difference."
4. "Shall specify such time as it thinks reasonable."
5. "The Court shall, by order, refer."

1. Effect of order of reference. — [1] Where a Court makes an order of reference to arbitration, its jurisdiction to deal with the case, so long as the proceedings are pending before the arbitrator, is suspended. It cannot, therefore, deal with the case except as provided in this Act. (Vol 13) 1926 Nag 37 (39); (Vol 17) 1930 Lah 26 (30); 11 Lah 342; (1868) 10 Suth W R 398 (400); (Vol 24) 1937 Pesh 49 (50); (Vol 24) 1937 Oudh 507 (508); 13 Luck 609.

[See (Vol 21) 1934 Lah 162 (162). (In a suit attacking the original agreement to refer to arbitration the subject-matter is not the same as in the reference to arbitration and the suit attacking the agreement should not be stayed.)]

[2] After an order of reference is made the Court cannot dismiss the suit under Civil P. C., O. 9, R. 3; or under O. 9, R. 8, or remove the arbitrator or substitute a new one; or record a compromise between the parties; or deal with the case on the merits. (Vol 10) 1923 Pat 115 (116); (Vol 4) 1917 Lah 379 (381); 1916 Pun Re No. 115. (Suit dismissed for default pending arbitration proceedings — Subsequent restoration and arbitrators directed to proceed — Award filed without objection — Held award legal.); (1910) 1910 Pun L R No. 29; (Vol 24) 1937 Pesh 49 (50); (1886) 10 Bom 381 (389); (Vol 11) 1924 Cal 722 (724); 51 Cal 432, (1902) 24 All 312 (314); (Vol 19) 1932 All 183 (184); 54 All 122. (Question of costs referred to arbitration — Court cannot deal with it.)

[3] Even after an order of reference is made the Court can deal with an application to appoint an interim receiver or to grant an injunction. (Vol 12) 1925 Sind 102 (102); 18 Sind L R 308; (Vol 15) 1928 Cal 256 (258); 55 Cal 249.

[4] The Court has no power to direct that money should either be deposited or paid to the arbitrators for their remuneration unless the parties had specifically agreed to such a course. (1894) 1894 Pun Re No. 94, page 340; (1881) 6 Cal 809 (810).

[5] For withdrawal of suit after reference, see S. 21, Note 19 and for an application to bring legal representatives of a deceased party, see S. 5, Note 2.

2. "Making of the award." — [1] An award is made when the arbitrators have drawn up, executed and signed it. It is the making of the award that should be within the time fixed. The filing thereof into Court after the time fixed will not vitiate the award. (1904) 26 All 105 (107); (Vol 22) 1935 Cal 359 (363); (1905) 27 All 459 (461); (1889) 13 Bom 119 (124); (Vol 2) 1915 Cal 101 (103); (1907) 1907 Pun Re No. 89, page 433 (434); (1899) 22 Mad 22 (24); (Vol 3) 1916 Pat 21 (23); (Vol 5) 1918 Oudh 14 (15).

3. "Matter in difference." — [1] Where it is found that one matter in difference agreed to be referred has been omitted from the reference and that consequently the arbitrators have not given any decision thereon, the party interested should bring the omission to the notice of the Court so that the Court may send the case back to the arbitrators with a fresh reference on the point omitted. If he does not do so, the Court is not wrong in deciding the point itself. (1870) 14 Suth W R 247 (248).

[2] The decision of the arbitrators on matters not in dispute, nor referred to them, is null and void for want of jurisdiction. (1871) 15 Suth W R 172 (173); (Vol 20) 1933 Mad 862 (864). (Scope of enquiry is that of suit — Arbitrators have no jurisdiction to extend it as regards the subject-matter or parties affected by it.)

Also see Section 21, Note 15.

4. "Shall specify such time as it thinks reasonable." — [1] These words are mandatory and imperative and the Court is bound to specify in its order of reference, a time for the making of the award. (1891) 13 All 300 (303); 18 Ind App 55 (PC).

[See also (1854) 6 Moo Ind App 134 (156, 157) (PC). (Case under the Bombay Regulation, 7 [VII] of 1827, but on analogous provisions.)]

[2] The power to specify the limit of time cannot be delegated to the arbitrators themselves. (Vol 10) 1923 Cal 410 (412, 414). (Dissenting from (Vol 2) 1915 Cal 832); (1911) 9 Ind Cas 241 (243) (Oudh).

[3] Where the order of reference did specify a time but described it as one specified for the hearing of the suit instead of for making the award, it was held that it was only an irregularity which may not vitiate the reference. (1891) 13 All 300 (303); 18 Ind App 55 (PC).

[See also (1913) 16 Oudh Cas 233 (237). (Time fixed for filing award and not for making it — Award filed that date not bad.)]

[4] Where the order of reference does not specify a date but the Court subsequently intimates to the arbitrator the time within which the award should be filed, the irregularity, if any, will not affect the validity of the award. (Vol 24) 1937 All 141 (143) (SB).

[See also (Vol 23) 1936 Rang 240 (241). (Where Court leaves it to discretion of the arbitrator to complete the award within a reasonable time and he does so, it cannot be said that there has been substantial miscarriage of justice merely because the Court did not fix any time within which the award was to be submitted.)]

[5] An award made beyond the time specified is liable to be set aside under S. 30. (See Note 7 on that section.)

As to the power of the Court to extend time specified, see S. 28.

5. "The Court shall, by order, refer." — [1] Where the parties apply to the Court for an order of reference, the Court is bound to make an order of reference and has no discretion in the matter. (Vol 31) 1944 Lah 280 (281). (If so required by the parties, a suit for declaring an alienation by a widow invalid can be referred to arbitration.)

[2] In the absence of an order of reference by the Court, the arbitration proceedings and the award made therein are illegal. (1884) 1884 Pun Re No. 35, page 86 (88).

[See also (Vol 24) 1937 All 141 (143) (S B). (Where the arbitrator is fully aware of the terms of the order of reference and accepts the office of arbitrator, the mere fact that the order of reference was not formally communicated to him will not vitiate the arbitration.)]

[3] Where the parties applied for adjournment of the suit from time to time on the ground that the matters in dispute had been referred to arbitration and the Court granted time, it was held that the order granting adjournment on the application of the parties should, under the circumstances of the case, be construed as an order of reference. (Vol 4) 1917 All 71 (73); 39 All 401.

[4] In order to vest jurisdiction in the arbitrators to deal with a pending suit, it is necessary that the Court should make an order under sub-s. (1) of this section referring the suit to them and should specify in the order such time as it thinks reasonable for the making of the award. It is only then the Court ceases to have jurisdiction to deal with the suit or such matters therein as are referred to arbitration. Hence, where the Court, in a suit for partition, upon a memo filed by the parties

24. Where some only of the parties to a suit apply to have the matters in difference between them referred to arbitration in accordance with, and in the manner provided by, section 21, the Court may, if it thinks fit, so refer such matters to arbitration (provided that the same can be separated from the rest of the subject-matter of the suit) in the manner provided in that section, but the suit shall continue so far as it relates to the parties who have not joined in the said application and to matters not contained in the said reference as if no such application had been made, and an award made in pursuance of such a reference shall be binding only on the parties who have joined in the application.

Provisions applicable to arbitrations under this Chapter.

25. The provisions of the other Chapters shall, so far as they can be made applicable, apply to arbitrations under this Chapter:

Provided that the Court may, in any of the circumstances mentioned in sections 8, 10, 11 and 12, instead of filling up the vacancies or making the appointments, make an order superseding the arbitration and proceed with the suit, and where the Court makes an order superseding the arbitration under section 19, it shall proceed with the suit.

CHAPTER V.

GENERAL.

Application of Chapter.

26. Save as otherwise provided in this Act, the provisions of this Chapter shall apply to all arbitrations.

Power of arbitrators to make an interim award.

27. (1) Unless a different intention appears in the arbitration agreement, the arbitrators or umpire may, if they think fit, make an interim award.

(2) All references in this Act to an award shall include references to an interim award made under sub-section (1).

Power to Court only to enlarge time for making award.

28. (1) Court may, if it thinks fit, whether the time for making the award has expired or not and whether the award has been made or not, enlarge from time to time the time for making the award.

stating that they had all executed a muchilikā to panchayatdars for settling the suit and praying that the documents filed in the Court might be returned to them for being placed before the panchayatdars, passed an order directing delivery of the books to the plaintiffs' pleader for production before the panchayatdars, it was held that the order could not be construed as order of reference to arbitration within the meaning of S. 23 (1) and that in the circumstances, it was open to one of the defendants to move the Court for the recall of the account books from the panchayatdars and to post the suit for trial. (Vol 33) 1946 Mad 86 (86, 87).

1. Section 28 (1).—[1] The Court can extend the time for making an award before the award is made whether the time originally specified has expired or not. (Vol 21) 1934 Bom 398 (399); (Vol 17) 1930 Bom 462 (463) : 54 Bom 408; (Vol 8) 1921 Bom 419 (421) : 45 Bom 1071; (Vol 7) 1920 Cal 115 (117) : 46 Cal 1059; (Vol 3) 1916 Lah 80 (82); (Vol 13) 1926 Sind 8 (8); (1912) 6 Sind L R 146 (146).

[2] Once the award is made the Court cannot extend the time originally fixed. (91) 18 All 300 (304) : 18 Ind App 55 (P C); (Vol 21) 1934 Bom 398 (399); (1886) 9 Mad 475 (476); (1887) 6 Moo Ind App 134 (161) (P C); (1911) 38 Cal 522 (524, 525).

[3] Where an award is signed but not announced to the parties or sent to the Court, time for making the award can be extended. (Vol 15) 1928 Lah 753 (755).

[4] Court must consider all circumstances before extending time. (Vol 12) 1925 Sind 150 (153) : 19 Sind L R 251; (Vol 1) 1914 Sind 20 (20) : 8 Sind L R 269.

[5] Court must extend time only for cogent reasons; a party who has been negligent or guilty of dilatory tactics cannot get extension. (Vol 22) 1935 Lah 191 (192).

[6] If the Court thinks fit to refuse leave to the petitioner to revoke the submission, it can extend the time for the making of the award. (Vol 24) 1937 Mad 405 (405).

[7] Order passed by Court for extending time must refer back to the date of application. (Vol 27) 1940 Mad 926 (926).

[8] An application will have to be made for extension of time and a notice of the application to the other party should be served. (Vol 18) 1931 Bom 125 (126) : 55 Bom 452.

[9] An oral application for extension of time is not incompetent. (Vol 11) 1924 Bom 380 (380). (Distinguishing 3 Mad 59.)

[10] Extension of time for making award can be granted even by appellate Court. (Vol 7) 1920 Cal 115 (117) : 46 Cal 1059.

[11] An order of extension of time can be implied from the proceedings of the Court. (Vol 12) 1925 Cal 475 (476). (On the date fixed for filing the award the Court ordered : "The arbitrators have not submitted their award; issue takid at once fixing the 10th November for hearing"—Held, that the order may be taken as an order extending the time for filing the award.)

2. Section 28 (2).—[1] Arbitrators themselves cannot extend time for passing of the award and an award passed after the time fixed therefor has expired is bad. (Vol 10) 1928 Mad 222 (223).

(2) Any provision in an arbitration agreement whereby the arbitrators or umpire may, except with the consent of all the parties to the agreement, enlarge the time for making the award, shall be void and of no effect.

[1899—S. 12; Civil P. C., Sch. II Para 8.]

29. Where and in so far as an award is for the payment of money the Court may in the Interest on decree order interest, from the date of the decree at such rate as the Court awards. deems reasonable, to be paid on the principal sum as adjudged by the award and confirmed by the decree.

Grounds for setting aside award. 30. An award shall not be set aside except on one or more of the following grounds, namely—

- (a) that an arbitrator or umpire has misconducted⁹ himself or the proceedings;
- (b) that an award has been made after the issue of an order by the Court superseding the arbitration¹⁸ or after arbitration proceedings have become invalid under section 35;
- (c) that an award has been improperly procured⁵ or is otherwise invalid.⁶

1. Appeal. — See Notes on Section 39.

2. Application.—[1] It is not competent to apply to set aside an award till the award has been filed in Court. (Vol 31) 1944 Cal 304 (305) : ILR (1943) 2 Cal 392; (Vol 29) 1942 Bom 101 (102) : I L R (1942) Bom 452.

[2] Order 1, Rule 8, Civil P. C., applies to petitions to set aside awards under Section 30. (Vol 23) 1936 Bom 250 (255) : 60 Bom 645.

3. Evidence of arbitrator. — [1] An arbitrator may be examined upon the course of procedure which he has adopted, the material which he has utilised in arriving at his decision and as to every matter of fact with reference to the making of the award. But a party cannot examine him as to why and how he arrived at a particular decision and scrutinize his decision on matters within his jurisdiction and on which his decision is final. (Vol 1) 1914 P C 105 (108) : 36 All 336 : 17 Oudh Cas 120 (PC). (Approving the case in (1871) 5 H L 418, Bucclench v. Metropolitan Board of Works.)

[See (Vol 15) 1928 Sind 171 (172) : 22 Sind L R 295. (Before determining whether arbitrator has misconducted in overvaluing property, he must be allowed to offer explanation.)]

4. Expiry of the period allowed by Court — Award made after. — [1] An award made out of time is not per se a nullity, but only affords a ground or reason for setting aside the award if the parties so desire to assert their rights. (1912) 39 Cal 822 (827) ; (Vol 20) 1933 Oudh 563 (564). (The power of setting aside an award on this ground will be exercised on broad grounds of justice, equity and good conscience.) ; (Vol 3) 1916 Lah 80 (82) ; (Vol 6) 1919 Pat 93 (95) : 4 Pat L Jour 265.

[2] If no application is made to set aside the award on that ground, or if an application is made and refused, the award becomes final. (Vol 3) 1916 Lah 80 (82) ; (Vol 20) 1933 Oudh 563 (564) ; (Vol 6) 1919 Pat 93 (95) : 4 Pat L Jour 265.

[See also (Vol 23) 1936 Lah 466 (467). (Arbitrator submitting award beyond date fixed — Parties submitting to arbitration and conducting case before arbitrator after due date — Consent of parties can be inferred — Award is valid though filed out of time.)]

5. "Improperly procured." — [1] An objection that consent to submission was obtained by misrepresentation falls under S. 30. (Vol 17) 1930 Sind 195 (197).

[2] Under clause (b) of Para. 15 (1) of Sch. II of Civil P. C., which corresponds to the present section, an award could be set aside if either party had been guilty of fraudulent concealment of any matter which he ought to have disclosed or of wilfully misleading or deceiving the arbitrator or umpire. This section does not contain such words. But it is conceived that the expression "improperly procured" in clause (c) of the present section would cover cases falling under Sch. II, Para. 15, Civil P. C. The cases decided under Para. 15 (1), Civil P. C., bearing on fraudulent concealment of any matter by the arbitrator are noted below : — There should be uberrima fides on the part of all the parties concerned in relation to the selection of the arbitrator and his appointment and every disclosure as regards his selection and fitness for the post ought to be made. (1898) 25 Cal 141 (144) ; (Vol 20) 1933 Sind 63 (69, 70).

[3] In the following cases the award made by the arbitrator was held liable to be set aside under clause (b) of Para. 15, Civil P. C. :—

(a) Where the arbitrator was the retained pleader of one of the parties; (1898) 25 Cal 141 (144).

(b) Where the arbitrator was related to him ; (Vol 12) 1925 Sind 150 (152) : 19 Sind L R 251 ; (Vol 22)

(c) Where the arbitrator was interested in the subject matter of the suit. (Vol 13) 1926 Oudh 307 (309) : 1 Luck 139.

6. "Is otherwise invalid."—[1] An objection to an award on the ground that it is invalid for any cause whatever must be taken in the Court in which the award is filed and if no objection is there taken or if it is made and disallowed, the award becomes final and cannot be challenged subsequently. (Vol 11) 1924 Bom 324 (325); (Vol 22) 1935 Rang 94 (97) : 12 Rang 675; (Vol 1) 1914 All 446 (448, 449) : 36 All 69 (FB); (Vol 3) 1916 Sind 79 (80) : 9 Sind L R 168; (Vol 9) 1922 Sind 1 (3) : 15 Sind L R 165; (Vol 17) 1930 Bom 431 (438) : 54 Bom 696. (Objections to the validity of the award — A separate suit for that purpose will not lie—The remedy lies under S. 30 (c).; (Vol 26) 1939 Pat 526 (529) : 18 Pat 193 (202); (Vol 23) 1936 Oudh 1 (3) : 11 Luck 441. (Objection on ground of award going outside terms of reference.); (Vol 24) 1937 All 65 (69) : ILR (1937) All 317 (FB); (Vol 26) 1939 Lah 69 (70). (Where the objection that the arbitrator exceeded his powers in drawing an award is not taken before the Court passing the decree upon the award under S. 30, a separate suit will not lie to set aside the decree on that ground.); (1936) 1936 Oudh W N 16 (20); (Vol 23) 1936 Lah 466 (468).

[See (1933) 1933 Mad W N 1475 (1476). (Agent referring to arbitration without authority—Principal becoming aware long after proceedings are over—He has right to institute a suit to set aside award.)]

[2] An award made otherwise than in accordance with the authority conferred by the order upon the arbitrators is an award which is "otherwise invalid" and which may be set aside by the Court under this section. (Vol 12) 1925 P C 293 (296) : 53 Ind App 1 : 53 Cal 258 (P O).

[3] Where the arbitrators treat a person, who is not a party to the suit which has been referred to them, as a party to it and decide disputes between parties to the suit or any of them and such person, it was held that the arbitrators exceeded their jurisdiction and the award was invalid. (Vol 14) 1927 Sind 193 (193, 194).

[4] Where the arbitrators go beyond the scope of the submission and decide matters outside the scope of the suit, the Court will be justified in setting aside the award as invalid. (Vol 12) 1925 Sind 51 (52). (Award must not exceed submission in substance or form.); (1901) 23 All 394 (404, 405) : 28 Ind App 190 (PC); (Vol 25) 1938 Cal 341 (343). (Terms of reference directing physical partition — Award ordering sale of premises and dividing sale proceeds — Award should be set aside.); (Vol 31) 1944 PC 83 (84) : I L R (1945) Kar PC 1 (PC). (Reference to arbitration pending appeal—Agreement to refer using the words "for settlement of all our disputes in this case" — Award settling whole dispute and not merely the matter of the appeal, held did not go beyond the scope of submission.); (Vol 17) 1930 Sind 170 (172) : 24 Sind L R 145. (Arbitrators acting within authority given by reference—No misconduct.)

[See (Vol 26) 1939 Lah 69 (70). (Where objection that arbitrator exceeded his powers in drawing award is not taken before the Court passing the decree upon the award under S. 30, a separate suit will not lie to set aside decree on that ground.)]

[5] It has been held that an award of the kind mentioned above cannot be treated partly as one made on a reference through Court and partly as an award by private agreement. (Vol 11) 1924 Cal 567 (573).

[6] Where simultaneously with the order of reference the parties agree to refer to the same arbitrators matters outside the suit and separate awards are made and it appears that the view of the arbitrators in the latter award could not have influenced their minds in deciding the former, the award is not vitiated. (Vol 14) 1927 Cal 52 (54).

[See also (Vol 13) 1926 Mad 366 (366). (Arbitrators acting beyond scope of reference and giving award on a matter to which all parties agreed—Award on this part is enforceable by suit.)]

[7] An award may be set aside if in the award is found some legal proposition which is the basis of the award and which is patently erroneous. (Vol 22) 1935 Lah 52 (53).

[8] It was held that an objection to an award on the ground of its having been passed in favour of one partner against another for a specific sum (a claim for a specific sum by one partner against another is generally not maintainable in law) is not such an objection as is covered by cl. (c) of this section. (Vol 25) 1938 Lah 604 (605).

[9] The fact that the award deals with some properties not within the jurisdiction of the Court would not necessarily invalidate the award as a whole. It will depend upon whether the part of the award dealing with such property was separable or not. (Vol 26) 1939 Bom 296 (298).

[10] An objection to the validity of the reference to arbitration comes within the purview of this section. (Vol 24) 1937 All 65 (69) : I L R (1937) All 317 (F B); (Vol 19) 1932 Lah 239 (241) : 13 Lah 528.

[11] The words "is otherwise invalid" are not ejusdem generis with the other cases mentioned in this section, but are meant to include all cases of invalidity on grounds other than those mentioned. Therefore, an award is invalid if a minor who is a party to the arbitration is not properly represented in the proceedings. (Vol 6) 1919 Mad 1029 (1031, 1032); (Vol 26) 1939 Sind 241 (243, 244) : I L R (1940) Kar 22 (FB). (Overruling (Vol 9) 1922 Sind 1 : 15 Sind L R 165.)

[See also (Vol 7) 1920 Mad 195 (196).]

[12] A party may be estopped by his conduct from questioning the validity of an award. (Vol 22) 1935 Oudh 499 (500) : 11 Luck 475. (Objection as to the application for order of reference to arbitration not being in writing not taken in time.)

[13] Where the original appointment of arbitrators was bad, the tribunal constituted is without jurisdiction and the award is invalid. (Vol 28) 1941 Sind 111 (112). (Subsequent attempt to rectify matters are of no avail.)

7. Jurisdiction — [1] Application to set aside award lies only in that Court in which award is sought to be filed. (Vol 15) 1928 Sind 169 (170) : 23 Sind L R 427.

[2] Award can be set aside by the Court. The jurisdiction of the Court to set award aside under S. 30, cannot be ousted by agreement of parties. (1909) 13 Cal W N 63 (71).

Section 30 (contd.)

[3] Agreement that neither party shall take objection to award or file appeal is not binding. (Vol 4) 1917 Sind 38 (39) : 11 Sind L R 43.

8. Limitation. — The period of limitation for filing an application to set aside an award is thirty days under Art. 158, Limitation Act, from the date of service of notice on the party to the effect that award has been filed in the Court. (Vol 29) 1942 Cal 566 (567) : 1 L R (1942) 2 Cal 160.

9. Misconduct, what is. — [1] The word "misconduct" when applied to the proceedings of arbitrators does not necessarily imply moral turpitude; it is used in the sense of breach or neglect of such duties and responsibilities as devolve on the arbitrators acting judicially and as the Courts of justice expect from them before allowing finality to their awards. (1887) 9 All 253 (266) ; (1889) 12 Mad 113 (113). (One of the arbitrators not attending the meeting when witnesses were examined by the other arbitrators — Award held invalid by reason of misconduct.) ; (Vol 13) 1926 Oudh 307 (309) : 1 Luck 139. (Arbitrator taking down pencil notes of depositions of witnesses and subsequently fairing them and omitting to file pencil notes and to obtain signatures on the transcriptions, is judicial misconduct.) ; (Vol 22) 1935 Bom 127 (130) : 59 Bom 268. (If opportunity is afforded to one side to get advantage with arbitrator over another, and if there is possibility of such advantage influencing mind of arbitrator, proceedings are vitiated—Arbitrator sending for one of parties merely to sort papers, held did not amount to misconduct.) ; (Vol 24) 1937 Pat 343 (344) ; (Vol 24) 1937 Bom 410 (411). (Misconduct really lies in the conduct of the arbitration proceedings, and the onus of proof lies on the party who alleges it.) ; (Vol 11) 1924 Sind 132 (133) ; (Vol 11) 1924 Sind 75 (83, 84) : 17 Sind L R 133 (F B). (Breach of duty though honestly caused is legal misconduct as distinguished from moral misconduct.)

[2] Misconduct comprehends action on the part of the arbitrator which, upon the face of it, is opposed to all rational and reasonable principles that should govern the procedure of any person who is called upon to decide questions in difference referred to him by the parties ; (1889) 1889 All W N 124 (125). (Omission to take evidence and to give party an opportunity of proving his case amounts to misconduct.)

[3] Where it is proved that an arbitrator has been guilty of misconduct, it is not necessary to prove prejudice in order that the award may be set aside. (Vol 18) 1931 Mad 619 (621). (Such irregularity may be cured by waiver.)

[4] A party will not be precluded from impeaching an award on the ground of misconduct of the arbitrator even if the appointment of the particular person as arbitrator has been suggested by such party. (Vol 24) 1937 Bom 410 (411).

[5] Misconduct contemplated is one arising before the making of the award and not subsequent. (Vol 13) 1926 Sind 242 (243).

[6] An award under the English Arbitration Act of 1889 duly made in accordance with the English law, cannot be set aside by an Indian Court on any ground of misconduct or irregularity on the part of the arbitrator. (Vol 13) 1926 Cal 938 (941) : 53 Cal 65.

Also see Section 11, sub-section (2).

10. Misconduct, acts amounting to—Award outside reference. — [1] Arbitrators asked to lay down scheme of management—Some of arbitrators appointed themselves as managers — Held that award was not within terms of reference and was bad. (Vol 9) 1922 Oudh 276 (277) : 26 Oudh Cas 1.

Delay in making award. — [2] Where an award is made after a delay of five years, it will amount to misconduct unless the delay is properly explained. (Vol 15) 1928 Bom 49 (50) : 52 Bom 116 ; (1875) 1875 Pun Re No. 41, Page 119. (Delay owing merely to inattention and failure to attend on 2 or 3 successive occasions—No misconduct.)

[3] It is the duty of the arbitrator to see that the proceedings are conducted with reasonable diligence and not doing so is a failure in his ordinary duties as an arbitrator.

[4] Where delay in making an award is caused by the voluntary absence of one of the parties, that party cannot impugn the validity of the award on the ground of delay. (Vol 5) 1918 Pat 83 (86) : 4 Pat L Jour 394.

Delegation of function. — [5] An arbitrator has no authority to delegate his functions to a stranger. (Vol 3) 1916 Cal 806 (806) ; (Vol 22) 1935 Lah 113 (114). (Arbitrator undertaking to be bound by decision of certain persons acts illegally.)

[6] But he can take help in the performance of acts of a merely ministerial character. (1902) 29 Cal 854 (867, 868) : 29 Ind App 168 : 1902 Pun Re No. 87 (P C) ; (Vol 22) 1935 Oudh 349 (353) : 11 Luck 306. (Writing of a part of award to the dictation of the arbitrator is a ministerial act.)

[7] Where an arbitrator merely takes advice upon the general rules of law bearing upon the case and does not leave to an outsider the burden of deciding any issue in the case instead of exercising his own judgment thereon, the award is not vitiated by misconduct. (Vol 18) 1931 P C 289 (293) : 58 Ind App 381 (P C) ; (1902) 29 Cal 854 (867) : 29 Ind App 168 : 1902 Pun Re No. 87 (P C).

[See (Vol 15) 1928 Mad 107 (115). (Arbitrator taking independent legal opinion on questions to be decided is guilty of misconduct.)]

[8] It would be prudent and discreet for arbitrators when they desire to put themselves on the best footing of information as to matters of law, to ask all the parties to be present when they communicate with any gentleman whom they may see upon that subject. (1902) 29 Cal 854 (867) : 29 Ind App 168 : 1902 Pun Re No. 87 (P C).

Exorbitant costs. — [9] Arbitrator authorized to deal with costs as they would be dealt with by Court — Dismissal of suit by arbitrators but plaintiff awarded Rs. 2000 as costs — Ordinary costs being about Rs. 100 even though not claimed in suit or even before arbitrator—Award must be set aside. (Vol 20) 1933 Sind 295 (296) : 27 Sind L R 327.

Illegal gratification. — [10] Where one of the arbitrators is guilty of misconduct in having accepted an illegal gratification from one of the parties, the award ought to be set aside in its entirety, inasmuch as it is difficult to say how far the other arbitrators were influenced by the biased and interested opinion of one of them. (1913) 18 Ind Cas 92 (94, 95) (Oudh) ; (Vol 22) 1935 Cal 359 (365). (Arbitrator taking money for charges or as fee from one of the parties may be sufficient to set aside award; but, where one party has paid it by mutual arrangement between parties, award is not vitiated.)

Mistaken decision. — [11] Arbitrators themselves doubting the correctness of their decision—Award is not valid. (1878) 3 Cal 375 (379).

Section 30 (contd.)

[12] Award not deciding the real question at issue held vitiated by misconduct. (Vol 17) 1930 Sind 103 (104).

[13] Mere mistakes in award is no ground for avoiding award but it is possible that the mistakes are so gross and palpable as to afford strong evidence of misconduct. (Vol 23) 1936 Nag 197 (199) : 1 L R (1936) Nag 44.

No proper hearing.—[14] If irregularities in procedure can be proved which would amount to no proper hearing of the matters in dispute there would be misconduct sufficient to vitiate the award. (Vol 1) 1914 P O 105 (107) : 36 All 336 : 17 Oudh Cas 120 (P O).

Non-disclosure of vital facts.—[15] Where an arbitrator is indebted to one of the parties at the time of the reference or becomes indebted after the reference or has a personal interest in the subject-matter of the dispute or where he has come to know of the facts of the case in the capacity of an adviser of one of the parties and where such fact is not disclosed to the other party, the award is vitiated by misconduct. (1902) 29 Cal 278 (282); (Vol 22) 1935 Oudh 349 (353) : 11 Luck 306 ; (Vol 26) 1939 Pat 170 (171); (Vol 2) 1915 Cal 382 (383); (Vol 22) 1935 Mad 349 (349) ; (1921) 68 Ind Cas 1007 (1008) [Lah] ; (1897-1901) 2 Upp Bur Rul 13.

[16] If the parties with full knowledge of the facts select an arbitrator who has to perform other duties which will not permit of his being an impartial person in the ordinary sense of the word, the Court will not release them from the bargain upon which they have agreed (Vol 22) 1935 Mad 349 (350). (But in this case, where one of the parties was an illiterate woman, it was held that the mere fact that she was aware that the arbitrator had an interest in the dispute was not sufficient but that it must be shown that she thoroughly comprehended the transaction and was made aware of the implications and consequences of her act and as this onus was not discharged, her application for revocation of the reference was accepted.)

[17] A pleader is not incompetent to be an arbitrator simply because he was engaged by one of the parties as his pleader on some former occasions. (Vol 5) 1918 Cal 399 (399).

Notice to party.—[18] Where the parties are not given notice of any meeting at which they should appear and represent their case or are not given a fair and reasonable opportunity to prove their case, that would amount to misconduct on the part of the arbitrators. (Vol 11) 1924 Bom 149 (149) ; (Vol 19) 1932 Bom 68 (69) ; (1889) 1889 All W N 124 (125). (Award without taking evidence and without giving opportunity to a party to prove his case—Held this amounted to misconduct.)

[19] The omission to give notice of a meeting to a party who had, prior to such meeting, notified to the arbitrator his withdrawal from the submission, does not invalidate the award. (1905) 29 Mad 44 (45) ; (Vol 1) 1914 Upp Bur 53 (54) : 2 Upp Bur Rul 26; (Vol 3) 1916 All 278 (283).

[See also (Vol 4) 1917 Lah 65 (68) : 1917 Pun Re No. 12. (Defective notice—Party not objecting to it—He cannot object to award.)]

[20] The arbitrators can make an ex parte award if the parties do not attend the hearing after receipt of sufficient notice. (Vol 1) 1914 Sind 62 (62) : 8 Sind L R 136.

[See (Vol 22) 1935 Sind 228 (232). (Where from the conduct of the objectors to an award it is abundantly clear that they had no intention of appearing before arbitrators, the arbitrators are justified in proceeding ex parte.)]

[21] If a reasonable excuse for not attending the appointment can be shown, an ex parte award can be set aside. (Vol 1) 1914 Sind 148 (148) : 8 Sind L R 110.

[22] Personal knowledge.—An arbitrator has no right to decide a matter referred to him on his personal knowledge and an award based on such knowledge cannot be maintained. (Vol 6) 1919 All 98 (99) : 42 All 185; (Vol 22) 1935 Mad 152 (155, 156). (But Court will not interfere unless award has been substantially affected by such knowledge); (Vol 13) 1926 Mad 752 (754); (Vol 7) 1920 Nag 129 (130) ; (Vol 22) 1935 Pesh 69 (71, 72).

[23] Where the submission to arbitration gives him power to decide a case upon his own personal knowledge or where a particular arbitrator has been selected only because of his personal knowledge of the matters in dispute, it is not misconduct on the part of the arbitrator to import into the consideration of the case his own personal knowledge. (Vol 12) 1925 Mad 1086 (1086) ; (Vol 6) 1919 All 98 (99) : 42 All 185 ; (Vol 12) 1925 Oudh 741 (742) ; (Vol 15) 1928 Mad 48 (50, 52). (Guardian of a minor can consent to arbitrator's decision on personal knowledge) ; (Vol 13) 1926 Bom 527 (529) ; (Vol 22) 1935 Mad 152 (155). (It is desirable in such cases that arbitrator should tell the parties what his personal knowledge is and give them opportunity to rebut it.); (Vol 16) 1929 Mad 144 (145). (Arbitrator selected on account of personal knowledge—Used it only in understanding and appreciating evidence—Held award not bad.); (Vol 3) 1916 Bom 4 (7) : 41 Bom 518.

Perverse decision.—[24] Where the decision of an arbitrator is perverse, it amounts to misconduct. (1912) 5 Bur L Tim 55. (It was provided in reference to arbitration that the dispute should be decided according to Mahomedan law—Arbitrators deciding contrary to the well-known rules of law—Decision held perverse) ; (1869) 12 Suth W R 93 (93). (Decision contrary to all the evidence which they believed.)

Presence of arbitrators.—[25] Where more than one arbitrator is appointed, the presence of all of them at all meetings and, above all, at the last meeting when the final act of arbitration is done, is essential to the validity of the award. Absence of some of the arbitrators at some of the meetings is misconduct within the meaning of this section. (1885) 7 All 523 (528); (Vol 19) 1932 Mad 157 (157) ; (Vol 21) 1934 Rang 24 (26) : 12 Rang 128. (Award signed by four—Meeting of only three—Fifth not given notice of proposed meeting—Award is not valid—Refusal to sign by fifth at place where arbitrators had assembled for some other purpose does not affect question) ; (Vol 6) 1919 Mad 877 (877) ; (Vol 5) 1918 Cal 865 (866) ; (1911) 14 Cal L Jour 143 (145) ; (1882) 1882 Pun Re No. 55, page 158 (159); (Vol 9) 1922 Oudh 276 (277) : 26 Oudh Cas 1 ; (Vol 2) 1915 Oudh 110 (111) ; (Vol 6) 1919 Pat 74 (77).

[See (Vol 22) 1935 All 90 (91). (Arbitrators arriving at decision but waiting for signing award—One of them changing his mind and not signing it—No misconduct is constituted.)]

(Vol 23) 1936 Nag 291 (292) : 1 L R (1937) Nag 35. (Agreement that award should be by three arbitrators—Only two arbitrators making enquiries and giving award—Award is bad for misconduct.)]

[But see (Vol 24) 1937 Pat 343 (344). (Absence of arbitrator from proceedings due to some justifiable cause such as illness, is not misconduct—12 Mad 113, dissented from.)]

[26] The facts that the agreement of reference provided for a valid award by the majority of the arbitrators and that a majority of them were present at all the meetings will not make the award valid. (Vol 5) 1918

Section 30 (contd.)

Cal 865 (866); (Vol 19) 1932 Mad 157 (157); (Vol 11) 1924 Rang 153 (154). (Though the remaining arbitrators may be of the same opinion, the award is invalid); (Vol 5) 1918 All 274 (275).

[27] Where a reference was made to three persons and the award purported to be made by four persons, it was set aside on the ground that the association of the fourth person might have influenced the decision of the others. (1875) 7 N W P H C R 367 (371).

[28] The absence of an arbitrator at some of the meetings does not amount to misconduct if the act done at such meetings is merely ministerial in its character and is not of a judicial nature. (Vol 11) 1924 Mad 274 (277). (Received written statement and documents—Held award not bad.); (Vol 18) 1931 Cal 53 (54); 58 Cal 269; (1912) 15 Cal L Jour 360 (366); (Vol 7) 1920 Mad 288 (289).

[29] Submission clause empowering arbitrators (two in number) to call in third as umpire in case of difference—Umpire's award to be considered final—Held that arbitrators' absence at sitting held by umpire or want of their signatures on award did not vitiate award by umpire. (Vol 13) 1926 Sind 242 (244).

Private enquiries.—[30] An arbitrator who makes private enquiries and bases his award on information so obtained, which the parties had no opportunity to check, is guilty of legal misconduct. (1907) 4 All L Jour 159 (159); (Vol 21) 1934 Pat 550 (550, 551); (Vol 9) 1922 All 64 (65); (1911) 13 Cal L Jour 399 (402); (Vol 18) 1931 Lah 111 (112); (Vol 18) 1931 Lah 65 (65); (Vol 2) 1915 Cal 713 (714). (An arbitrator acts illegally in not disclosing to the parties the documents on which he acts.); (Vol 8) 1921 Mad 271 (272). (Such knowledge communicated to co-arbitrators in the presence of parties—Award is valid.); (Vol 9) 1922 Lah 480 (480). (Inquiry made in the presence of parties is not objectionable.); (Vol 12) 1925 Rang 383 (384); 3 Rang 387. (Arbitrators not acting upon such knowledge—Award is not vitiated.); (Vol 22) 1935 Pesh 69 (71, 72). (Though private enquiries made by arbitrator, award based merely on documentary evidence is not vitiated.); (Vol 22) 1935 Pat 16 (17). (Arbitrator should take evidence in presence of parties); (Vol 23) 1936 Nag 291 (292); I L R (1937) Nag 35.

[31] Where the parties agree to be bound by the decision of an arbitrator in whatsoever manner he might see fit to arrive thereat, the award will not be bad if based on private enquiries made by the arbitrator. (Vol 9) 1922 All 69 (69); (Vol 13) 1926 Oudh 383 (384); 29 Oudh Cas 258; (Vol 10) 1923 Mad 301 (302, 304); 47 Mad 30. Reception of evidence.—[32] An arbitrator ought not to hear or receive evidence, oral or documentary, from one side in the absence of the other. (1894) 18 Bom 299 (312); (Vol 22) 1935 Mad 184 (186); (Vol 13) 1926 Mad 1158 (1158). (Documents and correspondence read in the absence of one party—No misconduct.); (Vol 18) 1931 Mad 619 (621).

[See (Vol 27) 1940 Mad 905 (906). (Where the incarceration of a party is an obstacle known to all the parties concerned to the examination of one party in the presence of the other parties.)]

[33] It has been held that there is no misconduct where an opportunity was given to the other side of meeting and answering such evidence. (Vol 13) 1926 Mad 1158 (1158).

[35] Where any party deliberately absents himself from the hearing, the award made is not bad for misconduct. An award will be set aside when important evidence is improperly admitted by the arbitrator. (Vol 5) 1918 Cal 644 (645); (Vol 3) 1916 All 278 (283); (Vol 22) 1935 Mad 184 (188).

[36] It is misconduct on the part of an arbitrator when he examines no witnesses where the nature of the dispute is such that it cannot be determined without evidence. (Vol 18) 1931 Lah 65 (65); (1897-1901) 2 Upp Bur Rul 4.

Refusal to examine witness.—[37] The refusal of an arbitrator to examine witnesses produced by either party is misconduct. (1883) 12 Cal L Rep 564 (565, 566); (1889) 1889 Pun Re No. 58, page 187 (188); (1937) 39 Pun L R 582 (583); (Vol 23) 1936 Rang 191 (192). (Arbitrator must hear parties, and, if requested, their witnesses, unless absolved therefrom by terms of submission—Failure to do so amounts to misconduct within the meaning of this section.)

[See also (Vol 20) 1933 Sind 300 (301). (Parties given opportunity to produce evidence—Evidence not produced—Arbitrators are not guilty of misconduct in deciding on the evidence already on record.) (Vol 24) 1937 Bom 410 (414). (If a material piece of evidence is tendered and rejected, it may amount to misconduct. *Williams v. [38] In order to impeach an award on the ground of refusal of the arbitrator to examine witnesses, it must be shown that a witness was distinctly tendered to the arbitrator. (Vol 4) 1917 Low Bur 68 (71); (1912) 15 Cal L Jour 360 (366).

[39] It is not misconduct to refuse to admit evidence which was unnecessary and which would not have, in any way, helped or affected the decision. (1909) 3 Sind L R 164 (166, 167); (Vol 5) 1918 Cal 399 (400). (Arbitrator can decline to summon witnesses in the exercise of his discretion.)

11. Misconduct, acquiescence in acts amounting to.—[1] The cases mentioned in this Note are to be understood subject to the principle that the parties may agree that a reference may be conducted in a particular way. ('94) 18 Bom 299 (312). (Such agreement may be express or implied from the conduct of the parties during the arbitration.)

[2] An objection to the irregular or improper conduct of an arbitrator may be waived by the parties either expressly or by conduct, provided the party waiving it has full knowledge of the defect. (Vol 17) 1930 Sind 79 (81, 82); 24 Sind L R 351. (This principle of waiver applies to every kind of irregularity not affecting jurisdiction of arbitrator.); (Vol 22) 1935 Oudh 349 (352); 11 Luck 306. (But waiver must be an intentional act with knowledge of one's legal rights.); (Vol 6) 1919 Mad 22 (23). (Do.); (Vol 17) 1930 Cal. 255 (257). defendants.); (Vol 7) 1920 All 249 (252); 42 All 661. (Acquiescence in objection to jurisdiction.); (Vol 5) 1918 Sind 13 (19, 20); 13 Sind L R 75. (Waiver — Arbitrator getting information in the absence of one party.); (1911) 1911 Pun W R No. 13 p. 36. (Party closing his case and leaving it to arbitrator to call further evidence cannot complain of insufficient inquiry.); (Vol 15) 1928 Pat 7 (10, 11); 6 Pat 556. (Arbitrators selected to construe a will can deviate from its terms if agreed to by legatees and executors.); (Vol 16) 1929 Rang 166 (167); 7 Rang 136. (Signature of party may not estop him from disputing correctness.); (Vol 18) 1931 Mad 619 (621, 622). (Do.)

[3] The principle is that Courts will not permit a party to lie by or act in an indecisive manner so as to obtain the benefit of the award if it is in his favour and endeavour to set it aside if it is not. (Vol 19) 1932 Mad 157 (157). (Party, though present, allowing proceedings to go on in absence of one of the arbitrators, cannot subsequently object to award.); (1877) 26 Suth W R 10 (16) (P C).

[4] Where one of several arbitrators is absent at some of their meetings and a party participates in subsequent proceedings without objecting to the irregularity or where the arbitrators examine the plaintiff's witnesses in the absence of the parties and the defendant who is aware of this makes no protest at that time or later on, the party will be deemed to have waived his right to object to the award. (Vol 9) 1922 Cal 181 (181); (Vol 20) 1933 Mad 862 (865); (Vol 18) 1931 Mad 619 (622); (Vol 16) 1929 Sind 200 (203).

[5] A stipulation in an agreement of reference precluding the parties from impeaching the validity of the award is within the mischief of Section 28 of the Contract Act and will not therefore prevent the Court from setting aside the award on any of the grounds mentioned in this section. (1883) 6 Mad 368 (369, 370); (Vol 3) 1916 Lah 89 (91); 1916 Pun Re No. 117.

[See (Vol 9) 1922 Mad 179 (180); 45 Mad 466. (Can have award set aside on the ground of illegality on the face of it.)]

[But see (Vol 3) 1916 Lah 80 (83). (Dissented from in (Vol 3) 1916 Lah 89; 1916 Pun Re No. 117.)]

[6] The reason is that the grounds mentioned in this section suggest the requisites of a valid agreement as well as of a valid award. (1883) 6 Mad 368 (370).

12. Misconduct, acts not amounting to misconduct. — [1] Courts must not insist upon a too minute observance of the regularity of forms among persons who naturally by their education or by their opportunities cannot be supposed to be very familiar with legal procedure, and may accordingly make slips in what is mere matter of form without any interference with the substance of their decisions. (1905) 1905 App Cas 78 (80), Andrews v. Mitchell. (Cited in (Vol 12) 1925 Rang 383; 3 Rang 387.)

[2] Courts will not set aside an award for misconduct of the arbitrators unless there has been something radically wrong and vicious in the proceedings before the arbitrators. (Vol 12) 1925 Rang 383 (383, 384); 3 Rang 387; (Vol 22) 1935 Rang 308 (310).

Instances of acts that do not amount to misconduct. — [3] It is not a valid objection to an award that the arbitrators have not acted in strict conformity with the rules of evidence. (1888) 11 Mad 85 (87).

[4] The honest though mistaken admission by an arbitrator of a document in violation of a rule of evidence introduced pro hac vice (for the occasion) will not be a ground for setting aside an award. (Vol 1) 1914

[5] Where a party does not object to the communications between parties in the course of negotiations between them, being received in evidence on the ground that they are inadmissible, it cannot later on be made a ground for setting aside the award. (1879) 4 Cal 231 (236).

[See (Vol 15) 1928 Bom 55 (55). (Such a letter perused by arbitrator and rejected—Held no misconduct.)]

[6] If a party offers to abide by the oath of the opposite party, the arbitrator can make his award accordingly. (1882) 4 All 283 (288); (1878) 1 All 535 (539). (Per Pearson, J., Spankie, J., contra.)

[7] The absence of the notes by the arbitrator of the proceedings before him is not a ground for setting aside the award and especially so if the party objecting did not make any protest until after the award was made. (Vol 1) 1914 P C 105 (107); 36 All 386; 17 Oudh Cas 120 (P C). (Affirming 14 Oudh Cas 308 (316)).

[See (Vol 23) 1936 Lah 492 (493). (Arbitrator should make enquiry but he is not bound to keep a record of such enquiry.)]

[8] Until an award is finally published, the arbitrator has a right to reconsider the award he has already made. Once it is published his authority is exhausted; he is functus officio and has no power thereafter to correct or modify the award. (1879) 4 Cal 231 (235); (Vol 22) 1935 Lah 491 (492); (1910) 1910 Pun W R No. 73, p. 175 (176, 177). (A fresh award is valid and legal even if it is different in its terms from the original one.) (Vol 6) 1919 Pat 74 (78); (1911) 14 Cal L Jour 188 (198); (Vol 5) 1918 Lah 239 (240); 1917 Pun Re No. 99; (1883) 9 Cal 575 (579).

[9] When a cause or matter in difference is referred to an arbitrator, whether a lawyer or a layman, he is constituted the sole and final judge of all questions both of law and of fact. (Vol 10) 1923 P C 66 (68); 47 Bom 578; 50 Ind App 324 (P C); (Vol 22) 1935 Lah 52 (53). (But an award may be set aside if in the award there is found some legal proposition, which is the basis of the award, and which is patently erroneous — See Notes on S. 16.)

[10] Courts will not sit as Courts of appeal to consider the correctness of an award on the merits in respect of matters of fact or even of law. (1896) 18 All 422 (427) (FB).

[2] Where an award was not made in time and consequently the reference to arbitration was cancelled, it was held that the Court had no power to look at the award subsequently made and base its judgment on it, as if it were the report of a commissioner. (Vol 9) 1922 Lah 194 (195).

7. Suit to set aside an award.—See S. 32.

1. "Award may be filed." — [1] Only an award made pursuant to a submission under the Arbitration Act can be filed, for it is only over such an award that the Court has complete control, the provisions of the Act in many respects being inapplicable to awards made under any other Act, (Vol 13) 1926 Cal 938 (941); 53 Cal 65.

2. Jurisdiction.—[1] Where according to the contract, goods were to be sent from Cawnpore to Karachi but they were not so sent and thereupon reference to arbitration followed, it was held that award of the arbitrators could be filed in Karachi, though the contract was broken at Cawnpore. (Vol 9) 1922 Sind 32 (33); 15 Sind L R 74.

(2) Notwithstanding anything contained in any other law for the time being in force and save as otherwise provided in this Act, all questions regarding the validity, effect or existence of an award or an arbitration agreement between the parties to the agreement or persons claiming under them shall be decided by the Court in which the award under the agreement has been, or may be, filed, and by no other Court.

(3) All applications regarding the conduct of arbitration proceedings or otherwise arising out of such proceedings shall be made to the Court where the award has been, or may be, filed, and to no other Court.

(4) Notwithstanding anything contained elsewhere in this Act or in any other law for the time being in force, where in any reference any application under this Act has been made in a Court competent to entertain it, that Court alone shall have jurisdiction over the arbitration proceedings and all subsequent applications arising out of that reference and the arbitration proceedings shall be made in that Court and in no other Court.

32. Notwithstanding any law for the time being in force, no suit shall lie on any ground whatsoever for a decision upon the existence, effect or validity of an arbitration agreement or award, nor shall any arbitration agreement or award be set aside, amended, modified or in any way affected otherwise than as provided in this Act.

Judge—Award filed by the Court and decree passed — In the meanwhile designations of Courts altered and Court of Divisional Judge becoming Court of District Judge—Fresh application by arbitrator and one of parties for filing of award — District Judge granting it — Order of District Judge held to be nullity — All the proceedings were complete when the award was filed by the arbitrator subject to any action which might be taken by the Court under Ss. 13 and 14 of the 1889 Act (now Ss. 16 and 30). (Vol 23) 1936 Pesh 2 (3).

3. Questions relating to agreement.—[1] Court can restrain the defendants from proceeding to arbitration when action brought impeaches the instrument containing the agreement for reference. (Vol 8) 1921 Sind 114 (117) : 14 Sind L R 5.

[2] Injunction to restrain arbitration may be issued when agreement to refer to arbitration is impeached and not otherwise. (1910) 4 Sind L R 187 (191, 192).

[3] See also Section 33.

4. Questions relating to award. — [1] Decision of the same question by a Court and by an arbitrator is not permitted; if the dispute before the two tribunals is identical the decision of the arbitrator is invalid. But if the dispute is not the same then the jurisdiction of the arbitrator is not ousted. (Vol 16) 1929 Lah 564 (566); (Vol 9) 1922 Lah 369 (372) : 3 Lah 296.

[2] It is for the Court to find whether there was a proper reference to arbitration and whether the matters were validly before the arbitrators and the umpire. (Vol 15) 1928 Mad 107 (110, 111).

[3] Court hearing an objection to arbitration should insist on having either the evidence properly brought before it, or deliberately withdrawn or abandoned by parties raising the objection. (1922) 64 Ind Cas 706 (707) (All).

[4] Party who makes an objection must prove that he objected at the time to the umpire, to his proceeding in making a final award without hearing his witnesses. Burden of proof lies on objector to establish unjust conduct of umpire, when his award is filed in Court. (1922) 64 Ind Cas 706 (707) (All).

[5] The mere fact that no evidence was led on the date fixed for hearing or that additional evidence of misrepresentation was discovered would not entitle the plaintiff to have the matter retried. (Vol 17) 1930 Sind 195 (197).

[6] Acceptance of benefit even under protest may preclude party from objecting to the award, but a party obeying an award is not so estopped. (Vol 17) 1930 Sind 195 (198).

5. Repudiation of contract containing arbitration clause — See Notes on S. 34.

6. Suit to enforce an award. — See Note on S. 32.

7. Suit to set aside an award. — See S. 32.

1. SECTION 32.

[1] The first part of S. 32 prevents a suit to challenge the existence of an arbitration agreement. Its second part prevents the setting aside, etc., of an arbitration agreement otherwise than as provided by the Act. (Vol 32) 1945 Bom. 494 (495).

[2] Claim to set aside arbitration awards or challenge arbitration agreements should be made by applications to Court and decided on affidavits, or on other evidence if deemed expedient by the Court, and not by means of a suit. (Vol 28) 1941 Cal 527 (528) : 1 L R (1941) 2 Cal 123.

[3] No separate suit lies to question the existence, validity or effect of the award, which can be done only by resort to Ss. 32 and 33. (Vol 32) 1945 Mad 371 (372).

[4] Enforcement of award must be only through proceedings under S. 14. Separate suit to enforce award does not lie even in the case of successful party. (Vol 32) 1945 Mad. 371 (373).

[5] Where an application to set aside an award is refused and a decree is passed in accordance with it, no suit will lie thereafter to set aside the award. (Vol 32) 1945 Oudh 92 (93). (Only remedies open to an aggrieved party are either to file objections before the award is made a decree or to appeal against the decree on grounds stated in S. 16.); (Vol 23) 1936 Lah 865 (870). (Case under Arbitration Act, 1899.); (Vol 6) 1919 Low Bur 12 (12) : 10 Low Bur Rul 106.

[6] A minor can sue to set aside a decree against him based on an award on the ground that the reference to arbitration was made without obtaining the leave of the Court as required by O. 32, R. 7, Civil P. C. (Vol 4) 1917 Mad 672 (679) : 39 Mad 853.

Arbitration agreement or award to be contested by application.

33. Any party to an arbitration agreement or any person claiming under him desiring to challenge the existence or validity of an arbitration agreement or an award or to have the effect of either determined shall apply to the Court and the Court shall decide the question on affidavits:

Provided that where the Court deems it just and expedient, it may set down the application for hearing on other evidence also, and it may pass such orders for discovery and particulars as it may do in a suit.

34. Where any party to an arbitration agreement or any person claiming under him commences any legal proceedings against any other party to the agreement or any person claiming under him in respect of any matter agreed to be referred, any party to such legal proceedings may, at any time before filing a written statement or taking any other steps in the proceedings, apply to the judicial authority before which the proceedings are pending to stay the proceedings; and if satisfied that there is no sufficient reason why the matter should not be referred in accordance with the arbitration agreement and that the applicant was, at the time when the proceedings were commenced, and still remains, ready and willing to do all things necessary to the proper conduct of the arbitration, such authority may make an order staying the proceedings.

1. SECTION 33.

[1] Proceedings under S. 33 are entirely different from the proceedings under Ss. 14, 15, 16 and 17 of the Arbitration Act. A Court dismissing the application under S. 33 is not bound to pronounce a judgment in accordance with the award. (Vol 31) 1944 All 188 (188) : ILR (1944) All 375.

[2] Application under S. 33 is not one for securing order that agreement to refer to arbitration be not filed. Such application cannot be made under the Act. A person who does not want an agreement to be filed can oppose the application made by his opposing party to have the agreement filed. (Vol 30) 1943 Lah 295 (296).

[3] Section 33 does not take away the right to set up as a defence the non-existence of an agreement when the agreement is propounded under S. 34 by the other side. The section provides for a case where a party wants a declaration of non-existence of an agreement for his own use. (Vol 32) 1945 Bom 494 (495, 496).

[4] Where a case under S. 33 involves many complicated and contested questions of fact and law the Court will normally decide the case on evidence and not merely on affidavits. (Vol 33) 1946 Nag 5 (8) : I L R (1946) Nag 634.

[5] An amendment of an application under S. 33, for declaration that the award was invalid which does not alter the nature of the application and does not displace it or convert it into an application of an inconsistent nature can be allowed, when it is made at an early stage. (Vol 33) 1946 Nag 5 (8) : I L R (1946) Nag 634.

[6] An application to set aside an award is not, as a rule, within the jurisdiction of the Court, until some application or attempt has been made to file the award or some other similar step is taken to enforce it. (Vol 10) 1923 All 31 (32, 33).

[7] Question whether contract is gaming and wagering, cannot be tried on affidavits. (Vol 28) 1941 Cal 527 (528) : ILR (1941) 2 Cal 123.

[8] For an application under S. 33 to set aside an award, court-fee of 12 annas under Art. 1 (b) of Sch. II, Court-fees Act, as amended in Madras, is correct. (Vol 33) 1946 Mad 104 (105).

[9] An order passed by a Single Judge under S. 33, Arbitration Act, challenging the validity of an arbitration agreement, is not appealable to the Privy Council. (Vol 30) 1943 Bom 196 (196, 197).

1. Appeal.—See S. 39 (v).

2. Applicability and scope. — [1] A defendant, a party to arbitration agreement, cannot seek specific performance of the arbitration agreement, nor set it up as a bar to a suit brought against him in contravention of the agreement. (Vol 6) 1919 Cal 479 (480) : 46 Cal 1041.

[See also (Vol 22) 1935 Lah 775 (779).]

[2] Section 34 is in the nature of a summary procedure. (Vol 27) 1940 Bom 93 (95) : ILR (1940) Bom 249.

[3] Section 34 provides for stay only where there is a submission. (Vol 20) 1933 Lah 79 (79).

[4] It was held in (1910) 34 Bom 372 (373), decided under the 1899 Act, that the Act only applied to cases where references were made before taking any legal proceedings. Hence, where a submission was made after the commencement of proceedings, it was not competent for any party to apply under S. 19 (corresponding to S. 34 of the present Act), to stay the proceedings. This decision is now of doubtful authority in the light of the provisions contained in S. 25.

Section 34 (contd.)

[5] English decisions subsequent to English Arbitration Act should not be applied as main reasons for refusing stay order. (Vol 16) 1929 Bom 119 (123) : 53 Bom 271.

3. Application to stay proceedings. — [1] The power vested in a Court to stay a suit is purely discretionary and can be exercised only on an application by one of the parties to the suit at or before the settlement of issues. (Vol 1) 1914 Lah 436 (437, 438) : 1913 Pun Re No. 92.

[2] A party to submission must apply to the Court for stay at the earliest opportunity, i. e., immediately after appearance or before taking any step in the proceeding. (Vol 15) 1928 Sind 94 (95) : 22 Sind L R 269; (Vol 10) 1923 All 139 (139, 140).

[3] Petition for stay filed three years after suit and after framing of issues — Sch. II, Para. 18, Civil P. C. (corresponding to this section) held not complied with and stay refused. (Vol 25) 1938 Mad 205 (206).

[4] If suit is filed despite reference to arbitration specific performance cannot be enforced but only stay of suit can be asked for. (Vol 8) 1921 Cal 244 (245) : 47 Cal 849.

[5] A clause in a bill of lading excluding the jurisdiction of the Courts in India to decide questions arising under the bill of lading and giving the same to the foreign tribunal of the country of export has the effect only as a submission to arbitration of disputes arising out of bill of lading to the foreign tribunals. The clause cannot afford a valid plea to the shipping company to urge that no suit can be instituted against them for the recovery of the amount due on account of loss or damage sustained by the holder in India. The only remedy for the shipping company is to apply for stay of suit. (Vol 23) 1936 Sind 85 (86) : 30 Sind L. R. 25.

[6] Jurisdiction of Court is not ousted by arbitration clause. If a suit is instituted ignoring the arbitration clause the defendant can sue for damages for breach of the contract to refer or indirectly enforce it by applying for stay of proceedings. He cannot after suit and without stay of proceedings nominate arbitrators. If he does so and gets an award he will be offending S. 14. (1913) 7 Sind L R 1 (3, 4).

[7] Suit by Official Receiver of the property of an insolvent guarantee broker against employer to recover the balance of guarantee deposit cannot be referred to arbitration under S. 34 without the leave of the Court under S. 16 (2) of the Provincial Insolvency Act. (Vol 1) 1914 Sind 59 (59, 60) : 8 Sind L R 60.

[8] Suit stayed and matter referred to arbitration — During arbitration proceedings mistake in plaintiff's name corrected by Court — Suit does not become new suit — Arbitrators do not lose their jurisdiction on the original reference. (Vol 13) 1926 Cal 722 (725).

4. Burden of proof. — [1] Fact that a submission in writing exists must be established by the person who applies for the stay order. (Vol 27) 1940 Bom 93 (94) : 1 L R (1940) Bom 249.

[2] The onus of showing that the stay should not be granted lies on the party who opposes the stay. (Vol 16) 1929 Bom 119 (125) : 53 Bom 271; (Vol 8) 1921 Cal 244 (247) : 47 Cal 849; (Vol 6) 1919 Cal 479 (480) : 46 Cal 1041; (Vol 9) 1922 Lah 97 (97) : 2 Lah 19; (1921) 3 U. P. L R (Lah) 48 (48); (Vol 22) 1935 Sind 62 (66) : 28 Sind L R 366; (Vol 5) 1918 Sind 35 (36) : 12 Sind L R 34.

5. Commences legal proceedings. — [1] Within the meaning of S. 84, the legal proceedings shall be deemed to commence only when the defendants have been supplied with a copy of the plaint. (Vol 28) 1941 Lah 64 (64).

6. Court should be satisfied of grounds. — [1] Before an order staying proceedings can be made it must be proved that there is a valid submission, that there is no sufficient reason why the matter should not be referred according to the submission, that the applicant was and is ready to do all things necessary to the proper conduct of the arbitration. (Vol 7) 1920 Cal 795 (796) : 47 Cal 1020.

[2] Arbitration agreement does not deprive any party of its right to sue. The party sued can apply to the Court to stay the proceedings pending before it, and the Court, if satisfied that there is no sufficient reason why the matter should not be referred in accordance with the submission, may make an order, staying the proceedings. (Vol 20) 1933 Lah 79 (79).

[3] Although a Court has a discretion to stay or to refuse to stay a suit, it is its duty to act upon the agreement to refer to arbitration unless it sees sufficient reason why the dispute should not be referred. It cannot be said that the Court exercises its discretion in an unjudicious or capricious manner, where it refuses to stay the suit, holding that there was no valid admission and that there was no contract regarding arbitration between the parties. (Vol 24) 1937 Lah 206 (207, 208).

[4] A bill of lading contained a clause to the effect that "Failing an amicable understanding between the parties, the aggrieved one can proceed only before the Judicial authority in Genoa." The aggrieved party in contravention of the restricting clause brought the suit in the Bombay High Court, while the proceedings were already started at Genoa. Held, that the clause was a valid submission and the suit should be stayed pending the decision of the Court at Genoa. (Vol 17) 1930 Bom 185 (186) : 54 Bom 278.

[5] The plaintiff was appointed as medical referee by the defendant, an insurance company, under a written agreement, which provided for a reference to arbitration, in disputes respecting the rights, liabilities and duties of parties. The plaintiff brought a suit for remuneration and damages for wrongful dismissal. The company had a right to have the suit stayed. (Vol 28) 1941 Cal 503 (504).

[6] Where the questions involved are not of such intricacy as cannot be determined appropriately by the arbitrators, stay should not be refused. (Vol 28) 1941 Lah 427 (429) : 1 L R (1942) Lah 788.

[7] When granting stay under Sch. II, Para. 18, Civil P. C. (corresponding to this section), the Court ought not to adjourn the case "sine die." It is the duty of the Court to see that the parties do not delay the arbitration proceedings unduly. (Vol 25) 1938 Mad 205 (206).

7. Court which can grant stay. — [1] It is the Court in which the suit is filed which has power to stay the suit under S. 4 read with S. 19, Arbitration Act (1899). (Vol 6) 1919 Sind 57 (61) : 13 Sind L R 8; (Vol 18) 1931 Lah 644 (646) : 13 Lah 59.

[2] Where a suit is pending in the Court of the Judicial Commissioner, separate proceedings for stay must be started by an application under S. 34. (Vol 20) 1933 Sind 75 (75, 76) : 27 Sind L R 169.

8. "Matter agreed to be referred." — [1] An order of stay will be passed only when the subject-matter of the suit is the same as that agreed to be submitted to arbitration. (Vol 8) 1921 Cal 255 (256).

[See also (Vol 9) 1922 Lah 353 (353, 354). 2 Lah 335. (Arbitration clause in indent—Agreement to accept bills notwithstanding dispute—Suit on bills—No stay.)]

9. "Ready and willing." — [1] Time in respect of readiness and willingness to refer to arbitration is to be determined when a party brings suit and other party called upon to appear. (Vol 15) 1928 Sind 97 (99) : 22 Sind L R 286.

10. Repudiation of contract containing arbitration clause—Effect. — [1] If any party who has contracted to settle a dispute by arbitration backs out of it and institutes a suit in disregard of the contract, and if the other party wishes to bind the party suing to their contract for settling the matter by arbitration, he must apply to the Court to stay the suit. But if neither party wishes to have recourse to arbitration, the ordinary tribunals established by law will have jurisdiction to pronounce judgment upon the matters in dispute. (Vol 26) 1939 Pat 118 (120) : 17 Pat 293.

[2] Where a party to a contract containing a clause enabling the parties to refer to arbitration, repudiates the contract he cannot be permitted to rely upon a subsidiary term in the contract and demand a reference to arbitration. (Vol 7) 1920 Sind 27(29) : 14 Sind L R 91.

[3] Where a contract is sought to be avoided for reasons 'de hors,' the arbitration clause in such contract cannot be resorted to, because it is liable to be set aside along with other terms of the agreement. (Vol 16) 1929 Bom 242 (243) : 53 Bom 573.

[4] Where the defendant claims to have rescinded the contract on the ground of breach by the plaintiff, the dispute is one arising out of agreement and the defendant is entitled to stay order under S. 34. (Vol 29) 1942 Cal 83 (85) : ILR (1941) 2 Cal 534.

[5] Stay order cannot be refused because the defendant repudiates liability under the contract. (Vol 30) 1943 Pat 53 (59) : 21 Pat 544.

[6] Where plaintiffs brought a suit for declaration and injunction restraining the defendants from proceeding to arbitration, after repudiating a contract containing an arbitration clause, it was held that suit was not maintainable till after the award had been given. (Vol 18) 1931 Lah 66 (67).

[7] An arbitration clause in a contract can be regarded as a thing apart from the main conditions of a contract and it is not a necessary clause in the contract. The main contract deals with the performance of mutual obligations and how they are to be performed, whereas the arbitration clause deals only with the procedure for determining liabilities created by the contract, and the arbitration clause itself creates no liability. Hence, where a contract of sale of goods contains an arbitration clause, and the seller expressly reserves a right of re-sale in case a buyer should make default, the arbitration clause is not wiped out on the rescission of the contract by the seller by the exercise of his right of re-sale under the contract and therefore reference to arbitration can be made in pursuance of the arbitration clause. (Vol 33) 1946 Lah 116 (126, 130) (FB); [(Vol 28) 1941 Lah 427 : ILR (1942) Lah 788 and (Vol 30) 1943 Lah 295 overruled.]

[8] Where a contract contained an arbitration clause but no party tried to avail of it before the institution of the suit it cannot be pleaded that the institution of the suit amounts to negation of the arbitration clause. Such passive attitude is no reason for refusing the stay of suit under S. 34. (Vol 31) 1944 All 253 (254) : I L R (1944) All 341; (Vol 30) 1943 Bom 199 (201); (Vol 16) 1929 Cal 97 (98) : 56 Cal 118.

[9] Stay pending arbitration can be claimed as of right. Omission to object to litigation for considerable time is no ground for refusing stay. (Vol 11) 1924 Mad 336 (337) : 47 Mad 164.

11. Revision. — [1] There is nothing in S. 39 or S. 41 to deprive the High Court of the powers conferred on it by S. 115, Civil P. C. Where in not accepting the defendant's position under S. 34 that the case fell within the arbitration clause the Court did not apply the principles laid down in S. 34 correctly, it was held that the Court acted with material irregularity in the exercise of its jurisdiction or powers under S. 34 and therefore the High Court was entitled to interfere in revision. (Vol 32) 1945 All 146 (147) : I L R (1945) All 162.

[2] Where the Court, wrongly holding that the parties were bound to refer the dispute between them to arbitration, stayed the suit, it was held that High Court could interfere in revision. (Vol 15) 1928 Bom 275 (278) : 52 Bom 420.

12. Stay not obtained—Award given—Effect.—

[1] Contract containing arbitration clause — Reference after institution of suit—Suit not stayed — Award is of no effect unless the suit has been stayed pending arbitration. (Vol 8) 1921 Cal 770 (770) : 47 Cal 752; (Vol 13) 1926 Sind 86 (88).

[2] If a party to a contract has gone to Court instead of referring a dispute to arbitrators in accordance with its terms, he may be liable to pay damages for breach of the contract. But the arbitrators will not be able to function and give a valid award during the pendency of the suit, unless the suit is stayed by the Court itself. (Vol 22) 1935 Lah 916 (917) : 17 Lah 291.

[3] When one of the parties to reference to an arbitration subsequently resiles from it and files a suit in respect of the subject-matter, the arbitrator becomes functus officio on the filing of the suit and the award subsequent to it is ultra vires and a decree embodying the award cannot legally be passed. (Vol 5) 1918 Mad 719 (719, 720) : 41 Mad 115.

[But see (Vol 7) 1920 Upp Bur 6 (7) : 3 Upp Bur 210. (Arbitration pending suit — Award is bar to decision of suit by Court until it is set aside.)]

[4] Suit filed before arbitration began. Award come to during suit—Stay of suit not obtained — Award is not invalid but it cannot be filed till stay application is disposed of—In such cases the correct order is to reject award and order it to be represented after Court disposes of application under S. 19. (Vol 11) 1924 Sind 146 (147, 149) : 17 Sind L R 228.

[5] If before the application for stay is made or disposed of the arbitrators have made their award, the proper course for opposite party is to plead the award in bar of suit, and not to obtain a stay order. (Vol 24) 1937 Lah 851 (857).

[6] In order to apply the doctrine that an award made during the pendency of a suit is invalid, the person instituting the suit must be party to the agreement to refer; the party wishing to stay the suit must have the right to apply to the Court to stay it, and the subject-matter of the dispute must be the same before the arbitrator and before the Court. Where some of the partners of a partnership refer their dispute concerning partnership as regards their rights inter se, and the remaining partners institute a suit for partnership accounts, an award made pending such a suit is not ultra vires. (Vol 14) 1927 Lah 465 (468).

[7] The validity of the agreement entered into prior to the suit is not affected by the institution of the suit and it is only the subsequent award that is invalid. Hence, though an award is made subsequent to suit, the Court can nevertheless stay the suit in order to enable the defendant to have invalid award set aside and thereafter recommence the arbitration proceedings. Otherwise a party to the agreement can nullify the entire arbitration proceedings by filing a suit at the last moment when the award is about to be delivered without giving the opponent any time to obtain a stay of the suit. (Vol 10) 1923 Cal 135 (138).

12a. Stay order — Removal of.—[1] Where the Court has stayed a suit, before it is revived, the stay should be removed and then the Court should decide the suit on its merits. (Vol 24) 1937 Sind 247 (248). (Court hearing suit on merits without vacating stay order by separate order—Stay must be deemed to have been vacated by implication.)

[2] Civil P. C., Sch. II, Para. 18 does not apply if an order for stay of a suit is vacated owing to the refusal of one of the arbitrators to act and the suit is proceeded with. (Vol 6) 1919 Cal 295 (295).

13. Stay order, restrictions in.—[1] An order for stay under S. 34 ought not to be restricted by a time limit. (Vol 5) 1918 Sind 41 (43) : 12 Sind L R 41.

14. Stay order whether finally disposes the suit. — [1] Suit stayed and an award and decree thereon passed; stay order is sufficient to dispose of suit and no final decree dismissing the suit is necessary. (Vol 8) 1921 All 275 (276) : 43 All 279; (Vol 8) 1921 All 219 (220) : 43 All 553; (Vol 30) 1943 Oudh 378 (381).

15. Stay when may not be granted.—[1] Where a dispute to be referred to arbitration involves a charge of fraud, there cannot be a stay of the suit instituted by the party charged with fraud to have the matter investigated publicly in a Court of law. If, on the other hand, it is within the terms of the reference and the facts alleged to constitute the fraud would have mere evidentiary value, those facts are no ground for refusing the stay. If on the other hand, they are matters which would be directly in issue, and the party against whom these charges are made wants the matter to be investigated in public by a suit he ought to be allowed to do so. (Vol 30) 1943 Cal 238 (240) : I L R (1942) 2 Cal 589.

[2] What is sufficient cause for refusing stay under S. 34 depends on the particular facts of each case. The fact that the submission clause does not include all matters in a suit, fraud or forgery of a party, may be sufficient cause. (Vol 22) 1935 Sind 62 (67) : 28 Sind L R 366.

[3] Prima facie leaning of the Court is towards stay of suit except in cases of grave fraud. Where prima facie case of fraud is made out, Court will not stay the suit. (Vol 11) 1924 Cal 796 (800); (Vol 11) 1924 Mad 336 (337) : 47 Mad 164; (Vol 30) 1943 Pat 53 (59) : 21 Pat 544; (Vol 24) 1937 Lah 851 (858) : I L R (1939) Lah 351.

[4] The Court may refuse to grant stay where misrepresentation is alleged. (Vol 30) 1943 Pat 53 (59) : 21 Pat 544; (Vol 24) 1937 Lah 851 (858) : I L R (1939) Lah 351.

[5] Where the misrepresentation or fraud alleged was something quite distinct from and previous to the contract, application for stay of suit does not lie. (Vol 24) 1937 Lah 851 (858) : I L R (1939) Lah 351.

[6] An order staying suit, if made on fraudulent misrepresentation, can be reversed by the Court making the order. High Court is empowered under S. 151, Civil P. C., to intervene for the ends of justice. (Vol 27) 1940 Lah 265 (266).

[7] Where the point is one of law and more fitted to be decided by a Judge, the Court will refuse the application for stay. (Vol 13) 1926 Sind 286 (288) : 19 S L R 168; (Vol 52) 1945 All 146 (146, 147) : I L R (1945) All 162; (Vol 11) 1924 Mad 336 (337) : 47 Mad 164.

[8] It is for the Court to exercise a judicial discretion whether the nature of the dispute between the parties is of such a character as could be more satisfactorily disposed of by a Court than an arbitrator. Thus, where the point is one of law and more fitted to be decided by a Judge, the Court should refuse the application for stay. (Vol 13) 1926 Sind 286 (288) : 19 Sind L R 168.

[9] Where the contract between the parties provides for reference to arbitration, the arbitrators are not deprived of their jurisdiction merely because a question of law has arisen between the parties. (Vol 13) 1926 Sind 286 (288) : 19 Sind L R 168; (Vol 5) 1918 Sind 35 (36) : 12 Sind L R 34; (Vol 29) 1942 Sind 57 (59) : I L R (1941) Kar 587.

[10] Suit cannot be refused to be stayed on ground that difficult questions of law are involved. Arbitrators are competent to decide all questions. (Vol 7) 1920 Sind 61 (62) : 13 Sind L R 201.

[11] Under this section a suit can only be stayed when it is in respect of any matter agreed to be referred but not otherwise. If it is not in respect of the same matter which is agreed to be referred, there can be no stay of suit and there can be no question that the arbitrators are functus officio until such suit is stayed. (Vol 22) 1935 Sind 228 (229, 230) : 37 Or L Jour 175.

[12] Where the plaintiff is not aware, before the institution of the suit, that there is a difference between him and the defendant or of nature of the difference, he cannot be said to have gone back upon his agreement to refer to arbitration or was attempting to go back upon it, by rushing to Court. The Court under these circumstances would be justified in the exercise of its discretion in refusing to stay the suit. (Vol 27) 1940 Cal 105 (107, 109) : I L R (1939) 2 Cal 181.

[13] When a Court finds that the agreement for reference to arbitration provides for the appointment of an umpire who will be partial the Court should retain its jurisdiction to try the suit. (Vol 5) 1918 Sind 41 (45) : 12 Sind L R 41.

[14] Suit on a cross contract by a party, merely for the determination of amount payable by one to the other cannot be stayed pending reference when arbitration clauses of a contract are only applicable where delivery of goods purports to be the true object of contract. (Vol 7) 1920 Sind 36 (37).

[15] Where there is agreement to refer and one party institutes a suit, the defendant may take recourse to arbitration or may waive such course. If he has in any way misled the plaintiff in bringing action, he will be punished with costs. If he has misrepresented that he would submit to the jurisdiction of the Court instead of choosing a path of arbitration, he would be estopped from applying for stay of the suit and this would be sufficient ground for the Court for refusing stay. (Vol 11) 1924 Mad 336 (337) : 47 Mad 164.

[17] Where the agreement to refer has become inoperative owing to death of one of the arbitrators specified in the agreement, the Court has no power to stay the suit under Sch. II, Para. 18, Civil P. C. (Vol 18) 1931 Mad 28 (32) : 54 Mad 469.

[18] Where a suit was filed impeaching the very agreement containing the agreement clause, held that the Court could order stay of the arbitration proceedings. (Vol 6) 1919 Cal 1042 (1042).

[19] Agreement to refer dispute to three named arbitrators—Application under Sch. II, Para. 18, Civil P. C., to stay suit—Lower Court's finding that matter not covered by arbitration—Appeal—One arbitrator dying during pendency of appeal—Held, agreement rendered impossible of performance and hence the suit could not be stayed. (1936) 1936 Mad W N 407 (407).

[20] Stay must be refused if agreement does not amount to submission. (Vol 21) 1934 Sind 200 (202) : 28 Sind L R 223.

35. (1) No reference nor award shall be rendered invalid by reason only of the commencement of legal proceedings upon the subject-matter of the reference, but when legal proceedings upon the whole of the subject-matter of the reference have been commenced between all the parties to the reference and a notice thereof has been given to the arbitrators or umpire, all further proceedings in a pending reference shall, unless a stay of proceedings is granted under section 34, be invalid.

(2) In this section the expression "parties to the reference" includes any persons claiming under any of the parties and litigating under the same title.

ing the suit. (Vol 1) 1914 Bom 184 (185, 186) : 38 Bom 687.

[22] Where the agreement to refer to arbitration has become a dead letter in view of the fact that neither party has any desire to enforce it, the Court will proceed with the trial of the suit. (Vol 1) 1914 All 275 (276).

[23] An arbitration clause cannot be said to be an incident of the contract for sale or purchase. Unless parties definitely mean to bind themselves with such clause there is no valid submission, and a stay order cannot be got under S. 34. (Vol 21) 1934 Cal 796 (798) : 61 Cal 702.

[24] Partnership agreement contained a provision for referring disputes to arbitration. One partner failed to pay up and render accounts even after being called upon to do so by the other. Suit was filed against the failing partner. It was held that the suit could not be stayed as there was no occasion for reference to arbitration. (Vol 18) 1931 Bom 164 (165, 166).

16. "Steps in the proceedings." — [1] In order to constitute "a step in the proceedings" the act in question must be : (a) an application made to the Court or something in the nature of an application, e. g., attending on summons for directions, (b) such an act as would indicate that the party is acquiescing in the method adopted by the other side of having the disputes decided by the Court. (Vol 30) 1943 Cal 484 (487, 488) : ILR (1943) 2 Cal 298.

[2] An application for an adjournment of a case to enable the defendant to file a written statement is prima facie a step in the proceedings within the meaning of S. 34. (Vol 32) 1945 All 24 (25) : I L R (1944) All 681 ; (Vol 30) 1943 Bom 228 (229) : I L R (1943) Bom 298.

[3] A verbal prayer by defendant's counsel for further time to file a written statement in reply to the Court's question is taking a step in the proceedings. (Vol 11) 1924 Cal 789 (790).

[But see (Vol 28) 1941 Lah 64 (64).]

[4] Defendant not served and not having entered appearance, applied for copy of plaint and for leave to enter appearance. These acts are not steps in proceedings. Any act in the nature of an application to the Court indicating that a party was willing that the suit should proceed would be a step within S. 34. (Vol 12) 1925 Cal 801 (804) : 52 Cal 458.

[5] Application made to the Court for postponement of the hearing of the suit is a step in the proceedings within the meaning of S. 34. (Vol 22) 1935 Sind 62 (67) : 28 Sind L R 366.

[6] Application for time is a "step in the proceedings" within S. 34. Even a mere acquiescence in a proceeding initiated by the other party is a 'step in the proceedings'. (Vol 4) 1917 Sind 12(12) : 10 Sind L R 190.

[7] In a suit for damages for breach of a contract containing an arbitration clause the defendant applied for stay. But before the application was heard, adjournment was obtained by consent without prejudice. Held that the obtaining of such adjournment did not in the circumstances amount to taking a step in the proceedings within the meaning of S. 34. (1937) I L R (1937) 2 Cal 63 (64, 65).

[8] A mere intimation to the Court of future application for stay is not a step in suit. (Vol 15) 1928 Sind 97 (99) : 22 Sind L R 286.

17. Waiver.—[1] Suit was filed in spite of agreement for reference—Defendant in not applying for stay of suit under S. 34 must be deemed to have waived his right. (Vol 9) 1922 All 48 (49) : 44 All 292.

18. Who may apply.—[1] It is sufficient if one of the several defendants applies for stay order under S. 34. (Vo 19) 1932 Sind 111 (114) : 26 Sind L R 497.

1. SECTION 35.

[1] Section 35 relates to the effect of subsequent legal proceedings on a pending reference. Such proceedings will not affect the reference unless (a) they relate to the whole of the referred matter, and (b) all the parties to the reference are impleaded in the proceedings. Where these conditions are fulfilled, the legal proceedings will nullify the arbitration proceedings on the expiry of the time within which an application to stay the legal proceedings may be made or on the refusal of such an application. (See Statement of Objects and Reasons). "We have substituted the words 'unless a stay of proceedings is granted under S. 34' for the words 'on the expiry of the time for making an application under S. 34 or on the rejection of such an application', because the giving of notice to the arbitrators should be the time after which arbitration proceedings become invalid and invalidity should only result if the Court does not grant a stay of proceedings." (Select Committee Report.)

[2] The rule which existed before S. 35, was that the moment a party to an arbitration started a suit touching the matter referred to the arbitrators, the arbitrators become 'functi officio' on the ground that there cannot be two tribunals concurrently exercising jurisdiction over the same dispute since the domestic forum must give way to the public forum. But the Legislature decided to modify this rule and the result is S. 35. The modifications are these : (a) that the rule no longer applies unless the legal proceedings are upon the whole of the subject-matter of the reference, (b) that the rule does not come into operation until notice has been given to the arbitrators or the umpire, and (c) that it is only the further proceedings which, unless a stay has been granted under S. 34, will be invalid, the old rule having been that if there was anything left to arbitrate about after the legal proceedings were finished, the arbitration had to start de novo. (Vol 32) 1945 Bom 497 (502, 503).

[But see (Vol 27) 1940 Lah 265 (265). (This was a case decided under the 1899 Act holding that any proceedings taken after the institution of a suit on a reference made prior to the institution of the suit are null and void.)]

[3] Section 35 is the corollary or counterpart of S. 34. This section is new and is intended to modify the English common law rule which had prevailed in India before 1940. The legal proceedings which are liable to Power of Court where arbitration agreement is ordered not to apply to a particular difference, to order that a provision making an award a condition precedent to an action shall not apply to such difference.

36. Where it is provided (whether in the arbitration agreement or otherwise) that an award under an arbitration agreement shall be a condition precedent to the bringing of an action with respect to any matter to which the agreement applies, the Court, if it orders (whether under this Act or any other law) that the agreement shall cease to have effect as regards any particular difference, may further order that the said provision shall also cease to have effect as regards that difference.

Limitations.

37. (1) All the provisions of the Indian Limitation Act, 1908, shall apply to arbitrations as they apply to proceedings in Court.

(2) Notwithstanding any term in an arbitration agreement to the effect that no cause of action shall accrue in respect of any matter required by the agreement to be referred until an award is made under the agreement, a cause of action shall, for the purpose of limitation, be deemed to have accrued in respect of any such matter at the time when it would have accrued but for that term in the agreement.

(3) For the purposes of this section and of the Indian Limitation Act, 1908, an arbitration shall be deemed to be commenced when one party to the arbitration agreement serves on the other parties thereto a notice requiring the appointment of an arbitrator, or where the arbitration agreement provides that the reference shall be to a person named or designated in the agreement, requiring that the difference be submitted to the person so named or designated.

(4) Where the terms of an agreement to refer future differences to arbitration provide that any claims to which the agreement applies shall be barred unless notice to appoint an arbitrator is given or an arbitrator is appointed or some other step to commence arbitration proceedings is taken within a time fixed by the agreement, and a difference arises to which the agreement applies, the Court, if it is of opinion that in the circumstances of the case undue hardship would otherwise be caused, and notwithstanding that the time so fixed has expired, may on such terms, if any, as the justice of the case may require, extend the time for such period as it thinks proper.

(5) Where the Court orders that an award be set aside or orders, after the commencement of an arbitration, that the arbitration agreement shall cease to have effect with respect to the difference referred, the period between the commencement of the arbitration and the date of the order of the Court shall be excluded in computing the time prescribed by the Indian Limitation Act, 1908, for the commencement of the proceedings (including arbitration) with respect to the difference referred.

be stayed under S. 34 are proceedings 'in respect of any matter agreed to be referred'. But the legal proceedings in S. 35 must be the legal proceedings 'upon the whole of the subject-matter of the reference'. What the Legislature had in mind by 'the subject-matter of the reference' was the questions which arose on the pleadings, if any, in the reference or, at all events, the question which the arbitrators were investigating. (Vol 32) 1945 Bom 497 (501, 502).

[4] The Court cannot set aside an award which was made at a time when no actual legal proceedings were pending at all, merely on the ground that one of the arbitrators had notice that such proceedings were intended and that subsequently such proceedings were in fact commenced. (Vol 32) 1945 Bom 497 (503, 504).

[5] A notice to one of two joint arbitrators is, for the purposes of S. 35, notice to both. (Vol 32) 1945 Bom 497 (504).

[6] Pendency of arbitration proceedings is no bar to a suit relating to matters referred to arbitration. An award by the arbitrators after filing up of suit is no bar for the Court to adjudicate on the matter. (Vol 7) 1920 Sind 124 (126) : 13 Sind L R 193.

[7] Institution of a suit by one of the parties to the contract disputing the validity of the contract containing a submission clause is no bar to the arbitrators proceeding with reference upon the matters that are not contested in the suit. (Vol 15) 1928 Sind 91 (92) : 22 Sind L R 429.

[8] Award passed during pendency of a suit relating to the same dispute—Suit withdrawn or dismissed—Award is revived and hence valid. (Vol 15) 1928 Sind 169 (170) : 23 Sind L R 427.

[9] An award pending suit which is not stayed is of no effect. If the Court refuses to stay, it is the Court alone that can decide the matter to the exclusion of the arbitrators. (Vol 8) 1921 Cal 770 (770) : 47 Cal 752.

[10] See also the following case decided under Civil P. C., Sch. II, Para. 18 dealing with the subject of a suit instituted by a party after a reference made to arbitration. (Vol 10) 1923 Cal 135 (138).

1. Section 37.—[1] Where an award has been filed in a Court it shall be governed by Art. 182 or Art. 183 accordingly as it is filed in a High Court or not. (Vol 14) 1927 Cal 853 (854, 855) : 55 Cal 499. (Vol 11) 1924 Lah 544 (544) relied on.)

[2] Article 178, Limitation Act, does not apply where an application for filing the award is made by the arbitrator and not by the party under S. 38 or S. 14 (2), notwithstanding the rules of the Sind Chief Court in this matter. (Vol 30) 1943 Sind 33 (34, 35) : ILR (1942) Kar 466.

[3] Under an agreement a reference was to be made within 3 years of 25th May 1938 which was a Sunday. Reference made on 26th May 1941 was within time. (Vol 30) 1943 Bom 197 (197) : I L R (1943) Bom 280.

38. (1) If in any case an arbitrator or umpire refuses to deliver his award except on payment of the fees demanded by him, the Court may, on an application in this behalf, order that the arbitrator or umpire shall deliver the award to the applicant on payment into Court by the applicant of the fees demanded, and shall, after such inquiry, if any, as it thinks fit, further order that out of the money so paid into Court there shall be paid to the arbitrator or umpire by way of fees such sum as the Court may consider reasonable and that the balance of the money, if any, shall be refunded to the applicant.

(2) An application under sub-section (1) may be made by any party to the reference unless the fees demanded have been fixed by written agreement between him and the arbitrator or umpire, and the arbitrator or umpire shall be entitled to appear and be heard on any such application.

(3) The Court may make such orders as it thinks fit respecting the costs of an arbitration where any question arises respecting such costs and the award contains no sufficient provision concerning them.

[1999—S. 17; Civil P. C., Sch. II Para. 13.]

CHAPTER VI.

APPEALS.

39. (1) An appeal shall lie from the following orders passed under this Act (and from no others) to the Court authorised by law to hear appeals from original decrees of the Court passing the order:—

An order—

- (i) superseding an arbitration;
- (ii) on an award stated in the form of a special case;
- (iii) modifying or correcting an award;
- (iv) filing or refusing to file an arbitration agreement;
- (v) staying or refusing to stay legal proceedings where there is an arbitration agreement;
- (vi) setting aside or refusing to set aside an award.

1. SECTION 38.

[1] In the absence of any provision in the award in the matter of costs it is open to the Court seized of the proceedings to make an order as to costs under S. 38. (Vol 17) 1930 Oudh 89 (90) : 5 Luck 678; (1912) 6 Sind L R 226 (227).

[2] Omission of the Court to fix the fees before preparation of the decree does not prevent the Court from fixing it later. (Vol 6) 1919 All 185 (185).

[3] The provision relating to the arbitrator's fees made in the award itself is part of the costs of arbitration. Even if there is no award, the Court has power to award the arbitrator's fees as part of the costs of the arbitration and as costs of the proceedings incidental to the suit under S. 35, Civil P. C. (Vol 27) 1940 Sind 190 (190) : I L R (1940) Kar 34.

[4] Costs incurred in filing award in Court must be determined by Court. (Vol 11) 1924 Sind 91 (96) : 17 Sind L R 93.

[5] The costs incurred in the processes of obtaining an order from the Court are within the discretion of the Court and not of arbitrators but an award is not bad merely because of their inclusion. (Vol 1) 1914 Sind 62 (62) : 8 Sind L R 136.

[6] The term "costs of the arbitration" is a wide and general term and there is no justification for limiting it to such costs as might be represented by travelling expenses and the summoning of witnesses although it does include such matters. The Court can grant costs to the arbitrators for their services. (Vol 21) 1934 Nag 199 (200) : 31 Nag L R 85.

[7] An arbitrator has no interest in the award apart from his fees and costs. (Vol 30) 1943 Sind 33 (35) : I L R (1942) Kar 466.

[8] Where the Court holds that there is no valid reference to arbitration, it has no jurisdiction to pass an order as to costs of the award. (Vol 15) 1928 Mad 370 (371).

[9] Where the submission to arbitration does not express a contrary intention, the arbitrator or umpire may himself fix his remuneration. But unless the arbitrator has fixed his fees in advance by a written agreement, a party is entitled to compel him to file the award in Court and to accept the remuneration fixed by the Court. A party after paying the fee cannot object to and recover back what he has already paid. The award is binding unless the procedure in S. 38 has been adopted or it is set aside. (Vol 32) 1945 Sind 71 (73, 74) : I L R (1944) Kar 354.

[10] All the matters in dispute were referred to arbitration but the award did not deal with costs. It was held that the Court could not deal with the question of costs incurred up to the date of reference but could only award the costs incurred subsequently thereto. (Vol 19) 1932 All 183 (184) : 54 All 122.

[11] An order awarding fees to the arbitrator is a 'case decided' within the meaning of S. 115, Civil P. C., and is revisable. (Vol 27) 1940 Sind 190 (190) : I L R (1940) Kar 34.

1. SECTION 39.

[1] No appeal lies against an order granting leave to revoke authority of the appointed arbitrator. (Vol 31) 1944 Nag 152 (153) : I L R (1944) Nag 447.

[2] An order of the trial Judge superseding the arbitration on the ground that there was no valid reference to arbitration is not an order superseding the arbitration made under the Arbitration Act as it does not Provided that the provisions of this section shall not apply to any order passed by a Small Cause Court.

(2) No second appeal shall lie from an order passed in appeal under this section, but nothing in this section shall affect or take away any right to appeal to His Majesty in Council.

CHAPTER VII.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Small Cause Court not to have jurisdiction over arbitrations save arbitrations in suits before it.

Procedure and powers of Court.

40. A Small Cause Court shall have no jurisdiction over any arbitration proceedings or over any application arising thereout save on application made under section 21.

41. Subject to the provisions of this Act and of rules made thereunder —

(a) the provisions of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, shall apply to all proceedings before the Court, and to all appeals, under this Act, and

(b) the Court shall have, for the purpose of, and in relation to, arbitration proceedings, the same power of making orders in respect of any of the matters set out in the Second Schedule as it has for the purpose of, and in relation to, any proceedings before the Court :

Provided that nothing in clause (b) shall be taken to prejudice any power which may be vested in an arbitrator or umpire for making orders with respect to any of such matters.

42. Any notice required by this Act to be served otherwise than through the Court by a party to an arbitration agreement or by an arbitrator or umpire shall be served in the manner provided in the arbitration agreement or if there is no such provision, either —

(a) by delivering it to the person on whom it is to be served, or come under Ss. 19, 25 or 30 of the Act and, therefore, no appeal lies from that order. (Vol 30) 1943 Pesh 8 (9).

[3] An order granting stay of suit under S. 19 of Act 1899 was appealable. (Vol 12) 1925 All 154 (155) : 47 All 179.

[4] Where a Judge finds that there was no subsisting agreement to refer to arbitration and, therefore, a suit was not liable to be stayed under Para. 18, Civil P. C. (corresponding to S. 34) this order is appealable under S. 104 (e), Civil P. C. (Vol 4) 1917 Lah 261 (265, 266) : 1917 Pun Re No. 62.

[5] No second appeal lies under Cl. 15 of the Letters Patent (Mad.) from the order passed in appeal under S. 39 in view of S. 39 (2) and Cl. 44 of the Letters Patent (Mad.). (Vol 32) 1945 Mad 184 (185) : I L R (1945) Mad 564.

[6] Section 39 (2) saves existing right of appeal to His Majesty in Council but does not create a new right. (Vol 30) 1943 Bom 196 (196, 197).

[7] Order remitting an award owing to arbitrator's misconduct is not appealable. (Vol 11) 1924 Rang 47 (47) : 1 Rang 661.

[8] Whether an award should be set aside or remitted can be determined by the Court of first instance and appellate Court will not set aside its decision unless discretion is misused. (Vol 11) 1924 Sind 132 (133).

[9] There is nothing in S. 39 or S. 41 to deprive the High Court of its revisional jurisdiction under S. 115, Civil P. C. (Vol 32) 1945 All 146 (147) : I L R (1945) All 162.

[10] Application challenging validity of arbitration agreement falls neither under S. 20, nor S. 39 (1) (iv) — Revision lies against an order refusing an application. (Vol 30) 1943 Lah 295 (296).

[11] Objections to the validity of an award which were not taken in the lower appellate Court cannot be raised in revision under S. 115, Civil P. C. (Vol 31) 1944 Lah 280 (282).

[12] Where an objection to the validity of an award, under Para. 15, Sch. II, Civil P. C. (corresponding to S. 30) is rejected, and the Court proceeds to pronounce judgment and to frame a decree, no appeal will lie except as under Para. 16 (i. e. S. 17). The High Court can on appeal convert the proceedings in proper circumstances into an application in revision, if it is satisfied that interference is called for. (Vol 29) 1942 All 85 (86, 87) : I L R (1941) All 807.

[13] Where Court directed office to make certain adjustments in award as agreed by the parties and objection is taken to amendments made by office, order deciding objection is not open to appeal or revision. Proper remedy is appeal from decree. (Vol 28) 1941 Oudh 598 (599) : 17 Luck 17.

[14] Where there is no separate order passed filing the award, the appeal from the decision of the Court passing a decree upon the award should be treated as an appeal which is in substance an appeal from an implied order filing the award. (Vol 28) 1941 Cal 202 (204) : I L R (1940) 2 Cal 551. ((Vol 12) 1925 All 404 (404) : 47 All 743, followed.)

[15] A person who was a party to arbitration even if successful in appeal challenging the reference as being without jurisdiction is generally deprived of costs. But in revision such a person should not be given any relief. (Vol 29) 1942 Cal 230 (232) : I L R (1941) 2 Cal 366.

1. SECTION 40.

[1] A Small Cause Court has jurisdiction to entertain a suit to enforce an award. The jurisdiction to entertain such a suit by that Court is not barred by S. 40. (Vol 31) 1944 Nag 24 (25) : I L R (1944) Nag 340.

1. SECTION 41.

[1] Clause (a) of S. 41, Arbitration Act, makes O. 23, Rr. 1 and 3 of Civil P. C., applicable to proceedings under the Arbitration Act. Parties have a right to ask Court to set aside award and substitute another arrangement, (Vol 32) 1945 Pesh 41 (43).

(b) by sending it by post in a letter addressed to that person at his usual or last known place of abode or business in British India and registered under Chapter VI of the Indian Post Office Act, 1898.

Power of Court to issue processes for appearance before arbitrator.

43. (1) The Court shall issue the same processes to the parties and witnesses whom the arbitrator or umpire desires to examine as the Court may issue in suits tried before it.

(2) Persons failing to attend in accordance with such process, or making any other default, or refusing to give their evidence, or guilty of any contempt to the arbitrator or umpire during the investigation of the reference, shall be subject to the like disadvantages, penalties and punishments by order of the Court on the representation of the arbitrator or umpire as they would incur for the like offences in suits tried before the Court.

(3) In this section the expression "processes" includes summonses and commissions for the examination of witnesses and summonses to produce documents.

[Civil P. C., Sch. II, Para. 7.]

Power to High Court to make rules.

44. The High Court may make rules consistent with this Act as to—

- (a) the filing of awards and all proceedings consequent thereon or incidental thereto;
- (b) the filing and hearing of special cases and all proceedings consequent thereon or incidental thereto;
- (c) the staying of any suit or proceeding in contravention of an arbitration agreement;
- (d) the forms to be used for the purposes of this Act;
- (e) generally, all proceedings in Court under this Act.

[1899 — S. 20]

Crown to be bound.

45. The provisions of this Act shall be binding on the Crown.

[1899 — S. 22]

46. The provisions of this Act, except sub-section (1) of section 6 and sections 7, 12, 36^a and 37, shall apply to every arbitration under any other enactment for the time being in force, as if the arbitration were pursuant to an arbitration agreement and as if that other enactment were an arbitration agreement, except in so far as this Act is inconsistent with that other enactment or with any rules made thereunder.

[a] The figure "36" was inserted by the Repealing and Amending Act, 1942 (25 [XXV] of 1942), S. 3 and Sch. II. [1-10-1942].

47. Subject to the provisions of section 46, and save in so far as is otherwise provided by any law for the time being in force, the provisions of this Act shall apply to all arbitrations and to all proceedings thereunder:

Provided that an arbitration award otherwise obtained may with the consent of all the parties interested be taken into consideration as a compromise or adjustment of a suit by any Court before which the suit is pending.

1. Section 43.

[1] An arbitrator should notify the date of the hearing to the parties. He cannot take evidence in the absence of the parties and without their knowledge. (Vol 12) 1925 Mad 1086 (1087).

[2] Where after notice the party fails to appear or notifies his withdrawal from the submission, the arbitrator can proceed ex parte. (1906) 29 Mad 44 (45); (Vol 1) 1914 Sind 62 (62); 8 Sind L R 136.

[3] An ex parte award cannot be set aside unless sufficient cause is shown for the non-appearance of the party. (Vol 12) 1925 Sind 150 (152); 19 Sind L R 251.

[4] An arbitrator should take only such evidence as is required by the terms of the agreement referring the question in dispute to arbitration. (1869) 2 Beng L R (App) 25 (26).

[5] There is nothing illegal in the parties to an arbitration agreeing before the Panchayatdars to have evidence taken after the administration of any reasonable form of oath to the witnesses. (Vol 3) 1916 Mad 583 (586).

[6] The expression "refusing to give evidence" refers to persons who refuse when placed on oath and not to persons who elect to produce no evidence. (1911) 8 All L Jour 929 (930).

1. SECTION 44.

[1] A rule framed by the High Court but not in accordance with the Arbitration Act will not be given effect to. (1918) 40 Cal 219 (230, 231).

[2] Where the written submission to arbitration was not filed with the award as required by the High Court Rules it was held that the award could not be accepted by the Court. (Vol 16) 1929 Mad 31 (32).

1. SECTION 47.

[1] The Act does not apply to an award made before it came into force. (Vol 30) 1943 Bom 463 (464); ILR (1943) Bom 750.

[2] The proviso to S. 47 leaves the provisions of O. 23, R. 3, Civil P. C., untouched. (Vol 32) 1945 Mad 294 (295); ILR (1946) Mad 39.

48. The provisions of this Act shall not apply to any reference pending at the commencement of this Act, to which the law in force immediately before the commencement of this Act shall, notwithstanding any repeal effected by this Act, continue to apply.

49. [Repeals and amendments]. Repealed by the Repealing and Amending Act, 1945 (VI of 1945) S. 2 and Sch. I. [16-4-45].

THE FIRST SCHEDULE.

IMPLIED CONDITIONS OF ARBITRATION AGREEMENTS.

1. Unless otherwise expressly provided, the reference shall be to a sole arbitrator.
2. If the reference is to an even number of arbitrators, the arbitrators shall appoint an umpire not later than one month from the latest date of their respective appointments.
3. The arbitrators shall make their award within four months after entering on the reference or after having been called upon to act by notice in writing from any party to the arbitration agreement or within such extended time as the Court may allow.
4. If the arbitrators have allowed their time to expire without making an award or have delivered to any party to the arbitration agreement or to the umpire a notice in writing stating that they cannot agree, the umpire shall forthwith enter on the reference in lieu of the arbitrators. [Civil P. C., Sch. II, Para. 9]
5. The umpire shall make his award within two months of entering on the reference or within such extended time as the Court may allow.
6. The parties to the reference and all persons claiming under them shall, subject to the provisions of any law for the time being in force, submit to be examined by the arbitrators or umpire on oath or affirmation in relation to the matters in difference and shall, subject as aforesaid, produce before the arbitrators or umpire all books, deeds, papers, accounts, writings and documents within their possession or power respectively, which may be required or called for, and do all other things which, during the proceedings on the reference, the arbitrators or umpire may require.
7. The award shall be final and binding on the parties and persons claiming under them respectively.
8. The costs of the reference and award shall be in the discretion of the arbitrators or umpire who may direct to, and by, whom and in what manner, such costs or any part thereof shall be

1. SECTION 48.

[1] Any award made upon a reference that was pending at the date of the commencement of the Arbitration Act of 1940 is saved from the application of the Act. (Vol 31) 1944 Bom 12 (13) : ILR (1944) Bom 477.

[2] All applications made under the Arbitration Act, 1899, must be governed by that Act even though the new Act of 1940 has come into force at the time of the hearing of such applications. (Vol 28) 1941 Cal 415 (416).

[3] There is a distinction between a reference to arbitration and a suit. Proceedings on reference culminate in the award but the suit remains pending until it is decreed. Hence, where an award is made before the enforcement of the Arbitration Act, and an order setting it aside is made after its enforcement, an appeal under Section 39 (1) (vi) from such order is not barred by the provisions of S. 48. (Vol 32) 1945 Oudh 1 (1, 2).

SCHEDULE I, Rule 1.

[1] Reference is ordinarily to single arbitrator. An intention to refer to more than one arbitrator must be plain and clear. (1911) 5 Sind L R 97 (101).

SCHEDULE I, Rule 2.

[1] Where there is a clear provision in the agreement of reference to arbitration that the arbitrators would be entitled to appoint an umpire only if they happened to disagree, the arbitrators could not have appointed an umpire unless they had made up their minds and had decided to differ from each other. This provision in the agreement must be held to contain an intention different from what has been expressed in Para. 2 of Sch. I. (Vol 32) 1945 Lah 34 (35).

SCHEDULE I, Rule 4.

[1] Where there is disagreement between the arbitrators and an umpire is appointed he must re-hear evidence if so requested. (Vol 8) 1921 Sind 27 (29) : 15 Sind L R 68.

[2] Award of umpire without hearing parties is against principles of equity and justice—Award of costs without mentioning the amount is bad. Umpire can award costs only for the reference and award—The costs of obtaining an order from the Court is at the discretion of the Court. (1911) 5 Sind L R 89 (90, 91).

[3] In a reference to arbitration one of the arbitrators absented himself. After the expiry of the time for award the umpire approached the Court for direction. The Court directed him to proceed under Para. 9 (a), Sch. II, Civil P. C. Held, that it was a fair inference that the arbitrators had allowed the time to expire without making an award and that under the circumstances the umpire by himself was entitled to make an award. (Vol 15) 1928 All 674 (674).

paid, and may tax or settle the amount of costs to be so paid or any part thereof and may award costs to be paid as between legal practitioner and client.

THE SECOND SCHEDULE.

(See section 41.)

POWERS OF COURT.

1. The preservation, interim custody or sale of any goods which are the subject-matter of the reference.
2. Securing the amount in difference in the reference.
3. The detention, preservation or inspection of any property or thing which is the subject of the reference or as to which any question may arise therein and authorising for any of the aforesaid purposes any person to enter upon or into any land or building in the possession of any party to the reference, or authorising any samples to be taken, or any observation to be made, or experiment to be tried, which may be necessary or expedient for the purpose of obtaining full information or evidence.
4. Interim injunctions or the appointment of a receiver.
5. The appointment of a guardian for a minor or person of unsound mind for the purposes of arbitration proceedings.

THE THIRD SCHEDULE.—[Enactments repealed.] Repealed by the Repealing and Amending Act, 1945 (VI of 1945), S. 2 and Sch. I. [16-4-45].

THE FOURTH SCHEDULE — [Enactments amended.] Repealed by the Repealing and Amending Act, 1945 (VI of 1945), S. 2 and Sch. I. [16-4-1945].

ARBITRATION (PROTOCOL AND CONVENTION) ACT, 1937.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

"The Government of India have had for some time past under consideration the question of India's adherence to the Geneva Protocol on Arbitration Clauses (1923) and the International Convention on the Execution of Foreign Arbitral Awards (1927). The object of these Instruments is to meet the widely expressed desire of the commercial world that arbitration agreements should be ensured effective recognition and protection. A large number of countries including many of first class commercial and industrial importance, e. g., the United Kingdom, France, Germany, the Netherlands, have adhered to these Instruments.

After consulting Local Governments, High Courts and commercial bodies, a majority of whom were found to be in favour of India's accession to these Instruments, the case was placed before the Commerce Department Standing Advisory Committee of the Legislature who recommended that India should adhere to the Instruments. These have accordingly been signed at Geneva on behalf of India, subject to reservations limiting India's obligations under the Instruments to commercial contracts and excluding the Indian States from the scope of the Instruments.

The Instruments provide for their ratification by a contracting party before they are enforced in respect of that party. Prior to ratification it is necessary to enact legislation to implement certain obligations contracted under these Instruments, and the present Act incorporates the legislation needed in this respect."

[4th March 1937.]

An Act to make certain further provisions respecting the law of arbitration in British India.

WHEREAS India was a State signatory to the Protocol on Arbitration Clauses set forth in the First Schedule, and to the Convention on the Execution of Foreign Arbitral Awards set forth in the Second Schedule, subject in each case to a reservation of the right to limit its obligations in respect thereof to contracts which are considered as commercial under the law in force in British India;

AND WHEREAS it is expedient, for the purpose of giving effect to the said Protocol and of enabling the said Convention to become operative in British India, to make certain further provisions respecting the law of arbitration;

It is hereby enacted as follows:—

[a] For Report of the Select Committee, see Gazette of India, 1937, Part V, page 73.

Short title, extent and operation.

1. (1) This Act may be called the Arbitration (Protocol and Convention) Act, 1937.

(2) It extends to the whole of British India, including British Baluchistan and the Sonthal Parganas.

(3) The provisions of this Act, except this section, shall have effect only from such date as the ^a[Central Government] may, by notification in the ^b[Official Gazette], appoint in this behalf, and the ^a[Central Government] may appoint different dates^c for the coming into effect of different provisions of the Act.

[a] Substituted by A. O. for "G.-G. in C." [b] Substituted by A. O. for "Gazette of India." [c] Section 3 came into effect on the 30th November, 1937 : see Gazette of India, 1937 Pt. I, page 1945; and Ss. 2 and 4 to 10 on the 23rd January, 1938 : see ibid., 1938, Part I, page 25.

2. In this act "foreign award" means an award on differences relating to matters considered as commercial under the law in force in British India, made after the 28th day of July, 1924,—

- (a) in pursuance of an agreement for arbitration to which the Protocol set forth in the First Schedule applies, and
- (b) between persons of whom one is subject to the jurisdiction of some one of such Powers as the ^a[Central Government], being satisfied that reciprocal provisions have been made, may, by notification^b in the ^c[Official Gazette], declare to be parties to the Convention set forth in the Second Schedule, and of whom the other is subject to the jurisdiction of some other of the Powers aforesaid, and
- (c) in one of such territories as the ^a[Central Government], being satisfied that reciprocal provisions have been made, may, by like notification, declare to be territories to which the said Convention applies, and for the purposes of this Act an award shall not be deemed to be final if any proceedings for the purpose of contesting the validity of the award are pending in the country in which it was made.

[a] Substituted by A. O. for "Governor-General in Council." [b] For such notification, see Gazette of India 1938, Part I, page 24. [c] Substituted by A. O. for "Gazette of India."

3. Notwithstanding anything contained in the ^a[Arbitration Act, 1940], or in the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, if any party to a submission made in pursuance of an agreement to which the Protocol set forth in the First Schedule as modified by the reservation subject to which it was signed by India applies, or any person claiming through or under him, commences any legal proceedings in any Court against any other party to the submission or any person claiming through or under him in respect of any matter agreed to be referred, any party to such legal proceedings may, at any time after appearance and before filing a written statement or taking any other steps in the proceedings, apply to the Court to stay the proceedings ; and the Court, unless satisfied that the agreement or arbitration has become inoperative or cannot proceed, or that there is not in fact any dispute between the parties with regard to the matter agreed to be referred, shall make an order staying the proceedings.

[a] Substituted for "Indian Arbitration Act, 1899" by the Repealing and Amending Act, 1940 (32 [XXXII] of 1940), S. 3 and Sch. II.

1. Section 3—Stay of proceedings.—[1] Under the provisions of S. 34 of the Arbitration Act, 1940, the Court has discretion to grant or refuse a stay of proceedings. "India's undertakings under the Protocol require that it should be obligatory on a British Indian Court to stay proceedings when these arise in regard to an agreement to submit to arbitration differences relating to commercial matters made by parties subject respectively to the jurisdiction of different contracting states. Clause 3 (i. e. S. 3) makes special provision accordingly for this limited class of submissions"—Statement of Objects and Reasons, note on clause 3.

4. (1) A foreign award shall, subject to the provisions of this Act, be enforceable in British India as if it were an award made on a matter referred to arbitration in British India.

Effect of foreign awards. (2) Any foreign award which would be enforceable under this Act shall be treated as binding for all purposes on the persons as between whom it was made, and may accordingly be relied on by any of those persons by way of defence, set off or otherwise in any legal proceedings in British India, and any references in this Act to enforcing a foreign award shall be construed as including references to relying on an award.

Filing of foreign award in Court. 5. (1) Any person interested in a foreign award may apply to any Court having jurisdiction over the subject-matter of the award that the award be filed in Court.

(2) The application shall be in writing and shall be numbered and registered as a suit between the applicant as plaintiff and the other parties as defendants.

(3) The Court shall direct notice to be given to the parties to the arbitration, other than the applicant, requiring them to show cause, within a time specified, why the award should not be filed.

6. (1) Where the Court is satisfied that the foreign award is enforceable under this Act, the Court shall order the award to be filed and shall proceed to pronounce judgment according to the award.

(2) Upon the judgment so pronounced a decree shall follow, and no appeal shall lie from such decree except in so far as the decree is in excess of or not in accordance with the award.

Conditions for enforcement of foreign awards. 7. (1) In order that a foreign award may be enforceable under this Act it must have —

- (a) been made in pursuance of an agreement for arbitration which was valid under the law by which it was governed,
- (b) been made by the tribunal provided for in the agreement or constituted in manner agreed upon by the parties,
- (c) been made in conformity with the law governing the arbitration procedure,
- (d) become final in the country in which it was made,
- (e) been in respect of a matter which may lawfully be referred to arbitration under the law of British India, and the enforcement thereof must not be contrary to the public policy or the law of British India.

(2) A foreign award shall not be enforceable under this Act if the Court dealing with the case is satisfied that —

- (a) the award has been annulled in the country in which it was made, or
- (b) the party against whom it is sought to enforce the award was not given notice of the arbitration proceedings in sufficient time to enable him to present his case, or was under some legal incapacity and was not properly represented, or
- (c) the award does not deal with all the questions referred or contains decisions on matters beyond the scope of the agreement for arbitration :

Provided that if the award does not deal with all questions referred the Court may, if it thinks fit, either postpone the enforcement of the award or order its enforcement subject to the giving of such security by the person seeking to enforce it as the Court may think fit.

(3) If a party seeking to resist the enforcement of a foreign award proves that there is any ground other than the non-existence of the conditions specified in clauses (a), (b) and (c) of sub-section (1), or the existence of the conditions specified in clauses (b) and (c) of sub-section (2), entitling him to contest the validity of the award, the Court may, if it thinks fit, either refuse to enforce the award or adjourn the hearing until after the expiration of such period as appears to the Court to be reasonably sufficient to enable that party to take the necessary steps to have the award annulled by the competent tribunal.

Evidence. 8. (1) The party seeking to enforce a foreign award must produce —

- (a) the original award or a copy thereof duly authenticated in manner required by the law of the country in which it was made;

(b) evidence proving that the award has become final; and

(c) such evidence as may be necessary to prove that the award is a foreign award and that the conditions mentioned in clauses (a), (b) and (c) of sub-section (1) of section 7 are satisfied.

(2) Where any document requiring to be produced under sub-section (1) is in a foreign language, the party seeking to enforce the award shall produce a translation into English certified as correct by a diplomatic or consular agent of the country to which that party belongs or certified as correct in such other manner as may be sufficient according to the law in force in British India.

Saving. 9. Nothing in this Act shall —

(a) prejudice any rights which any person would have had of enforcing in British India any award or of availing himself in British India of any award if this Act had not been passed, or

(b) apply to any award made on an arbitration agreement governed by the law of British India.

Rule-making powers of the High Court. 10. The High Court may make rules consistent with this Act as to —

(a) the filing of foreign awards and all proceedings consequent thereon or incidental thereto;

(b) the evidence which must be furnished by a party seeking to enforce a foreign award under this Act; and

(c) generally, all proceedings in Court under this Act.

THE FIRST SCHEDULE.

PROTOCOL ON ARBITRATION CLAUSES.

The undersigned, being duly authorised, declare that they accept, on behalf of the countries which they represent, the following provisions:

1. Each of the Contracting States recognises the validity of an agreement whether relating to existing or future differences between parties subject respectively to the jurisdiction of different Contracting States by which the parties to a contract agree to submit to arbitration all or any differences that may arise in connection with such contract relating to commercial matters or to any other matter capable of settlement by arbitration, whether or not the arbitration is to take place in a country to whose jurisdiction none of the parties is subject.

Each Contracting State reserves the right to limit the obligation mentioned above to contracts which are considered as commercial under its national law. Any Contracting State which avails itself of this right will notify the Secretary-General of the League of Nations in order that the other Contracting States may be so informed.

2. The arbitral procedure, including the constitution of the Arbitral Tribunal, shall be governed by the will of the parties and by the law of the country in whose territory the arbitration takes place.

The Contracting States agree to facilitate all steps in the procedure which require to be taken in their own territories, in accordance with the provisions of their law governing arbitral procedure applicable to existing differences.

3. Each Contracting State undertakes to ensure the execution by its authorities and in accordance with the provisions of its national laws of arbitral awards made in its own territory under the preceding articles.

4. The Tribunals of the Contracting Parties, on being seized of a dispute regarding a contract made between persons to whom Article 1 applies and including an Arbitration Agreement whether referring to present or future differences which is valid in virtue of the said article and capable of being carried into effect, shall refer the parties on the application of either of them to the decision of the Arbitrators.

Such reference shall not prejudice the competence of the judicial tribunals in case the agreement or the arbitration cannot proceed or becomes inoperative.

5. The present Protocol, which shall remain open for signature by all States, shall be ratified. The ratification shall be deposited as soon as possible with the Secretary-General of the League of Nations, who shall notify such deposit to all the Signatory States.

6. The present Protocol will come into force as soon as two ratifications have been deposited. Thereafter it will take effect, in the case of each Contracting State, one month after the notification by the Secretary-General of the deposit of its ratification.

7. The present Protocol may be denounced by any Contracting State on giving one year's notice. Denunciation shall be effected by a notification addressed to the Secretary-General of the League, who will immediately transmit copies of such notification to all the other Signatory States and inform them of the date on which it was received. The denunciation shall take effect one year after the date on which it was notified to the Secretary-General, and shall operate only in respect of the notifying State.

8. The Contracting States may declare that their acceptance of the present Protocol does not include any or all of the undermentioned territories: that is to say, their colonies, overseas possessions or territories, protectorates or the territories over which they exercise a mandate.

The said States may subsequently adhere separately on behalf of any territory thus excluded. The Secretary-General of the League of Nations shall be informed as soon as possible of such adhesions. He shall notify such adhesions to all Signatory States. They will take effect one month after the notification by the Secretary-General to all Signatory States.

The Contracting States may also denounce the Protocol separately on behalf of any of the territories referred to above. Article 7 applies to such denunciation.

THE SECOND SCHEDULE.

CONVENTION ON THE EXECUTION OF FOREIGN ARBITRAL AWARDS.

Article 1.—In the territories of any High Contracting Party to which the present Convention applies, an arbitral award made in pursuance of an agreement, whether relating to existing or future differences (hereinafter called "a submission to arbitration") covered by the Protocol on Arbitration Clauses opened at Geneva on September 24th, 1923, shall be recognised as binding and shall be enforced in accordance with the rules of the procedure of the territory where the award is relied upon, provided that the said award has been made in a territory of one of the High Contracting Parties to which the present Convention applies and between persons who are subject to the jurisdiction of one of the High Contracting Parties.

To obtain such recognition or enforcement, it shall, further, be necessary :

- (a) That the award has been made in pursuance of a submission to arbitration which is valid under the law applicable thereto ;
- (b) That the subject-matter of the award is capable of settlement by arbitration under the law of the country in which the award is sought to be relied upon ;
- (c) That the award has been made by the Arbitral Tribunal provided for in the submission to arbitration or constituted in the manner agreed upon by the parties and in conformity with the law governing the arbitration procedure ;
- (d) That the award has become final in the country in which it has been made, in the sense that it will not be considered as such if it is open to opposition, appeal or pourvoi en cassation (in the countries where such forms of procedure exist) or if it is proved that any proceedings for the purpose of contesting the validity of the award are pending ;
- (e) That the recognition or enforcement of the award is not contrary to the public policy or to the principles of the law of the country in which it is sought to be relied upon.

Article 2.—Even if the conditions laid down in Article 1 hereof are fulfilled, recognition and enforcement of the award shall be refused if the Court is satisfied :

- (a) That the award has been annulled in the country in which it was made ;
- (b) That the party against whom it is sought to use the award was not given notice of the arbitration proceedings in sufficient time to enable him to present his case ; or that, being under a legal incapacity, he was not properly represented ;
- (c) That the award does not deal with the differences contemplated by or falling within the terms of the submission to arbitration or that it contains decisions on matters beyond the scope of the submission to arbitration.

If the award has not covered all the questions submitted to the arbitral tribunal, the competent authority of the country where recognition or enforcement of the award is sought can, if it thinks fit, postpone such recognition or enforcement or grant it subject to such guarantee as that authority may decide.

Article 3.—If the party against whom the award has been made proves that, under the law governing the arbitration procedure, there is a ground, other than the grounds referred to in Article 1 (a) and (c), and Article 2 (b) and (c), entitling him to contest the validity of the award in a Court of Law, the Court may, if it thinks fit, either refuse recognition or enforcement of the award or adjourn the consideration thereof, giving such party a reasonable time within which to have the award annulled by the competent tribunal.

Article 4.—The party relying upon an award or claiming its enforcement must supply, in particular :

- (1) The original award or a copy thereof duly authenticated, according to the requirements of the law of the country in which it was made ;
- (2) Documentary or other evidence to prove that the award has become final, in the sense defined in Article 1 (d), in the country in which it was made ;
- (3) When necessary, documentary or other evidence to prove that the conditions laid down in Article 1, paragraph 1 and paragraph 2 (a) and (c), have been fulfilled.

A translation of the award and of the other documents mentioned in this Article into the official language of the country where the award is sought to be relied upon may be demanded. Such translations must be certified correct by a diplomatic or consular agent of the country to which the party who seeks to rely upon the award belongs or by a sworn translator of the country where the award is sought to be relied upon.

Article 5.—The provisions of the above Articles shall not deprive any interested party of the right of availing himself of an arbitral award in the manner and to the extent allowed by the law or the treaties of the country where such award is sought to be relied upon.

Article 6.—The present Convention applies only to arbitral awards made after the coming into force of the Protocol on Arbitration Clauses, opened at Geneva on September 24th, 1923.

Article 7.—The present Convention, which will remain open to the signature of all the signatories of the Protocol of 1923 on Arbitration Clauses, shall be ratified.

It may be ratified only on behalf of those Members of the League of Nations and non-Member States on whose behalf the Protocol of 1923 shall have been ratified.

Ratifications shall be deposited as soon as possible with the Secretary-General of the League of Nations, who will notify such deposit to all the signatories.

Article 8.—The present Convention shall come into force three months after it shall have been ratified on behalf of two High Contracting Parties. Thereafter, it shall take effect, in the case of each High Contracting Party, three months after the deposit of the ratification on its behalf with the Secretary-General of the League of Nations.

Article 9.—The present Convention may be denounced on behalf of any Member of the League or non-Member State. Denunciation shall be notified in writing to the Secretary-General of the League of Nations, who will immediately send a copy thereof, certified to be in conformity with the notifications, to all the other Contracting Parties, at the same time informing them of the date on which he received it.

The denunciation shall come into force only in respect of the High Contracting Party which shall have notified it and one year after such notification shall have reached the Secretary-General of the League of Nations.

The denunciation of the Protocol on Arbitration Clauses shall entail, ipso facto, the denunciation of the present Convention.

Article 10.—The present Convention does not apply to the Colonies, Protectorates or territories under suzerainty of any High Contracting Party unless they are specially mentioned.

The application of this Convention to one or more of such Colonies, Protectorates or territories to which the Protocol on Arbitration Clauses opened at Geneva on September 24th, 1923, applies, can be effected at any time by means of a declaration addressed to the Secretary-General of the League of Nations by one of the High Contracting Parties.

Such declaration shall take effect three months after the deposit thereof.

The High Contracting Parties can at any time denounce the Convention for all or any of the Colonies, Protectorates or territories referred to above. Article 9 hereof applies to such denunciation.

Article 11.—A certified copy of the present Convention shall be transmitted by the Secretary-General of the League of Nations to every Member of the League of Nations and to every non-Member State which signs the same.

13. Prohibition of going armed without licence.
14. Unlicensed possession of fire-arms, etc.
15. Possession of arms of any description without licence prohibited in certain places.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

"The law relating to arms, ammunitions has long been felt to be in an unsatisfactory state. In some particulars it has been found defective, and on many points it presents difficulties of construction which might at any time prove embarrassing to the Government or entail hardship on innocent persons.

2. So far back as the year 1870 a Bill was introduced to remedy this state of things; but, owing in part to pressure of work and in part to other causes, it was allowed to stand over.

3. The present Bill is in the main a consolidation of the existing law, and a re-enactment of it in a simpler form with such improvements in points of detail as the experience of the working of the Arms Act of 1860 has shown to be desirable. On two points only does it propose to introduce changes of any importance.

SECTIONS.

16. In certain cases arms to be deposited at police-stations or with licensed dealers.

V.—LICENCES.

17. Power to make rules as to licences.
18. Cancelling and suspension of licence.

VI.—PENALTIES.

19. For breach of ss. 5, 6, 10, 13 to 17.
20. For secret breaches of ss. 5, 6, 10, 14 and 15.
For concealing arms, etc.
21. For breach of licence.
22. For knowingly purchasing arms, etc., from unlicensed person.
For delivering arms, etc., to person not authorized to possess them.
23. Penalty for breach of rule.
24. Power to confiscate.

VII.—MISCELLANEOUS.

25. Search and seizure by Magistrate.
26. Seizure and detention by Central Government.
27. Power to exempt.
28. Information to be given regarding offences.
29. Sanction required to certain proceedings under s. 19, cl. (f).
30. Searches in the case of offences against s. 19, cl. (f), how conducted.
31. Operation of other laws not barred.
32. Power to take census of fire-arms.
33. Notice and limitation of proceedings.

THE FIRST SCHEDULE.—[Repealed.]

THE SECOND SCHEDULE.—[Repealed.]

4. The first of these points is dealt with in S. 7, which, taken with the second schedule, imposes duties on the importation by sea of arms and parts of arms, etc. Those duties, it will be observed, are fixed without reference to the value of the articles on which they are imposed, and they are so fixed and are pitched, at what may seem at first sight to be high rates, expressly with a view to check the importation of a cheap class of arms, the importation of which has of late years largely increased.

5. Such arms cannot, from their inferior make, be intended for sporting purposes, and there is reason to suspect that a considerable proportion of them finds its way into the hands of the criminal classes in the interior of the country or of the hostile tribes on our frontiers. It has been found very difficult to prevent the transit of such arms from the sea-ports into the interior of the country and towards the frontiers when once they are imported, and it is believed that the simplest method of checking their importation, and the method least calculated to interfere with the legitimate trade in arms of a superior class, is to impose an uniform duty of the nature proposed.

6. The other point on which the Bill goes to introduce a material change in the existing law is that of the possession of arms. At present the mere possession of arms is prohibited only in certain provinces, which, to use the language of Act XXXI of 1860, have been "disarmed", throughout the rest of the country, though no person can go armed or carry arms except under a special exemption or by virtue of a licence, the mere possession of arms other than cannon is not restricted.

7. Now there is good reason to believe that this complete absence of restriction in the districts which have not been disarmed has led to the law prohibiting the transport of arms and the export of arms across the frontiers being extensively evaded. As long as all persons indiscriminately may have arms in their possession to any amount they please in the districts which have not been disarmed, it is practically impossible to prevent such arms being passed on to the disarmed districts, to the predatory classes in Native States, and to the hostile tribes on our frontiers.

The only remedy seems to be to place the possession of arms throughout the whole of British India under control, and this it is proposed to do by S. 11 [now S. 14] of the Bill, which requires all such possession to be under a licence.

8. It will, however, be observed that ample safeguards are provided to prevent this prohibition pressing unfairly against respectable persons desiring to possess arms for legitimate purposes. Section 11 allows a period of three months after the Bill becomes law within which the possession of arms in the districts not hitherto disarmed will not be illegal, and during which any person in such districts can apply for a licence; S. 25 enacts that in these districts no person shall be prosecuted for possessing arms without the previous sanction of the Magistrate of the District; S. 26 imposes special and very stringent conditions on searches for arms; and lastly, under S. 23 [now S. 27], the Government may exempt any class of persons from the operation of the prohibition altogether.

9. On the whole it may be safely affirmed that, with a system of licences granted either without charge or on the payment of small fees, and in cases where it is safe so to grant them for reasonably long periods, the Bill will not, as regards the possession of arms, materially affect the position of any persons to whom the right to possess arms can, with a due regard to the public peace and safety, be conceded.

10. It need only be added that S. 3 [now S. 1] of the Bill maintains in force all exemptions granted under the present law." — Gazette of India, 1877, Part V, Page 650.

ACT NO. XI OF 1878.^a

An Act to consolidate and amend the law relating to Arms, Ammunition and Military Stores.

Whereas it is expedient to consolidate and amend the law relating to arms, ammunition and military stores: It is hereby enacted as follows :—

[a] For discussions, in Council, see Gazette of India, 1877, Supplement, pp. 3016 and 3030; ibid, 1878, Supplement, pp. 435 and 453.

This Act has been declared to be in force in Panth Piploda by the Panth Piploda Laws Regulation, 1929 (1 [I] of 1929); S. 2; and except S. 15, in the Santhal Parganas by the Santhal Parganas Settlement Regulation (3 [III] of 1872), in the Khondmals District by the Khondmals Laws Regulation, 1936 (4 [IV] of 1936), S. 3 and Sch., and in the Angul District by the Angul Laws Regulation, 1936 (5 [V] of 1936), S. 3 and Sch.

It is in force throughout the Province of Assam except the Lushai Hills, see Notification No. 2443-T., dated the 1st June 1914, Assam Gazette, 1914, Pt. II, p. 843.

It has been declared by notification under S. 3 (a) of the Scheduled Districts Act, 1874 (14 [XIV] of 1874), to be in force in the Districts of Hazaribagh, Lohardaga and Manbhum, and in Pargana Dhalbhum and the Kolhan in the District of Singhbhum, see Gazette of India, 1881, Pt. I, P. 504. The District of Lohardaga included at this time the present District of Palaman, which was separated in 1894; Lohardaga is now called the Ranchi District, see Calcutta Gazette, 1899, Pt. I, p. 44.

It has been extended to British Baluchistan by Notification under sections 5 and 5A of the Scheduled Districts Act, 1874, with certain modifications and exceptions, see p. 97 of the Baluchistan Local Rules and Orders, Edition 1926.

PREAMBLE

1. Interpretation of the Act. — [1] A penal enactment like Arms Act must be construed in favour of individual person where any doubt exists. (Vol 15) 1928 Nag. 219 (220) : 29 Cri L Jour 575.

[2] The Act being a highly penal Act should be strictly construed. (1893) 15 All 129 (131).

Its application to the Pargana of Spiti is barred by S. 14 of the Spiti Regulation 1873 (1 [I] of 1873). As to Upper Tanawal in the Hazara District, see Ss. 3 and 6 (4) of the Hazara (Upper Tanawal) Regulation, 1900 (2 [II] of 1900).

As to the possession, manufacture and export of arms, ammunition and gun-powder in the Chittagong Hill Tracts, see the Chittagong Hill Tracts Regulation, 1900, (1 [I] of 1900), Ss. 11 and 12.

I. — PRELIMINARY.

1. This Act may be called the INDIAN ARMS ACT, 1878: and it extends to the whole of Short title. Local extent. British India.

Savings. But nothing herein contained shall apply to —

- (a) arms, ammunition or military stores on board any sea-going vessel and forming part of her ordinary armament or equipment, or
- (b) the manufacture, conversion, sale, import, export, transport, bearing or possession of arms, ammunition or military stores by order of ^a[any Government in British India], or by a public servant or ^b[a member of either of the forces constituted by the Indian Territorial Force Act, 1920, or the Auxiliary Force Act, 1920] in the course of his duty as such public servant or ^c[member].

2. This Act shall come into force on such day^a as the ^b[Central Government] by notification Commencement. in the ^c[Official Gazette] appoints.

[a] 1st October 1878 — see Gazette of India, 1878, Pt. I, p. 389. [b] Substituted by A. O. for "Governor-General in Council." [c] Substituted by A. O. for "Gazette of India."

3. [Repeal of enactments]. Repealed by the Repealing Act, 1938 (I of 1938), S. 2 and Schedule.

Interpretation clause. 4. In this Act, unless there be something repugnant in the subject or context,— "cannon" includes also all howitzers, mortars, wall-pieces, mitrailleuses and other ordnance and machine-guns, all parts of the same, and all carriages, platforms and appliances for mounting, transporting and serving the same :

"arms" includes fire-arms, bayonets, swords, daggers, spears, spearheads and bows and arrows, also cannon and parts of arms, and machinery for manufacturing arms :

"ammunition" includes also all articles specially designed for torpedo service and submarine mining, rockets, gun-cotton, dynamite, lithofracteur and other explosive or fulminating material, gun-flint, gun-wads, percussion-caps, fuses and friction-tubes, all parts of ammunition and all machinery for manufacturing ammunition, but does not include lead, sulphur or saltpetre :

"military stores", in any section of this Act as applied to any part of British India, means any military stores to which the ^a[Central Government] may from time to time, by notification in the ^b[Official Gazette], specially extend such section in such part, and includes also all lead, sulphur, saltpetre and other material to which the ^a[Central Government] may from time to time so extend such section :

[a] Substituted by A. O. for "Governor-General in Council". [b] Substituted by A. O. for "Gazette of India."

"license" means a license granted under this Act, and "licensed" means holding such license.

1. SECTION 1

[1] The sale of arms by Nazir of the Court, in execution of a decree, is a sale by a public servant in discharge of his duty, and, therefore, excluded by S. 1, cl. (b), from the operation of this Act. (1885) 9 Bom 518 (520).

[2] Held that a Sub-Inspector of Police not of the first grade, who had been presented by Government with a revolver, committed no offence by possessing and going armed with a dagger. (1907) 1907 Upp Bur Bul 1 (1, 2). (Decided with reference to Government of India Notification No. 518 of 1879 and S. 15.)

SECTION 4 — SYNOPSIS.

1. Air-gun.
2. Ammunition.
3. Arms, scope of definition.
4. Arms, meaning of.
5. Arms, what are.
- 5a. Fire-arms.
6. "Parts of arms".
7. Spear.
8. Sword.
9. Unserviceable arms.

1. Air-gun.—[1] Where air-gun found was similar to gem air-guns which are not adapted for use with explosive substances and which have been classed as toys by the Government for the purposes of the Tariff Act, it was held that the air-gun was a toy and did not come under the definition of arms within the meaning of the Arms Act. (1906) 4 Cri L Jour 239 (239).

2. Ammunition.—[1] Gun-powder even if intended for the manufacture of fireworks, is “ammunition” and hence its possession without licence is an offence under S. 19. (1885) 8 Mad 202 (204).

[3] Though lead as such is not ammunition, piece of lead in the shape of a bullet or shot is ammunition. (Vol 23) 1936 All 392 (393) : 37 Cri L Jour 727.

[4] The words ‘other explosive or fulminating material’ in S. 4, must be interpreted in the light of the foregoing examples of explosives, and include only such material as could be used for any military purpose. As patakhas are quite useless for such purposes they are not “ammunition” within the meaning of the Act. (Vol 18) 1931 All 17 (17) : 32 Cri L Jour 564 : 53 All 226.

[5] “Rockets” referred to in S. 4 under the definition of “ammunition” are war-rockets. (1882) 5 Mad 159 (160).

[6] An instrument for re-capping cartridge cases of the Martini-Hurley rifles is not machinery for manufacturing ammunition within the meaning of the Act. (1890) 1890 Pun Re No 20 Cr. 44 (45).

[7] Where there is no notification extending S. 19 of the Act to saltpetre in a district, a person cannot be convicted under S. 19 of the Arms Act, for keeping saltpetre without a license. (1886) 1886 Rat Un Cr C 227 (227).

3. Arms, scope of definition. — [1] There is no exhaustive definition in the Arms Act, of the expression “arms,” which, though necessarily include the articles specified in the section may also be held to apply to other instruments or weapons. (1900) 1900 Pun Re No. 20 Cr p. 45; (Vol 6) 1919 Lah 472 (473) : 20 Cri L Jour 11; (Vol 21) 1934 Cal 368 (369) : 35 Cr L Jour 766 : 60 Cal 1477. (Every type of air-gun whether is excluded from definition.); (1905) 1 Weir 654 (654). (A battle axe is an arm.); (Vol 1) 1914 Oudh 285 (286) : 15 Cr L Jour 685. (Definition is not happy.)

[2] If any thing is not, in the opinion of the Court, an arm within the meaning of the Arms Act, it is immaterial whether Government have or have not excluded it from the operation of the Act. Das of the kind described in the Government of India, Home Department Notification No. 827, dated 15th June 1893, as excluded from the operation of the Act, are not arms within the meaning of the Act, and it is, therefore, unnecessary to exclude them from the operation of Act. (1893-1900 Low Bur Rul 416. [1893-1900 Low Bur Rul 320, overruled.]

4. Arms, meaning of. — [1] Whatever can be used as an instrument of attack or defence, and is not an ordinary implement for domestic purposes falls

[See however (1893-1900) 1893-1900 Low Bur Rul 487. (A clasp-knife is not a dagger and is not designed or suitable for warfare. Therefore, it does not come within the definition of “arms.”)]

[3] The Act contains no exhaustive definition of “arms,” and the true meaning of the term must be arrived at in some cases by a consideration of the circumstances attending them. Where the circumstances of a case show that a weapon or instrument is carried or possessed for the purpose of offence or defence, and not for agricultural purposes or as an article of domestic utility, there is no reason why such a weapon or instrument should not be held to fall within the category of “arms.” (1900) 1900 Pun Re No. 16 (Cr), p. 37 (38).

[4] The mere fact that the use of a weapon may probably cause death, does not make it “arms.” (Vol 1) 1914 Oudh 285 (286) : 15 Cri L Jour 685. (A plain lathi with a detachable blade attached to it is not “arms.”)

[5] The true criterion is not whether any given dah is an “u-pyat” but what was the intention of the maker as regards its purpose. (Vol 10) 1923 Rang 23 (23) : 23 Cr L Jour 594.

[6] See also Note 5.

5. Arms, what are.—[1] Whether any instrument is a fire-arm or not is a question of fact to be determined according to circumstances. (1898) 21 Mad 360 (362).

[2] A hunting knife sharpened on one side only is “arm” within S. 4. (Vol 11) 1924 Cal 714 (715) : 25 Cri L Jour 1119 : 51 Cal 573.

[3] A sword-stick is a sword sheathed in a cane-stick and comes within the definition of arms in S. 4. (1907) 6 Cri L Jour 227 (227, 228).

[4] A battle-axe is an arm for the purposes of Arms Act. (1905) 1 Weir 654 (654).

[6] A clasp-knife which has a blade $5\frac{1}{2}$ inches long with a pointed end and is fitted to a long handle and turns over into the handle falls within the meaning of the word “arms.” (Vol 15) 1928 Rang 49 (50) : 29 Cri L Jour 115 : 5 Rang 710.

[7] Clasp-knives with dagger shape are arms. (1905) 2 Cri L Jour 372 (374).

[8] A hunting knife sharpened on one side only is “arm” within S. 4. (Vol 11) 1924 Cal 714 (715) : 25 Cri L Jour 1119 : 51 Cal 573.

[9] Instrument consisting of a lathi and an axe-like blade and not one used for domestic purposes is “arm.” (Vol 15) 1928 Lah 295 (296) : 29 Cri L Jour 961 : 9 Lah 137.

[10] Chavi is a weapon having large axe-like blade, curved or otherwise, with an arrangement of rings for

II.—MANUFACTURE, CONVERSION AND SALE.

Unlicensed manufacture, conversion and sale prohibited.

5. No person shall manufacture, convert or sell, or keep, offer or expose for sale, any arms, ammunition or military stores, except under a license and in the manner and to the extent permitted thereby.

Nothing herein contained shall prevent any person from selling any arms or ammunition which he lawfully possesses for his own private use to any person who is not by any enactment for the time being in force prohibited from possessing the same; but every person so selling arms or ammunition to any person other than a person entitled to possess the same by reason of an exemption under section 27 of this Act shall, without unnecessary delay, give to the Magistrate of the district, or to the officer in charge of the nearest police-station, notice of the sale and of the purchaser's name and address.

binding it to the handle which is of considerable length. It is an arm. (Vol 1) 1914 Lah 280 (280) : 15 Cri L Jour 506; (Vol 6) 1919 Lah 211 (211) : 20 Cri L Jour 577.

[11] An old-fashioned muzzle-loading gun-barrel in good condition and with the touchhole in a good order is a fire-arm within the meaning of S. 14. There is nothing in S. 14 inconsistent with S. 4. (1907) 5 Cri L Jour 435 (436) : 3 Nag L R 53.

[12] A carving knife manufactured for culinary purposes even though carried about in a sheath like dagger is not an "arm." A knife, not otherwise an "arm," is not converted into an "arm" by the mere addition of a sheath to carry it, unless the character of the knife is altered, say, by grinding and making it double-edged. (1910) 11 Cri L Jour 153 (153) (L B).

See also Note 4 and Notes on Sections 5, 14 and 19.

5a. Fire-arms. — [1] The word 'fire-arms' means arms that are fired by means of gun-powder or other explosives. (Vol 2) 1915 Cal 719 (723) : 16 Cri L Jour 9 : 42 Cal 1153.

6. "Parts of arms." — [1] In including parts of arms within the definition of "arms," the Legislature intended to provide against the importation of and retention of arms in parts which might be put together any moment and used as fire-arms. (1883) 6 Mad 60 (60, 61) (FB).

[2] Possession of loose parts of a revolver with nothing to show that they cannot be assembled together as to be capable of being used as a fire-arm is an arm. (Vol 20) 1933 Cal 495 (495) : 34 Cri L Jour 916.

[4] A broken and unserviceable gun will not fall under the designation of "parts of arms" within the meaning of S. 4. (1884) 7 Mad 70 (71).

[5] By using both the words 'spears' and 'spear-heads' in S. 4 the Legislature clearly intended to differentiate and distinguish between spears and spear-heads. In accordance with that section 'arms' includes 'parts of arms' and if the Legislature intended spear-heads to be taken as parts of spears there was no necessity for introducing the word 'spear-heads' after the use of the word 'spears' in the section. Further, parts of the arms specifically mentioned in S. 4 have not been mentioned in that section. It is, therefore, clear that the Legislature in S. 4 enumerated only arms and not parts thereof. It follows that spear-heads cannot within the meaning of this section be taken to be parts of spears. (Vol 24) 1937 All 228 (229) : 38 Cri L Jour 511.

7. Spear. — [1] 'Spear' is spear even if it is called by another name such as Nishan Saheb and is used for religious purpose. (Vol 28) 1941 Lah 340 (341) : 43 Cri L Jour 76 : ILR (1941) Lah 789.

[2] Whether the word 'spear' used in a Gazette notification will necessarily include 'spear-head' as being 'part of the arm', see. (Vol 24) 1937 All 228 (229) : 38 Cri L Jour 511.

[3] See also (1905) 1 Weir 660 (660) which is based on the Government of India notification excluding spears of all kinds from the operation of any prohibition and direction contained in the Act so far as regards the Presidency of Madras.

8. Sword. — [1] A sword-stick is a 'sword' within the meaning of the term 'sword' in the Arms Act. (Vol 20) 1933 Bom 438 (439) : 35 Cri L Jour 104 (1).

9. Unserviceable arms. — [1] A revolver, the trigger of which is out of order, is a fire-arm within the meaning of the Arms Act. In such cases, the question is not so much whether the particular weapon is serviceable as a fire-arm, but whether it has lost its specific character and has so ceased to be a fire-arm. (1898) 21 Mad 360 (362) (FB). [Overruling (1883) 6 Mad 60 (60, 61) (FB).]; (1908) 7 Cri L Jour 350 (352) (Lah); (1909) 9 Cri L Jour 259 (260, 261) (FB); (Vol 10) 1923 Lah 617 (618) : 25 Cri L Jour 539; (Vol 20) 1933 Cal 495 (495) : 34 Cri L Jour 916; (Vol 30) 1943 Mad 661 (661) : 45 Cri L Jour 124; (Vol 24) 1937 Nag 213 (215) : 38 Cri L Jour 639 : I L R (1937) Nag 488. (Gun without percussion cap is arm.)

[But see (1884) 7 Mad 70 (71).]

[2] See also S. 19 Cl. (f) Note 12.

SECTION 5 — NOTE

[1] A sikh is not exempted from the operation of prohibition as to manufacture of Kirpans, though he can possess them. (Vol 10) 1923 Lah 267 (267) : 25 Cri L Jour 342 : 3 Lah 437.

[2] In the Arms Act, the word "repair" appears neither in the provision prescribing a licence, nor in the provision prescribing a penalty, the word "convert" being used in substitution therefor. The term "manufacture" cannot be construed to include "repair". (1905) 1 Weir 653 (653); (1905) 1 Weir 656 (656).

[3] The word "manner" as used in S. 5 appears to have reference to the conditions under which a licence for the weapon is given, e.g., as to how it is to be kept, and used and as to its being produced at the time required. Hence altering a match-lock into percussion-gun, is not punishable, as this does not amount to conversion. (1887) 10 Mad 131 (132).

[4] The section does not at all speak about permission to sell. An application by the accused for permission to sell his gun amounts to giving notice under S. 5. (1883) 6 Mad 60 (61) (FB).

[5] The manufacture or possession of fire-works, including rockets which are mere fire-works, does not

. III.—IMPORT, EXPORT AND TRANSPORT.

6. No person shall bring or take by sea or by land into or out of British India any arms, ammunition or military stores except under a license and in the manner and to the extent permitted by such license.

Unlicensed importation and exportation prohibited.

Nothing in the first clause of this section extends to arms (other than cannon) or ammunition imported or exported in reasonable quantities for his own private use by any person lawfully entitled to possess such arms or ammunition; but the Collector of Customs or any other officer empowered by the ^a[Central Government] in this behalf by name or in virtue of his office may at any time detain such arms or ammunition until he receives the orders of the ^a[Central Government] thereon.

Importation and exportation of arms and ammunition for private use.

Explanation.—Arms, ammunition and military stores taken from one part of British India to another by sea or across intervening territory not being part of British India, are taken out of and brought into British India within the meaning of this section.

[a] Substituted by A. O. for "Local Government."

Sanction of Central Government required to warehousing of arms, etc.

7. Notwithstanding anything contained in the Sea Customs Act, 1878, no arms, ammunition or military stores shall be deposited in any warehouse licensed under section 16 of that Act without the sanction of the ^a[Central Government].

[a] Substituted by A. O. for "Local Government."

8. [Levy of duties on arms, etc., imported by sea.] Repealed by the Amending Act, 1891 (XII of 1891).

9. [Power to impose duty on import by land.] Repealed by the Amending Act, 1891 (XII of 1891).

Power to prohibit transport.

10. The ^a[Central Government] may from time to time by notification in the ^b[Official Gazette],—

- (a) regulate or prohibit the transport of any description of arms, ammunition or military stores over the whole of British India or any part thereof, either altogether or except under a license and to the extent in the manner permitted by such license and,
- (b) cancel any such notification.

Explanation.—Arms, ammunition or military stores transhipped at a port in British India are transported within the meaning of this section.

[a] Substituted by A. O. for "Governor-General in Council." [b] Substituted by A. O. for "Gazette of India."

11. The ^a[Central Government] ^b[* * * * *] may, at any places along the boundary-line between British India and foreign territory, and at such distance within such line as it deems expedient, establish searching-posts at which all vessels, carts and baggage-animals, and all boxes, bales and packages in transit, may be stopped and searched for arms, ammunition and military stores by any officer empowered by ^c[the Central Government] in this behalf by name or in virtue of his office.

Power to establish searching stations.

[a] Substituted by A. O. for "Local Government." [b] Words "with the previous sanction of the Governor-General in Council," were repealed by A. O. [c] Substituted by A. O. for "such Government".

12. When any person is found carrying or conveying any arms, ammunition or military stores, whether covered by a license or not, in such manner or under such circumstances as to afford just grounds of suspicion that the same are being carried by him with intent to use them, or that the same may be used, for any unlawful purpose, any person may without warrant apprehend him and take such arms, ammunition or military stores from him.

Arrest of persons conveying arms, etc., under suspicious circumstances.

Procedure where arrest made by person not Magistrate or Police officer.

Any person so apprehended, and any arms, ammunition or military stores so taken by a person not being a Magistrate or Police-officer, shall be delivered over as soon as possible to a Police-officer.

All persons apprehended by, or delivered to, a Police-officer, and all arms and ammunition seized by or delivered to any such officer under this section shall be taken without unnecessary delay before a Magistrate.

Section 5 (contd.)

come within the prohibition of S. 5. (1882) 5 Mad 159 (160).

[6] The sale of ammunition by an agent of a licensee holder effected on the premises covered by the license is not illegal. (1889) 12 Mad 478 (475).

[7] Under S. 5 it is a proper thing for the Court to give notice when ordering the sale of arms. (1885) 9 Bom 518 (520).

IV.—GOING ARMED AND POSSESSING ARMS, ETC.

Prohibition of going armed without license.

13. No person shall go armed with any arms except under a license and to the extent and in the manner permitted thereby.

Any person so going armed without a license or in contravention of its provisions may be disarmed by any Magistrate, Police-officer or other person empowered by the ^a[Central Government] in this behalf by name or by virtue of his office.

[a] Substituted by A. O. for "Local Government."

14. No person shall have in his possession or under his control any cannon or fire-arms, or unlicensed possession of any ammunition or military stores, except under a license and in the fire-arms, etc. manner and to the extent permitted thereby ^a[* * * *].

[a] Last three paras. were repealed by the Amending Act, 1891 (12 [XII] of 1891).

SECTION 13 — SYNOPSIS.

1. "Going armed."
2. Servant of a licensee going armed.
3. "To the extent and in the manner permitted thereby."
4. "Under a license."

1. "Going armed." — [1] The term "going armed" in S. 13 means "carrying arms." (1905) 1 Weir 663 (663).

[But see (1897-1901) 1 Upp Bur Rul 1. (Carrying arms does not necessarily equal going armed.)]

[2] Taking blunt spear, capable of being sharpened, to parade ground for gymnastic purposes is "going armed." (Vol 17) 1930 Bom 174 (175): 31 Cri L Jour 1109.

[3] A man who is found going about with a pistol, gun or sword, must, in the absence of proof to the contrary, be presumed to be carrying it with intention of using it, should an opportunity arise. Hence, he goes armed within the meaning of this section. (Vol 24) 1937 Nag 213 (214): 38 Cri L Jour 639: 1 L R (1937) Nag 488.

[4] A person, who appears in a public place or issues from his own property or abode, having about his person a weapon of the sort described in S. 4, and not covered by a licence goes armed within the meaning of S. 13 of the said Act. (1898-1900) Low Bur Rul 284.

[5] Where the accused was found in another man's house wearing dagger and did not allege that the dagger was not his or that he had not brought it to the house but specified the purpose for which the dagger was used, held, that the offence of "going armed with a dagger in contravention of S. 13" had been committed by the accused. (1897-1901) Upp Bur Rul Vol 1, 4 (4, 5).

[6] To be in possession or control of arms other than those mentioned in S. 14 is not an offence, though it is an offence to go armed with them, as provided in S. 13. (Vol 20) 1933 Cal 692 (694): 60 Cal 1432: 35 Cr L Jour 125; (1892-1896) 1 Upp Bur Rul 1 (1).

[7] The accused, who was found wearing a dagger, was wanted by the police for the commission of theft for which he was sentenced. It was held that in the circumstances of the case the accused was going armed. (1897-1900) 1 Upp Bur Rul 4 (5).

[8] See also Section 19, Note 5.

2. Servant of licensee going armed. — [1] A servant carrying some arms of his master having no control over the use of them, cannot be said to be going armed. (1897-1901) 1 Upp Bur Rul 1.

game.); (Vol 4) 1917 All 327 (328): 18 Cri L Jour 297. (Do.)

[3] Where a person was allowed under a notification to carry a gun for his "personal use," held, that the servant of such person cannot be convicted for carrying the gun and using it for the purpose of shooting game for his master, because such use comes within the expression "personal use." (1900) 22 All 118 (120).

[4] A licence to carry arms including a retainer, authorizes any retainer to carry the arms specified in the licence with the permission of his master. The licence should not be so construed as to restrict the retainer to carry the arms only in the presence of the master. (1893) 20 Cal 444 (446).

[5] See also Section 19, cl. (f), Note 9.

3. "To the extent and in the manner permitted thereby." — [1] A licence prescribed that arms should not be carried in a religious procession or a public assemblage. When arms were carried in a marriage procession, it was held that the accused did not break the condition of the licence as marriage procession is neither the religious nor the public assemblage. (Vol 15) 1928 Nag 219 (220): 29 Cri L Jour 575.

[But see (Vol 10) 1923 Bom 35 (36): 23 Cri L Jour 450. (Marriage procession becomes a public assemblage as soon as it emerges into a public road.)]

[2] Where a licence to go armed is granted for protection only, the licensee cannot use it for sport or display. (1905) 1 Weir 663 (663).

4. "Under the license." — [1] Section 13 prohibits any person from going armed except under the licence. These words cannot be held to mean that the licensee is bound to take his licence with him whenever he goes armed. (1905) 1 Weir 661 (661): (Vol 8) 1921 Oudh 149 (149): 22 Cri L Jour 755: 24 Oudh Cas 265.

[2] If the bearer of arms on being required to show his licence is prepared to produce it on being given a reasonable opportunity to get it, and such licence exists, he should not be prosecuted. The production of the licence at the trial is a sufficient answer to the charge of infringing the Arms Act. (1893) 20 Cal 444 (446).

SECTION 14 — SYNOPSIS.

1. Manner and extent.
2. Military stores.
3. Persons exempted from licence.
4. Possession and licence.

1. Manner and extent. — [1] The word "extent" in S. 14 is not limited in its meaning to territorial extent. (Vol 20) 1933 Cal 218 (219): 34 Cr L Jour 363: 60 Cal 445.

[2] Where a licence for breach loading gun authorizes licensee to keep cartridges, the licensee is not

15. In any place to which section 32, clause 2, of Act No. XXXI of 1860^a applies at the time this Act comes into force or to which [the Central Government] may by notification in the [Official Gazette] specially extend this section,^d no person shall have in his possession any arms of any description, except under a license and in the manner and to the extent permitted thereby.

[a] Act 31 [XXXI] of 1860 was repealed by S. 3 of this Act. [b] Substituted by A. O. for "the Local Government with the previous sanction of the Governor-General in Council." [c] Substituted by A. O. for "Local Official Gazette." [d] Section 15 has been especially extended to—(1) Places in Bombay, see Bom. R. and O. (2) Places in Madras, see Mad. R. and O. (3) Places in Punjab, see Punjab Gazette, 1899, Pt. I, p. 285; ibid 1900 Pt. I, p. 810. (4) Places in U. P., see U.P.R. and O. (5) Places in Assam, see Assam Gazette, Extra, dated 23-3-1923.

^a16. (1) Any person possessing arms, ammunition or military stores the possession whereof has, in consequence of the cancellation or expiry of a license or of an exemption or by the issue of a notification under section 15 or otherwise, become unlawful, shall without unnecessary delay deposit the same

In certain cases arms to be deposited at police-stations or with licensed dealers.

Section 14 (contd.)

debarred from possessing powder for purpose of re-loading cartridges. The word "manner" in S. 14 must not be given a restricted meaning. (Vol 33) 1946 Oudh 124 (125).

[3] Where the licence is for a full-sized gun, possessed under it half barrel gun is an offence. (Vol 15) 1928 Lah 759 (759) : 29 Cri L Jour 472.

[4] In a District where bisons were notoriously in the habit of injuring crops, a licence for a gun was given under Form 11 Rule 16 to kill wild beasts doing damage to crops. It was held that the licence-holder could use the gun for shooting bison for sport. (1883) 5 Mad 26 (27, 28).

2. Military stores.—[1] Dalwes, spears and forks do not come within the term "military stores" in S. 14, and they can be possessed. (1892-96) 1 Upp Bur Rul 1 (1).

3. Persons exempted from licence.—[1] The petitioner, who was promoted from the rank of Havildar to the rank of Jamadar on 30th August, with retrospective effect from the 1st June, was held to be a commissioned officer from the 1st June, and therefore was held to fall within one of the classes exempted by the Government of India from the operation of the prohibition contained in S. 14 of the Arms Act. (1885) 1885 Pun Re No. 27 Cr p. (64).

[2] If it is established that an accused had no licence and if he could not prove himself to be exempted under the Act or Rules he would be a person within the provisions of S. 14. (Vol 19) 1932 Rang 180 (182) : 34 Cri L Jour 112.

[3] Held that under Sch. 7, Item (c) of the Rules of 1924, a person would not be entitled to be exempt from a licence though he may be exempted from payment therefor. (Vol 19) 1932 Rang 180 (182) : 34 Cri L Jour 112.

[4] See also Section 19, Cl. (f) Note "exemptions."

4. Possession and licence.—[1] Throughout the Act the word "possession" must be taken to mean something different from mere "control." A servant using a gun belonging to his master would no doubt have the weapon under his control but its possession is with his master only. (1908) 8 Cri L Jour 13 (19).

[2] The possession of a gun without a licence by the servant of a person exempted from keeping licence is not an offence under S. 14. (1885) 1885 Pun Re No. 27 Cr p. (64).

[3] The unserviceable remains of a gun could not be fairly described as 'fire-arm' within the meaning of S. 14 of this Act and do not require to be protected by a licence under that section. (1899) 12 C P L R 8 (9) Cr. (1883) 6 Mad 60 and 7 Mad 70, referred to.)

[4] A gun-barrel is not a "fire-arm" within the meaning of S. 14, nor does it fall under any of the other articles mentioned in that section. It can be possessed without licence. (1899) 12 CPLR 10 (11) (Cr).

[5] A person who possesses an arm after the expiry of the licence commits an offence under S. 19 (f). (Vol 24) 1937 Pesh 30 (31) : 38 Cri L Jour 396; (Vol 20) 1933 Cal 218 (219) : 60 Cal 445 : 34 Cri L Jour 363. (Even for a month.)

[6] Upon the death of a licence-holder, the person succeeding him to the management of his property did not renew the licence for a gun. The gun was, two years after the death, found in possession of one of the servants. It was held that the servant was guilty. (1912) 13 Cri L Jour 525 (525).

[7] An order extending time for renewal of licence keeps a licence already granted in force till the expiry of the time extended. The licensee cannot be convicted of an offence of possession of arms before the extended time. (1899) 3 Cal W N 394 (394).

[8] A licence for a gun was granted under Form 16 but was not renewed before the period prescribed for renewal. It was held that possession of the gun after the expiry of such period was an offence. The fact that there is a provision for renewing the licence during a further period on payment of certain fees does not affect the position. (Vol 29) 1942 Lah 300 (301) : 44 Cri L Jour 101 : 11LR (1943) Lah 756.

[9] From the fact that accused are members of an organisation, the object of which is to commit terroristic offences, it would not follow, in the absence of other evidence, that the accused were also parties to a criminal conspiracy for the definite and specific purpose of possessing fire-arms in contravention of the Act. This prosecution must specially prove. (1936) 37 Cri L Jour 840 (842).

1. SECTION 15.

[1] The possession of bayonets without a licence is not an offence punishable under the Arms Act except in districts proclaimed under S. 15 of that Act. (1872-92) 1872-92 Low Bur Rul 426.

[2] Under the U. P. Arms Rules and Orders (1924), R. 35, a repairer of arms in possession of guns for repairs cannot be convicted of offence of being in possession of arms without licence—Length of justifiable time of possession depends upon circumstances. (Vol 16) 1929 All 720 (720) : 30 Cri L Jour 984 : 52 All 92.

[3] The possession of a sword or dagger without a licence in a place to which S. 15 has not been rendered applicable, is not punishable under S. 19 (f). (1905) 1 Weir 666 (666).

[4] Held that in the absence of any notification under S. 15, the possession of any arms in the Badami Taluka was not punishable. (1885) 9 Bom 478 (482).

either with the officer in charge of the nearest police-station or, at his option and subject to such conditions as the ^b[Central Government] may by rule prescribe, with a licensed dealer.

(2) When arms, ammunition or military stores have been deposited under sub-section (1) or before the first day of January 1920, under the provisions of any law for the time being in force, the depositor shall, at any time before the expiry of such period as the ^b[Central Government] may by rule prescribe, be entitled —

- (a) to receive back any thing so deposited the possession of which by him has become lawful, and
- (b) to dispose, or authorize the disposal, of any thing so deposited by sale or otherwise to any person whose possession of the same would be lawful; and to receive the proceeds of any such sale :

Provided that nothing in this sub-section shall be deemed to authorize the return or disposal of anything the confiscation of which has been directed under section 24.

(3) All things deposited as aforesaid and not returned or disposed of under sub-section (2) within the prescribed period therein referred to shall be forfeited to His Majesty.

(4) (a) The ^b[Central Government] may make rules consistent with this Act for carrying into effect the provisions of this section.

(b) In particular and without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing provisions, the ^b[Central Government] may by rule prescribe —

- (i) the conditions subject to which arms, ammunition and military stores may be deposited with a licensed dealer, and
- (ii) the period after the expiry of which things deposited as aforesaid shall be forfeited under sub-section (3).]

[a] Substituted by the Indian Arms (Amendment) Act, 1919 (20 [XX] of 1919), S. 2 for the original section. [b] Substituted by A. O. for "Local Government".

V. LICENCES.

17. The ^a[Central Government] may from time to time by notification in the ^b[Official Gazette], make rules to determine the officers by whom the form in ^cPower to make rules as to which, and the terms and conditions on and subject to which, any license shall be granted^e; and may by such rules among other matters —

- (a) fix the period for which such license shall continue in force;
- (b) fix a fee payable by stamp or otherwise in respect of any such license granted in a place to which section 32, clause 2, of Act No. XXXI of 1860^d applies at the time this Act comes into force or in respect of any such license other than a license for possession granted in any other place;
- (c) direct that the holder of any such license other than a license for possession shall keep a record or account, in such form as the ^e[Central Government] may prescribe, of anything done under such license, and exhibit such record or account when called upon by an officer of Government so to do;
- (d) empower any officer of Government to enter and inspect any premises in which arms, ammunition or military stores are manufactured or kept by any person holding a license of the description referred to in section 5 or section 6;
- (e) direct that any such person shall exhibit the entire stock of arms, ammunition and military stores in his possession or under his control to any officer of Government so empowered; and
- (f) require the person holding any license or acting under any license to produce the same, and to produce or account for the arms, ammunition or military stores covered by the same when called upon by an officer of Government so to do.

[a] Substituted by A. O. for "Governor-General in Council". [b] Substituted by A. O. for "Gazette of India". [c] For rules as to licenses, see the Indian Arms Rules, General Rules and Orders, Vol. II; [d] Act 31 [XXXI] of 1860 was repealed by S. 3 of this Act; [e] Substituted by A. O. for "Local Government."

1. SECTION 17.

[1] Licence-holder must apply for renewal before expiry of license—Possession of gun after expiry is offence under S. 19 (f). (Vol 29) 1942 Lah 300 (300) : 44 Cri L Jour 101 : ILR (1943) Lah 756.

[2] Persons who are granted licenses to carry arms to kill lions which are notoriously in the habit of injuring crops will be justified in going armed for the purposes of sport and no separate licence under S. 17 is necessary. (1882) 5 Mad 26 (27).

[3] When receiving applications for licences a District Magistrate acts as an executive officer and not as a Court. Hence the rules framed by the High Court do not apply. (1908) 4 Nag L R 134 (136).

Cancelling and suspension of license.

18. Any license may be cancelled or suspended—

- (a) by the officer by whom the same was granted or by any authority to which he may be subordinate, or by any Magistrate of a district, or Commissioner of Police in a presidency-town, within the local limits of whose jurisdiction the holder of such license may be, when for reasons to be recorded in writing, such officer, authority, Magistrate or Commissioner deems it necessary for the security of the public peace to cancel or suspend such license; or
- (b) by any Judge or Magistrate before whom the holder of such license is convicted of an offence against this Act, or against the rules made under this Act; and ^a[the Central Government may by a notification in the Official Gazette cancel or suspend all or any licenses throughout the whole or any portion of British India].

[a] Substituted by A. O. for "the Local Government may at its discretion [by a notification in the local official Gazette cancel or suspend all or any licenses throughout the whole or any portion of the territories under its administration.]"

VI. PENALTIES.

For breach of sections 5, 6, 10, 13 to 17.

19. Whoever commits any of the following offences (namely) :—

- (a) manufactures, converts or sells, or keeps, offers or exposes for sale, any arms, ammunition or military stores in contravention of the provisions of section 5;
- (b) fails to give notice as required by the same section;
- (c) imports or exports any arms, ammunition or military stores in contravention of the provisions of section 6;
- (d) transports any arms, ammunition or military stores in contravention of a regulation or prohibition issued under section 10;
- (e) goes armed in contravention of the provisions of section 13;
- (f) has in his possession or under his control any arms, ammunition or military stores in contravention of the provisions of section 14 or section 15;
- (g) intentionally makes any false entry in a record or account which, by a rule made under section 17, clause (c), he is required to keep;
- (h) intentionally fails to exhibit anything which, by a rule made under section 17, clause (e), he is required to exhibit; or
- (i) fails to deposit arms, ammunition or military stores, as required by section 14 or section 16; shall be punished with imprisonment for a term which may extend to three years, or with fine, or with both.

[a] Offences under this section are bailable, see Schedule II, Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898 (Act V of 1898).

PROVINCIAL AMENDMENT

S. 19A

Bengal.—After section 19 the following section shall be inserted, namely :—

For breaches of sections 6, 13, 14 and 15 in respect of certain arms. "19A. Notwithstanding anything contained in section 19, whoever commits an offence under clause (a), (c), (e) or (f) of section 19 shall if the offence is committed in respect of a pistol, revolver, rifle or shot gun, be punished with transportation for life or any shorter term, or with imprisonment for a term which may extend to fourteen years, or with fine."

— BENGAL ACT XXI OF 1932, S. 3, [12-1-1932] as amended by BENGAL ACT VII OF 1934 [29-3-1934].

SECTION 19—SYNOPSIS

1. Section 19—General.
2. Section 19, clause (a).
3. Section 19, clause (c).
- 3a. Section 19, clause (d).
4. Section 19, clause (e)—General.
5. Section 19, clause (e)—"Goes armed."
6. Section 19, clause (f)—Exemptions.
7. Section 19, clause (f)—General.
8. Section 19, clause (f)—Illustrative cases.
9. Section 19, clause (f)—Possession by servant of a license-holder.

10. Section 19, clause (f)—Possession of accused must be proved to be exclusive.
11. Section 19, clause (f)—Possession of arms found in a house belonging to a joint family.
12. Section 19, clause (f)—Possession of arms in unserviceable condition.
13. Section 19, clause (i).
14. Sanction—See S. 29, Note 3.

1. Section 19—General.—[1] An offence under S. 19 is not triable summarily. (1905) 1 Weir 654 (654).

[2] Under the provisions of S. 19 a Magistrate, on finding the accused guilty, is bound to pass some sentence, though, of course, it is open to him to pass a nominal sentence. (1905) 1 Weir 654 (654).

Section 19 (conid.)

[3] Solitary confinement cannot be awarded for offences under the Arms Act. (Vol 11) 1924 Lah 667 (667) : 25 Cri L Jour 120.

[4] A joint trial of the accused for offences under S. 29, Frontier Crimes Regulation and S. 19, Arms Act, is not open to any objection. (Vol 20) 1933 Pesh 90 (94) : 35 Cri L Jour 399.

[5] An order confiscating a gun because of delay in renewing a licence is illegal. The proper order is imposition of a fine and detention of the gun in police-station till the production of the licence. (Vol 2) 1915 Mad 130 (130) : 15 Cri L Jour 21.

[6] Accused charged under S. 120B, Penal Code, read with Ss. 19 and 20, Arms Act — Accused when arrested found in possession of arms—Held, two cases were wholly independent and separate proceedings could be taken under Arms Act. (Vol 20) 1933 Lah 231 (231) : 34 Cri L Jour 637.

[7] Where a person is found in possession of a stolen revolver there is no legal bar to two trials and two punishments, one under Arms Act, S. 19 and the other under S. 411, Penal Code. (Vol 20) 1933 All 461 (462) : 34 Cri L Jour 1018.

2. Section 19, clause (a).—[1] Keeping of arms under S. 19 (a) must be a keeping for sale and not a mere keeping. (Vol 2) 1915 Cal 719 (723) : 42 Cal 1153 : 16 Cri L Jour 9.

[2] Where the accused, who had a licence under the Explosives Act to manufacture and sell gunpowder and fire-works on certain premises, manufactured fire-works at a different place, it was held that the accused could not be convicted under the Arms Act. (1905) 1 Weir 656 (656).

[3] The mere possession or sale of fire-works, without a licence, is no offence under the Arms Act. But the possession of gunpowder without a licence, even though for the innocent purpose of making fire-works, is an offence. (1889) 12 Mad 473 (475).

[4] A person, in possession of a quantity of gunpowder without licence is liable to be convicted under S. 19, although he may intend to employ the powder in the manufacture of fire-works or other harmless purposes, inasmuch as gunpowder is a material capable of being used for purposes of warfare. (1885) 8 Mad 202 (204).

[5] There is nothing in the Arms Act or the rules, which renders a sale of sulphur and ammunition by the agent of a license-holder illegal. (1889) 12 Mad 473 (475).

[6] An order extending the time for renewal of a licence has the effect of keeping a licence previously granted practically in force. (1899) 3 Cal W N 394 (395).

[7] One of the rules in the Arms Manual provided that lead required in good faith for industrial and manufacturing purposes (other than the manufacture of bullets or birdshot) is excepted from all the prohibitions and directions in the Arms Manual. It was held that the Magistrate should have, in his examination of the accused, put some questions with a view to elucidating from them whether they were prima facie vendors of lead for industrial purposes. (Vol 17) 1930 Rang 349 (350) : 32 Cri L Jour 206.

[8] See also Note on Section 5.

3. Section 19, clause (c). — [1] Even a servant carrying a gun for the purpose of having it repaired, which has no license acknowledged by the British Government, will not be protected from the provisions of

S. 19, cl. (c). (Vol 16) 1929 Oudh 157 (158) : 30 Cri L Jour 543.

[2] Under S. 19 (c), the offence of possessing arms unlawfully by a person entering British India is complete the moment he enters with the arms in his possession. No particular intention in the mind of the offender is necessary. (1912) 13 Cri L Jour 776 (777) : 35 Mad 596.

3a. Section 19, clause (d). — [1] Ordering gun from dealer in Bombay ostensibly for another but really for himself does not amount to offence under S. 19 (d). (Vol 16) 1929 Mad 864 (864, 865) : 31 Cri L Jour 273 : 52 Mad 999.

4. Section 19, clause (e) — General. — [1] No Magistrate of the second class has the power to try an offence under S. 19 (e) of the Arms Act. (1905) 1 Weir 660 (660).

[2] Accused is a lambardar of 30 years' age. There is no reason to show leniency by not sentencing him but only taking security under S. 562, Criminal P. C. His age and the fact that the offence is a first offence are no considerations. (Vol 24) 1937 Pesh 51 (51, 52) : 38 Cri L Jour 610.

[3] As to the cases decided with respect to notifications issued by the Government and rules framed, see (1862-68) Rat Un Cr C 507 (508) ; (1901) 14 C P L R 112 (113) Cr.

[4] The accused was arrested in a street having in his possession a loaded revolver, a jemmy and an auger. He was prosecuted in separate cases and was convicted and sentenced to separate punishments under S. 19 (e) and S. 30 of Rangoon Police Act, 1899—Held, that the prosecution under S. 30 of the Rangoon Police Act was improper. (1906) 3 Low Bur Rul 218 (219) (FB).

5. Section 19, clause (e) — "Goes armed".

[1] The essence of the offence is the going armed, i. e. carrying a weapon with the intention of using it as a weapon, when the necessity or opportunity arises. (1902) 24 All 454 (455) ; (Vol 12) 1925 Mad 585 (585) : 26 Cri L Jour 1028 ; (1891) 1891 All W N 208 (208). ("Going armed" does not include taking arms for the purpose of repair.) ; (1893) 15 All 27 (28). (Unless he is licensed to carry the weapon and is not exceeding the terms of his license, he may be properly convicted under S. 19 (e)) ; (Vol 16) 1929 Bom 283 (285, 286) : 30 Cri L Jour 1059 : 58 Bom 604. (Going need not be habitual. An isolated act of carrying a weapon without license is enough to constitute offence.)

[3] Where the accused, the servant of a license-holder was in possession of his master's gun on behalf of master who was away and who had left the place where the accused was guarding his master's money for a short time only it was held that the accused was not liable to be convicted. (Vol 20) 1933 Pat 600 (600) : 35 Cri L Jour 127.

[4] Use of a gun by the servant of a licensee for his own purposes is an offence though the servant can carry legally the gun for the purposes of his master or in the presence of his master. (Vol 11) 1924 Mad 668 (669) : 25 Cri L Jour 975 : 47 Mad 438.

[5] The word "arms" as defined in S. 4, includes part of arms. It would, therefore, include a gun minus a percussion cap, and a person carrying that gun would be going armed with arms and the person carrying such a gun without licence would be guilty under S. 19 (e). (Vol 24) 1937 Nag 213 (214) : 38 Cri L Jour 639 : ILR (1937) Nag 488.

Section 19 (contd.)

[6] The possession of a gun without ammunition, in the absence of a licence, is not punishable under S. 19 (e). (1882) 5 Mad 26 (28).

[7] To carry a weapon not in the hands but tied to the cycle in the manner of a piece of luggage amounts to going armed within the meaning of cl. (e). (Vol 28) 1941 Pat 284 (285) : 42 Cri L Jour 341.

[8] Where an accused who was charged under Ss. 395 and 457, Penal Code, and S. 19 (e) of the Arms Act, for being armed with a pistol at the time of the dacoity, but for that charge there was no evidence except his own confession which had been found to be suspicious and not voluntary and an exculpatory statement of the co-accused which could not be taken into consideration as such under S. 30 of Evidence Act, it was held that the conviction of the accused under S. 19 (e), Arms Act, was not proper. (Vol 32) 1945 Bom 484 (488, 489) : 47 Cri L Jour 252.

[9] See also Section 13, Note 1.

6. Section 19, clause (f) — Exemptions. — [1] Person claiming exemption must prove that he comes within it. (Vol 9) 1922 Lah 141 (142) : 23 Cri L Jour 78.

[3] Held, that the possession of a double barrelled gun by the accused, who was a reservist, did not constitute any offence. (1902) 1902 Pun L R No. 1 p. (16).

[4] The exemption of volunteers from the operation of the Arms Act, by Government of India notification is not confined merely to purposes of volunteering. A volunteer is, by virtue of such exemption, entitled to keep fowling pieces and to use them for the purpose of protecting his cultivation. (1900) 22 All 323 (326).

[5] Possession of jambia is not offence in Bombay Presidency under S. 19. (Vol 17) 1930 Bom 159 (159) : 31 Cri L Jour 932.

[6] See also Section 14, Note 3.

7. Section 19, clause (f) — General. — [1] Section 19 (f) of the Arms Act does not make the mere possession of a gun punishable; it makes possession contrary to the provisions of S. 14 of that Act punishable. The snatching up of a gun, which was in the hands of another, and firing it at a mad dog, do not constitute the possession contemplated by S. 14 of the Arms Act. (1908) 7 Cri L Jour 112 (113) : 35 Cal 219.

[2] Offence under S. 19 is complete as soon as accused is found in possession of arms and ammunition in contravention of S. 14 or S. 15. (Vol 22) 1935 Pat 465 (467) : 37 Cri L Jour 100.

[3] Recovery of arms not in presence of witnesses cannot be relied on. (Vol 10) 1923 Lah 466 (466).

[4] Conviction under Arms Act, S. 19 (f) should not be altered in revision to one under Explosives Act, unless the conviction under the latter Act was obviously correct and unless the accused was prejudiced by being charged under the Arms Act. (Vol 18) 1931 All 17 (18) : 32 Cri L Jour 564 : 53 All 226.

[5] Minor in possession of arms without licence can be convicted under S. 19 (f). (Vol 5) 1918 All 107 (108) : 19 Cri L Jour 447 : 40 All 420.

[6] It is for the prosecution to prove definitely that the number of cartridges in the actual possession of the accused on any particular date exceeded the number covered by his licence. The Court cannot be called upon to draw an inference that he had in fact a larger number of cartridges in his possession. (Vol 20) 1933 Lah 166 (166) : 34 Cri L Jour 190.

[7] Offence under S. 19 (f) is cognizable by Police. (1936) 1936 Mad W N 624 (625).

[8] In the case of illegal possession of revolver while preparing for dacoity, S. 239 (d), Criminal P. C., applies and the accused can be jointly tried under S. 399, Penal Code, and S. 19 (f), Arms Act. (Vol 24) 1937 Lah 793 (794) : 39 Cri L Jour 141.

[9] Conviction under Ss. 411 and 414, Penal Code, in respect of possession of stolen revolver is no bar to a conviction in respect of it under S. 19 (f), Arms Act. (Vol 20) 1933 Oudh 470 (472) : 35 Cri L Jour 86.

[10] Use of pistol by accused, with reckless disregard to consequences, against a police constable who was chasing him, the bullet remaining lodged inside the body of the police-man — Accused is guilty both under S. 307, Penal Code, and S. 19 (f), Arms Act. (Vol 20) 1933 Lah 852 (854) : 35 Cri L Jour 171 : 14 Lah 820.

[11] A person cannot be convicted both under Ss. 20 and 19 (f) in respect of the same revolver. (Vol 20) 1933 Cal 594 (597) : 35 Cri L Jour 226.

[12] Where an article, the possession of which is forbidden by the Indian Arms Act, has been discovered by reason of information given by an accused person, his conviction based upon that evidence is valid. (Vol 14) 1927 Lah 900 (900) : 28 Cri L Jour 250.

[13] License-holder cannot transfer privilege to possess rifle to non-license-holder for his own private use. But that if possession of the non-license-holder is not for any unlawful purpose, though his actual possession is unlawful, a nominal sentence will be sufficient to meet the ends of justice. (Vol 22) 1935 Pesh 103 (104) : 36 Cri L Jour 1204.

[14] The sentence of one year's rigorous imprisonment under S. 19 (f), Arms Act, for the offence of being in possession of unlicensed revolver is not appropriate sentence. (Vol 23) 1936 All 850 (851) : 38 Cri L Jour 137 : 1 L R (1937) All 308. (Sentence was enhanced to two years' rigorous imprisonment.)

8. Section 19, clause (f) — Illustrative cases. — [1] Accused's brother held license — Accused fired blank shots to warn would be mischief makers — Accused was not guilty. (Vol 12) 1925 All 396 (397) : 26 Cri L Jour 987 : 47 All 606.

[2] Son of a licensee (the latter not being entitled to hand over gun to retainer by the letter of the licensee) was convicted for possessing father's gun for shooting birds, though the spirit of law was not contravened. (Vol 12) 1925 All 175 (176) : 26 Cri L Jour 479 : 47 All 267.

[3] The carrying of a gun without ammunition, by an unlicensed person, is an offence under S. 19 (f) but not under S. 19 (e). (1905) 1 Weir 661 (662).

[4] Section 19 (f) — Agreement of parties is an overt act expressing intention to possess fire-arms making offence complete — To prove conspiracy to possess fire-arms conspiracy in respect of particular fire-arms need not be proved. (Vol 14) 1927 Cal 265 (266) : 28 Cri L Jour 241.

[5] Forbidden weapon discovered by reason of information from accused — His conviction based upon that evidence is valid. (Vol 14) 1927 Lah 900 (900) : 28 Cri L Jour 250.

[6] In a District which has not been disarmed, the possession of a sword without a license is not an offence under the Act, unless the person in possession goes armed with it. (1905) 1 Weir 666 (666).

[7] Collection of fire-arms by the custodian of a temple for use as objects of worship without either obtaining a licence or an exemption under S. 27 is an offence under S. 19 (f). (1882) 8 Cal 473 (476).

Section 19 (contd.)

[8] Before entering house to be searched police saw some men throwing something from their persons—Police discovered cartridges under Chowki on which accused sat conversing with others—Charge against them rested on suspicion—Their possession or knowledge not proved—They cannot be convicted under S. 19 (f). (Vol 16) 1929 Cal 302 (308) : 30 Cri L Jour 1038.

[9] Where a licensee of gun had gone out for shooting along with his friend and after returning left gun with his friend with intention of returning shortly afterwards for him and the friend did not use it in any way, held that the friend could not be convicted under S. 19 (f) nor licensee under S. 21. (Vol 28) 1941 Pat 209 (211) : 42 Cri L Jour 97.

[10] The term "arms" includes part of arms. Therefore, the possession of a gun-barrel and nipple, without a license, in serviceable condition is an offence under S. 19 (f). (1884) 7 Mad 70 (71).

[11] The case is not within the ambit of S. 19 (f), Arms Act, where two persons make temporary use of revolver with a view to foist a false case upon another person. (1937) 1937 M W N 572 (2) (574).

[12] A having license going out with B for shooting—On way back, on hearing of promulgation of order under S. 144, Cr. P. C., in the town A depositing gun at B's house and going away with intention to return and take back gun—House searched and gun recovered—Held, convictions of B under S. 19 (f) and A under S. 21 were not proper. (Vol 28) 1941 Pat 209 (211) : 42 Cri L Jour 97.

[13] Where it was found that the accused was a rebel against the Crown and in possession of unlawful deadly weapons, it was held that it was immaterial whether the accused used those weapons in acts of aggression or of resistance. (Vol 21) 1934 Cal 221 (228) : 35 Cri L Jour 334.

[14] Accused made over gun to another a year and a half ago to keep for him, he cannot be convicted of an offence under S. 19 (f) of the Act. (1911) 12 Cri L Jour 197 (198) (Cal).

[15] Where in a search of two persons, revolver cartridges are found on the person of one of them but nothing incriminating is found on the other, S. 34, Penal Code, does not apply and a conviction of the latter under S. 19 (f), Arms Act, is not proper nor can he be convicted for abetment. (Vol 20) 1933 Cal 132 (136) : 60 Cal 618 : 34 Cri L Jour 299.

[16] Mere negotiation for sale to an unlicensed person is no offence. (Vol 20) 1933 Cal 218 (219) : 60 Cal 445 : 34 Cri L Jour 363.

9. Section 19, clause (f)—Possession by servant of licence-holder.—[1] Exemption from the operation of the Act applies to the possession of a gun, so long as it is the property of the licensee and the mere fact that it happened at the time to be carried by a servant, does not make the servant liable for not having himself a license under the Act. (1899) 3 Cal W N 394 (395); (Vol 27) 1940 Mad 257 (258) : 41 Cri L Jour 400.

[2] Where the accused, a servant, was found using a gun which was lent to him by his master who held a license for the gun for his own purpose, it was held that the act of the accused was an infringement of the provisions of S. 19 (f) of the Arms Act. (1909) 13 Cal W N 124 (125).

[3] A temporary custody of the gun by the servant does not amount to the "possession" or "control" contemplated by S. 19 (f). (1908) 4 Nag L R 146 (148) (Cr); (1913) 14 Cri L Jour 377 (377, 378); 41 Cal 11. (Possession by servant for carrying it to the Magistrate for the purpose of renewal.); (1894) 16 All 276 (277); (1885) 8 Mad 202 (204).

[4] In the case of an unlicensed weapon neither the actual owner of the gun nor anybody to whom he entrusts it, can be said to be engaged in a legal act, for the possession in that case is illegal whether it be in the possession of the master or of a servant. But where it is not proved that the accused had knowledge that the gun which he was carrying for his master was unlicensed, the offence does not call for a serious punishment. (Vol 24) 1937 Pat 347 (348) : 38 Cri L Jour 409.

[5] Possession by a servant of a gun is legal if his master has a license for the gun. But the master cannot authorise the possession of that gun by his servant for an unlawful purpose. Thus, where the servant uses the gun in a riot, he is guilty under S. 19 (f), Arms Act. (Vol 22) 1935 All 916 (919) : 37 Cri L Jour 35.

[6] Possession of a pistol by servant of the accused was held not to be possession on account of the accused when a pistol was a thing that was not reasonably expected to be sold at the shop of the accused where the pistol was found. (Vol 10) 1923 All 83 (34) : 23 Cri L Jour 729.

[7] See also Section 13, Note 2.

10. Section 19, clause (f) — Possession of accused must be proved to be exclusive. — [1] There is nothing in S. 19 (f), Arms Act, about "exclusive" or "sole" possession or "exclusive" or "sole" control. The test provided by the section is not as to whom the arms belong but whether they are in the "possession" or under the "control" of the person charged. What is contemplated by S. 19 (f) is actual and physical possession and control and not merely a "possession" or "control" by construction of law. It is not a liability to be found in a merely constructive or presumed possession or control which the law might for other purposes import into the facts of the case. (Vol 27) 1940 All 449 (451) : 42 Cri L Jour 59 : I L R (1940) All 657; (Vol 21) 1934 Oudh 200 (207) : 35 Cri L Jour 978. (Arms found concealed underneath a gunny cloth spread inside a bullock cart. Persons found sitting inside the bullock cart jumping out of it and trying to escape.)

[2] Unlicensed gun recovered from Railway premises within Railway fencing, a place where public could not ordinarily go, though it was accessible to them — Recovery made on information given by accused in his statement made in police custody—Gun found concealed from view — It was held that the accused must be deemed to be in possession and control of the gun. (Vol 24) 1937 All 497 (500) : I L R (1937) All 710 : 38 Cri L Jour 910.

[3] When the house of the accused was searched by the police, an unlicensed muzzle loading pistol was found concealed under a heap of grain inside a vessel and inside the barrel of the pistol some percussion caps were also found on removing a wad of cloth from the muzzle of the pistol and it appeared that only the accused and his sons and their wives were living in the house in which the pistol was found, it was held that the accused must have been aware of the presence of the pistol in his house and he was "in possession and control" of it within the meaning of S. 19 (f). (Vol 21) 1934 All 548 (549) : 33 Cri L Jour 428.

[4] When it is not shown that the accused had exclusive possession of the room in which arms are found, or that arms were placed there by him, or belonged to him, or that he knew they were there, the accused cannot be convicted of the offence under S. 19. (1901) 1901 Pun L R No. 75, p. 240.

[5] Where the house belonging to the accused consisted of several kothas which were occupied by the accused, his sons and tenants, and unlicensed arms were found in a vacant kotha of the house, the accused cannot be liable under S. 19 unless it was shown that the kotha in which the arms were found was occupied by the accused. (Vol 30) 1943 Pesh 20 (21) : 44 Cri L Jour 385.

[6] Joint possession of chhavi by two accused—Exclusive possession by one of them could not be proved—Benefit of doubt must go to the accused. (Vol 10) 1923 Lah 513 (513) : 25 Cri L Jour 399.

[7] Pistol found in room frequented by many persons other than accused — Accused is not in possession. (1926) 27 Cri L Jour 301 (301) (All).

[8] Cartridges were found during an investigation in a theft case in the house of accused. Accused did not know who kept them. Offence under S. 19 (f) is not made out. (Vol 14) 1927 Lah 726 (726) : 28 Cri L Jour 339.

[9] Where the two accused were found lying on a bed in the house of another and in the bedding a chhavi was found wrapped in a cloth, it was held that it was impossible to say which of the two was actually in possession and the conviction was illegal. (1922) 23 Cri L Jour 95 (95) (Lah).

[10] Before the Police entered the house which was to be searched, certain persons inside were seen throwing down something from their person, and on a search being made certain cartridges were discovered under the Chowki on which the accused were sitting conversing with others. The cartridges were not proved to be in their possession, nor was it proved that they knew that they were there. Held, that the charge against them rested on suspicion and their guilt not being proved they could not be convicted under S. 19 (f). (Vol 16) 1929 Cal 302 (303) : 30 Cri L Jour 1038.

[11] Accused was charged under S. 19 (f) of the Arms Act. The only evidence against him was that at his instance a place was dug up in another person's house, from where a pistol along with some cartridges was recovered. He was not alleged to have been armed with pistol during the commission of the robbery. Moreover, the person from whose house the pistol and cartridges were recovered, was suspiciously withheld by the police. Held, that such exclusive possession was not established against the accused as would justify his conviction for the offence of possessing a pistol without a license. (Vol 24) 1937 Lah 561 (562) : 39 Cri L Jour 119.

[12] The house occupied by the accused and others was searched by the police in connection with a burglary case. The police found a room locked in the zenana portion of the house. The accused, a boy of 18 years, was ordered to bring the key. He got the key from a woman in the zenana and when the room was searched a gun and some cartridges were found. It was held that accused could not be convicted under S. 19 (f). (Vol 18) 1931 Oudh 115 (116) : 32 Cri L Jour 699.

[13] Accused led the police to a shed near the house in which he was living with his father and brother and pointed out the place where a revolver was lying. Held, that mere knowledge of the fact that the revolver was lying in the shed or the pointing out of the place from which it was found without proof that the place was in the exclusive possession of the accused was not sufficient to hold the accused guilty under S. 19 (f), Arms Act. (Vol 20) 1933 Lah 314 (315) : 34 Cri L Jour 1256.

[14] Where the two accused were found in the joint exclusive possession of a room from which the arms were recovered and no one was willing to take the responsibility, the only possible presumption the Court can make is that they are in joint control. (Vol 29) 1942 Oudh 448 (449) : 43 Cri L Jour 666.

[15] Arms found concealed in a hut—Presumption of knowledge of occupier would arise unless others too can have access to the place. (Vol 1) 1914 Cal 456 (472) : 15 Cri L Jour 385 : 41 Cal 350.

11. Section 19, clause (f) — Possession of arms found in a house belonging to a joint family.—[1] Exclusive possession or control of any particular person over an incriminating article is not required under S. 19 (f), Arms Act, and S. 5, Explosive Substances Act. Court must consider each case and come to a conclusion whether it is proved that the incriminating article is in the possession or under the control of any particular person or in the possession or under the control of more than one person. If on the evidence the Court cannot hold possession or control by any person or persons, then the case is not established. (Vol 31) 1944 Lah 339 (344) : 46 Cri L Jour 1 : 1 L R (1945) Lah 137 (F B).

[2] Mere proof that an incriminating article is found in premises occupied by a number of persons does not in itself establish prima facie the guilt of any particular person or all of them jointly. The onus is on the prosecution to prove guilt of accused. (Vol 31) 1944 Lah 339 (340) : 46 Cri L Jour 1 : 1 L R (1945) Lah 137 (F B). [(Vol 19) 1932 All 441 : 33 Cri L Jour 719, Dissented.]

[3] Where incriminating articles under S. 19 (f), Arms Act, and S. 5, Explosive Substances Act, are recovered from a place in the occupation or possession of more persons than one and it is not possible to fix the liability on any particular individual, a Court is not bound to hold that the said articles were in possession or under the control of the head of the family. (Vol 31) 1944 Lah 339 (343, 344) : 1 L R (1945) Lah 137 : 46 Cri L Jour 1 (F B). [(Vol 15) 1928 Lah 272 : 29 Cri L Jour 481 and (Vol 17) 1930 Lah 884 : 31 Cri L Jour 352, Overruled.]

[4] House occupied by person, his wife and father aged 80 — Chhavi blade was found in wife's possession — Mere fact of father being 80 years old is not sufficient to establish his possession of chhavi as the head of the joint family. (Vol 16) 1929 Lah 872 (872) : 30 Cri L Jour 668.

[5] A dagger was found in a room in a house. The room and the house were jointly occupied by a father and his adult son. There was no evidence to show that either of them was aware of its existence. It was held that neither of them could be convicted of an offence under S. 19. (1906) 3 Cri L Jour 71 (73) : 1905 Pun Re No. 52 Cr.

[7] Where two loaded cartridges were found in a corn bin in the house of the accused, and he was prosecuted on the ground that he being the head of the family should be held responsible for the arms recovered, it was held that in all such cases it was necessary to prove not only the presence of the article in the house but the possession of some particular person over the article in order to justify a conviction. (Vol 20) 1933 All 112 (112) : 34 Cri L Jour 517 : 55 All 112. [(Vol 19) 1932 All 441 : 33 Cri L Jour 719, Dissented.]

[8] Where weapons are found in a house occupied by a Hindu family living jointly, possession is not necessarily that of the managing member only, yet in all such cases, where it is sought to establish that possession and control are with some member of the family,

20. Whoever does any act mentioned in clause (a), (c), (d) or (f) of section 19, in such manner

For secret breaches of sections 5, 6, 10, 14 and 15. as to indicate an intention that such act may not be known³ to any public servant as defined in the Indian Penal Code, 1860, or to any person employed upon a railway or to the servant of any public carrier, and whoever, on any search being made under section 25, conceals² or attempts to conceal For concealing arms, etc. any arms, ammunition or military stores, shall be punished with imprisonment for a term which may extend to seven years, or with fine or with both.

PROVINCIAL AMENDMENTS

Bengal.—At the end of section 20 the following proviso shall be added, namely :—

“Provided that if an offence committed under this section is in respect of a pistol, revolver, rifle or shot gun the offender shall be punished with transportation for life or any shorter term, or with imprisonment for a term which may extend to fourteen years, or with fine.”

— BENGAL ACT XXI OF 1932, S. 4 [12-1-1932].

After section 20: the following section shall be inserted, namely :—

“20A. Notwithstanding anything contained in this Act, whoever goes armed with a pistol, revolver, rifle or Enhanced punishment other fire-arm in contravention of the provisions of section 13, or has any such fire-arm in his possession or under his control in contravention of the provisions of section 14 or section 15, under circumstances indicating that he intended that such fire-arm should be used for the commission of any offence of murder shall, if he is tried by Commissioners appointed under the Bengal Criminal Law Amendment Act, 1925, be punished with death, or with transportation for life or any shorter term or with imprisonment for a term which may extend to fourteen years, to which fine may be added.”

— BENGAL ACT VII OF 1934, S. 4 [29-3-1934].

Section 19 (contd.)

other than the managing member, there must be good and clear evidence of the fact before the Court can arrive at such a conclusion. (1898) 15 All 129 (131).

[9] Arms found in joint family house being accessible to many. The arms cannot be said to be in possession of any one of them. (Vol 4) 1917 Cal 406 (407) : 18 Cri L Jour 781.

[10] Where unlicensed arms are found concealed upon the premises which, though legally the joint property of a joint Hindu family, are in fact, at the time of the finding, in the exclusive possession and control of one member of the family, that member of the family can properly be held to be in possession of such arms. (1906) 3 Cri L Jour 88 (90).

[11] Where weapon is found in a house belonging to a joint family, in the absence of proof that the room in which the weapon was kept was in the exclusive or particular possession of any member of the family, it cannot be inferred that the weapon was in the possession of any other person than the head of the family. (Vol 23) 1936 Pat 512(512):15 Pat 696:38 Cri L Jour 100.

12. Section 19, clause (f).—Possession of arms in unserviceable condition.—[1] A fire-arm even though it is unserviceable but can be repaired is a fire-arm the possession of which without license would amount to an offence. (Vol 30) 1943 Mad 661 (661) : 45 Cri L Jour 124.

[2] Possession of empty cartridges which cannot be re-loaded in India is not an offence. (Vol 13) 1926 All 255 (256) : 27 Cri L Jour 136.

[3] Arms and ammunitions found in accused's house which was locked were unserviceable. Accused was in the habit of living at three different houses. No evidence to prove when accused last resided in that house. Held, that accused could not be convicted. (Vol 24) 1937 Mad 975 (976) : 39 Cri L Jour 147.

[4] See also Section 4, Note 9.

13. Section 19, clause (i).—[1] Section 14 as it now stands makes no provision for the deposit of any arms; the words, therefore, “fails to deposit arms as required by S. 14” contained in S. 19 (i) cannot be made to relate to that section.

[2] There is no provision in S. 14 requiring a person to deposit a spear; and if there is no other basis for his conviction, the conviction will not stand. (Vol 8) 1916 Mad 624 (624).

[3] The offence of failing to deposit arms under 19 (i) was not triable by a second class Magistrate under S. 8, Criminal P. C., 1872. (1905) 1 Weir 660 (660).

14. Sanction.—See S.29, Note 3.

SECTION 20 — SYNOPSIS.

1. Applicability and scope.
2. “Conceals.”
3. “Intention that such act may not be known.”
4. Power of superior Court.
5. Procedure.
6. Sanction.
7. Sentence.

1. Applicability and scope. — [1] Section 20 applies only where the possession is such as to indicate an intention that such act may not be known to any public servant. It does not apply to every case of possession or concealment of arms. Something more than a mere ordinary concealment should be established in order to bring the possession within the meaning of S. 20. (Vol 12) 1925 Lah 395 (396) : 26 Cri L Jour 733. (Gun was upon a charpoy upon which accused was sitting—Gun was covered with dotahi — Conviction under S. 20 was altered to S. 19 (f).) (Vol 2) 1915 Cal 719 (723) : 42 Cal 1153 : 16 Cri L Jour 9.

[2] Section 20 is not restricted to cases of importation and exportation of arms in bulk. There must be intention to conceal arms. (Vol 20) 1933 Cal 692 (694) : 35 Cri L Jour 125 : 60 Cal 1432.

[3] Section 20 is not confined to cases where an import or export of arms is attempted but applies to cases where a person is concealing a weapon from railway officials while he is at a railway platform. (Vol 18) 1931 Lah 663 (664) : 32 Cri L Jour 995.

[4] Concealment at the time of search is specifically dealt with in the second part of the section, yet the first part of the section does apply to cases where arms are found on a search being made under S. 25. The two parts of S. 20 are independent of one another. (Vol 20) 1933 Cal 516 (517) : 34 Cri L Jour 879 : 60 Cal 545.

[5] The first part of S. 20 creates offences distinct from and graver than those under S. 19. (Vol 4) 1917 Low Bur 96 (98) : 18 Cri L Jour 357 (F B).

[6] Mere possession of an unlicensed weapon is punishable under S. 19. But if the circumstances are such as to indicate an intention that the possession may not be known to authorities, e.g., the Police, the offence is punishable under S. 20. (Vol 20) 1933 Cal 516 (518) : 34 Cri L Jour 879 : 60 Cal 545.

[7] An unlicensed person going armed with a revolver may be convicted under either S. 13 or S. 14 and therefore may be convicted under S. 20. (Vol 20) 1933 Cal 692 (694) : 35 Cri L Jour 125 : 60 Cal 1432.

[8] Keeping ammunition and parts of arms hidden under clothes falls under S. 20 and not under S. 19. (Vol 13) 1926 Lah 61 (61) : 26 Cri L Jour 1459.

[9] Possession of spear-head and sandhewa, a burglar's implement, hidden in loin cloth. Held, that the offence committed was one under S. 20, Arms Act, and not under S. 19. (Vol 26) 1939 Lah 17 (18) : 40 Cri L Jour 279.

2. "Conceals." — [1] The first paragraph of S. 20 does not deal with cases of concealment or of attempt at concealment made by a man who has arms in his immediate personal possession. It is meant to deal with cases of concealment before arrest. This seems to be indicated by the second paragraph of S. 20, which expressly provides for cases of concealment and attempts at concealment when a house is being searched under S. 25 of the Act. The words "conceals or attempts to conceal" appear to have been used in order to distinguish the acts contemplated by this paragraph from the acts mentioned in the first paragraph of the section. (11) 12 Cri L Jour 234 (235).

[2] Each case of concealment of arms must be decided on its own facts. (Vol 10) 1923 Lah 79 (80) : 23 Cri L Jour 609. (On the facts proved in the case it was held that the gun appeared to have been placed in the corn bin in order to conceal it from the Police and therefore S. 20 was applicable.)

[3] The mere denial, on the part of a person, whose house is being searched by the Police for unlicensed arms, that he has any such arms in his possession does not constitute a concealment or attempt to conceal arms on search being made by the Police within the meaning of the second paragraph of S. 20. (1906) 3 Cri L Jour 88 (90) : 28 All 302.

[4] In the absence of any other evidence of possession by the accused, it cannot be presumed that because he knew where the rifle was he had concealed it himself. (Vol 10) 1923 Lah 288 (289).

[5] A person carrying a revolver in his pocket without a licence to keep arms is guilty only under S. 19 (f). He cannot be said to be concealing the revolver. (Vol 2) 1915 Lah 193 (195) : 16 Cri L Jour 637.

3. "Intention that such act may not be known." — [1] An essential ingredient of S. 20 of the Arms Act is that the man doing any act mentioned in cls. (a), (c), (d), or (f) of S. 19, should do it in such a manner as to indicate an intention that such act may not be known to any public servant. (Vol 18) 1931 Lah 561 (561) : 33 Cri L Jour 346. (Keeping chavi in one's house and a stick fitting into it is punishable under S. 19 (f) and not under S. 20.)

[2] In order that S. 20 may apply, indication of intention to conceal arms from public servant must be shown. (Vol 15) 1928 Lah 193 (196) : 29 Cri L Jour 577 :

9 Lah 550 ; (Vol 18) 1926 Lah 262 (263) : 27 Cri L Jour 625 : 7 Lah 65.

[3] A strong presumption arises against a person who is found in unlicensed possession of a revolver and who cannot or will not account for such possession that he has procured it for unlawful purposes and has a fixed intention that such possession shall not become known to the authorities. This presumption is, however, one that can be rebutted. (Vol 20) 1933 Cal 516 (517) : 34 Cri L Jour 879 : 60 Cal 545.

[5] Where the circumstances under which a pistol was recovered from the accused led to a clear inference that his intention was that the possession of the pistol by him may not be known to any public servant, conviction should be one under S. 20. (1926) 27 Cri L Jour 934 (934) (Lah); (Vol 20) 1933 All 627 (630) : 35 Cri L Jour 573 : 55 All 681. (Accused in possession of a stolen revolver and attempting to run away with it is guilty under S. 19 (f) read with S. 20.)

[7] The concealment of arms recovered from the possession of the accused on information given by him was held clearly with the intention referred to in S. 20. (Vol 10) 1923 Lah 434 (435).

[8] For S. 20 to apply there must be some special indication of an intention to conceal the possession of the arms from a public servant, Railway Official or public carrier. Where two revolvers, some cartridges and a pistol were recovered from a trunk which was being carried in a Railway compartment : Held, that the accused must be presumed to have intended to conceal them from Railway Officials and the offence fell under S. 20, Arms Act. (Vol 18) 1931 Lah 571 (571) : 33 Cri L Jour 110.

[9] Where the arms and ammunitions are tied up and concealed in such a manner that it must be presumed that the intention of the accused was not only to conceal them from the boys of the school hostel but also from any public servant who may happen to come to the hostel, there is no doubt that the intention of the accused is that his act may not be known to any public servant. (Vol 27) 1940 Oudh 337 (340) : 41 Cri L Jour 545.

[10] Arms discovered in consequence of information by accused that he had buried revolver in field — Requirements of Ss. 19 (f) and 20 are fulfilled. (Vol 3) 1916 Lah 228 (229) : 17 Cri L Jour 183.

[11] Held, that the joint possession of the room by the accused, taken along with the possession of the suitcase and its contents, which must be attributed to the accused alone, clearly proved his intention to conceal the suit-case and its contents from the Police Officers. The accused was guilty under S. 20, Arms Act. (Vol 21) 1934 Cal 705 (706) : 36 Cri L Jour 370.

[12] Approver gave statement disclosing illegal possession of fire-arms. His trial under S. 20 was not legal. (Vol 8) 1921 All 234 (234) : 22 Cri L Jour 699.

[13] Where, on a search made by a Magistrate with a number of Police Officers into the house of the accused person, who, after his license for possession of arms and ammunitions had been cancelled, was suspected of being in possession of them, and who was, preliminarily

21. Whoever, in violation of a condition subject to which a license has been granted, does or omits to do any act shall, when the doing or omitting to do such act is not punishable under section 19 or section 20, be punished with imprisonment for a term which may extend to six months, or with fine which may extend to five hundred rupees, or with both.

to the search, arrested some arms and ammunitions were found on the premises, and the accused was committed to the Sessions and convicted of offences under Ss. 19 and 20 of the Arms Act, held that the conviction under S. 20 of the Act was not legal. (1900) 27 Cal 692 (697).

[14] The fact that the accused secreted the spear-head next to his skin does not indicate any intention that the possession by the accused of the spear-head might not be known to any public servant. (Vol 16) 1929 Lah 576 (576) : 31 Cri L Jour 79.

[15] Intention specified in S. 20 cannot be inferred from the mere fact of carrying a small arm in pocket. (Vol 14) 1927 Lah 561 (561) : 28 Cri L Jour 671.

[16] Where the weapon which the accused was carrying was originally concealed but the appellant voluntarily took it from its place of concealment in order to threaten a railway servant. Held, the intention requisite for an offence under S. 20 had not been established and conviction must be altered to one under S. 19 of the Act. (Vol 10) 1923 Lah 10 (10) : 26 Cri L Jour 166.

[17] Where certain fire-arms had been found from the possession of the accused, who had concealed them under a heap of straw, in order that visitors in his house should not see them ; Held that the concealment was not with the intention specified in S. 20, and the accused could, therefore, be convicted only under S. 19 (f) of the Arms Act. (1909) 9 Cri L Jour 259 (260, 261) : 1 Sind L R 18 Cr. (F B).

[18] Where arms were kept by the accused without a licence in a taikhana (store-room) and there was no attempt to conceal the taikhana itself, it was held that the taikhana being a place where arms would naturally be kept, the accused could not be convicted of an offence under S. 20, Arms Act, though he was guilty of an offence under S. 19 (f). (Vol 18) 1931 Sind 9 (11) : 32 Cri L Jour 517 : 25 Sind L R 1.

4. Power of superior Court. — [1] It is open to the Appellate Court to alter the finding from one under S. 20 to one under S. 19 (f). (Vol 18) 1931 Sind 9 (12) : 32 Cri L Jour 517 : 25 Sind L R 1.

[2] Accused convicted under S. 20—First three clauses of S. 19 not applying — It must be presumed that Magistrate held that accused committed an act mentioned in S. 19 (f) — Appellate Court can alter finding from one under S. 20 to one under S. 19 (f). (Vol 18) 1931 Sind 9 (12) : 32 Cri L Jour 517 : 25 Sind L R 1.

[3] In a trial by jury accused charged under S. 19 (f) — Verdict of not guilty — On reference by Sessions Judge, High Court finding him guilty under S. 19 (f) read with S. 20 : Held, that the High Court could convict him under S. 19 (f) read with S. 20, though he was charged under S. 19 (f) only. (Vol 20) 1933 All 627 (629, 630) : 35 Cri L Jour 573 : 55 All 681.

5. Procedure.—[1] An offence under S. 20 is not triable by a first class Magistrate. (1904) 2 Low Bur Rul 244 (245).

[2] If the case is made out under S. 20, the Magistrate ought to commit the case to the Sessions Court. (Vol 3) 1916 Cal 477 (477) : 17 Cri L Jour 202.

[3] Where a person is discharged under S. 20 for want of evidence of intention to conceal his possession of arms in contravention of S. 14 or S. 15, proceedings may be instituted against him under S. 19 (f) after sanction thereto is given under S. 29 of the same Act. (Vol 3) 1916 Low Bur 105 (107) : 17 Cri L Jour 209 : 8 Low Bur Rul 452.

6. Sanction. — [1] No sanction is necessary for prosecution under S. 20. (Vol 11) 1924 Rang 85 (86) : 25 Cri L Jour 203. (Where the applicant was in secret possession of local made guns and cartridges and on sanction having been obtained for prosecution under S. 20, he was convicted both under S. 20 and S. 19 (f), it was held that conviction under S. 20 was legal but the conviction under S. 19 (f) was bad for want of sanction.); (Vol 21) 1934 Cal 705 (705) : 36 Cri L Jour 370; (Vol 29) 1942 All 349 (351) : 43 Cri L Jour 854 : I L R (1942) All 899. (Even in parts of India where such sanction might be necessary for a prosecution under S. 19.); (Vol 8) 1916 Low Bur 105 (107) : 17 Cri L Jour 209 : 8 Low Bur Rul 452 (FB). (Proceedings may be taken under S. 20 for the secret possession of arms in contravention of S. 14 or S. 15 without previous sanction under S. 29.)

[But see (1900) 27 Cal 692 (697).]

[2] As no sanction is required by S. 29 for an offence under S. 20, a sanction given under S. 29 for an offence under S. 20 read with S. 19 (f) should be treated as one given for an offence under S. 19 (f) and hence conviction under S. 19 (f) is not illegal. (Vol 18) 1931 Sind 9 (12) : 32 Cri L Jour 517 : 25 Sind L R 1.

7. Sentence. — [1] Suspicion that accused was about to take part in some criminal offence is no consideration in arriving at appropriate sentence for an offence under S. 20. (Vol 15) 1928 Lah 110 (111) : 29 Cri L Jour 256 : 9 Lah 302.

[2] Sentence of three years' rigorous imprisonment without special grounds is very heavy and ought to be reduced. (Vol 4) 1917 Mad 899 (899) : 17 Cri L Jour 80.

[3] The maximum sentence must not be inflicted in every case merely because the weapon found concealed by the accused is a chhavi. (1922) 23 Cri L Jour 339 (339, 340) (Lah).

[4] A man who is found travelling on the railway in possession of six-chambered revolver even if it not be of the most modern type, cannot complain that his sentence is severe when he is given a sentence of four years' rigorous imprisonment, the maximum sentence being one of seven years. (Vol 29) 1942 All 349 (351) : 43 Cri L Jour 854 : I L R (1942) All 899.

[5] Where a person charged under Ss. 19 (f) and 20, Arms Act, pleaded guilty and finding that the possession of arms with him was connected with his political views he was awarded the maximum sentence under the section : Held that it was very necessary that the powers of the Court should be employed in putting down these very dangerous crimes of possession and concealment of arms, and that there was nothing calling for interference by the High Court. (Vol 20) 1933 Cal 124 (128) : 34 Cri L Jour 633 : 60 Cal 571.

[6] Where the accused, only 22 years of age though a responsible man, is not shown that he obtained possession of a pistol for an evil purpose, the sentence of seven years' rigorous imprisonment is very severe. He having been sentenced to 18 months' rigorous imprisonment for accidental homicide, the sentence awarded to him under S. 20, Arms Act, was reduced to one month's rigorous imprisonment. (Vol 19) 1932 Lah 365 (366) : 33 Cri L Jour 413.

For knowingly purchasing arms, etc., from unlicensed person.

22. Whoever knowingly purchases any arms, ammunition or military stores from any person not licensed or authorized under the proviso to section 5 to sell the same ; or delivers any arms, ammunition or military stores into the possession of any person without previously ascertaining that such person is legally authorized to possess the same, shall be punished with imprisonment for a term which may extend to six months, or with fine which may extend to five hundred rupees, or with both.

For delivering arms, etc., to person not authorized to possess them.

23. Any person violating any rule made under this Act, and for the violation of which no penalty for breach of rule. is provided by this Act, shall be punished with imprisonment for a term which may extend to one month, or with fine which may extend to two hundred rupees, or with both.

24. When any person is convicted of an offence punishable under this Act, committed by Power to confiscate. him in respect of any arms, ammunition or military stores, it shall be in the discretion of the convicting Court or Magistrate further to direct that the whole or any portion of such arms, ammunition or military stores, and any vessel, cart or baggage-animal used to convey the same, and any box, package or bale in which the same may have been concealed, together with the other contents of such box, package or bale, shall be confiscated.

VII.—Miscellaneous.

25. Whenever any Magistrate has reason to believe that any person residing within the local limits of his jurisdiction has in his possession any arms, ammunition or military stores for any unlawful purpose, Search and seizure by Magistrate.

or that such person cannot be left in the possession of any such arms, ammunition or military stores without danger to the public peace, such Magistrate, having first recorded the grounds of his belief, may cause a search to be made of the house or premises occupied by such person or in which such Magistrate has reason to believe such arms, ammunition or military stores are or is to be found, and may seize and detain the same, although covered by a license, in safe custody for such time as he thinks necessary.

The search in such case shall be conducted by, or in the presence of, a Magistrate, or by, or in the presence of, some officer specially empowered in this behalf by name or in virtue of his office by the ^a[Central Government].

1. SECTION 22. — Note

[1] Section 22 deals with persons without licences dealing with licensed vendors or purchasers, or with persons with licences dealing with unlicensed vendors or purchasers. (Vol 14) 1927 Cal 265 (266) : 28 Cri L Jour 241.

[2] The word "sword" includes sword sticks. Hence selling of a sword stick or the using of it without license is an offence under S. 22. (Vol 20) 1933 Bom 438 (439) : 35 Cri L Jour 104.

[3] The delivery into possession contemplated by S. 22 is such a delivery as gives the person into whose possession the arm is delivered control over the arm and authority to use it as an arm. Fixing the rifle into a trap and leaving the trap in charge of servant who is not authorised to possess do not amount to delivery of possession. (1909) 10 Cri L Jour 361 (362) : 5 Low Bur Rul 83.

[4] Servant to whom the master having no license delivers his gun and who uses it for shooting commits no offence under S. 22. (1908) 8 Cri L Jour 18 (19) : 4 Nag L B 78.

[5] Where there is a sale of military stores to unauthorised person by manager of licensed vendor of arms, the rule "whatever a servant does in the course of his employment with which he is entrusted and as a part of it, is his master's act," is applicable and the licensee is liable to punishment under S. 22. (1900) 24 Bom 423 (425, 426).

[6] Making over an arm to a person not licensed merely to carry to its owner is no offence. (Vol 15) 1923 All 55 (55) : 29 Cri L Jour 97.

1. SECTION 23. — Note

[1] Holding of arms after expiry of license is not punishable under S. 23 but under S. 19 (f). (Vol 24) 1937 Pesh 30 (31) : 38 Cri L Jour 396.

1. SECTION 24. — Note

[1] Section 24 shows that the order for confiscation is in addition to any sentence which may be passed. Therefore, without the sentence, an order for confiscation cannot be passed. (1905) 1 Weir 654 (654, 655).

[2] All license-holders should be meticulous in taking all precautions for the safe custody of weapons. Absence of such precautions constitutes a danger to the public. In such cases under S. 24, they will be confiscated to Government. (Vol 22) 1935 Pesh 103 (104) : 36 Cri L Jour 1204.

1. SECTION 25. — Note

[1] A Magistrate issuing a warrant to search premises of owner in possession of fire-arms without a license acts as a Court and not merely as a public servant whether he purports to act under the Criminal P. C., or under S. 25 of the Arms Act. (Vol 6) 1919 Mad 620 (622) : 20 Cri L Jour 90 : 42 Mad 96.

[2] Sections 25 and 30 are enacted for the protection of the subject as well as to inspire confidence in the proceedings conducted by the Police Officers. If the

27. The ^a[Central Government] may from time to time, by notification^b published in the Power to exempt. ^c[Official Gazette],—

(a) exempt any person by name or in virtue of his office, or any class of persons, or exclude any description of arms or ammunition, or withdraw any part of British India, from the operation of any prohibition or direction contained in this Act; and

(b) cancel any such notification, and again subject the persons or things or the part of British India, comprised therein to the operation of such prohibition or direction.^d

every person employed upon any railway or by any public carrier shall, in the absence of reasonable excuse, the burden of proving which shall lie upon such person, give information to the nearest Police officer regarding any box, package or bale in transit which he may have reason to suspect contains arms, ammunition or military stores in respect of which an offence against this Act has been or is being committed.

29. Where an offence punishable under section 19, clause (f), has been committed within Sanction required to three months from the date^a on which this Act comes into force in any certain proceedings under province, district or place to which section 32, clause (2), of Act XXXI section 19, clause (f). of 1860^b applies at such date, or where such an offence has been committed in any part of British India not being such a district, province or place, no proceedings provisions are, therefore, disregarded and no reasonable excuse or justification is offered for not following them, the Court may well look with suspicion upon the entire proceeding and hesitate to convict upon the result of the search. (Vol 22) 1935 Pat 465 (467) : 37 Cri L Jour 100.

[3] The Act refers to cases in which the Magistrate considers that arms, whether under a license or not, are possessed "for an illegal purpose," or under circumstances such as to endanger the public peace. (1882) 8 Cal 473 (476).

[4] The words "having first recorded the ground of his belief" in S. 25 prescribe a preliminary condition, and a Magistrate has no power to make a search under this section without having complied with that preliminary condition. (1912) 13 Cri L Jour 693 (701) (PC). (The majority view in 36 Cal 433 confirmed.)

[5] When a Magistrate issues a search warrant under S. 25, it is necessary that he should record the grounds of his belief that the person against whom the warrant is issued has in his possession arms, ammunition, or military stores for an unlawful purpose. (1898) 15 All 129 (130); (1908) 8 Cal L Jour 75 (78).

[6] Search for arms would be illegal if it was not ordered by a Magistrate in pursuance of S. 25, Arms Act. (1892-96) 1 Upp Bur Rul 1 (1).

[7] Where the offence has been undoubtedly committed by the accused, who was in possession of arms, the fact that procedure of S. 25 was not followed is no sufficient ground for acquittal. (1892-1896) 1 Upp Bur Rul 2 (2, 3); (1870) 2 N W P H C R 57 (57); (Vol 14) 1927 All 516 (517); 28 Cri L Jour 652; (Vol 16) 1929 All 68 (69); 30 Cri L Jour 566; (Vol 22) 1935 Pat 465 (467); 37 Cri L Jour 100.

[8] A general search for arms would be governed by the Arms Act, S. 25, rather than Criminal P. C.: (1909) 36 Cal 433 (447).

1. SECTION 27 — Note

[1] A publication printed by the Government of India Press in 1923 entitled the "Arms Act" and described inter alia as "a brief explanation of the Arms Act" was held not to be a notification within the meaning of S. 27. (Vol 19) 1932 Rang 180 (181) : 34 Cr L J 112.

[2] As to the cases decided with respect to the notifications issued by the Government under this section see (Vol 17) 1930 Bom 153 (154) : 31 Cri L Jour 847; (Vol 15) 1928 Lah 239 (240) : 29 Cri L Jour 425; (1907) 1907 Upp Bur Rul Fourth Quarter, Arms, 13, 15 (at p. 2); (1902) 1902 Pun Re No. 1 Cr, p. 8.

SECTION 29 — SYNOPSIS

1. Non-compliance with section—Effect of.
2. Proceedings.
3. Sanction.

1. Non-compliance with section — Effect of.—

[1] Proceedings commenced for offence under S. 19 (f)

shall be instituted against any person in respect of such offence without the previous sanction of the Magistrate of the district or, in a presidency-town, of the Commissioner of Police.

[a] 1st October 1878. [b] Arms Act, 1860, (31 [XXXI] of 1860) was repealed by S. 3 of this Act.

PROVINCIAL AMENDMENT.

N.-W.F.P. "Section 29 of the Indian Arms Act, 1878, is hereby repealed."—

N.-W.F.P. ACT I OF 1934, S. 2.

30. Where a search is to be made under the Code of Criminal Procedure^a or the Presidency Magistrates Act, 1877,^b in the course of any proceedings instituted in respect of an offence punishable under section 19, clause (f), such search shall, notwithstanding anything contained in the said Code or Act, be made in the presence of some officer specially appointed by name or in virtue of his office by the [Central Government] in this behalf, and not otherwise.

[a] See now the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898 (5 [V] of 1898). [b] Substituted by A. O. for "Local Government."

without previous sanction of the District Magistrate under S. 29 are null and void. A sanction obtained after the institution of the proceedings would not make the proceedings legal. (Vol 33) 1946 Pat 160 (162) : 24 Pat 641; (1911) 12 Cri L Jour 234 (235); (Vol 28) 1941 Pat 284 (285) : 42 Cri L Jour 341; (1910) 11 Cri L Jour 190 (190). (Neither S. 532 nor S. 537, Criminal P. C., can cure the defect.); (1909) 5 Mad L Tim 162 (162) ; (Vol 3) 1916 Low Bur 105 (107) : 17 Cri L Jour 209 : 8 Low Bur Rul 452 (FB).

[2] The trial of an offence under S. 19 (f) without the District Magistrate's sanction under S. 29, is not merely an error of procedure. The Court has no power to allow proceedings to be instituted without such sanction. No failure of justice is necessary to set aside a conviction made in the proceedings without such sanction. The District Magistrate, in such a case, may, however, order a fresh sanction if he desires to do so. (1892-1896) 1 Upp Bur Rul 2 (2, 3).

[But see (1908) 8 Cri L Jour 65 (68).]

2. Proceedings. — [1] The word "proceedings" in Ss. 29, 30 and 33 means legal proceedings in a Criminal Court. Such proceedings are "instituted" within the meaning of the section only when under S. 190, Criminal P. C., a Magistrate takes cognizance of the offence. The mere presentation of a challan by the Police under S. 173, Criminal P. C., in a Magistrate's Court or the mere presentation of a complaint by a private individual cannot be said to constitute the institution of criminal proceedings. (Vol 31) 1944 Sind 103 (105, 106) : 45 Cri L Jour 510 : 1 L R (1943) Kar 524.

[2] Entering a case in the case-book and making out a charge is not institution of proceedings under S. 29. The proceedings really start when the accused is placed before the Court. (Vol 14) 1927 Cal 721 (722) : 28 Cri L Jour 817.

[3] The word proceeding in S. 29 does not mean that no action can be taken by any officer, police or otherwise, in the matter without a previous sanction of the Commissioner of Police. (Vol 14) 1927 Cal 721 (722) : 28 Cri L Jour 817.

[4] The expression "proceedings" in S. 29 means legal proceedings in Court of competent jurisdiction and not searches or arrests or investigations made by the police in exercise of the powers conferred upon them by the Criminal Procedure Code, or any other law. (Vol 15) 1928 Pat 146 (153) : 29 Cri L Jour 301 : 6 Pat 768.

3. Sanction. — [1] Sanction was required only in the cases of offences committed within three months of the coming into force of the Arms Act, where cl. (2) of S. 32 of the Act of 1860 was in force at that time. (Vol 18) 1926 All 143 (144) : 27 Cri L Jour 15; (Vol 16) 1929 All 62 (70) : 30 Cri L Jour 856; (1913) 14 Cri L Jour 688 (688) ; 1913 Pun.Re No. 24 Cr.

[2] Previous sanction of District Magistrate is necessary in Peshawar and also in other four districts of the Frontier Province. (Vol 20) 1933 Pesh 69 (70) : 34 Cri L Jour 670. (But now see the Provincial amendment in N.-W.F.P. made by Act 1 [I] of 1934.)

[3] The provisions of S. 32, cl. (2) of Act 31 [XXXI] of 1860 not being in force in Dera Ghazi Khan, the previous sanction of the District Magistrate is necessary for a prosecution under S. 19 (f), in that District under Part 2 of S. 29. Prosecution without such sanction is illegal. (Vol 20) 1933 Lah 869 (869) : 35 Cri L Jour 109 : 15 Lah 6.

[4] In the following cases sanction of the District Magistrate was held to be necessary for proceedings under S. 19 (f). (1905) 1 Weir 660 (660) ; (1905) 1 Weir 663 (664) ; (1882) 5 Mad 26 (28) ; (Vol 27) 1940 Sind 107 (108) : 41 Cri L Jour 707 : 1 L R (1940) Kar 296. (Where there is a trial under S. 19 (f) by City Magistrate who is also Additional District Magistrate exercising powers of District Magistrate, sanction under S. 29 is still necessary. Once he grants sanction, trial by him is illegal under S. 556, Criminal P. C.); (1896) 9 C. P. L. R. 26 (26) (Cr); (1892-96) 1 Upp Bur Rul 1 (1).

[5] Where proceedings under S. 19 (f) are started without sanction under S. 29 but sanction is obtained subsequently, the proceedings are void. (Vol 33) 1946 Pat 160 (162) : 24 Pat 641.

1. SECTION 30 — Note

[1] The words "in the course of any proceedings instituted" in S. 30 mean "in the course of any legal proceedings commenced in a Court." (Vol 12) 1925 All 434 (434) : 26 Cri L Jour 1112 : 47 All 575. (Powers given under Criminal P. C., S. 165 are curtailed by this section.)

[2] The Act contemplates the presence of some specially empowered officer besides the officer conducting the search. (1882) 8 Cal 473 (476).

[3] Two persons must be present at search, one making the search and the other officer specially appointed. (Vol 12) 1925 All 434 (434, 435) : 26 Cri L Jour 1112 : 47 All 575.

[4] In the United Provinces an officer in charge of a Police Station is empowered to conduct a search. (Vol 16) 1929 All 68 (69) : 30 Cri L Jour 566.

[5] A police-officer, who was specially empowered by the local Government in virtue of his office to make a search, made a search without a warrant from the Magistrate. It was held that the search was not illegal. (Vol 5) 1918 All 113 (115) : 19 Cri L Jour 949.

[6] An officer, who takes action under a particular section must be deemed to have full powers until the contrary is proved. (Vol 16) 1929 All 68 (69) : 30 Cri L Jour 566. (Search made under S. 30.)

[7] Although a search is illegal, a person can be convicted if the evidence against him is conclusive. (Vol 12)

31. Nothing in the Act shall be deemed to prevent any person from being prosecuted under any other law for any act or omission which constitutes an offence against this Act or the rules made under it, or from being liable under such other law to any higher punishment or penalty than that provided by this Act: Provided that no person shall be punished twice for the same offence.

32. The ^a[Central Government] may from time to time, by notification in the ^b[Official Gazette], direct a census to be taken of all fire-arms in any local area, and empower any person by name or in virtue of his office to take such census.

On the issue of any such notification, all persons possessing any such arms in such area shall furnish to the person so empowered such information as he may require in reference thereto, and shall produce such arms to him if he so requires.

Any person refusing or neglecting to produce any such arms when so required shall be punished with imprisonment for a term which may extend to one month, or with fine which may extend to two hundred rupees, or with both.

[a] Substituted by A. O. for "Local Government." [b] Substituted by A. O. for "local official Gazette."

33. No proceeding other than a suit shall be commenced against any person for anything done in pursuance of this Act, without having given him at least one month's previous notice in writing of the intended proceeding and of the cause thereof, nor after the expiration of three months from the accrual of such cause.

THE FIRST SCHEDULE. — [Enactments repealed.] Repealed by the Repealing Act 1938 (I of 1938), S. 2 and Schedule.

THE SECOND SCHEDULE. — [Arms, etc., liable to duty.] Repealed by the Amending Act, 1891 (XII of 1891).

THE SCHEDULE [Repealed.]

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

"The law relating to the Indian Army contained in the Indian Articles of War and various other enactments has recently been found to require amendments in the following respects :—

(a) Corporal punishment should only be awardable in time of peace for offence to which the ordinary criminal law assigns the same penalty instead of, as at present, for almost every offence known to the military law. The recent enactment of the Whipping Act, 1909, makes it specially desirable to amend the law in this respect.

(b) The law relating to enrolment and attestation contained in the Indian Articles of War is unsatisfactory and is often misunderstood. It requires amendment and simplification.

(c) The tendency of units and the Indian Army servants outside of India in time of peace and under officers subordinate to the Governor-General in Council was not contemplated when the present Articles of War were framed and the administration and discipline for such units is not very adequately provided for in these Articles.

(d) The recent abolition of the "commands" and the re-organization of the Army and independent Acts have rendered various provisions of the existing law obsolete and have necessitated changes in others.

2. It has long been felt that the Indian Articles of War, in spite of the amendments which have been made in them since they were originally enacted as Act V of 1869, are necessitated to current requirements and need to be entirely recast. These Articles are obscure and often defective, while their arrangement is confusing and practical difficulties in their working are of frequent occurrence. The opportunity has therefore been taken to prepare an entirely new Code instead of merely amending the existing Articles on the special points indicated.

3. An additional reason for adopting this course is that it will result in the substitution of one simple and comprehensive for seven in which the law relating to the Indian Army is at present contained, instead of adding the eighth to their number.

4. Various matters which properly belong to rules of procedure and which only find a place in the existing Articles owing to no rules of procedure under Indian Military Law being in existence prior to 1899, have been omitted and will be drafted for new rules to be issued under this Bill when it becomes law. The general principle adopted has been to provide in the Bill for essential matters of procedure only leaving non-essential to be dealt with in rules.

5. Forfeiture and attachment of property at present awardable under Indian Articles of War 24 and 76 have been omitted as being unsuitable penalties for purely Military offences. When Soldiers are tried by Court-martial for civil offences to which these penalties are attached they will continue to be awardable under Clauses 42 and 43 of the Bill. This is all that is necessary in this connection.

6. Certain other changes generally of verbal character and intended to make the law, as at present interpreted, have been made. The arrangement of the Army Act (44 and 45 Vict., c. 58) has, whenever possible, been adhered to as it is believed that this will facilitate reference and be of convenience to officers who have to administer both systems of law.

ACT NO. VIII of 1911.^a

[16th March 1911.]

An Act to consolidate and amend the law relating to the Government of His Majesty's []^b Indian Forces.*

WHEREAS it is expedient to consolidate and amend the law relating to the government of the [Indian commissioned officers, Viceroy's commissioned officers], soldiers and other persons in His Majesty's Indian Forces; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

[a] For Report of Select Committee, see Gazette of India, 1911, Pt. V, p. 39; and for Proceedings in Council, see ibid, 1910, Pt. VI, p. 16, dated 13th August, 1910, and ibid, 1911, Pt. VI, pp. 34, 46 and 362.

This Act has been declared to be in force in the Sonthal Parganas by notification under the Sonthal Parganas Settlement Regulation (3 [III] of 1872), S. 3; in British Baluchistan by the British Baluchistan Laws Regulations, 1913 (3 [III] of 1913), S. 3; in the Khondmals District by the Khondmals Laws Regulation, 1936 (4 [IV] of 1936), S. 3 and Schedule; and in the Angul District by the Angul Laws Regulation, 1936 (5 [V] of 1936), S. 3 and Schedule. [b] The word Native was repealed by the Indian Army (Amendment) Act, 1918 (11 [XI] of 1918), S. 26 and Schedule. [c] Substituted by the Indian Army (Amendment) Act, 1934 (33 [XXXIII] of 1934), S. 2, for "Indian Officers".

CHAPTER I.

PRELIMINARY.

Short title and commencement.

1. (1) This Act may be called the Indian Army Act, 1911.

(2) It shall come into force on such date^a as the [Central Government] may, by notification in the [Official Gazette], direct in this behalf.

[a] 1st January 1912, see General Rules and Orders, Vol. IV, p. 120. [b] Substituted by A. O. for "Governor-General in Council". [c] Substituted by A. O. for "Gazette of India".

Application of Act.

Persons subject to Act.

2. (1) The following persons shall be subject to this Act, namely:—

(a) ^a[Indian commissioned officers, Viceroy's commissioned officers] and warrant officers:

^b[Provided that a person holding a commission in the Army in India Reserve of Officers shall be so subject only when ordered on any duty or service for which he is liable as a member of such reserve force;]

(b) persons enrolled under this Act;

(c) persons not otherwise subject to military law, who, on active service, in camp, on the march, or at any frontier post specified by the [Central Government] by ^dnotification in this behalf, are employed by, or are in the service of, or are followers of, or accompany any portion of, His Majesty's Forces:

^e[* * * * *]

(2) Every person subject to this Act under sub-section (1), clause (a) or (b), shall remain so subject until duly ^f[retired, discharged, cashiered, removed, or dismissed from the service]:

^g[Provided that an officer of the Indian Land Forces retired therefrom and appointed to the Indian Regular Reserve of Officers shall again become so subject when ordered on any duty or service for which he is liable as a member of such reserve force.]

[a] Substituted by the Indian Army (Amendment) Act, 1934 (33 [XXXIII] of 1934), S. 2, for "Indian Officers". [b] Inserted by the Indian Army (Amendment) Act, 1937 (15 [XV] of 1937), S. 2. [c] Substituted by A. O. for "Governor-General in Council". [d] For places declared to be frontier posts under Ss. 2 (1) and 22, see General Rules and Orders, Vol. IV, p. 120. [e] Proviso repealed by the Indian Army (Amendment) Act, 1918 (11 [XI] of 1918), S. 26 and Schedule. [f] Substituted by the Indian Army (Amendment) Act, 1934 (33 [XXXIII] of 1934), S. 3 for "discharged or dismissed". [g] Inserted by the Indian Army (Amendment) Act, 1937 (15 [XV] of 1937), S. 2.

3. (1) The [Central Government] may, by ^bnotification, direct that any persons or class of Special provision as to persons subject to this Act under section 2, sub-section (1), clause (c), rank in certain cases. shall be so subject as [Indian commissioned officers, Viceroy's commissioned officers], warrant officers or non-commissioned officers, and may authorize any officer to give a like direction with respect to any such person and to cancel such direction.

(2) All persons subject to this Act other than officers, warrant officers and non-commissioned officers shall, if they are not persons in respect of whom a notification or direction under sub-section (1) is in force, be deemed to be of a rank inferior to that of a non-commissioned officer.

[a] Substituted by A. O. for "Governor-General in Council". [b] For notification declaring the rank of certain civil officers when subject to the Act, see General Rules and Orders, Vol. IV, p. 121. [c] Substituted by the Indian Army (Amendment) Act, 1934 (33 [XXXIII] of 1934), S. 2, for "Indian Officers".

4. Every person subject to this Act under section 2, sub-section (1), clause (c), shall, for the purposes of this Act, be deemed to be under the commanding officer of the corps, department or detachment (if any) to which he is attached, and if he is not attached to any corps, department or detachment, under the command of any officer who may for the time being be named as his commanding officer by the officer commanding the force with which such person may for the time being be serving, or of any other prescribed officer, or, if no such officer is named or prescribed, under the command of the said officer commanding the force :

Provided that an officer commanding a force shall not place a person under the command of an officer of official rank inferior to that of such person if there is present at the place where such person is any officer of higher rank under whose command he can be placed.

Powers to apply Act to certain forces under the Central Government.

5. (1) The ^a[Central Government] may, by notification, apply all or any of the provisions of this Act to any force raised and maintained in India under the authority of the ^a[Central Government].

^b[(1A) On such notification being made, any provisions of this Act so applied shall have effect in respect of persons belonging to any such force as they have effect in respect of persons subject to this Act holding in His Majesty's Indian Forces the same rank as the aforesaid persons hold for the time being in the force to which this Act is so applied, and shall have effect in respect of persons who are employed by, or are in the service of, or are followers of, or accompany any portion of any such force as they have effect in respect of persons subject to this Act under section 2, sub-section (1), clause (c).]

(2) While any of the provisions of this Act apply to any such force, the ^a[Central Government] may, by notification, direct by what authority any jurisdiction, powers or duties incident to the operation of these provisions shall be exercised or performed in respect of that force ^c[and may suspend the operation of any other enactment for the time being applicable to that force].

[a] Substituted by A. O. for "Governor-General in Council". [b] Inserted by the Indian Army Act (Application) Ordinance, 1942 (No. 31 [XXXI] of 1942). [20-6-1942]. [c] These words were added, ibid.

Officers to exercise powers in certain cases.

6. ^a [(1) Whenever persons subject to this Act are serving —

(a) out of India under an officer not subject to the authority of the ^b[Central Government], or

(b) in India under an officer commanding any military organization not in this section specifically named, and being, in the opinion of the ^b[Central Government], not less than a brigade, the ^b[Central Government] may prescribe the officer by whom the powers which, under this Act, may be exercised by officers commanding armies, army corps, divisions and brigades, shall, as regards such persons, be exercised.]

(2) The ^b[Central Government] may confer such powers either absolutely, or subject to such restrictions, reservations, exceptions and conditions as ^c[it] may think fit.

^a[6A. (1) When an officer, warrant officer or non-commissioned officer of His Majesty's Burma Forces is a member of a body of those forces acting with, or is attached to, any body of His Majesty's Indian Forces under such conditions as may be prescribed, then for the purposes of command and discipline and for the purposes of the provisions of this Act relating to superior officers he shall in relation to that body of His Majesty's Indian Forces be treated and have all such powers as if he were an officer, warrant officer or non-commissioned officer, as the case may be, of His Majesty's Indian Forces.

(2) When an officer, warrant officer, non-commissioned officer or soldier of His Majesty's Indian Forces is a member of a body of those forces acting with, or is attached to, any body of His Majesty's Burma Forces under such conditions as may be prescribed, then for the purposes of command and discipline and for the purposes of the provisions of this Act relating to superior officers the officers, warrant officers and non-commissioned officers of that body of His Majesty's Burma Forces shall in relation to him be treated and have all such powers as if they were officers, warrant officers or non-commissioned officers of His Majesty's Indian Forces.

(3) In this section "prescribed" means "prescribed by the Central Government and the Governor of Burma," and, for the purposes of this section, the relative rank of officers, warrant officers and non-commissioned officers of His Majesty's Indian Forces and His Majesty's Burma Forces may be determined by regulations made by the Central Government and the Governor of Burma.]

^a[6B. So long as there are in India any of His Majesty's Burma Forces the following provisions of this Act, namely, sections 69, 70, 71, 84, 85, 91A, 103A, 107, 108, 108A, 109, 111A, 114, 118, 119, 120, 122, 123, 125 and 126B, shall have effect in all respects in relation to such Forces and to persons subject to the Burma Army Act and to things done in relation to such Forces and persons under the Burma Army Act as they have effect in relation to His Majesty's Indian Forces and to persons subject to this Act and to things done in relation to such Forces and persons under this Act :

Provided that, in having such effect as aforesaid,—

(a) in the said provisions the word "prescribed" shall be deemed to mean prescribed by rules made under the Burma Army Act, and

(b) in sub-section (1) of section 91A, for the words "Central Government or the Commander-in-Chief in India" the words "Governor of Burma" shall be deemed to be substituted.]

[a] Inserted by the Indian Army (Third Amendment) Ordinance, 1944 (No. 44 [XLIV] of 1944), S. 2. [30-9-1944].

Definitions. 7. In this Act, unless there is something repugnant in the subject or context,—

^a[(1) "British officer" means a person holding His Majesty's commission in His Majesty's Land Forces or in the Royal Marines or in the Territorial Army, and includes, in relation to a person subject to this Act when serving under such conditions as may be prescribed, a person holding a commission in His Majesty's Naval Forces or Royal Air Force :]

TEMPORARY AMENDMENT OF SECTION 7 (1).

Until the expiry of a period of six months after the termination of the hostilities in being at the commencement of this Ordinance, the Indian Army Act, 1911, shall have effect as if in cl. (1) of S. 7 thereof after the words "Territorial Army" the words "or in the Auxiliary Force, India or in the Burma Auxiliary Force" were inserted. —See the Indian Army (Second Amendment) Ordinance, 1944 (No. 31 [XXXI] of 1944), S. 2. [1-7-1944].

^a[(2) "Indian commissioned officer" means a person commissioned, gazetted or in pay as an officer holding His Majesty's commission in the Indian Land Forces, and includes, in relation to a person subject to this Act when serving under such conditions as may be prescribed, a person holding a commission in the Indian Air Force :

[a] Substituted by the Indian Army (Amendment) Act, 1918 (11 [XI] of 1918), S. 2, for "a native."

(4) "non-commissioned officer" means a person attested under this Act holding ^a[an Indian] non-commissioned rank in His Majesty's Indian Forces, and includes an acting non-commissioned officer :

[a] Substituted by the Indian Army (Amendment) Act, 1918 (11 [XI] of 1918), S. 2, for "a native."

^a[(5) "officer" means an officer of any of His Majesty's Military Forces, and includes, in relation to a person subject to this Act when serving under such conditions as may be prescribed, an officer of any of His Majesty's Naval or Air Forces, but does not include a warrant officer, petty officer or non-commissioned officer :]

[a] Substituted by the Indian Army (Amendment) Act, 1934 (33 [XXXIII] of 1934), S. 5, for original clause (5).

(6) "commanding officer," when used in any provision of this Act with reference to any separate portion of His Majesty's forces or to any department, means the British officer ^a[or Indian commissioned officer] whose duty it is under the regulations of the army, or, in the absence of any such regulation, by the custom of the service, to discharge with respect to that portion of the forces or that department the functions of commanding officer in regard to matters of the description referred to in that provision :

[a] Inserted by the Indian Army (Amendment) Act, 1934 (33 [XXXIII] of 1934), S. 5.

(7) "superior officer," when used in relation to a person subject to this Act, includes a warrant officer and a non-commissioned officer; and, as regards persons placed under his orders, ^a[an officer, warrant officer, petty officer or non-commissioned officer of any of His Majesty's Naval, Military or Air Forces] :

[a] Substituted by the Indian Army (Amendment) Act (33 [XXXIII] of 1934), S. 5 for "a warrant officer or non-commissioned officer subject to the Army Act or the Air Force Act."

^a[(8) "army," "army corps," "division," and "brigade" mean respectively an army, army corps, division or brigade which is under the command of an officer subject to the authority of the ^b[Central Government] or, when on active service, an army, army corps, division or brigade under the command of an officer holding a commission in His Majesty's Land Forces ^c[or His Majesty's Indian Forces] :]

[a] Substituted by the Indian Army (Amendment) Act 1918 (11 [XI] of 1918), S. 4, for the original clause.

[b] Substituted by A. O. for "Governor General in Council." [c] Inserted by the Indian Army (Amendment) Act 1934, (33 [XXXIII] of 1934), Section 5.

CHAPTER III.

DISMISSAL AND DISCHARGE.

Dismissal by Central Government and Commander-in-Chief in India.

13. ^a[(1)] The ^b[Central Government] ^c[* * *] may dismiss from the service any person subject to this Act.

SECTION 10—Note 1.

[1] See the following case decided under the English Army Act, 1881, S. 100, where it was held that the subsistence allowance provided to enable a soldier under arrest to live was not his pay and that the allotment and other payments not paid at his request were the unilateral acts of the military authorities and could not affect his legal position. (Vol 21) 1934 Lah 845 (847): 36 Cri L Jour 737.

^a[(2) The Commander-in-Chief in India may dismiss from the service any person subject to this Act other than an Indian commissioned officer.]

[a] The original S. 13 was re-numbered as sub-section (1) of that section by the Indian Army (Amendment) Act, 1934 (33 [XXXIII] of 1934), S. 7. [b] Substituted by A. O. for "Governor-General in Council."

[c] Words "or the Commander-in-Chief in India" were repealed by the Indian Army (Amendment) Act, 1934 (33 [XXXIII] of 1934), S. 7. [d] Inserted by S. 7, ibid.

Dismissal by officer commanding army, division, brigade, etc. 14. An officer commanding an army, ^a[army corps], division or brigade, or any prescribed officer, may dismiss from the service any person serving under his command other than an ^b[*] officer.

[a] Inserted by the Indian Army (Amendment) Act, 1918 (11 [XI] of 1918), S. 6. [b] Word "Indian" was repealed by the Indian Army (Amendment) Act, 1934 (33 [XXXIII] of 1934), S. 8. The words "an Indian" had been substituted for the words "a Native" by the Indian Army (Amendment) Act, 1918 (11 [XI] of 1918), section 2.

15. [Dismissal of convicts.] Repealed by the Indian Army (Amendment) Act, 1918 (XI of 1918), S. 26 and Schedule.

16. The prescribed authority may, in conformity with any rules prescribed in this behalf, Discharge. discharge from the service any person subject to this Act.

17. Every enrolled person who is dismissed or discharged from the service shall be furnished by his commanding officer with a certificate, in the English language and in the mother tongue of such person (when his mother tongue is not English), setting forth—

(a) the authority dismissing or discharging him;

(b) the cause of his dismissal or discharge;

(c) the full period of his service in the army.

18. (1) Any person enrolled under this Act who is entitled under the conditions of his Discharge, etc., out of enrolment to be discharged, or whose discharge is ordered by competent authority, and who, when he is so entitled or ordered to be discharged, is serving out of India, and requests to be sent to India, shall, before being discharged, be sent to India with all convenient speed.

(2) Any person enrolled under this Act who is dismissed from the service and who, when he is so dismissed, is serving out of India, shall be sent to India with all convenient speed:

^a[Provided that, where any such person is sentenced to dismissal combined with any other punishment, such other punishment, or in the case of a sentence of transportation or imprisonment, a portion of such other punishment, may be inflicted before he is sent to India.]

^b[* * * * *]

[a] Inserted by the Indian Army (Amendment) Act, 1918 (11 [XI] of 1918), S. 7. [b] Sub-section (2) was repealed by S. 26 and Schedule, ibid.

CHAPTER IV.

SUMMARY REDUCTION AND PUNISHMENTS OTHERWISE THAN BY ORDER OF COURT-MARTIAL.

19. (1) The Commander-in-Chief in India, an officer commanding an army, ^a[army corps], division or brigade, or any prescribed officer, may reduce to a lower grade or to the ranks ^b[any warrant officer or] any non-commissioned officer under his command:

^b[Provided that a warrant officer reduced to the ranks shall not be required to serve in the ranks as a sepoy.]

(2) The commanding officer of an acting non-commissioned officer may order him to revert to his permanent grade as a non-commissioned officer or, if he has no permanent grade above the ranks, to the ranks.

[a] Inserted by S. 6 of the Indian Army (Amendment) Act, 1918 (11 [XI] of 1918). [b] Inserted by the Indian Army (Amendment) Act, 1934 (33 [XXXIII] of 1934), S. 9.

SECTION 19—Note 1.

[1] "We have amended clause 20 (now S. 19) by the addition of a new sub-clause giving power to a Commanding Officer to reduce an acting non-commissioned officer. This is a power which he exercises at present but of which he would be deprived under the definition of non-commissioned officer which has been adopted in the Bill." — Select Committee Report.

20. (1) The Commander-in-Chief in India may, subject to the control of the ^a[Central Government], specify the minor punishments to which persons subject to this Act shall be liable without the intervention of a court-martial, and the officer or officers by whom, and the extent to which, such minor punishments may be awarded.

(2) ^b[Imprisonment in military custody and, in the case of persons subject to this Act on active service, any prescribed field punishment may be specified as minor punishments], provided that—

(a) the term of such imprisonment ^c[or field punishment] shall not exceed twenty-eight days; and

(b) it shall not be awarded to any person of or above the rank of non-commissioned officer, or who, when he committed the offence in respect of which it is awarded, was of or above such rank.

[a] Substituted by A. O. for "Governor-General in Council." [b] Substituted by the Indian Army (Amendment) Act, 1920 (37 [XXXVII] of 1920), S. 2, for "imprisonment in military custody may be specified as such a minor punishment." [c] Inserted by S. 2, ibid.

21. Whenever any weapon or part of a weapon forming part of the equipment of a half squadron, battery, company or other similar unit is lost or stolen, the officer commanding the army, ^a[army corps], division or independent brigade to which such unit belongs may, after obtaining the report of a court of inquiry, impose a collective fine upon the ^b[Viceroy's commissioned officers, warrant officers,] non-commissioned officers and men of such unit, or upon so many of them as, in his judgment, should be held responsible for such loss or theft.

[a] Inserted by the Indian Army (Amendment) Act, 1918 (11 [XI] of 1918), S. 6. [b] Substituted by the Indian Army (Amendment) Act, 1934, (33 [XXXIII] of 1934), S. 10, for "Indian Officers." The word "Indian" was substituted for "Native" by the Indian Army (Amendment) Act, 1934 (11 [XI] of 1934), S. 2.

22. (1) For any offence, in breach of good order, the commanding officer of any corps or detachment on active service, in camp, on the march, or at any frontier post specified by the ^a[Central Government] by notification in this behalf at which troops are stationed, may punish any ^b[Indian] follower of such corps or detachment who is subject to this Act under section 2, sub-section (1), clause (c) —

(a) if such follower is not a menial servant, with imprisonment for a term which may extend to thirty days, or with fine which may extend to fifty rupees :

(b) if such follower is a menial servant, with imprisonment for a term which may extend to seven days, or, if on active service, with corporal punishment not exceeding twelve strokes of a rattan.

(2) Imprisonment awarded under this section may be carried out in a military guard, or in a jail, as ordered by the said commanding officer; and the officer in charge of any jail shall, on the delivery to him of the person of the offender, with a warrant, under the hand of the said commanding officer, detain the offender according to the exigency of the warrant or until he is discharged by due course of law.

[a] Substituted by A. O. for "Governor-General-in-Council." [b] Substituted by the Indian Army (Amendment) Act, 1918 (11 [XI] of 1918), S. 2, for "Native."

Provost Marshals.

23. For the prompt and instant repression of irregularities and offences committed in the field or on the march, provost-marshals may be appointed by the Commander-in-Chief in India or an officer commanding an army, ^a[army corps], division or independent brigade or an officer commanding the forces in the field; and the powers and duties of such provost-marshals shall be regulated according to the established custom of war and the rules of the service.

[a] Inserted by the Indian Army (Amendment), Act (11 [XI] of 1918), S. 6.

24. (1) The duties of a provost-marshal so appointed are to take charge of prisoners confined for offences of a general description, to preserve good order and discipline.

SECTION 20 — Note 1.

[1] "We think the opinion expressed in the papers submitted to us that imprisonment in military custody up to 28 days should be a minor punishment is well founded, and we have suggested an amendment of clause 21 (2) (a) (now S. 20) to give effect to this, following a recent amendment of the Army Act." — Select Committee Report.

SECTION 21 — Note 1.

[1] "In addition to changes of form in clause 22 (now S. 21) we have made it clear that the report of a Court of inquiry must be obtained before a fine can be imposed under this clause." — Select Committee Report.

pline, and to prevent breaches of the same by persons belonging or attached to the army. ^a[He may at any time arrest and detain for trial any person subject to this Act who commits an offence and may also carry into effect any punishments to be inflicted in pursuance of the sentence of a court-martial.]

^b[(2) A provost-marshal may punish with any punishment mentioned in section 22, sub-section (1), clause (b), any follower who is subject to this Act under section 2, sub-section (1), clause (c), and is a menial servant and who, on active service and in his view or in the view of any of his assistants, commits any breach of good order and military discipline.]

Abetment.

40. Every person subject to this Act who abets any offence punishable under this Act may be punished with the punishment provided in this Act for such offence.

Civil Offences.

41. ^a[(1)] Every person subject to this Act who ^b[either within British India or] at any place beyond British India, ^c[* * * *] commits any civil offence shall be deemed to be guilty of an offence against military law, and, if charged therewith under this section, shall, subject to the provisions of this Act, be liable to be tried for the same by court-martial, and on conviction to be punished as follows, that is to say —

- (a) if the offence is one which would be punishable under the law of British India with death or with transportation, he shall be liable to suffer any punishment ^d[other than whipping] assigned for the offence by the law of British India; and
- (b) in other cases he shall be liable to suffer any punishment ^d[other than whipping] assigned for the offence by the law of British India, or such punishment as might be awarded to him in pursuance of this Act in respect of an act prejudicial to good order and military discipline :

^b[Provided that a person subject to this Act who at any place within British India or at any place, other than such frontier posts as may be specified by the ^e[Central Government] by notification in this behalf, ^f[in which the Central Government or the Crown Representative exercises jurisdiction by virtue of the Government of India Act, 1935,^g or of any Order in Council made under the Foreign Jurisdiction Act, 1890,^h] and while not on active service, commits the offence of murder or culpable homicide not amounting to murder in relation to a person not subject to military law or the offence of rape, shall not be deemed to be guilty of an offence against military law and shall not be tried by a court-martial.

(2) The powers of a court-martial to try and to punish any person under this section shall not be affected by reason of the fact that the civil offence with which such person is charged is also a military offence.]

PUNISHMENTS.

43. Punishments may be inflicted in respect of offences committed by persons subject Punishments. to this Act, and convicted by court-martial, according to the scale following, that is to say —

- (a) death;
- (b) transportation for life or for any period not less than seven years;
- (c) imprisonment ^a[either rigorous or simple] for any term not exceeding fourteen years;
- ^b[(cc) in the case of Indian commissioned officers, cashiering;]
- (d) dismissal from the service;

^c[* * * * *]

^d[(f) reduction, in the case of a warrant officer, to a lower grade or class or place in the list of his rank, or to the ranks; or in the case of a non-commissioned officer, to a lower grade or a lower rank or to the ranks :

SECTION 41—Note 1.

[1] Where a subject of an Indian State commits a civil offence outside British India in the capacity of a native officer in the army, the offence is not covered by S. 4, Penal Code, and as such, the person is not triable by the ordinary criminal Courts. For the same reason, Ss. 69 to 71, Indian Army Act, which relate to the adjustment of the jurisdiction of the courts-martial and criminal Courts, would not apply to the case. But it cannot be contended that S. 41, Indian Army Act, would also be inapplicable for the same reason. The provisions of the Government of India Act, 1833, have been expressly saved by S. 5, Penal Code, and moreover, the Indian Army Act is a special law within the meaning of that section, governing person enlisted in Indian Forces. The provisions of S. 41 would, therefore, fully apply to the person. (Vol 33) 1946 Lah 158 (169) (FB).

CHAPTER VII.

PENAL DEDUCTIONS.

Deductions from pay and allowances. 50. ^a[(1) The following penal deductions may be made from the pay and allowances of an Indian commissioned officer, that is to say,—

(a) all pay and allowances for every day of absence without leave, unless a satisfactory explanation has been given through his Commanding Officer and has been approved by the ^b[Central Government] ;

(b) any sum required to make good such compensation for any expenses, loss, damage or destruction occasioned by the commission of any offence as may be determined by the court-martial by whom he is convicted of such offence ^c[or by an officer exercising authority under section 20] ;

(c) any sum required to make good the pay of any person subject to this Act which he has unlawfully retained or unlawfully refused to pay ;

(d) any sum required to make good any loss, damage or destruction of public or regimental property which after due investigation appears to the ^b[Central Government] to have been occasioned by any wrongful act or negligence on the part of the Indian commissioned officer ;

(e) any sum ordered by a court-martial to be stopped under section 43.]

^d[(2)] The following penal deductions may be made from the pay and allowances of a person subject to this Act ^e[other than an Indian commissioned officer], that is to say,—

(a) all pay and allowances for every day of absence either on desertion or without leave, or as a prisoner of war, and for every day of imprisonment awarded by a criminal court, a court-martial, or an officer exercising authority under section 20 ^f[or of field punishment awarded by a court-martial or such officer] ;

(b) all pay and allowances for every day whilst he is in custody on a charge for an offence of which he is afterwards convicted by a criminal court or court-martial, or on a charge

SECTION 50—Note 1.

[1] Section 2 of the Penal Deductions Ordinance, 1943 (No. 43 [XLIII] of 1943), runs as follows :

"(1) In addition to and without derogation from the provisions of sub-s. (2) of S. 50 of the Indian Army Act, 1911, penal deductions may be made from the pay and allowances of a person subject to the Indian Army Act, 1911, other than an Indian commissioned officer for recovery of any sum required to pay a fine imposed on him by the Head of a training establishment as defined in clause (j) of S. 2 of the National Service (Technical Personnel) Ordinance, 1940 (No. 2 [II] of 1940), in which he is for the time being undergoing training, in respect of an act or omission for which the Head of the establishment could, if he were the employer in an industrial establishment to which the Payment of Wages Act, 1936 (4 [IV] of 1936), applies, in accordance with the provisions of that Act, impose a fine of similar amount on a person employed in such industrial establishment.

[2] The provisions of Ss. 51 and 52 of the Indian Army Act, 1911, shall apply to any deduction made under this Ordinance as they apply to deductions authorised under the said Act, and the proviso to sub-s. (2) of S. 50 of the said Act shall have effect as if a deduction made under this Ordinance were a deduction made under any of the clauses (e) to (g), both inclusive, of the said sub-section." of absence without leave for which he is afterwards awarded imprisonment ¹[or field punishment] by an officer exercising authority under section 20 ;

(c) all pay and allowances for every day on which he is in hospital on account of sickness certified by the ²[] medical officer attending on him ³[] to have been caused by an offence under this Act committed by him ;

¹[(cc) for every day on which he is in hospital on account of sickness certified by the medical officer attending on him to have been caused by his own misconduct or imprudence, such sum as may be specified by order of the Commander-in-Chief in India] ;

¹[(d) all pay and allowances ordered by a court-martial under section 43, or by an officer exercising authority under section 20, to be forfeited] ;

¹[(dd) all pay and allowances for every day between his being recovered from the enemy and his dismissal from the service in consequence of his conduct when being taken by, or whilst in the hands of, the enemy] ;

(e) any sum ordered by a court-martial to be stopped under section 43 ;

(f) any sum required to make good such compensation for any expenses caused by him, or for any loss of or damage or destruction done by him to any arms, ammunition, equipment, clothing, instruments, regimental necessaries or military decoration, or to any buildings or property, as may be awarded by his commanding officer ;

(g) any sum required to pay a fine awarded by a criminal court, a court-martial exercising jurisdiction under section 41 ⁴[*] or an officer exercising authority under section 20 or section 21 :

Provided that the total deductions from the pay and allowances of a person subject to this Act ¹[other than an Indian commissioned officer] made under clauses (e) to (g), both inclusive, shall not (except in the case of a person sentenced to dismissal ²[*] * * *]) exceed in any one month one-half of his pay and allowances for that month.

Explanation.—For the purposes of clauses (a) and (b)—

(i) absence or custody for six consecutive hours or upwards, whether wholly in one day or partly in one day and partly in another, may be reckoned as absence or custody for a day ;

(ii) absence or custody for twelve consecutive hours or upwards may be reckoned as absence or custody for the whole of each day during any portion of which the person was absent or in custody ; and

(iii) any absence or custody for less than a day may be reckoned as absence or custody for a day if such absence or custody prevented the absentee from fulfilling any military duty which was thereby thrown upon some other person.

CHAPTER VIII.

COURTS-MARTIAL.

Constitution and Dissolution of Courts-martial.

Courts-martial and the kinds thereof. 53. For the purposes of this Act there shall be four kinds of courts-martial, that is to say —

- (1) general courts-martial;
- (2) district courts-martial;
- (3) summary general courts-martial; and
- (4) summary courts-martial.

Power to convene general courts-martial. 54. A general court-martial may be convened by the Commander-in-Chief in India, or by any officer empowered in this behalf by warrant of the Commander-in-Chief in India.

Power to convene district courts-martial. 55. A district court-martial may be convened by any officer having power to convene a general court-martial, or by any officer empowered in this behalf by warrant of any such officer.

Contents of warrant issued under section 54 or section 55. 56. A warrant issued under section 54 or section 55 may contain such restrictions, reservations or conditions as the officer issuing it may think fit.

^a[57. A general court-martial shall consist of not less than five British officers or Indian commissioned officers, each of whom has held a commission for not less than three whole years and of whom not less than four are of a rank not below that of Captain.]

Composition of general courts-martial. [a] Substituted by the Indian Army (Amendment) Act, 1934, (33 [XXXIII] of 1934), S. 20 for the original section.

Composition of district courts-martial. 58. A district court-martial shall consist of not less than three ^a[British officers or Indian commissioned officers].

[a] Substituted by the Indian Army (Amendment) Act, 1934, (33 [XXXIII] of 1934), S. 21, for "officers."

59. [Convening order to state if larger number of officers is not available.] Repealed by the Indian Army (Amendment) Act, 1934 (XXXIII of 1934), S. 22.

Composition of general, summary general or district court-martial. ^a[60. A general, summary general or district court-martial may be composed of either British officers or Indian commissioned officers or of both British officers and Indian commissioned officers.]

[a] Substituted by the Indian Army (Amendment) Act, 1934 (33 [XXXIII] of 1934), S. 23, for the original section.

61. [Claim to trial by British officers.] Repealed by the Indian Army (Amendment) Act, 1934 (XXXIII of 1934), S. 24.

Convening of summary general courts-martial. 62. The following authorities shall have power to convene a summary general court-martial, namely —

(a) an officer empowered in this behalf by an order of the ^a[Central Government] or of the Commander-in-Chief in India;

(b) on active service, the officer commanding the forces in the field, or any officer empowered by him in this behalf;

(c) an officer commanding any detached portion of His Majesty's troops upon active service, when, in his opinion, it is not practicable, with due regard to discipline and the exigencies of the service, that an offence should be tried by an ordinary general court-martial.

[a] Substituted by A. O. for "Governor-General in Council."

Composition of summary general courts-martial. 63. A summary general court-martial shall consist of not less than three ^a[British officers or Indian commissioned officers].

[a] Substituted by the Indian Army (Amendment) Act, 1934 (33 [XXXIII] of 1934) S. 25, for "officers."

Summary courts-martial. 64. (1) A summary court-martial may be held —

(a) by the commanding officer of any corps or department of His Majesty's Indian Forces, or of any detachment of those forces;

(b) by the commanding officer of any British corps or detachment to which details subject to this Act are attached.

(2) At every summary court-martial the officer holding the trial shall alone constitute the court, but the proceedings shall be attended throughout by two other officers who shall not, as such, be sworn or affirmed.

65. (1) If a court-martial after the commencement of a trial is reduced below the smallest number of officers of which it is by this Act required to consist, it shall be dissolved.

(2) If, on account of the illness of the accused before the finding, it is impossible to continue the trial, a court-martial shall be dissolved.

(3) Where a court-martial is dissolved under this section, the accused may be tried again.

[a] Proviso was repealed by the Indian Army (Amendment) Act, 1934 (33 [XXXIII] of 1934), S. 26.

SECTION 62 — Note 1.

[1] Under S. 62, the Central Government or the Commander-in-Chief can empower an officer to convene a Court-martial to try a person whether the latter be on active service or not. On active service, others may convene a Court-martial who cannot do it in peace time. The section does not mean that the Central Government or Commander-in-Chief lose their right to empower an officer to convene a Court-martial when the troops are on active service. The Central Government or the Commander-in-Chief can empower an officer to convene a Court-martial at all times whereas the officer commanding forces in the field can only empower an officer to convene such a Court on active service. (Vol 33) 1946 Lah 103 (110); I L R (1945) Lah 419 (F B).

Jurisdiction of Courts-martial.

66. When any person subject to this Act has been acquitted or convicted of an offence by a court-martial or by a criminal court, or has been summarily dealt with for an offence under section 20 or section 22, he shall not be liable to be tried again for the same offence by a court-martial or dealt with summarily in respect of it under either of the said sections.

^a[67. No trial by court-martial of any person subject to this Act for any offence (other than mutiny, desertion or fraudulent enrolment) shall be commenced after the 7th day of December 1941 while the person in question was a prisoner of war or was present in enemy territory or,] an offence of mutiny, desertion or fraudulent enrolment shall be commenced after the ^b[expiration of a period of three years (in the computation of which period any time spent by the person in question after the aforesaid date as a prisoner of war or in enemy territory or in evading arrest shall be excluded)] from the date of such offence, and no such trial for an offence of desertion (other than desertion on active service) or of fraudulent enrolment shall be commenced if the person in question ^d[(not being an Indian commissioned officer)] has, subsequently to the commission of the offence, served continuously in an exemplary manner for not less than three years with any portion of His Majesty's regular forces.

Explanation.—For the purposes of this section, 'mutiny' means any of the offences specified in clauses (a), (b) and (c) of section 27 ^e[and 'enemy territory' means any area at the time of the presence therein of the person in question under the sovereignty of or administered by or in the occupation of a State at that time at war with His Majesty].]

[a] Substituted by the Indian Army (Amendment) Act, 1920, (37 [XXXVII] of 1920), S. 8, for the section which had been substituted by the Repealing and Amending Act, 1919, (18 [XVIII] of 1919), S. 2 and Sch. Place of trial. 68. Any person subject to this Act who commits any offence against it may be tried and punished for such offence in any place whatever.

Adjustment of the jurisdiction of Courts-martial and Criminal Courts.

69. When a criminal court and a court-martial have each jurisdiction in respect of an offence, it shall be in the discretion of the prescribed military authority to decide before which court the proceedings shall be instituted, and, if that authority decides that they shall be instituted before a court-martial, to direct that the accused person shall be detained in military custody.

70. (1) When a criminal court having jurisdiction is of opinion that proceedings ought to be instituted before itself in respect of any alleged offence, it may, by written notice, require the prescribed military authority at its option either to deliver over the offender to the nearest Magistrate to be proceeded against according to law, or to postpone proceedings pending a reference to the ^a[Central Government].

(2) In every such case the said authority shall either deliver over the offender in compliance with the requisition or shall forthwith refer the question as to the court before which the

SECTION 69—Note 1.

[1] In cases where an ordinary criminal Court and a Court-martial have each jurisdiction in respect of an offence, it cannot be said that the Court-martial has no jurisdiction on the ground that first information report in respect thereof was lodged by persons other than the prescribed military authority and cognizance was taken by a Magistrate before the decision of the prescribed military authority as to the Court before which the proceedings should be instituted. (Vol 33) 1946 Lah 103 (111, 112) : I L R. (1945) Lah 419 (FB).

[2] Where a Magistrate has taken cognizance of offences which were equally triable by the Court-martial under S. 69, the case can be withdrawn from the former and tried by the latter Court. (Vol 33) 1946 Lah 103 (111) : I L R. (1945) Lah 419 (FB).

[3] Subject of an Indian State committing civil offence outside India as a native officer. Case is not triable by ordinary criminal Court; hence such a case is outside the scope of Ss. 69 to 71 of the Army Act. Offence can be tried under S. 41 of the Army Act that being the special law within the meaning of S. 5 of the Penal Code. (Vol 33) 1946 Lah 158 (169) (F B).

SECTION 70—Note 1.

[1] Offence of desertion is not triable by the criminal Courts. Hence, where a military servant commits criminal breach of trust and absconds military Court has concurrent jurisdiction as regards criminal breach of trust but exclusive jurisdiction as to desertion. Mere fact that accused was arrested by Police, put up before a Magistrate and that case proceeded to some length does not make S. 70 applicable to an offence of desertion. 71. (1) Notwithstanding anything contained in section 26 of the General Clauses Act, 1897, Trial by court-martial or in section 403 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, a person no bar to subsequent trial convicted or acquitted by a court-martial may be afterwards tried by a criminal court for the same offence or on the same facts.

(2) If a person sentenced by a court-martial in pursuance of this Act to punishment for an offence is afterwards tried by a criminal court for the same offence or on the same facts, that court shall, in awarding punishment, have regard to the military punishment he may already have undergone.

Powers of Courts-martial.

72. A general or summary general court-martial shall have power to try any person subject to this Act for any offence made punishable therein and to pass any sentence authorized by this Act.
Powers of general and summary general courts-martial.

73. A district court-martial shall have power to try any person subject to this Act other than an officer for any offence made punishable therein, and to pass any sentence authorized by this Act other than a sentence of death, or transportation, or imprisonment for a term exceeding two years :
Powers of district court-martial.

^a[Provided that a district court-martial shall not award to a warrant officer any punishment other than ^b[the punishments specified in clauses (g), (gg) and (h) of section 43 or], either in addition to or in substitution for any such punishment, the punishment specified in clause (d) or the punishment specified in clause (f) of that section.]

Offences triable by summary court-martial.

74. A summary court-martial may try any offence punishable under any of the provisions of this Act :

Provided that when there is no grave reason for immediate action, and reference can without detriment to discipline be made to the officer empowered to convene a district court-martial ^a[or on active service a summary general court-martial] for the trial of the alleged offender, an officer holding a summary court-martial shall not try without such reference any of the following offences, namely —

(a) any offence punishable under sections 25, 27, clauses (a), (b) or (c), 33 ^b[or 41], or

(b) any offence against the officer holding the court.

Persons triable by summary court-martial.

75. A summary court-martial may try any person subject to this Act and under the command of the officer holding the court, except an officer or warrant officer.

76. (1) A summary court-martial ^a[* * * *] may pass any sentence which can be passed under this Act, except a sentence of death or transportation, or of imprisonment for a term exceeding one year.
Sentences awardable by summary court-martial.

Procedure at Trials by Court-martial.

77. At every general, district or summary general court-martial the senior member shall sit President. as president.

SECTION 72—Note 1.

[1] Under S. 491, Criminal P. C., High Court cannot interfere with findings of Court-martial even if it had made a mistake of law. Courts-martial are the sole Judges of both law and fact, unless the Court-martial convicted an accused person without hearing any evidence at all. (Vol 33) 1946 Lah 103 (110, 111) : I L R²(1945) Lah 419 (F B).

[2] The High Court has no jurisdiction to sit in judgment on the findings of any Court-martial where a person has been tried under the Army Act. (Vol 32) 1945 Oudh 217 (218) : 46 Cri L Jour 746; 20 Luck 335.

78. Every general court-martial shall, and every district^a [or summary general] court-martial Judge Advocate may, be attended by a judge advocate, who shall be either an officer belonging to the department of the Judge Advocate General in India, or, if no such officer is available, a person appointed by the convening officer.

[a] Inserted by the Indian Army (Amendment) Ordinance, 1942 (18 [XVIII] of 1942), S. 2 [5-5-1942].

79. [Superintending officer.] Repealed by the Indian Army (Amendment) Act, 1934, (XXXIII of 1934), S. 30.

80. (1) At all trials by general, district or summary general courts-martial, as soon as the Challenges. court is assembled, the names of the president and members shall be read over to the accused, who shall thereupon be asked whether he objects to being tried by any officer sitting on the court.

(2) If the accused objects to any such officer, his objection, and also the reply thereto of the officer objected to, shall be heard and recorded, and the remaining officers of the court shall, in the absence of the challenged officer, decide on the objection.

(3) If the objection is allowed by one-half or more of the votes of the officers entitled to vote, the objection shall be allowed, and the member objected to shall retire, and his vacancy may be filled in the prescribed manner by another officer, subject to the same right of the accused to object.

(4) When no challenge is made, or when challenge has been made and disallowed, or the place of every officer successfully challenged has been filled by another officer to whom no objection is made or allowed, the court shall proceed with the trial.

81. (1) Every decision of a court-martial shall be passed by an absolute majority of Voting of members. votes; and where there is an equality of votes, as to either finding or sentence, the decision shall be in favour of the accused.

(2) In matters other than a challenge or the finding or sentence, the president shall have a casting vote.

82. An oath or affirmation in the prescribed form shall be administered to every member Oaths of president of every court-martial and to the judge advocate^a [* * *] and members. before the commencement of the trial.

[a] Words "or superintending officer" were repealed by the Indian Army (Amendment) Act, 1934, (33 [XXXIII] of 1934), S. 31.

83. Every person giving evidence at a court-martial shall be examined on oath or affirmation. Oaths of witnesses. tion, and shall be duly sworn or affirmed in the prescribed form.

84. (1) The convening officer, the president of the court, the judge advocate, or the commanding officer of the accused person may, by summons under his hand, require the attendance^a [* * *] at a time and place to be mentioned in the summons, of any person either to give evidence or to produce any document or other thing. Summoning witnesses and production of documents.

(2) In the case of a witness amenable to military authority, the summons shall be sent to the officer commanding the corps, department or detachment to which he belongs, and such officer shall serve it upon him accordingly.

(3) In the case of any other witness, the summons shall be sent to the Magistrate within whose jurisdiction he may be or reside, and such Magistrate shall give effect to the summons as if the witness were required in the court of such Magistrate.

(4) When a witness is required to produce any particular document or other thing in his possession or power, the summons shall describe it with convenient certainty.

(5) Nothing in this section shall be deemed to affect the Indian Evidence Act, 1872, sections 123 and 124, or to apply to any letter, postcard, telegram or other document in the custody of the postal or telegraph authorities.

(6) If any document in such custody is, in the opinion of any District Magistrate, Chief Presidency Magistrate, High Court or Court of Session, wanted for the purpose of any court-martial, such Magistrate or Court may require the postal or telegraph authorities, as the case may be, to deliver such document to such person as such Magistrate or Court may direct.

(7) If any such document is, in the opinion of any other Magistrate or of any Commissioner of Police or District Superintendent of Police, wanted for any such purpose, he may require the postal or telegraph authorities, as the case may be, to cause search to be made for and to detain such document pending the orders of any such District Magistrate, Chief Presidency Magistrate or Court.

[a] Words "before the court" were repealed by the Indian Army (Amendment) Act, 1934 (33 [XXXIII] of 1934), S. 32.

85. (1) Whenever, in the course of a trial by court-martial, it appears to the court that the examination of a witness is necessary for the ends of justice, and that the attendance of such witness cannot be procured without an amount of delay, expense or inconvenience which, in the circumstances of the case, would be unreasonable, such court may address the Judge Advocate General in order that a commission to take the evidence of such witness may be issued.

(2) The Judge Advocate General may then, if he thinks necessary, issue a commission to any District Magistrate or Magistrate of the first class, within the local limits of whose jurisdiction such witness resides, to take the evidence of such witness.

^a[(3) When the witness resides in any Indian State or tribal area in which there is an officer representing the Central Government or the Crown Representative, the commission may be issued to that officer.]

(4) The Magistrate or officer to whom the commission is issued, or, if he is the District Magistrate, he or such Magistrate of the first class as he appoints in this behalf, shall proceed to the place where the witness is or shall summon the witness before him and shall take down his evidence in the same manner, and may for this purpose exercise the same powers, as in trials of warrant cases under the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898.

(5) Where the commission is issued to such officer as is mentioned in sub-section (3), he may delegate his powers and duties under the commission to any officer subordinate to him whose powers are not less than those of a Magistrate of the first class in British India.

(6) When the witness resides out of India, the commission may be issued to any British consular officer, British Magistrate or other British official competent to administer an oath or affirmation in the place where such witness resides.

(7) The prosecutor and the accused person in any case in which a commission is issued may respectively forward any interrogatories in writing which the court may think relevant to the issue, and the Magistrate or officer to whom the commission is issued shall examine the witness upon such interrogatories.

(8) The prosecutor and the accused person may appear before such Magistrate or officer by pleader or, except in the case of an accused person in custody, in person, and may examine, cross-examine and re-examine (as the case may be) the said witness.

(9) After any commission issued under this section has been duly executed, it shall be returned, together with the deposition of the witness examined thereunder, to the Judge Advocate General.

(10) On receipt of a commission and deposition returned under sub-section (9), the Judge Advocate General shall forward the same to the court at whose instance the commission was issued or, if such court has been dissolved, to any other court convened for the trial of the accused person; and the commission, the return thereto and the deposition shall be open to the inspection of the prosecutor and the accused person, and may, subject to all just exceptions, be read in evidence in the case by either the prosecutor or the accused, and shall form part of the proceedings of the court.

(11) In every case in which a commission is issued under this section the trial may be adjourned for a specified time reasonably sufficient for the execution and return of the commission.

Explanation. — In this section, the expression "Judge Advocate General" means the Judge Advocate General in India, and includes a Deputy Judge Advocate General.

(2) A confirming officer to whom a case is reported under sub-section (1) may, if he does not confirm the finding, take steps to have the accused person tried by the same or another court-martial for the offence with which he was originally charged.

(3) A prescribed officer to whom a case is reported under sub-section (1) and a confirming officer confirming a finding in any case so reported to him shall order the accused person to be kept in custody in the prescribed manner, and shall report the case for the orders of the ^b[Central Government].

(4) On receipt of a report under sub-section (3), the ^b[Central Government] may order the accused person to be detained in a lunatic asylum or other suitable place of safe custody.

(5) Where an accused person, having been found by reason of unsoundness of mind to be incapable of making his defence, is in custody or under detention, the prescribed officer may—

(a) if such person is in custody under sub-section (3), on the report of a medical officer that he is capable of making his defence, or take steps to have such person tried by the same or another court-martial for the offence with which he was originally charged or, provided that the offence is a civil offence, by a Criminal Court.

(b) if such person is detained under sub-section (4), on a certificate such as is referred to in section 473 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898,

^c[(5A) Where any person is in custody under sub-section (3) or under detention under sub-section (4),—

(a) if such person is in custody under sub-section (3), on the report of a medical officer, or

(b) if such person is detained under sub-section (4), on a certificate from any of the authorities empowered to grant a certificate under section 473 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, that, in the judgment of such officer or authority, such person may be released without danger of his doing injury to himself or to any other person, the ^b[Central Government] may thereupon order such person to be released, or to be detained in custody, or to be transferred to a public lunatic asylum if he has not been already sent to such an asylum.

(5B) Where any relative or friend of any person who is in custody under sub-section (3) or under detention under sub-section (4) desires that he shall be delivered to his care and custody, the ^b[Central Government] may, upon the application of such relative or friend and on his giving security to the satisfaction of the ^b[Central Government] that the person delivered shall —

(a) be properly taken care of and prevented from doing injury to himself or to any other person, and

(b) be produced for the inspection of such officer, and at such times and places, as the ^b[Central Government] may direct, order such person to be delivered to such relative or friend.]

(6) A copy of every order made by the prescribed officer under sub-section (5) shall forthwith be sent to the ^b[Central Government].]

CHAPTER IX.

EXECUTION OF SENTENCES.

104. In awarding a sentence of death a court-martial shall, in its discretion, direct that the offender shall suffer death by being hanged by the neck until he be dead, or shall suffer death by being shot to death.

105. [Imprisonment to be in military custody.] Repealed by the Indian Army (Amendment) Act, 1934 (XXXIII of 1934), S. 34.

106. Whenever any person is sentenced under this Act to transportation or imprisonment, the term of his sentence shall, whether it has been revised or not, be reckoned to commence on the day on which the original proceedings were signed by the president or, in the case of a summary court-martial, by the court.

^a[107. (1) Whenever any sentence of transportation is passed under this Act or whenever any sentence so passed is commuted to transportation, the commanding officer of the person under sentence or such other officer as may be prescribed shall forward a warrant in the prescribed form to the officer in charge of the civil prison in which such person is to be confined and shall forward him to such prison with the warrant.

(2) Whenever any sentence of imprisonment is passed under this Act or whenever any sentence so passed is commuted to imprisonment, the confirming officer, or in the case of a sentence which does not require confirmation, the Court or in either case such officer as may be prescribed may direct either that the sentence shall be carried out by confinement in a civil prison or by confinement in a military prison, and the commanding officer of the person under sentence or such other officer, as may be prescribed, shall forward a warrant in the prescribed form to the officer in charge of the prison in which the person under sentence is to be confined and shall forward him to such prison with the warrant:

Provided that in the case of a sentence of imprisonment for a period not exceeding three months, in lieu of a direction that the sentence shall be carried out by confinement in a civil or a military prison, a direction may be made that the sentence shall be carried out by confinement in military custody:

Provided further that on active service a sentence of imprisonment may be carried out by confinement in such place as the officer commanding the forces in the field may from time to time appoint.]

^a[108A. In every case in which a sentence of transportation is passed under this Act, the Offenders sentenced to transportation how dealt with until transported. offender, until he is transported, shall be dealt with in the same manner as if sentenced to rigorous imprisonment, and shall be deemed to have been undergoing his sentence of transportation during the term of his imprisonment.]

[a] Inserted by the Indian Army (Amendment) Act, 1918 (11 [XI] of 1918), S. 22.

^a[109. Whenever an order is duly made under this Act setting aside or varying any sentence, Communication of certain orders to prison officers. order or warrant under which any person is confined in a civil or military prison, a warrant in accordance with such order shall be forwarded by the prescribed officer to the officer in charge of the prison in which such person is confined.]

[a] Section 109 was substituted for original section 109 by the Indian Army and Air Force (Military Prisons and Detention Barracks) Act, 1943 (14 [XIV] of 1943), S. 3. [7-4-1943.]

110. In executing a sentence of solitary confinement such confinement shall in no case exceed Limit of solitary confinement. fourteen days at a time, with intervals between the periods of solitary confinement of not less duration than such periods, and, when the imprisonment awarded exceeds three months, the solitary confinement shall not exceed seven days in any one month of the whole imprisonment awarded, with intervals between the periods of solitary confinement of not less duration than such periods.

111. [Instrument of corporal punishment.] Repealed by the Indian Army (Amendment) Act, 1920 (XXVII of 1920), S. 10.

^a[111A. When a sentence of fine is imposed by a court-martial under section 41 ^b[* * *], Execution of sentence of fine. whether the trial was held within British India or not, a copy of such sentence, signed and certified by the president of the court or the officer holding the trial, as the case may be, may be sent to any Magistrate in British India, and such Magistrate shall thereupon cause the fine to be recovered in accordance with the provisions of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, for the levy of fines as if it was a sentence of fine imposed by such Magistrate.]

[a] Inserted by the Indian Army (Amendment) Act, 1918 (11 [XI] of 1918), S. 23. [b] Words and figures "or Section 42" were repealed by the Indian Army (Amendment) Act, 1934 (33 [XXXIII] of 1934), S. 37.

Establishment and regulation of military prisons. ^a[111B. (1) The Central Government may set apart any building or part of a building or any place under its control as a military prison for the confinement of persons sentenced to imprisonment under this Act ^b[or under the Burma Army Act.]

(2) The Central Government may make rules providing —

- (a) for the Government, management and regulation of such military prisons;
- (b) for the appointment and removal and powers of inspectors, visitors, governors and officers thereof;
- (c) for the labour of prisoners undergoing confinement therein, and for enabling persons to earn, by special industry and good conduct, a remission of a portion of their sentence; and
- (d) for the safe custody of prisoners and the maintenance of discipline among them and the punishment, by personal correction, restraint or otherwise, of offences committed by prisoners:

Provided that such rules shall not authorise corporal punishment to be inflicted for any offence nor render the imprisonment more severe than it is under the law for the time being in force relating to civil prisons in British India.

(3) Rules made under this section may provide for the application to military prisons of any of the provisions of the Prisons Act, 1894, relating to the duties of officers of prisons and the punishment of persons not prisoners.]

[a] Inserted by the Indian Army and Air Force (Military Prisons and Detention Barracks) Act, 1943 (14 [XIV] of 1943), S. 4. [7-4-43.] [b] These words were added by the Indian Army (Amendment) Ordinance, 1944 (5 [V] of 1944), S. 2. [31-1-1944.]

CHAPTER X.

· PARDONS AND REMISSIONS.

^a[112. (1) When any person subject to this Act has been convicted by a court-martial of any offence, the ^b[Central Government] or the Commander-in-Chief in India or, in the case of a sentence which he could have confirmed or which did not require confirmation, the officer commanding the army, army corps, division or independent brigade in which such person at the time of his conviction was serving, or the prescribed officer, may,

(a) either without conditions or upon any conditions which the person sentenced accepts, pardon the person or remit the whole or any part of the punishment awarded ;

(b) mitigate the punishment awarded, or commute such punishment for any less punishment or punishments mentioned in this Act :

Provided that a sentence of transportation shall not be commuted for a sentence of imprisonment for a term exceeding the term of transportation awarded by the court.

(2) If any condition on which a person has been pardoned or a punishment has been remitted is, in the opinion of the authority which granted the pardon or remitted the punishment, not fulfilled, such authority may cancel the pardon or remission, and thereupon the sentence of the court shall be carried into effect as if such pardon had not been granted or such punishment had not been remitted :

Provided that, in the case of a person sentenced to transportation or imprisonment, such person shall undergo only the unexpired portion of his sentence.

(3) When under the provisions of section 49 ^c[a warrant officer or] a non-commissioned officer is deemed to be reduced to the ranks, such reduction shall, for the purposes of this section, be treated as a punishment awarded by sentence of a court-martial.]

[a] Substituted by the Indian Army (Amendment) Act 1918 (11 [XI] of 1918), S. 24, for the original section.

[b] Substituted by A. O. for "Governor-General in Council." [c] Inserted by the Indian Army (Amendment) Act, 1934 (33 [XXXIII] of 1934), S. 30.

CHAPTER XI.

RULES.

Power to make rules. 113. (1) The ^a[Central Government] may make ^brules for the purpose of carrying into effect the provisions of this Act.

(2) In particular, and without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing power, such rules may provide for —

(a) the ^c[removal, retirement or discharge] from the service of persons subject to this Act ;

(b) the amount and incidence of fines to be imposed under section 21 ;

^d[(bb) the specification of the punishments which may be awarded as field punishments under sections 20 and 45 ;]

CHAPTER XII.

PROPERTY OF DECEASED PERSONS, DESERTERS AND LUNATICS.

Property of deceased persons and deserters. ^a[114. The following rules are enacted respecting the disposal of the property of every person subject to this Act who dies or deserts:—

(1) The commanding officer of the corps, detachment or department to which the deceased person or deserter belonged shall secure all the moveable property belonging to the deceased or deserter that is in camp or quarters, and cause an inventory thereof to be made, and draw any pay and allowances due to such person.

(2) In the case of a deceased person who has left in a Government savings bank (including any post office savings bank, however named) a deposit not exceeding one thousand rupees, the commanding officer may, if he thinks fit, require the secretary or other proper officer of the bank to pay the deposit to him forthwith, notwithstanding anything in any departmental rules, and after the payment thereof in accordance with such requisition, no person shall have any right in respect of the deposit except as hereinafter provided.

(3) In the case of a deceased person whose representative is on the spot and has given security for the payment of the regimental or other debts in camp or quarters (if any) of the deceased, the commanding officer shall deliver over any property received under clauses (1) and (2) to that representative.

(4) In the case of a deceased person whose estate is not dealt with under clause (3), and in the case of any deserter, the commanding officer shall cause the moveable property to be sold by public auction, and shall pay the regimental and other debts in camp or quarters (if any), and, in the case of a deceased person, the expenses of his funeral ceremonies, from the proceeds of the sale and from any pay and allowances drawn under clause (1) and from the amount of the deposit (if any) received under clause (2).

(5) The surplus, if any, shall, in the case of a deceased person, be paid to his representative (if any), or in the event of no claim to such surplus being established within twelve months after the death, then the same shall be remitted to the prescribed person.

(6) In the case of a deserter, the surplus (if any) shall be forthwith remitted to the prescribed person and shall, on the expiry of three years from the date of his desertion, be forfeited to His Majesty, unless the deserter shall in the meantime have surrendered or been apprehended.

^b(7) Where the deceased person or deserter is an Indian commissioned officer on active service, the references in the foregoing rules to the commanding officer shall be construed as references to the Standing Committee of Adjustment, if any, appointed in this behalf in the manner prescribed; and the power conferred by rule (2) to require payment of a deposit left in a Government savings bank shall be read as a power to require the payment from any deposit left in any bank, notwithstanding anything in the rules of the bank, of a sum, not exceeding two thousand rupees, equal to the nearest multiple of one hundred rupees above the amount estimated by the Standing Committee of Adjustment as necessary to meet the regimental and other debts in camp or quarters of the deceased.

(8) The decision of the commanding officer or the Standing Committee of Adjustment, as the case may be, as to what are the regimental and other debts in camp or quarters of a deceased person and as to the amount payable therefor shall, subject to the result of any appeal as against an order to the principal Court of original civil jurisdiction in the locality, be final.]

Explanation ^c[1. — A person shall be deemed to be a deserter within the meaning of this section who has, without authority, been absent from duty for a period of sixty days and has not subsequently surrendered or been apprehended.]

^c[Explanation 2. —The expression 'regimental and other debts in camp or quarters' includes for the purposes of this section money due as — military debts, namely, sums due in respect of, or of any advance in respect of —

(a) quarters,

(b) mess, band, and other regimental accounts,

(c) military clothing, appointments and equipments, not exceeding a sum equal to six months' pay of the deceased, and having become due within eighteen months before his death.]

[b] These rules were added after rule (6) by the Indian Army (Amendment) Act, 1945 (7 [VII] of 1945), S. 2. [16-4-1945.] [c] The original Explanation was numbered as Explanation 1 and this Explanation was added by S. 2, ibid.

115. Property deliverable and money payable to the representative of a deceased person under Disposal of certain property without production of probate, etc. section 114 may, if the total value or amount thereof does not exceed one thousand rupees, and if the prescribed person thinks fit, be delivered or paid to any person appearing to him to be entitled to receive it or to administer the estate of the deceased, without requiring the production of any probate, letters of administration, certificate or other such conclusive evidence of title; and such delivery or payment shall be a full discharge to those ordering or making the same and to ^a[the Crown] from all further liability in respect of the property or money; but nothing in this section shall affect the rights of any executor or administrator or other representative, or of any creditor, of a deceased person against any person to whom such delivery or payment has been made.

[a] Substituted by A. O. for "the Secretary of State for India in Council."

116. The provisions of ^a[sections 114 and 115] shall, so far as they can be made applicable, Application of section 114 to lunatics. apply in the case of a person subject to this Act becoming insane, ^b[or, who, being on active service, is officially reported missing :

Provided that, in the case of a person so reported missing, no action shall be taken under sub-sections (2) to (5), inclusive, ^c[of section 114], until one year has elapsed from the date of such report.]

CHAPTER XIII.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Military Privileges.

117. (1) Any person subject to this Act ^a[other than an Indian commissioned officer] who Complaints against officers. deems himself wronged by any superior or other officer, may, if not attached to a troop or company, complain to the officer under whose command or orders he is serving; and may, if attached to a troop or company, complain to the officer commanding the same.

(2) When the officer complained against is the officer to whom any complaint should, under sub-section (1), be preferred, the aggrieved person may complain to such officer's next superior officer.

(3) Every officer receiving any such complaint shall examine into it, and, when necessary, refer it to superior authority :

^a[Provided that a decision by an authority competent to dispose of the matter complained of shall be final.]

(4) Every such complaint shall be preferred through such channels as may be from time to time specified by proper authority.

[a] Inserted by the Indian Army (Amendment) Act, 1934 (33 [XXXIII] of 1934), S. 40.

^a[117A. Any Indian commissioned officer who deems himself wronged by his Commanding Complaints by Indian commissioned officers. Officer or any superior officer and who on due application made to his Commanding Officer does not receive the redress to which he considers himself entitled, may complain to the ^b[Central Government].]

[a] Inserted by the Indian Army (Amendment) Act, 1934 (33 [XXXIII] of 1934), S. 41. [b] Substituted by A. O. for "Governor-General in Council."

118. (1) No president or member of a court-martial, no judge advocate ^a[* * *], no party to any proceeding before a court-martial, or his legal practitioner or agent, Privileges of persons attending courts-martial. and no witness acting in obedience to a summons to attend a court-martial, shall, while proceeding to, attending on, or returning from a court-martial, be liable to arrest under civil or revenue process.

(2) If any such person is arrested under any such process, he may be discharged by order of the court-martial.

[a] Words "or superintending officer" were repealed by the Indian Army (Amendment) Act, 1934 (33 [XXXIII] of 1934), S. 42.

119. (1) No person subject to this Act shall, so long as he belongs to His Majesty's Indian Forces, be liable to be arrested for debt under any process issued by, or by the authority of, any civil or revenue court or revenue officer. Exemption from arrest for debt.

(2) The judge of any such court may examine into any complaint made by such person or his superior officer of the arrest of such person contrary to the provisions of this section, and may, by warrant under his hand, discharge the person, and award reasonable costs to the complainant, who may recover those costs in like manner as he might have recovered costs awarded to him by a decree against the person obtaining the process.

(3) For the recovery of such costs no fee shall be payable to the court by the complainant.

120. Neither the arms, clothes, equipment, accoutrements or necessities of any person subject to this Act, nor any animal used by him for the discharge of his duty, shall Property exempted from attachment. be seized, nor shall the pay and allowances of any such person or any part thereof be attached, by direction of any civil or revenue court or any revenue-officer, in satisfaction of any decree or order enforceable against him.

Application of the last two foregoing sections to reservists. 121. Every person belonging to the Indian Reserve Forces shall, when called out for or engaged upon or returning from training or service, be entitled to all the privileges accorded by sections 119 and 120 to a person subject to this Act.

122. (1) On the presentation to any court by or on behalf of any person subject to this Act of a certificate, from the proper military authority, of leave of absence having been granted to or applied for by him for the purpose of prosecuting or defending any suit or other proceeding in such court, the court shall, Priority of hearing by courts of cases in which Indian officers and soldiers are concerned. on the application of such person, arrange, so far as may be possible, for the hearing and final disposal of such suit or other proceeding within the period of the leave so granted or applied for.

(2) The certificate from the proper military authority shall state the first and last day of the leave or intended leave, and set forth a description of the case with respect to which the leave was granted or applied for.

(3) No fee shall be payable to the court in respect of the presentation of any such certificate, or in respect of any application by or on behalf of any such person for priority for the hearing of his case.

(4) Where the Court is unable to arrange for the hearing and final disposal of the suit or other proceeding within the period of such leave or intended leave as aforesaid, it shall record its reasons for having been unable to do so, and shall cause a copy thereof to be furnished to such person on his application without any payment whatever by him in respect either of the application for such copy or of the copy itself.

THE INDIAN ARMY (SUSPENSION OF SENTENCES) ACT, 1920.

(Repealed in part by Act XII of 1927.)

ACT No. XX OF 1920.^a

[23rd March 1920.]

An Act to consolidate and amend the law relating to the suspension of sentences passed by courts-martial under the Indian Army Act, 1911.

WHEREAS it is expedient to consolidate and amend the law relating to the suspension of sentences of imprisonment or transportation passed by courts-martial on persons subject to the Indian Army Act, 1911; It is hereby enacted as follows :—

[a] For Statement of Objects and Reasons, see Gazette of India, 1920 Pt. V, p. 124 ; and for proceedings in Council, see ibid, 1920 Pt. VI, pp. 843 and 955.

Short title and construction.

1. This Act may be called the Indian Army (Suspension of Sentences) Act, 1920, and shall be construed as one with the principal Act.

Definitions. 2. In this Act, unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context,—

- (a) “committed” means committed to prison or to confinement in military custody ;
- (b) “competent military authority” means a superior military authority, or any general or other officer not below the rank of field officer duly authorised by a superior military authority ;
- (c) “imprisonment” includes confinement in military custody ;
- (d) “principal Act” means the Indian Army Act, 1911 ;
- (e) “sentence” means a sentence of transportation or imprisonment, whether originally passed on a person subject to the principal Act, or passed by way of reduction or commutation ; and “sentenced” has the corresponding meaning ; and
- (f) “superior military authority” means the Commander-in-Chief in India or any officer empowered under the principal Act to convene general courts-martial or summary general courts-martial.

3. (1) Where a person subject to the principal Act is sentenced, the confirming officer when Suspension of sentences. confirming the sentence, or; in the case of a sentence which does not require confirmation, the officer holding the trial or the President of the court-martial when passing sentence may, notwithstanding anything in the principal Act, direct that such person be not committed until the orders of a superior military authority have been obtained.

(2) A superior military authority may, in the case of any such offender so sentenced,—

(a) direct that, until his orders have been obtained, such offender shall not be committed; and

(b) suspend the sentence whether or not the offender has already been committed.

(3) Where, in accordance with any order passed under sub-section (2), a sentence is suspended, the offender shall, whether he has been committed or not, forthwith be released.

Calculation of periods of sentence under suspension.

4. Any period during which a sentence is under suspension shall be reckoned as part of the term of such sentence.

Power to set aside suspension or order remission.

5. A superior military authority may, at any time whilst a sentence is suspended under this Act, order—

(a) that the offender be committed to undergo the unexpired portion of the sentence, or

(b) that the sentence be remitted.

6. Where a sentence has been suspended under this Act, the case may at any time, and shall at intervals of not more than four months, be reconsidered by a competent military authority, and if, on any such reconsideration, it appears to such authority that the conduct of the offender since his conviction has been such as to justify a remission of the sentence, he shall, if he is not also a superior military authority, refer the case to a superior military authority.

Procedure on further sentence of offender whose sentence is suspended.

7. Where an offender, while a sentence on him is suspended under this Act, is sentenced for any other offence, then—

(a) if the further sentence is also suspended under this Act, the two sentences shall run concurrently;

(b) if the further sentence is for a period of three months or more and is not suspended under this Act, the offender shall also be committed on the unexpired portion of the previous sentence, but both sentences shall run concurrently; and

(c) if the further sentence is for a period of three months or less and is not suspended under this Act, the offender shall be committed on that sentence only, and the previous sentence shall (subject to any order which may be passed under section 5 or section 6) continue to be suspended.

8. The powers conferred by this Act shall be in addition to, and not in derogation of, any powers as to the mitigation, remission or commutation of sentences conferred by the principal Act, and a superior military authority shall, as regards persons subject to that Act, be an authority having power to mitigate, remit or commute sentences under section 112 of that Act.

9. Where in addition to any other sentence the punishment of dismissal has been awarded by a court-martial, and such other sentence is suspended under this Act, then, notwithstanding anything contained in the principal Act or in any rules made thereunder, such dismissal shall not take effect until so ordered by a superior military authority:

Provided that, if a sentence is remitted under this Act, the punishment of dismissal shall also be remitted.

ARYA MARRIAGE VALIDATING ACT, 1937.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

"As the Arya Samajists who form quite an appreciable number of the Indian population conscientiously believe that the present caste system is not in accordance with their scriptures, the Vedas and the sacred Shastras and as according to the law as administered at present marriages between parties belonging by birth to different castes or sub-castes are considered invalid and there is a fear of the issue of such marriages being declared illegitimate and as quite a large number of such marriages have taken place and more would have taken place had there been no such obstacle, it is necessary to have a law which would give relief to the Arya Samajists. Hence the above law is proposed."

—Gazette of India, 1935, Part V, page 132.

REPORT OF THE SELECT COMMITTEE.

The following Report of the Select Committee on the Bill to recognise and remove doubts as to the validity of inter-marriages current among Arya Samajists was presented to the Legislative Assembly on the 1st September 1936 :

We have revised the extent clause of the Bill so as to accord retrospective effect which it was sought to secure by clause 1 (2) of the Bill as introduced has been secured in the re-draft of clause 3 of the Bill as introduced, now appearing as clause 2.

We have omitted the definition of Arya Samajist. We were impressed by the difficulty of finding a satisfactory definition, and we consider that the proposal in sub-clause (b) of clause 2 that a declaration subsequent to marriage should suffice to establish that the maker of the declaration was an Arya Samajist, was fraught with danger. We are of opinion that the purposes of the Bill will be adequately served if the question of the religious status of the parties to a marriage remains a question of fact to be determined by the circumstances of each case.

We have recast clause 3 (now numbered clause 2) in a clearer and more comprehensive form.

We recognize that some provision must be made to govern succession in respect of the marriages dealt with by the Bill, but we found that considerable diversity of opinion existed as to what that provision should be. We decided by a majority that the most suitable solution of the problem is to provide as we have done in clause 3 that questions of succession shall be determined according to the Indian Succession Act, 1925.

MINUTES OF DISSENT.

The Bill is intended to meet the needs of the Arya Samajists. Clause 4, relating to succession, should therefore be so framed as to meet the sentiments of that community. It is known as a fact that the whole body of Arya Samajists are opposed to the Indian Succession Act being applied to them instead of the sacred Shastras which they believe in. The application of the Indian Succession Act to the property of the parties for whose benefit the Bill is intended denies to them, as Arya Samajists, what the Arya Samaj as a body has needed and been asking for all this time. If the Indian Succession Act were to apply in such cases, the present Bill would indeed not be needed at all; for the already existing Special Marriage Act, commonly known as the Civil Marriage Act, would cover all such cases.

It should not be forgotten that the Arya Samaj believes in the Vedas and the sacred Shastras and also in Varna-Ashrama Dharma. Their difference with the orthodox Hindus is that they do not believe in Varna by Janma or birth alone, i. e., in the current caste system exclusively by birth. Instead, they believe in Varna by Karma, i. e., vocation or occupation, as clearly expounded by Swami Dayanand, the founder of the Arya Samaj. To ask them to take to the Succession Act, in cases where the Shastras can apply, is to ask them to forsake their faith.

We, therefore, would press that a provision to the following effect, which preserves the applicability of the Shastras in ordinary cases, and also provides for the application of the Indian Succession Act in certain exceptional cases, be substituted in place of clause 4 as amended by the majority. "For purposes of Succession, the Hindu Personal Law of the husband, where he was a Hindu before the marriage, and the Indian Succession Act in other cases, shall govern the case."

An amendment to the above effect was moved by Dr. Bhagvan Das at the meeting of the Select Committee.

Dated the 4th
August, 1936.

I am not clear if it is good to omit the definition of Arya Samajist. The definition given in the Bill is good for all practical purposes and may be allowed to remain.

As regards the changes in clause 4, I agree to the amendment of Dr. Bhagvan Das only as a matter of compromise. I would however insist that clause 4 should remain as introduced, viz., as follows :

"4. For purposes of Succession all inter-marriages referred to in section 3 of this Act shall be deemed to be marriages between persons of the same caste of (Dwijas) the twice-born Hindus."

This is in conformity with the feelings of the Arya Samajists for whom this Bill is meant. The Arya Samajists as a body support this provision.

ACT NO. XIX OF 1937.

[As amended by Act XXXII of 1940.]

[14th April 1937.]

An Act to recognise and remove doubts as to the validity of inter-marriages current among Arya Samajists.

WHEREAS it is expedient to recognise and place beyond doubt the validity of inter-marriages of a class of Hindus known as Arya Samajists; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

Short title and extent.

1. (1) This Act may be called the Arya Marriage Validation Act, 1937.

(2) It extends to the whole of British India [* * * *] and applies also to all subjects of His Majesty, within other parts of India, and to all Indian subjects of His Majesty without and beyond British India.

[a] The words "including British Baluchistan and the Sonthal Parganas" were omitted by the Repealing and Amending Act, 1940 (32 [XXXII] of 1940), S. 3 and Schedule II.

2. Notwithstanding any provision of Hindu Law, usage or custom to the contrary no marriage contracted whether before or after the commencement of this Act between two persons being at the time of the marriage Arya Samajists shall be invalid or shall be deemed ever to have been invalid by reason only of the fact that the parties at any time belonged to different castes or different sub-castes of Hindus or that either or both of the parties at any time before the marriage belonged to a religion other than Hinduism.

SCHEDULE I.—TRAINING.

SCHEDULE II.—[Enactment Repealed.]

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

"The replacement of the Indian Volunteer Force, which had been in existence for nearly 60 years, by the Indian Defence Force, was a war measure necessitated by the exigencies of the situation. Compulsory service was adopted to meet the needs of an Imperial emergency. Reversion to voluntary enrolment is now considered desirable, but it is essential to maintain and develop in the reconstituted Volunteer Force, the improvements in organization and in the standard of training effected under war conditions.

The necessity for a substantial amendment of the Indian Volunteers Act, 1869, had long been apparent. Under that enactment no definite obligations were imposed on enrolled men in the matter of training, and the standard of efficiency varied widely in different units. It is now proposed to secure the requisite amendment in the force by the substitution of a new measure, in which the liabilities of those enrolled in the matter of training and service are clearly defined.

The main principle underlying these provisions is that the European and domiciled community, being employed for the most part in the public services or in commercial and industrial occupations of importance, cannot be regarded as available for any but purely local service, and further that military training must be restricted as far as possible to the earlier years of service in the force. Moreover conditions differ greatly in different localities and for this reason it has been found desirable to adjust requirements in the matter of training to the local conditions obtaining. The adjustment will be effected through the agency of Advisory Committee for every military area, power of varying the training in individual cases being entrusted to these bodies.

The liability to local service only is subject to the provision that, in circumstances of emergency to be notified formally by Government, any part of the force may be required to serve beyond the limits of the military area to which it belongs, but in no case out of India.

No term of service is specified, as was the case under the Indian Volunteers Act, 1869. Any enrolled person desirous of discharge during the first six years of his service will be required to satisfy the Local Advisory Committee as to the validity of his reasons for desiring to leave the Force; but after completing six years of service he may be discharged at any time on application being made to the Commanding Officer and no reference to higher authority will be required.

The scale of training laid down in the Bill is based on the principle already indicated. On attaining the age of 31, a member of the force is entitled to be passed into the First Class of the Reserve and thereupon to undergo training on a reduced scale. On attaining the age of 40, he will be included in the Second Class of the Reserve, and will then be required to complete the annual musketry course only. It is permissible, however, for any person in the Reserve to undertake, from year to year, the liabilities imposed on persons belonging to a higher class.

Members of the Force will be subject to the provisions of the Army Act when called out and when embodied, or when attached to or training with any part of the Regular Forces, this rule being the same as that applied to the Territorial Force in England. Military discipline on other occasions will be enforced with under the summary powers of the Commanding Officer, or, in the case of more serious offences and in any case, should the person charged so elect, by means of the ordinary Criminal Courts. In no case can a Commanding Officer order any form of imprisonment as a summary or minor punishment and no military offence (as specified in clause 24 of the Bill) is punishable with imprisonment by a Magistrate unless it constitutes an offence so punishable under the ordinary law."

[b] The word "or" at the end of clause (c) and clause (d) were added by the Auxiliary Force (Amendment) Ordinance, 1942 (27 [XXVII] of 1942), S. 3. [30-5-1942.]

19. No person called out under clause (a), or embodied under clause (b), ^a[or required to perform military service under clause (d),] of section 18 shall be required to perform military service beyond the limits of the prescribed military area in which the corps or unit to which he has been appointed or is for the time being attached is located, save when it is, in the opinion of the senior military officer present, necessary to proceed beyond those limits in the course of the military operations upon which the corps or unit or any portion thereof is for the time being engaged.

[a] Inserted by the Auxiliary Force (Amendment) Ordinance, 1942 (27 [XXVII] of 1942), S. 4. [30-5-1942.]

20. Any portion of the Auxiliary Force, India, which, having been called out or embodied under section 18, is performing military service, shall be replaced by regular troops or otherwise as soon as circumstances permit, and shall not be required to perform such service after such replacement has been effected to the satisfaction of the senior military officer present or after the cancellation of the order or notification under clause (a) or (b), as the case may be, of section 18.

^a[20A. (1) If, as a consequence of his being required to perform military service under this Act, either when called out under clause (a) or embodied under clause (b) of section 18, or when attached to any regular forces under clause (c) of that section otherwise than for a course of instruction, the employment of any person is terminated, it shall be the duty of the employer by whom such person was employed at the time he was so required to perform military service to reinstate him in his employment on the termination of such military service under conditions not less favourable to him than those which would have applied to him had his employment not been interrupted by his performance of military service.

(2) If an employer refuses to reinstate any such person as required by sub-section (1) or denies his liability to reinstate such person, or if for any reason the reinstatement of such person is represented by the employer to be impracticable, either party may refer the matter to the tribunal constituted under section 9 of the National Service (European British Subjects) Act, 1940, for the hearing of matters referred to it under the proviso to section 8 of that Act, and that tribunal shall after consideration pass an order either, exempting the employer from the provisions of this section or requiring him to re-employ such person on such terms as it thinks suitable, or requiring him to pay to such person a sum in compensation for failure to re-employ him not exceeding an amount equal to six months' remuneration at the rate at which his last remuneration was payable to him by the employer; and if any employer fails to obey the order of the tribunal, he shall be punishable with a fine which may extend to one thousand rupees, and the Court by which an employer is convicted under this section may order him (if he has not already been so required by the tribunal) to pay the person whom he has failed to re-employ a sum not exceeding an amount equal to six months' remuneration at the rate at which his last remuneration was payable to him by the employer, and any amount so required by the tribunal to be paid or so ordered by the Court to be paid shall be recoverable as if it were a fine imposed by such Court:

Provided that in any proceedings under this section it shall be a defence for an employer to prove that the person formerly employed by him did not apply to the employer for reinstatement within a period of two months from the termination of the military service he was required to perform under this Act.

(3) The duty imposed by sub-section (1) upon an employer to reinstate in his employment a person such as is described in that sub-section shall attach to an employer who before such person is actually required to perform military service under this Act terminates his employment in circumstances such as to indicate an intention to evade the duty imposed by that sub-section; and when a person's employment is terminated at any time after he has been required in any of the manners specified in sub-section (1) to perform military service under this Act, it shall be presumed until the contrary is proved that the termination of his employment took place as a consequence of his having been so required to perform military service.]

[a] Section 20A was inserted by the Auxiliary Force (Amendment) Ordinance, 1942 (27 [XXVII] of 1942), S. 5 [30-5-1942.]

21. ^a[(1)] Every commissioned officer of the Auxiliary Force, India, when doing duty as a commissioned officer, and every non-commissioned officer and man of the said Force —

(a) when attached to or otherwise acting as part of or with any regular forces, and

(b) when called out ^b[or required to perform military service] by an order, or embodied by a notification, under section 18, shall be subject to the provisions of the Army Act and any orders or regulations made thereunder, and the said Act, orders and regulations shall apply to every such person in the circumstances aforesaid as if the same were enacted in this Act, and as if such person held the same rank in His Majesty's Army as he holds for the time being in the said Force, ^c[subject, in the case of an officer, to the terms of his commission and the orders of His Majesty, and, in the case of a non-commissioned officer or man, to the orders of the Governor-General].

^d(2) Where an offence punishable under the Army Act has been committed by any person whilst subject to that Act under the provisions of sub-section (1), such person may be taken into and kept in military custody and tried and punished for such offence, although he has ceased to be so subject as aforesaid, in like manner as he might have been taken into and kept in military custody, tried or punished if he had continued to be so subject :

Provided that no such person shall be kept in military custody after he has ceased to belong to the Auxiliary Force, India, unless he has been taken into or kept in military custody, on account of the offence before the date on which he ceased so to belong, nor shall he be kept in military custody or be tried or punished for the offence after the expiry of two months from that date, unless his trial had already commenced before such expiry.]

ACT NO. XVI of 1936.

[27th October 1936.]

An Act to validate certain marriages solemnized in the Civil and Military Station of Bangalore.

WHEREAS Mr. Walter James McDonald Redwood, a Missionary of the Plymouth Brethren, was, in the year 1929, granted by the Resident in Mysore a licence, under the Indian Christian Marriage Act, 1872, as applied to the Civil and Military Station of Bangalore, to solemnize marriages within the territories included in the Civil and Military Station of Bangalore between persons one of whom was a Native Christian subject of Mysore, and neither of whom was a Christian subject of His Majesty ;

AND WHEREAS the said Walter James McDonald Redwood has, in the belief that he was authorised so to do, solemnized certain marriages in the Civil and Military Station of Bangalore between certain Christian subjects of His Majesty ;

AND WHEREAS the parties to the said marriages all believed that the said Walter James McDonald Redwood was duly authorised to solemnize the same, and that such marriages were valid in law;

AND WHEREAS the said parties being Christian subjects of His Majesty, the said Walter James McDonald Redwood had not the requisite authority under the licence held by him to solemnize the said marriages;

AND WHEREAS it is expedient that the said marriages, having been solemnized in good faith, should be validated;

It is hereby enacted as follows :—

[a] For Statements of Objects and Reasons, see Gazette of India, 1936, Part V, page 314.

Short title. 1. This Act may be called the BANGALORE MARRIAGES VALIDATING ACT, 1936.

2. All marriages between Christian subjects of His Majesty which have already been solemnized in the Civil and Military Station of Bangalore by Mr. Walter James McDonald Redwood, a Missionary of the Plymouth Brethren, shall be, and shall be deemed to have been with effect from the date of solemnization of each respectively, as good and valid in law as if such marriages had been solemnized under a licence authorizing solemnization of marriages between Christian subjects of His Majesty in the Civil and Military Station of Bangalore.

3. Certificates of marriages which are declared by section 2 to be good and valid in law, and register-books and certified copies of true and duly authenticated extracts therefrom, deposited in compliance with the provisions of the Indian Christian Marriage Act, 1872, in so far as the register-books and extracts relate to such marriages as aforesaid, shall be received as evidence of such marriages as if such marriages had been duly solemnized under Part I of the said Act.

BANKERS' BOOKS EVIDENCE ACT, 1891.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

"The object of this Bill is to apply to British India the provisions of the English Bankers' Books Evidence Act, 1879, under which copies of entries in bankers' books are made receivable in evidence under certain conditions."

ACT NO. XVIII of 1891^a.

[1st October 1891.]

An Act to amend the Law of Evidence with respect to Bankers' Books.

WHEREAS it is expedient to amend the Law of evidence with respect to Bankers' Books; It is hereby enacted as follows :—

[a] For Statement of Objects and Reasons, see Gazette of India, 1891, Pt. V, p. 24; for Report of the Select Committee, see ibid., p. 189, and for Proceedings in Council, see ibid., Pt. VI, pp. 15, 25, 117, 135 and 140. The Act has been declared to be in force in British Baluchistan by the British Baluchistan Laws Regulation, 1913 (2 [II] of 1913), and in the Sonthal Parganas by the Sonthal Parganas Settlement Regulation (3 [III] of 1872).

Title and extent. 1. (1) This Act may be called the Bankers' Books Evidence Act, 1891.

(2) It extends to the whole of British India; [* * *]^a

[* * * * *]^a

[a] The word "and" at the end of sub-section (2), and sub-section (3) were repealed by the Repealing and Amending Act, 1914 (10 [X] of 1914).

Definitions. 2. In this Act, unless there is something repugnant in the subject or context, —

^a[(1) 'company' means a company registered under any of the enactments relating to companies for the time being in force in any part of His Majesty's dominions or incorporated by an Act of Parliament or by an Indian law or by Royal Charter or by Letters Patent:]

(2) "bank" and "banker" mean —

(a) any company carrying on the business of bankers,

(b) any partnership or individual to whose books the provisions of this Act shall have been extended as hereinafter provided,

^b[(c) any post office saving bank or money order office:]

(3) "bankers' books" include ledgers, day-books, cash-books, account-books and all other books used in the ordinary business of a bank:

(4) "legal proceeding" means any proceeding or inquiry in which evidence is or may be given, and includes an arbitration:

(5) "the Court" means the person or persons before whom a legal proceeding is held or taken:

(6) "Judge" means a Judge of a High Court:

(7) "trial" means any hearing before the Court at which evidence is taken: and

(8) "certified copy" means a copy of any entry in the books of a bank together with a certificate written at the foot of such copy that it is a true copy of such entry, that such entry is contained in one of the ordinary books of the bank and was made in the usual and ordinary course of business, and that such book is still in the custody of the bank, such certificate being dated and subscribed by the principal accountant or manager of the bank with his name and official title.

[a] Substituted by A. O. for previous definition which had been substituted for original definition by the Bankers' Books Evidence Act, 1900 (12 [XII] of 1900).

[b] Clause (c) was added by S. 2 of the Bankers' Books Evidence Act, 1893 (1 [I] of 1893).

3. The ^a[Provincial Government] may, from time to time, by notification in the Official Power to extend Gazette, extend the provisions of the Act to the books of any partnership or provisions of Act. individual carrying on the business of bankers within the territories under its administration, and keeping a set of not less than three ordinary account books, namely, a cash-book, a day-book or journal, and a ledger, and may in like manner rescind any such notification.

[a] Substituted by A. O. for "Local Government."

SECTION 2 — Note 1.

[1] "We have omitted from clause (a) of sub-s. (2) the reference to a Government Savings Bank. We consider the accounts of such banks, as well as those of the Money Order Department of the Post Office and of Government treasuries, to be "public documents" within the meaning of S. 74 of the Evidence Act and covered therefore by S. 65 of that Act." [But now see clause (c) of sub-s. (2) which is added by the Bankers' Books Evidence Act, 1893.]

"We have added a clause (b) to sub-s. (2) so as to include under the term "bank" or "banker" any partnership (not coming under the definition of "company") or individual to whom the Local Government may under S. 3 extend the provisions of the Act.

We have also added definitions of the terms "trial" and "certified copy" so as to make the provisions of the Bill compact and readily intelligible." — Select Committee Report.

[2] SECTION 2 (4). — Proceedings before a Police officer are not legal proceedings. (Vol 24) 1937 Lah 160 (162): 38 Cr L Jour 435: 17 Lah 593.

[3] SECTION 2 (5). — Under the definition of S. 2 "Court" includes a Magistrate trying the case. (1938) 1 L B (1938) Bom 31 (39).

[4] SECTION 2 (8). — It is only the principal account-

tant or the manager of the bank that alone can certify the document. Hence a copy signed by a sub-accountant who had authority to sign for the manager is not a certified copy within the meaning of S. 2 (8). (Vol 28) 1941 Rang 344 (346).

[5] Where a certificate read: "We certify that this is a true extract from the books of the bank." It was held that this was not a certificate which is prescribed as requisite in S. 2 (8). (Vol 28) 1941 Rang 344 (346).

[6] Compare the definition of "certified copy" given in S. 2 (8) with the meaning of that term in S. 76 of the Evidence Act, 1872, and see also the case in (1903) 31 Cal 284 (293, 294).

SECTION 3 — Note 1.

[1] "This section is new. It has been brought to our notice that there are in India several large private banks to whom the privileges contemplated by this Bill may safely and fairly be extended. As, however, it is not desirable to extend the privileges to all private banks, we have given power to the Local Government to decide each case on its merits. We consider, however, that these privileges should not be extended to any partnership or individual carrying on the business of bankers which does not keep at least the three account books specified in the section which are absolutely essential to a proper system of accounts." — Select Committee Report.

4. Subject to the provisions of this Act, a certified copy of any entry in a banker's book Mode of proof of entries in bankers' books. shall in all legal proceedings be received as prima facie evidence of the existence of such entry, and shall be admitted as evidence of the matters, transactions and accounts therein recorded in every case where, and to the same extent as, the original entry itself is now by law admissible, but not further or otherwise.

5. No officer of a bank shall in any legal proceeding to which the bank is not a party be Case in which officer of bank not compellable to produce books. compellable to produce any banker's book the contents of which can be proved under this Act, or to appear as a witness to prove the matters, transactions and accounts therein recorded, unless by order of the Court or a Judge made for special cause.

6. (1) On the application of any party to a legal proceeding the Court or a Judge may Inspection of books by order of Court or Judge. order that such party be at liberty to inspect and take copies of any entries in a banker's book for any of the purposes of such proceeding, or may order the bank to prepare and produce, within a time to be specified in the order, certified copies of all such entries, accompanied by a further certificate that no other entries are to be found in the books of the bank relevant to the matters in issue in such proceeding, and such further certificate shall be dated and subscribed in manner hereinbefore directed in reference to certified copies.

(2) An order under this or the preceding section may be made either with or without summoning the bank, and shall be served on the bank three clear days (exclusive of bank holidays) before the same is to be obeyed, unless the Court or Judge shall otherwise direct.

(3) The bank may at any time before the time limited for obedience to any such order as aforesaid either offer to produce their books at the trial or give notice of their intention to show cause against such order, and thereupon the same shall not be enforced without further order.

SECTION 4 — Note 1.

[1] "We consider that no copy of any entry should be receivable in evidence in any legal proceeding unless it is a "certified copy" as defined in the revised Bill. That definition, read with section 4 of the Bill, seems to us to meet all the requirements of the case. Certified copies of entries in the accounts of privileged banks will now be on the same footing as certified copies of public documents."—Select Committee Report.

[2] Unless a bank comes within the definition of the word 'company' as defined in S. 2 (1), copies of entries in the books of such a bank cannot be admitted under S. 4. (1900) 4 Cal W N 433 (438) (F B).

[See also (1895) 18 All 92 (94, 95).]

SECTION 5 — Note 1.

[1] "We consider that it is inadvisable in the public interests to restrict the power conferred by this section to a Judge of a High Court. Such a restriction might, and probably would, involve in many cases unnecessary expense and delay. We have, therefore, extended the power to the Court before which the legal proceeding in question is held or taken (section 2 (5))."—Select Committee Report.

[2] There is no conflict between the provisions of S. 94, Criminal P. C., and the Bankers' Books Evidence Act. There is nothing in the latter Act which prevents an order being made under S. 94, Criminal P. C., in a proper case. (1938) ILR (1938) Bom 31 (39).

[3] In the case of bankers' books an order under S. 94, Criminal P. C., should be very cautiously made and carefully drafted. A routine order to comply ex parte is generally undesirable and in any case the prosecutor should be required to state before the issue of the order not only what books he requires to be produced but why their production is necessary with specific reference to the allegations in the complaint. (1938) ILR (1938) Bom 31 (40).

[4] A Magistrate making an order under S. 94, Criminal P. C., for production of documents does not thereby commit himself to the proposition that inspection of all the documents production of which is ordered must necessarily follow. Usually inspection should only be given of particular documents shown to be relevant. The party producing the documents is not precluded from objecting to their inspection. (Vol 25) 1938 Bom 33 (35) : 39 Cri L Jour 207 : ILR (1938) Bom 119 (SB).

[5] The bank cannot be compelled to produce its books without an order of the Court 'for special cause.' But there is no reason why an order made under S. 94, Criminal P. C., should not be regarded as a sufficient order for the purpose of S. 5 of this Act. (1938) I L R (1938) Bom 31 (39).

[6] Section 5 does not prevent the Police from inspection of the books of the Bank even without the order of a Court. (Vol 24) 1937 Lah 160 (161) : 33 Cri L Jour 435 : 17 Lah 593.

SECTION 6 — Note 1.

[1] "We have enlarged sub-s. (1) so as to allow the Court or a Judge to permit the bank to prepare and produce certified copies of all relevant entries as an alternative to allowing parties to inspect and take copies for themselves. It is probable that in many cases it may, in the interest of the bank or its clients, be highly undesirable to allow an inspection of the bank's books. We have amended sub-s. (2) so as to require that in ordinary cases due notice of any order under S. 5 or under S. 6, sub-s. (1), shall be given to the bank; and we have added a sub-s. (3) allowing the bank to show cause against any such order."—Select Committee Report.

[2] Ordinarily no party to a suit is entitled to obtain an order under S. 6, as against the other party without notice. (Vol 19) 1932 Bom 428 (429).

[3] Where a party desires an order, under S. 6, on his own behalf the Court ought to grant it ex parte : but where he applies against the other party the Court ought not to make the order without notice to the other party. Where, however, the Court is not satisfied that the application is not for the purpose of obtaining inspection beyond what is allowed under the ordinary

7. (1) The costs of any application to the Court or a Judge under or for the purposes of this Act and the costs of anything done or to be done under an order of the Court or a Judge made under or for the purposes of this Act shall be in the discretion of the Court or Judge, who may further order such costs or any part thereof to be paid to any party by the bank if they have been incurred in consequence of any fault or improper delay on the part of the bank.

(2) Any order made under this section for the payment of costs to or by a bank may be enforced as if the bank were a party to the proceeding.

(3) Any order under this section awarding costs may, on application to any Court of Civil Judicature designated in the order, be executed by such Court as if the order were a decree for money passed by itself :

Provided that nothing in this sub-section shall be construed to derogate from any power which the Court or Judge making the order may possess for the enforcement of its or his directions with respect to the payment of costs.

Section 6 (contd.)

procedure, the Court ought to refuse the application. (1903) 5 Bom L R 865 (867).

[4] Provisions of the Criminal Procedure Code do not affect the law contained in the Bankers' Books Evidence Act, the latter being a special law within the meaning of S. 1 (2), Criminal P. C. Therefore, though an order directing inspection of books of a bank is made under S. 94, Criminal P. C., it should be deemed to be one made under S. 6, Bankers' Books Evidence Act. And, therefore, as S. 6, Bankers' Books Evidence Act, gives a statutory right to object to any such order, an order of the Court made without hearing the bank is not binding upon it. (Vol 25) 1938 Bom 33 (35, 36) : 39 Cri L Jour 207 : ILR (1938) Bom 119 (SB).

[5] The Court should not allow inspection of banker's books under the Bankers' Books Act unless a prima facie case is made out for thinking that there is some matter on which the books of the bank are bound to be relevant. (Vol 25) 1938 Bom 33 (37) : 39 Cri L Jour 207 : ILR (1938) Bom 119 (SB). (Court should not give fishing or roving commission for inspection.)

Statutory Bar Councils should, however, be established at Calcutta, Madras, Bombay, Allahabad, Patna and Rangoon, but provision should be made permitting the constitutions of Councils at Lahore,

[6] Where the lower Court passed an order under S. 6 against a bank to furnish copies of the entire account of A from its books and it appeared that the accounts which were kept in several different books were very voluminous and extended over a period exceeding thirty years, the High Court observed that the order did not appear to be a wise or necessary one and that the proper course would probably have been to have allowed the inspection of the bank-books of the whole account, and then to have permitted copies of all entries which it was considered necessary to have after inspection. (1900) 1900 Pun L R 237 (238).

[7] Where the order passed by the lower Court under this section is not an illegal one or one which that Court had power to pass, the High Court will not interfere in revision even if it appears that the lower Court has not exercised a wise discretion. (1900) 1900 Pun LR 237 (238).

SECTION 7 — Note 1.

[1] "We have altered this section so as to make it clear that costs awarded to a bank, as well as costs awarded against it, may be enforced as if the banks were a party."—Select Committee Report.

Nagpur, Karachi and Lucknow later on. (Paragraphs 48 and 55.)

(ii) The Council should consist of 15 members four of whom should be nominated by the High Court, including, where possible, the Advocate-General or the Government Advocate and the Government Pleader. The remaining eleven, of whom six should be advocates of at least 10 years' standing, should be elected by advocates of the High Court, provided that in Calcutta and Bombay the High Courts should determine how many of the eleven should be advocates entitled to practise on the original side. The nominated members should ordinarily be advocates, but it should be left to the High Courts to nominate judges past and present. (Paragraphs 57 and 58.)

(iii) The first Council should hold office for 3 years the term of office of subsequent Councils being determined by rules to be framed by the Councils themselves (Paragraph 57.)

(iv) A Bar Council should have power to make rules subject to the approval of the High Court in respect of the following matters : (a) the qualifications, admission, and certificates of proper persons to be advocates of the High Court ; (b) the powers and duties of advocates ; (c) the conduct of any examination which may be prescribed by it and the fees to be paid for appearing at the same ; (d) legal education, including the delivery of lectures to students and the fees chargeable therefor ; (e) matters relating to the discipline and professional conduct of advocates ; (f) procedure and practice in case falling within the disciplinary jurisdiction of the Council ; (g) the method of holding elections of members of the Council and all matters incidental thereto ; (h) meetings of the Council, the quorum necessary for the transaction of business, the elections of a President or other officer and the appointment of committees for special purposes ; (i) the period for which a Council after the first Council, should hold office and the filling of vacancies occurring between elections ; (j) the terms on which advocates of another High Court may be permitted to appear occasionally in the High Court to which the Council is attached ; and (k) any other matter prescribed by the High Court. (Paragraph 59.)

(v) The rules regulating the election of the first Council and the filling of vacancies before rules are made by the Council should be made by the High Court, and it should be provided that no rules shall be made affecting the special provisions suggested for the original side of the Calcutta and Bombay High Courts so long as those provisions remain in force. (Paragraph 59.)

(vi) A Bar Council should have power either of its own motion or on complaint or on a reference by the High Court to enquire into all matters of the kind referred to in sections 12 and 13 of the Legal Practitioners Act, 1879, breaches of rules and other improper conduct in which an advocate of the Court is concerned, and make a request to the High Court with a recommendation as to the action, if any, to be taken by the Court.

A Bar Council should also be entitled to be heard in any matter relating to the admission of an advocate or in support of any report made by it to the Court. (Paragraph 60.)

(vii) The existing disciplinary jurisdiction of the High Court should be maintained, but the Court should be bound before taking disciplinary action against an advocate, except in regard to contempt of Court and the like, to refer the case to the Bar Council for inquiry, and report. On receipt of a report from the Bar Council the Court should be empowered itself to make or require the Council to make further inquiry. At the request of a Bar Council or on its own motion a High

Court should be authorised to order an inquiry to be held by a local Court. (Paragraph 61.)

(viii) Provision should be made for procuring with the sanction of the Court the attendance of witnesses, and production of documents required by the Council for an inquiry, and witnesses should receive the same protection as when they give evidence before a Court. (Paragraph 61.)

The paragraphs referred to are paragraphs in the report.

The Government of India consulted Local Governments and High Courts upon these recommendations. In certain respects it appeared necessary to amplify them and in some respects to modify them in the light of the views urged by the authorities consulted. It is intended that these recommendations with the amplifications and modifications should be given effect to by or under the Bill.

[2] The Bill is intended also to carry out as far as possible the following miscellaneous recommendations of the committee : (a) The ideal to be kept in view should be the disappearance of different grades of legal practitioners so that ultimately there may be a single grade entitled to appear in all Courts. At present the largest degree of unification possible should be effected. (Paragraphs 11 and 17); (b) In all High Courts a single grade of practitioners entitled to plead should be enrolled, to be called advocates (not barristers), the grade of High Court vakils or Pleaders being abolished, and when special conditions are maintained for admission to plead on the original side the only distinction should be within that grade which shall consist of advocates entitled to appear on the original side and advocates not so entitled. (Paragraph 19); (c) Advocates of one High Court should be entitled to practise in another High Court subject to conditions to be imposed by the Bar Council of the latter Court or by the Courts where there is no Bar Council. (Paragraph 20); (d) Where there is compulsory dual agency system at present it should be allowed to continue. (Paragraph 26); (e) The High Courts should retain their power to fix the amount payable by a party in respect of the fees of an adversary's legal practitioner. (Paragraph 61); (f) Partnerships between legal practitioners should be permitted wherever all classes of legal practitioners are entitled to act as well as to appear and plead. (Paragraph 69); (g) The High Courts, where this is not now permitted, should consider the advisability of allowing Indian barristers applying for enrolment as advocates to read with an approved Indian practitioner instead of reading in chambers in England, at least when it is shown that the individual cannot obtain entry in suitable chambers in England. (Paragraph 68).

[3] Incidentally it is intended that the provisions of the Bill and the rules which may be made under it shall, in regard to advocates entitled as of right to practise in the High Courts, replace the relevant provisions of the Legal Practitioners Act, the Bombay Pleaders Act and the Letters Patent of the various High Courts of Judicature as well as the rules made under these provisions. In regard to certain matters for which provision has not been made in the Bill it has, however, been necessary to retain the residuary powers of the High Courts of Judicature under these Letters Patent.

In accordance with the recommendation of the Committee in para. 56 of their report the enrolment and control of legal practitioners other than Advocates is left to the High Courts under the Legal Practitioners Act and the Bombay Pleaders Act as amended by the Bill.

[4] The principal modifications of the Committee's recommendations which are contained in the Bill are as follows : (a) The constitution of the Bar Councils differs slightly from the recommendations in that the Advocate-General must be a member and the number of members to be elected is ten instead of eleven; (b) the rules regarding all elections of the Councils instead of only the election of the first Councils are to be made by the High Courts, the powers of the Councils in this respect being restricted to the making of bye-laws in regard to matters not provided for by the rules made by the High Courts. For the making of these bye-laws, however, the approval of the High Court will not be required; (c) power is given to the Councils, with the sanction of the High Court, to prescribe fees to be payable to the Courts in respect of admission and enrolment and of the issue of certificates; and (d) the powers of the Councils to hold inquiries into complaints of unprofessional conduct are restricted to cases referred to the Council by the High Court and the inquiries are to be held by a Tribunal consisting of members of the Council appointed for the purposes of the inquiries by the Chief Justice or Chief Judge of the High Court. The High Court is, however, required to refer all complaints of unprofessional conduct which it does not dismiss either to the Bar Council or to a subordinate Court for inquiry. Instead of requiring the sanction of the Court for compelling the attendance of witnesses in each case a Tribunal is given power to enforce such attendance. A Tribunal is also given power to administer oaths to witnesses, and the prosecution of the witnesses who give evidence, which was recommended by the Committee, is secured by applying the provisions of section 132 of the Indian Evidence Act to proceedings before a Tribunal. On the other hand, rules governing the procedure of a Tribunal are to be prescribed by the Councils with the approval of the High Courts."

ACT NO. XXXVIII of 1926.

[9th September 1926.]

An Act to provide for the constitution of Bar Councils in British India and for other purposes.

WHEREAS it is expedient to provide for the constitution and incorporation of Bar Councils for certain Courts in British India, to confer powers and impose duties on such Bar Councils, and to consolidate and amend the law relating to legal practitioners entitled to practise in such Courts; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

Preliminary.

Short title, extent, application and commencement.

1. (1) This Act may be called the INDIAN BAR COUNCILS ACT, 1926.

(2) It extends to the whole of British India, and shall apply to the High Courts of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal, and at Madras, Bombay, Allahabad, ^a[and Patna] and to such other High Courts within the meaning of clause (24) of section 3 of the General Clauses Act, 1897, as the ^b[Provincial Government] may, by notification^c in the ^d[Official Gazette], declare to be High Courts to which this Act applies.

(3) This section and sections 2, 17, 18 and 19 shall come into force at once; and the ^b[Provincial Government] may, by notification^c in the ^d[Official Gazette], direct that the other provisions of this Act, or any provision thereof specified in the notification, shall come into force in respect of any High Court to which this Act applies on such date as ^f[it] may by the notification appoint.

[a] Substituted by A. O. for "Patna and Rangoon". [b] Substituted by A. O. for "Governor-General in Council". [c] For notification declaring the Chief Court of Oudh to be a High Court to which this Act applies, see Gazette of India, 1928, Pt. I, page 325. [d] Substituted by A. O. for "Gazette of India". [e] The rest of the Act came into force in respect of—[i] The Calcutta High Court, Ss. 3 to 7 from 1st March 1928 (see Gazette of India, 1928, Pt. I, page 325) and Ss. 8 to 16 from 1st July 1928 (see ibid, page 382); [ii] the Madras High Court from 16th July 1928 (see ibid, page 382); [iii] the Bombay High Court from 1st January 1929 (see ibid, page 714); [iv] the Allahabad High Court from 1st June 1928 (see ibid, p. 400); [v] the Patna High Court from 1st January 1929 (see ibid, page 703); [vi] the Oudh Chief Court from 1st March 1928 (see ibid, page 325); [vii] the Nagpur High Court from 1st January 1937 (see C. P. Gazette, 1936, Pt. I, pages 831, 832). [f] Substituted by A. O. for "he."

Interpretation. ^a[2. (1)] In this Act, unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context,—

- (a) "advocate" means an advocate entered in the roll of advocates of a High Court under the provisions of this Act;
- (b) "Advocate-General" includes, where there is no Advocate-General, the Government Advocate and, where there is no Advocate-General or Government Advocate, such officer as the ^b[Provincial Government] may declare to be the Advocate-General for the purposes of this Act;
- (c) "High Court" means a High Court to which this Act applies; and
- (d) "prescribed" means prescribed by rules made under this Act.

^c[(2) In this Act "the Provincial Government" means, in relation to any High Court, the Provincial Government of the Province in which the High Court has its principal seat.]

[a] Section 2 may be deemed to have been re-numbered as sub-section (1) of S. 2 by A. O. which has added a new sub-section (2) to that section. [b] Substituted by A. O. for "Local Government." [c] Inserted by A. O.

Constitution for Bar Councils.

Constitution and incorporation of Bar Councils.

3. (1) For every High Court a Bar Council shall be constituted in the manner hereinafter provided.

(2) Every Bar Council so constituted shall be a body corporate having perpetual succession and a common seal with power to acquire and hold property, both moveable and immoveable, and to contract, and shall by the name of the Bar Council of the High Court for which it has been constituted sue and be sued.

Composition of Bar Councils.

4. (1) Every Bar Council shall consist of fifteen members, of whom —

- (a) one shall be the Advocate-General;
- (b) four shall be persons nominated by the High Court, of whom not more than two may be Judges of that Court; and
- (c) ten shall be elected by the advocates of the High Court from amongst their number.

(2) Of the elected members of every Bar Council not less than five shall be persons who have for not less than ten years been entitled as of right to practise in the High Court for which the Bar Council has been constituted.

(3) Of the elected members of the Bar Councils to be constituted for the High Courts of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal and at Bombay such proportion as the High Court may direct in each case shall be persons who have, for such minimum period as the High Court may determine, been entitled to practise in the High Court in the exercise of its original jurisdiction, and such number as may be fixed by the High Court out of the said proportion shall be barristers of England or Ireland or members of the Faculty of Advocates in Scotland.

(4) There shall be a Chairman and Vice-Chairman of each Bar Council elected by the Council in such manner as may be prescribed:

Provided that the Advocates-General of Bengal, Madras and Bombay shall be Chairmen ex officio, respectively, of the Bar Councils constituted for the High Courts of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal, at Madras and at Bombay.

5. (1) Notwithstanding anything contained in clause (c) of sub-section (1) of section 4, the Special provisions regarding constitution of first Bar Councils. elected members of the first Bar Council constituted under this Act for any High Court shall be elected by and from amongst the advocates, vakils and pleaders who are on the date of the election entitled as of right to practise in the High Court.

(2) The terms of office of the nominated and elected members of any such first Bar Council shall be three years from the date of the first meeting of the Council.

Section 4 — Note 1.

[1] Sections 4, 5, 6, 7 and 8 should be read together. (Vol 23) 1936 Sind 75 (77) (SB).

Section 5 — Note 1.

[1] Section 5 (2) does not prevent rules being framed whereby certain members elected to the first Bar Council may continue in office thereafter so that a certain continuity may be maintained between the first Council and its successor. (Vol 23) 1936 Sind 75 (76) (SB).

Power to make rules regarding constitution and procedure of Bar Councils.

6. (1) Rules, consistent with this Act, may be made to provide for the following matters, namely :—

- (a) the manner in which elections of members of the Bar Council shall be held; the method of determining, in accordance with the provisions of sub-sections (2) and (3) of section 4, the candidates who shall be declared to have been elected; the manner in which the result of elections shall be published; and the manner in which and the authority by which doubts and disputes as to the validity of an election shall be finally decided;
- (b) the terms of office of nominated and elected members of the Council;
- (c) the filling of casual vacancies in the Council;
- (d) the convening of meetings of the Council, and the quorum necessary for the transaction of business thereat;
- (e) the manner of election and the respective terms of office of the Chairman, in cases where the Chairman is to be elected, and of the Vice-Chairman; and
- (f) any matter incidental or ancillary to any of the foregoing matters.

(2) The first rules under this section shall be made by the High Court, but the Bar Council may thereafter, with the previous sanction of the High Court, add to, amend or rescind any rules so made.

(3) No election of a member or members to the Council shall be called in question on the ground that due notice thereof has not been given to any person entitled to vote thereat, if notice of the date fixed for the election has, not less than thirty days before that date, been published in the "[Official Gazette]" of the Province, or of each Province, as the case may be, in which the High Court exercises jurisdiction.

(4) Rules made under clause (b) of sub-section (1) may provide for the retirement of members from office by rotation and for the manner in which the order of such retirement shall be determined.

[a] Substituted by A. O. for "local official Gazette."

Power of Bar Councils to make bye-laws.

7. The Bar Council may make bye-laws consistent with this Act and any rules made thereunder to provide for any of the following matters, namely :

- (a) the appointment of such ministerial officers and servants as the Bar Council may deem necessary, and the pay and allowances and other conditions of service of such officers and servants; and
- (b) the appointment and constitution of Committees of the Council, the procedure of such Committees, and the determination of the powers or duties of the Council which may be delegated to such Committees.

Admission and enrolment of advocates.

Enrolment of advocates.

8. (1) No person shall be entitled as of right to practise in any High Court, unless his name is entered in the roll of the advocates of the High Court maintained under this Act :

Provided that nothing in this sub-section shall apply to any attorney of the High Court.

(2) The High Court shall prepare and maintain a roll of advocates of the High Court in which shall be entered the names of —

- (a) all persons who were, as advocates, vakils or pleaders, entitled as of right to practise in the High Court immediately before the date on which this section comes into force in respect thereof; and
- (b) all other persons who have been admitted to be advocates of the High Court under this Act :

Section 6 — Note 1.

[1] The powers conferred by this section and rules made thereunder relate to the first Bar Council as well as to its successors. (Vol 23) 1936 Sind 75 (76) (S B).

[2] Statutory body must follow law strictly to which it owes its existence and rules framed thereunder. (Vol 22) 1935 All 295 (299) (S T).

[3] When the Bar Council approved of certain rules and subsequently the High Court sanctioned them but the Bar Council did not again pass those rules it was held that though the omission to strictly follow the provisions of S. 6 (2) was regrettable, it did not amount to an illegality. (Vol 22) 1935 All 295 (297).

[4] A Court will set aside an election only if it is not an election in substance conducted under existing election law. (Vol 22) 1935 All 295 (298).

Section 8 — Note 1.

[1] See also Legal Practitioners Act, 1879, Ss. 4 and 41.

[2] See S. 38 of the Legal Practitioners Act, 1879, by which it is now, inter alia, provided that except as provided by S. 36 (power to frame and publish lists of

Provided that such persons shall have paid in respect of enrolment the stamp-duty, if any, chargeable under the Indian Stamp Act, 1899, and a fee, payable to the Bar Council, which shall be ten rupees in the case of the persons referred to in clause (a), and in other cases such amount as may be prescribed.

^a[(3)] Entries in the roll shall be made in the order of seniority, and such seniority shall be determined as follows namely :—

- (a) all such persons as are referred to in clause (a) of sub-section (2) shall be entered first in the order in which they were respectively entitled to seniority inter se immediately before the date on which this section comes into force in respect of the High Court; and
- (b) the seniority of any other person admitted to be an advocate of the High Court under this Act after that date shall be determined by the date of his admission or, if he is a barrister, by the date of his admission or the date on which he was called to the Bar, whichever date is earlier :

Provided that, for the purposes of clause (b), the seniority of a person who before his admission to be an advocate was entitled as of right to practise in another High Court shall be determined by the date on which he became so entitled.

(4) The respective rights of pre-audience of advocates of the High Court shall be determined by seniority :

Provided that the Advocate-General shall have pre-audience over all other advocates, and King's Counsel shall have pre-audience over all advocates except the Advocate-General.]

^b[(5)] The High Court shall issue a certificate of enrolment to every person enrolled under this section.

^b[(6)] The High Court shall send to the Bar Council a copy of the roll as prepared under this section, and shall thereafter communicate to the Bar Council all alterations in, and additions to, the roll as soon as the same have been made.

^b[(7)] The Bar Council shall enter in the copy of the roll all alterations and additions so communicated to it.

[a] Sub-sections (3) and (4) were inserted by the Indian Bar Councils (Amendment) Act, 1927 (13 [XIII] of 1927), S. 2. [b] Sub-sections (3), (4) and (5) were re-numbered as sub-sections (5), (6) and (7) respectively by S. 2, ibid.

9. (1) The Bar Council may, with the previous sanction of the High Court, make rules to regulate the admission of persons to be advocates of the High Court :

Provided that such rules shall not limit or in any way affect the power of the High Court to refuse admission to any person at its discretion.

Section 8 (contd.)

touts), nothing in that Act applies to persons enrolled as advocates of any High Court under the Indian Bar Councils Act, 1926.

[3] Weight should be attached to recommendations of Bar Council regarding enrolment of legal practitioners. (Vol 17) 1930 All 22 (22).

[4] In the absence of any reciprocal arrangement between the two High Courts, an advocate of the Rangoon High Court cannot claim admission to the Madras High Court under R. 1 (u) of the Madras High Court Rules. Having, however, obtained the law degree of the Rangoon University at a time when that University was a University established by law in British India, the petitioner could claim admission under R. 1 (i). (Vol 29) 1942 Mad 455 (456); ILR (1942) Mad 663 (SB).

[5] An agent with a power-of-attorney to appear and conduct judicial proceedings but not so authorized by the High Court has no right of audience on behalf of the principal either on the appellate or the original side nor is he entitled to notice. Such an agent is not under the disciplinary control of any Court. If he carries on business as a solicitor or attorney he becomes liable. Even a single instance may amount to carrying on business or practice. (Vol 24) 1937 Mad 937 (937-940) : I L R (1938) Mad 12.

[6] The expression "Advocate-General" in sub-section (4) includes the Acting Advocate-General. (Vol 19) 1932 Bom 71 (73) (F B).

Section 9 — Note 1.

[1] A legal practitioner's conduct may prevent his enrolment as advocate though it may not be such as to deserve suspension or removal or exclusion from subordinate Courts. (Vol 17) 1930 Oudh 121 (123) : 5 Luck 615.

[2] Admission as an advocate may be refused on the objection of the Bar Council if it acts honestly and without prejudice. However, the Bar Council must be convinced that the member of profession does not deserve to be enrolled as advocate before refusing admission. (Vol 17) 1930 Oudh 121 (123) : 5 Luck 615.

[3] Under the Bar Council Rules (Allahabad), R. 1, Benares State Chief Court is neither a High Court nor a Court subordinate to the High Court. Hence, a pleader practising in that Court is not entitled to be enrolled as an advocate of the High Court. (Vol 17) 1930 All 91 (91).

[4] High Court referred to in the Bar Council Rules (Allahabad), R. 1, is a chartered High Court. (Vol 17) 1930 All 91 (91).

[5] The clause "practised in one or more of the Court subordinate to the Allahabad High Court" as

(2) In particular and without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing power, such rules shall provide for the following matters, namely:—

- (a) the qualifications to be possessed by persons applying for admission as advocates;
- (b) the form and manner in which applications shall be made to the High Court for admission;
- (c) the giving of notice by the High Court to the Bar Council of all such applications;
- (d) the hearing by the High Court of any objection preferred on behalf of the Bar Council to the admission of any applicant; and
- (e) the charging of fees payable to the Bar Council in respect of enrolment.

(3) Rules made under this section shall provide that no woman shall be disqualified for admission to be an advocate by reason only of her sex.

(4) Nothing in this section or in any other provision of this Act shall be deemed to limit or in any way affect the powers of the High Courts of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal and at Bombay to prescribe the qualifications to be possessed by persons applying to practise in those High Courts respectively in the exercise of their original jurisdiction or the powers of those High Courts to grant or refuse, as they think fit, any such application ^a[or to prescribe the conditions under which such persons shall be entitled to practise or plead].

[a] Inserted by the Indian Bar Councils (Amendment) Act, 1927 (13 [XIII] of 1927), S. 3.

Misconduct.

10. (1) The High Court may, in the manner hereinafter provided, reprimand, suspend or remove from practice any advocate of the High Court whom it finds guilty of professional or other misconduct.

(2) Upon receipt of a complaint made to it by any Court or by the Bar Council or by any other person that any such advocate has been guilty of misconduct, the High Court shall, if it does not summarily reject the complaint, refer the case for inquiry either to the Bar Council or, after consultation with the Bar Council, to the Court of a District Judge (hereinafter referred to as a District Court) and may of its own motion so refer any case in which it has otherwise reason to believe that any such advocate has been so guilty.

PROVINCIAL AMENDMENT.

C. P. and Berar.—(i) In sub-section (1) for the words "whom it finds guilty of professional or other misconduct" substitute the words "who is found guilty of professional misconduct or is convicted of any criminal offence implying a defect of character which unfits him to be such advocate."

(ii) In sub-section (2) — (a) for the word "misconduct" substitute the words "professional misconduct or has been convicted of any criminal offence implying a defect of character which unfits him to be an advocate." (b) at the end of this sub-section after the words "so guilty" add the words "or convicted."

— C. P. AND BERAR ACT, XXIV of 1939. [8-9-1939].

Section 9 (contd.)

used in the rules framed under S. 9 means "practised in one of the Courts in this province." (Vol 17) 1930 All 887 (888).

[6] Therefore, the Courts in Ajmer are not Courts subordinate to the Allahabad High Court and a practitioner in Ajmer cannot be enrolled. (Vol 17) 1930 All 887 (888).

[7] Expression "Advocate of not less than ten years' standing in Oudh" in R. 285, Oudh Chief Court Civil Rules, Chap. VII, should be interpreted to mean an advocate of the Chief Court who is of not less than ten years' standing as an advocate in Oudh. (Vol 23) 1936 Oudh 115 (116) : 11 Luck 583.

[8] An application for admission as advocate is required to be accompanied by a diploma or a certificate or other proof that the applicant has taken the degree and not merely certificate from the District Court. (Vol 22) 1935 Sind 196 (196).

[9] Under the Rules by Karachi Bar Council an application for enrolment as an advocate will be dismissed in absence of receipt for payment of fees. (Vol 22) 1935 Sind 180 (182).

[10] Advocates on the appellate side of the Bombay High Court were held not to fall under the definition of the term "pleader" in S. 4 (1) (r), Criminal P. C., quoad the High Court Sessions inasmuch as they are not pleaders authorized by law to practise in that Court. Hence, they cannot practise in the High Court Sessions. (Vol 21) 1934 Bom 70 (71) : 58 Bom 456 (FB).

SECTION 10 — SYNOPSIS.

1. Conviction.
2. Discretion of Court.
3. Disciplinary action.
4. Duty towards clients.
5. Misconduct — Evidence and proof.
6. Misconduct — General.
7. Misconduct — Instances.
8. Nature of proceedings.
9. Reference to Bar Council.

1. Conviction. — [1] Conviction for criminal offence is evidence of misconduct. (Vol 22) 1935 P C 168 (168) : 62 I A 235 : 59 Bom 676 (PC); (Vol 23) 1936 Cal 158 (160) : 37 Cri L Jour 534 : 63 Cal 867 (SB); (Vol 33) 1946 Mad 247 (248) (FB).

[2] The mere fact that the person has been convicted of criminal offence does not make it imperative on Court to strike him off the roll. The Court may take into consideration the fact that the conviction rested not on direct but on merely circumstantial evidence. (Vol 18) 1931 Oudh 161 (165) : 32 Cri L Jour 625.

2. Discretion of Court. — [1] There is no justification for restricting the natural meaning of the words 'professional or other misconduct' in S. 10 (1). The Court has jurisdiction to take action in all cases of misconduct. The law leaves it to the discretion of the Court to take action only in suitable cases. (Vol 22) 1985 Bom 1 (3) : 59 Bom 57 (F B).

[2] The words 'professional or other misconduct' in S. 10 (1) should be read in their plain and natural meaning. The Legislature intended to confer on the Court jurisdiction to take action in all cases of misconduct, whether in a professional or other capacity. The word "may" in sub-s. (1) leaves a discretion to Court to take action in suitable cases only. With regard to the exercise of the Court's discretion there is no hard and fast rule, but the discretion must be exercised judicially. (Vol 23) 1936 Cal 158 (159, 160) : 37 Cri L Jour 534 : 63 Cal 867 (S B).

[3] Exercise of discretion in matter of disciplinary action is not such matter as can be considered by Privy Council. (Vol 22) 1935 P C 168 (169) : 62 I A 235 : 59 Bom 676 (P C).

3. Disciplinary action. — [1] As a general rule the only step which can be taken against an Advocate who abuses his privilege is disciplinary action by Court. (Vol 19) 1932 Bom 199 (201).

[2] Disciplinary jurisdiction of Court should not be employed either to aid or to supplement ordinary criminal law of the land. (Vol 23) 1936 Cal 158 (160) : 37 Cri L Jour 534 : 63 Cal 867.

[3] Though it is proper that all Judicial Officers should keep a vigilant eye on the conduct of the legal practitioners, it should, at the same time, be borne in mind that permanent and undeserved harm may be caused to the reputation of the legal practitioner if ill-considered proceedings are taken against him. (Vol 18) 1931 All 580 (581) : 33 Cri L Jour 260.

[4] All criminal offences do not call for disciplinary measures. Conviction for sedition does not necessarily involve removal or suspension of advocate. Court should consider facts on which conviction is based. (Vol 23) 1936 Cal 158 (160, 161) : 37 Cri L Jour 534 : 63 Cal 867.

[5] No power to exercise inherent disciplinary jurisdiction over legal practitioners independently of the Legal Practitioners Act and the Indian Bar Councils Act now exists in the Allahabad High Court. (Vol 17) 1930 All 225 (234) : 52 All 619.

[6] Advocate convicted for criminal breach of trust in respect of large amount and for attempt to cheat and dishonestly inducing another to part with security should be removed from roll. (Vol 22) 1935 Rang 458 (459, 460) : 37 Cri L Jour 200.

[7] Pleader defaming police officer by alleging that he had taken money from accused and referred case as undetectable. Pleader's action does not involve such a degree of moral turpitude as to warrant the Court in imposing the severe penalty of suspension from practice — Reprimand is sufficient. (Vol 33) 1946 Mad 247 (248) (F B).

4. Duty towards clients. — [1] An Advocate consulted by one party is perfectly free to appear for other party, unless first party has conveyed to him any confidential information which could be used against that party. (See R. 3 framed by the Bar Council of the Allahabad High Court.) The onus of proving that confidential information was conveyed lies heavily upon the party. (Vol 27) 1940 All 233 (235) : ILR (1940) All 262.

[2] In order to prevent counsel appearing for the other party, he must have a definite retainer, with a fee paid, or he must have confidential instructions from one of the parties. (Vol 21) 1934 Oudh 58 (59) (F B).

[3] Where an advocate was guilty of two plain cases of fraud against his client but the amounts involved were not large the High Court suspended the advocate from practice for a period of two years. (Vol 18) 1931 Bom 557 (560).

[4] An advocate engaged to file a suit entrusted the plaint to his unregistered clerk who failed to file it and retained the unused court-fee stamp. The dispute between the parties was compromised and the suit was agreed to be withdrawn. The failure of the advocate to return to the client the refund for the unused stamp and other money and to account was held to be a gross misconduct. (Vol 25) 1938 Rang 423 (425) : 40 Cri L Jour 58 (S B).

[5] The name of an advocate guilty of even temporary misappropriation of his client's money will be removed from roll of advocates. (1937) 1937 M W N 1322 (1324) (F B).

5. Misconduct — Evidence and proof. — [1] Where proceedings are taken before the High Court for taking disciplinary action against the advocate who is convicted for a criminal offence it is not incumbent on the Advocate-General to adduce evidence of the grounds on which the conviction is based. It is for the Court to see whether the conviction for offence committed renders advocate unfit for exercise of his profession. And it is for the impugned advocate to adduce considerations which might induce High Court to refrain from taking disciplinary action. (Vol 22) 1935 P C 168 (169) : 62 I. A. 235 : 59 Bom 676 (P C).

[2] Charges of professional misconduct must be clearly proved; error of judgment or indiscretion is no misconduct. (Vol 21) 1934 Oudh 58 (59) (F B).

[3] In a proceeding under S. 12 started against advocate convicted of perjury, the High Court has no jurisdiction to reconsider entire bulk of evidence on which conviction is based. It can however look into nature of offence to consider propriety of order or measure of disciplinary sentence. (Vol 18) 1931 Oudh 161 (162, 163) : 32 Cri L Jour 625 (F B).

6. Misconduct — General. — [1] The jurisdiction under the Bar Councils Act is one which ought to be circumspectly exercised. A distinction should be drawn between misconduct of a purely professional character and misconduct which also lies within the ambit of the criminal law. In the former case, a special tribunal under the Bar Councils Act is a proper one to deal with purely professional misconduct. But it cannot usurp the functions of a Criminal or Civil Court merely because the person complained against is an advocate and the complaint being a matter connected with his professional practice. A charge of misappropriation is a matter which should be dealt with under S. 10, only after the complainant has taken steps in the ordinary Courts. Should a charge be materialised then it will be possible for him to approach the High Court again under the Bar Councils Act. (Vol 28) 1941 All 280 (280, 281) : 42 Cri L Jour 623 : I L R (1941) All 592 (S B).

[2] There are two tests for considering whether an advocate should be struck off the roll of advocates on the ground of misconduct. The misconduct must be such as to show that he is unworthy of remaining in the profession or he must appear to be unfit to perform the duties of an advocate. The two tests are to be read disjunctively and are applicable to both suspension and reprimand of advocates. (Vol 23) 1936 Cal 158 (160) : 37 Cri L Jour 534 : 63 Cal 867; (Vol 21) 1934 Rang 33 (34) : 12 Rang 110.

11. (1) Where any case is referred for inquiry to the Bar Council under section 10, the case Tribunal of Bar Council, shall be inquired into by a Committee of the Bar Council (hereinafter referred to as the Tribunal).

(2) The Tribunal shall consist of not less than three and not more than five members of the Bar Council appointed for the purpose of the inquiry by the Chief Justice or Chief Judge of the High Court, and one of the members so appointed shall be appointed to be the President of the Tribunal.

Section 10 (contd.)

[3] 'Misconduct' is a sufficiently wide expression; it is not necessary that it should involve moral turpitude. Any conduct which in any way renders a man unfit for the exercise of his profession or is "likely to tamper or embarrass the administration of justice by High Court or any of the Courts subordinate thereto" may be considered to be misconduct calling for disciplinary action. (Vol 28) 1941 Bom 228 (230); 42 Cri L Jour 723; 1 L R (1941) Bom 548.

[4] An advocate or pleader is punishable in his professional capacity for misconduct other than professional misconduct. The intention of the Legislature in this respect is clear from S. 10, sub-s. (1) of the Bar Councils Act. (Vol 20) 1933 All 224 (225) : 55 All 148.

[5] Court can take disciplinary action though such misconduct may not be committed in professional capacity. (Vol 22) 1935 P C 168 (168) : 62 I A 235 : 59 Bom 676 (PC).

[6] See also Legal Practitioners Act, 1879, Sections 12 and 13.

7. Misconduct — Instances. — [1] Communal remark by counsel can be complained against for taking action against him. (Vol 23) 1936 Sind 49 (50) : 37 Cri L Jour 733.

[2] Perjury is an offence the gravity of which cannot be minimised. But it has many degrees of gravity and there may be several factors, extenuating the gravity of the offence. (Vol 18) 1931 Oudh 161 (166) : 32 Cri L Jour 625.

[3] Where an advocate makes false allegations against Judicial Officers in a personal capacity, he should not be dealt with under the Bar Councils Act. An advocate was charged with having verified an application falsely and endeavoured to deceive the Court. He was not acting for a client in this matter but in his personal capacity in his own litigation. It was held that suspension of the advocate for three calendar months would be sufficient punishment. (Vol 19) 1932 All 492 (494) : 54 All 912 (SB).

[4] The purchase of a speculative interest in a contemplated litigation by the advocate, benami in the name of his mother, and producing false evidence in support of it, amounts to misconduct which renders him unfit to be a member of the legal profession. (Vol 30) 1943 Oudh 159 (163) : 44 Cri L Jour 197.

[5] Conduct of an advocate agreeing to take his remuneration out of the proceeds of suit only if suit is successful amounts to professional misconduct. (Vol 26) 1939 Mad 772 (774) : 41 Cri L Jour 83 : 1 L R (1940) Mad 17.

[6] The carrying on of a trade or business is ordinarily inconsistent with the practice of the profession of an advocate. Hence the conduct of an advocate carrying on a trade or business as a partner of a firm amounts to professional misconduct. (Vol 23) 1936 Oudh 18 (19, 20) : 11 Luck 477. (Advocate undertaking to suspend practice — Requirements of case can be met by mere expression of disapproval.)

[7] Advocate convicted for submitting false return of income and setting false defence must be struck off the rolls of the High Court. (Vol 21) 1934 Rang 33 (34) : 12 Rang 110.

[8] Advocate stooping to bribe Judge to get judgment in client's favour is guilty of gross professional misconduct. (Vol 22) 1935 Rang 178 (180) : 36 Cri L Jour 961 : 13 Rang 518.

[9] Letter by advocate addressed to clerk in Magistrate's office asking that application filed by him should be dealt with urgently is improper. (Vol 28) 1941 Mad 230 (231) : 42 Cri L Jour 602 : ILR (1941) Mad 354 (SB). (Advocate apologising — Only censure for his conduct was thought enough.)

[10] As to whether the conduct of an advocate amounts to misconduct when he commits an irregularity in accepting a vakalatnama in that he fails to comply with the rules framed by the High Court, see the case in. (Vol 24) 1937 Pat 433 (434) : 16 Pat 438 : 38 Cri L Jour 926 (SB).

8. Nature of proceedings. — [1] Proceedings under S. 10 of the Act, respecting misconduct of advocate are judicial, and orders for costs can be passed. (Vol 21) 1934 All 898 (901) : 56 All 702.

[2] Case of misconduct against advocate under Bar Councils Act must proceed on an inquiry. (Vol 18) 1931 Oudh 161 (165) : 32 Cri L Jour 625.

[3] When an advocate is accused of a grave criminal offence, to deal with him under the Bar Councils Act for misconduct before his prosecution is altogether improper. (Vol 19) 1932 Mad 131 (133) : 32 Cri L Jour 1065 : 54 Mad 857.

[4] Under the Bar Councils Act, the Court, when a complaint is made, can only dismiss it summarily or refer it to a Tribunal of the Bar Council to inquire into; and the Court should not dismiss a petition summarily unless the allegations do not make out any case. (Vol 19) 1932 Bom 199 (201).

[5] Where an advocate is convicted for an offence the proceedings for striking off his name from roll are not in the nature of second trial but Court has to see whether he should continue to be member of profession. (Vol 22) 1935 Rang 458 (459) : 37 Cri L Jour 200.

9. Reference to Bar Council. — [1] Where a complaint has been referred to the Bar Council to be enquired into by a tribunal, it is incumbent upon the tribunal to come to some finding or other and it cannot abandon the proceeding merely for want of prosecution. (Vol 17) 1930 Cal 574 (575) : 57 Cal 724.

[2] Per Buckland J. — Bar Council is in the position of a trustee and guardian of the dignity and privileges of the Bar and the rights and duties of its members. When a charge is made against an advocate it should either be cleared or brought home to him. (Vol 17) 1930 Cal 574 (575) : 57 Cal 724.

Section 11 — Note

[1] When a case is referred to the Bar Council under this section for enquiry into the conduct of an advocate it is the duty of the Council to enquire into the matter and to record a finding on the materials produced before it irrespective of any finding on the point recorded by a Civil Court. The finding of the Civil Court is not conclusive in the enquiry before the Bar Council. (Vol 22) 1935 All 1023 (1031, 1032) : 37 Cri L Jour 217 (SB).

12. (1) The High Court shall make rules to prescribe the procedure to be followed by Procedure in inquiries. Tribunals and by District Courts, respectively, in the conduct of inquiries referred under section 10.

(2) The finding of a Tribunal on an inquiry referred to the Bar Council under section 10 shall be forwarded to the High Court through the Bar Council, and the finding of a District Court on such an inquiry shall be forwarded direct to the High Court which shall cause a copy thereof to be sent to the Bar Council.

(3) On receipt of the finding, the High Court shall fix a date for the hearing of the case and shall cause notice of the day so fixed to be given to the advocate concerned and to the Bar Council and to the Advocate-General, and shall afford the advocate concerned and the Bar Council and the Advocate-General an opportunity of being heard before orders are passed in the case.

(4) The High Court may thereafter either pass such final orders in the case as it thinks fit or refer it back for further inquiry to the Tribunal through the Bar Council or to the District Court, as the case may be, and, upon receipt of the finding after such further inquiry, deal with the case in the manner provided in sub-section (3) and pass final orders thereon.

(5) In passing final orders the High Court may pass such order as regards the payment of the costs of the inquiry and of the hearing in the High Court as it thinks fit.

(6) The High Court may, of its own motion or on application made to it in this behalf, review any order passed under sub-section (4) or sub-section (5) and maintain, vary or rescind the same, as it thinks fit.

(7) When any advocate is reprimanded or suspended under this Act, a record of the punishment shall be entered against his name in the roll of advocates of the High Court, and when an advocate is removed from practice his name shall forthwith be struck off the roll; and the certificate of any advocate so suspended or removed shall be recalled.

SECTION 12 — SYNOPSIS

1. Section 12 (1).

2. Section 12 (3).

3. Section 12 (4).

4. Section 12 (5).

5. Section 12 (6).

1. Section 12 (1).— [1] Where a special jurisdiction is conferred upon District Judge, he cannot delegate it to his assistants not so empowered. (Vol 24) 1937 Sind 98 (98) : 38 Cri L Jour 664.

[2] Under R. 1 of the Madras Rules it is obligatory upon the tribunal or Court to which a case is referred for inquiry under S. 10 (2) of the Act to frame a formal charge. Failure to frame a charge vitiates the whole of the proceedings. (Vol 31) 1944 Mad 247 (248) : I L R (1944) Mad 397 : 46 Cri L Jour 311 (F B).

[3] The direction in R. 7 of the Madras High Court Rules, that all the members of the tribunal shall sign their findings is mandatory. If a member of the tribunal dies before the report has been drawn up and signed, its report cannot be considered. Another tribunal must be constituted to proceed. (Vol 29) 1942 Mad 267 (268) : I L R (1942) Mad 428 (S B).

2. Section 12 (3). — [1] A Bench of three Judges is competent to hear an enquiry into the conduct of an advocate under S. 10, Letters Patent. (Vol 19) 1932 Mad 131 (137) : 32 Cri L Jour 1085 : 54 Mad 857.

[2] Under S. 12 the correct procedure is for the Advocate-General to open by submitting the report of the Tribunal to the Court, then the advocate concerned is entitled to be heard and then the Advocate-General will have a right to reply. The original petitioner is not entitled to be noticed and heard. (Vol 18) 1931 Bom 557 (558).

3. Section 12 (4). — [1] The question whether an advocate has violated the recognised canons of professional etiquette primarily concerns the Bar Council; hence the High Court usually accepts the findings of the Bar Tribunal on questions of fact unless the findings are perverse. (Vol 27) 1940 All 1 (3) : I L R (1940) All 60 : 41 Cri L Jour 211 (F B); (Vol 22) 1935 All 503 (503) (S B).

[2] Where the Tribunal constituted under Act has made a careful investigation, the High Court will not interfere. (Vol 18) 1931 Cal 680 (681) (S B).

[3] High Court is not bound by finding of the Bar Council. (Vol 22) 1935 All 425 (429) (S B).

[4] Where the members of a Tribunal of the Bar Council differ in their opinions, the High Court is entitled to consider the reports and findings both of the majority and the minority of the Tribunal. (Vol 19) 1932 Mad 131 (136) : 54 Mad 857 : 32 Cri L Jour 1085.

[5] High Court is not in any way fettered by report of the Tribunal of Bar Council and may go into the facts for itself and disagree with those findings. Though the greatest weight has to be attached to the findings in such report its value is lessened if it is not unanimous or is ambiguous. It is not necessary to send it back to the Tribunal if the Court has no doubt as to the order that it should pass in the case. (Vol 20) 1933 Rang 10 (12, 13).

[6] In proceeding against legal practitioner High Court can consider case on evidence and arrive at different conclusion to that of Bar Tribunal. (1930) 1930 M W N 216 (220).

[7] Finding of Tribunal not clear as to question of moral delinquency — Case should be sent back to Tribunal. (Vol 22) 1935 Cal 484 (487, 488) : 62 Cal 158 : 36 Cri L Jour 1130 (S B).

[8] Where the Tribunal had not in terms dealt with the charges of professional misconduct and gross misconduct but disposed of those charges by saying that there had been no misappropriation and also that there was gross negligence on the part of the advocate. Held that it was difficult under the circumstances to take any action under S. 10 (1). (Vol 22) 1935 Cal 484 (486, 487) : 62 Cal 158 : 36 Cri L Jour 1130 (S B).

[9] The contention that the finding of the Bar Council Tribunal can be reversed by a Bench of the

13. (1) For the purposes of any such inquiry as aforesaid, a Tribunal or a District Court Powers of the Tribunal shall have the same powers as are vested in a Court under the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, in respect of the following matters, namely:—

- (a) enforcing the attendance of any person and examining him upon oath,
- (b) compelling the production of documents, and
- (c) issuing commissions for the examination of witnesses:

Provided that the Tribunal shall not have power to require the attendance of the presiding officer of any Court save with the previous sanction of the High Court or, in the case of an officer of a Criminal or Revenue Court, of the ^a[Provincial Government].

(2) Every such inquiry shall be deemed to be a judicial proceeding within the meaning of sections 193 and 228 of the Indian Penal Code; and a Tribunal shall be deemed to be a Civil Court for the purposes of sections 480, 482 and 485 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898.

(3) For the purpose of enforcing the attendance of any person and examining him upon oath or of compelling the production of documents or of issuing commissions—

- (a) the local limits of the jurisdiction of a Tribunal shall be those of the jurisdiction of the High Court by which the Tribunal has been constituted; and
- (b) a Tribunal may send to any Civil Court having jurisdiction in the place where the Tribunal is sitting any summons or other process for the attendance of a witness or the production of a document required by the Tribunal, or any commission which it desires to issue, and the Civil Court shall serve such process or issue such commission, as the case may be, and may enforce any such process as if it were a process for attendance or production before itself.

(4) Proceedings before a Tribunal or a District Court in any such inquiry shall be deemed to be civil proceedings for the purposes of section 132 of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872, and the provisions of that section shall apply accordingly.

Miscellaneous.

Right of advocates to practise.

14. (1) An advocate shall be entitled as of right to practise—

- (a) subject to the provisions of sub-section (4) of section 9, in the High Court of which he is an advocate, and
- (b) save as otherwise provided by sub-section (2) or by or under any other law for the time being in force in any other Court in British India and before any other Tribunal or person legally authorised to take evidence, and
- (c) before any other authority or person before whom such advocate is by or under the law for the time being in force entitled to practise.

[3] For allowing the appearance of advocates of other High Courts, Chief Justice is to use judicial discretion. The right of an advocate of any particular Bar to appear in other High Courts does not exist as a matter of right. The Chief Justice will see whether good reasons have been shown in any particular case. The following may be considered : (1) that the advocate has from the very beginning made a complete study of the case; or (2) that the litigant has his normal residence and carries on his normal business in another province and lawyer of that other province is familiar with his business; (3) a third circumstance may be the great magnitude of a case, the fact that it raises some extremely new and important questions of principle and of the jurisdiction. But the high position of the accused

(2) Where rules have been made by any High Court within the meaning of clause (24) of section 3 of the General Clauses Act, 1897, or in the case of a High Court for which a Bar Council has been constituted under this Act, by such Bar Council under section 15, regulating the conditions subject to which advocates of other High Courts may be permitted to practise in the High Court, such advocates shall not be entitled to practise therein otherwise than subject to such conditions.

(3) Nothing in this section shall be deemed to limit or in any way affect the power of the High Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal or of the High Court of Judicature at Bombay to make rules determining the persons who shall be entitled respectively to plead and to act in the High Court in the exercise of its original jurisdiction.

15. A Bar Council may, with the previous sanction of the High Court for which it is constituted, make rules consistent with this Act to provide for and regulate any of the following matters, namely:—

- General power of Bar Councils to make rules.*
- (a) the rights and duties of the advocates of the High Court and their discipline and professional conduct;
 - (b) the conditions subject to which advocates of other High Courts may be permitted to practise in the High Court;
 - (c) the giving of facilities for legal education and training and the holding and conduct of examinations by the Bar Council;
 - (d) the charging of fees payable to the Bar Council in respect of the enjoyment of educational facilities provided, or of the right to appear at examinations held, by the Bar Council;
 - (e) the investment and management of the funds of the Bar Council; and
 - (f) any other matter in respect of which the High Court may require rules to be made under this section.

16. The High Court shall make rules for fixing and regulating by taxation or otherwise the fees payable as costs by any party in respect of the fees of his adversary's advocate upon all proceedings in the High Court or in any Court subordinate thereto.

Power to fix fees payable as costs.

17. No suit or other legal proceeding shall lie against a Bar Council or any Committee, Tribunal or member of a Bar Council for any act in good faith done or intended to be done in pursuance of the provisions of this Act or of any legal proceedings.

18. All rules made under this Act shall be published in the ^a[Official Gazette] of the Province, or of each Province, as the case may be, in which the High Court, by which or with whose sanction the rules are made, exercises jurisdiction.

or that it is contempt of Court case is no good reason for granting permission. (Vol 24) 1937 Pat 122 (122, 123, 124) : 38 Cri L Jour 392.

[4] An advocate enrolled by any High Court has a right to practise in the Subordinate Courts of the Madras Presidency provided there is no law which prohibits him from doing so. Section 4 of the Legal Practitioners Act does not apply in such cases. There is no bar to an advocate of the Bombay High Court practising in the Subordinate Courts of Madras. (Vol 52) 1945 Mad 144 (144) : 1 L R (1945) Mad 464.

[5] An advocate's right of audience depends on the right given by S. 14. This right 'save as otherwise provided by any other law for the time being in force' includes the right of audience before any tribunal or person legally authorised to take evidence. But the advocate's right of audience is necessarily inseparable from his client's right to appear by advocate before a particular tribunal. If the client is expressly denied the privilege of being heard by counsel, the Bar Councils Act will not save him from the disability. (Vol 24) 1937 Mad 735 (741) : ILR (1938) Mad 127.

Section 15 — Note

[1] Whether the particular dealings made by an advocate constitute money-lending business depends on facts of each case. Investment of savings by an advocate do not necessarily constitute engagement in money-lending business but investments by way of loan and made as a matter of course for gain amount to engagement in money-lending business. (Vol 27) 1940 All 1 (2) : 41 Cri L Jour 211 : ILR (1940) All 60 (FB).

Section 16 — Note 1.

[1] See also Legal Practitioners Act, 1879, Section 27.

Section 18 — Note 1.

[1] One of the grounds on which a statutory rule or a bye-law may be treated as ultra vires is that it has not been made, sanctioned and published in the manner prescribed by the statute. Section 18, Bar Councils Act, provides that all rules made under this Act shall be published in the official Gazette of the province in which the High Court exercises jurisdiction. But it does not make the publication a condition precedent to their coming into force. Where the Bar Council had approved of the rules before they received the sanction of the High Court but the Bar Council did not pass those rules after the sanction : Held, that the omission strictly to follow the provisions of the law as laid down in S. 6 (2) did not amount to an illegality, but only an irregularity. (Vol 22) 1935 All 295 (297) (ST).

19. (1) When sections 8 to 16 come into force in respect of any High Court, any enactment mentioned in the first column of the Schedule which is in force in any Province in which the High Court exercises jurisdiction shall, for the purpose of its application to that Province, be amended to the extent and in the manner specified in the second column of the Schedule.

(2) When sections 8 to 16 come into force in respect of any High Court of Judicature established by Letters Patent, this Act shall have effect in respect of such Court notwithstanding anything contained in such Letters Patent, and such Letters Patent shall, in so far as they are inconsistent with this Act or any rules made thereunder, be deemed to have been repealed.

(3) When sections 8 to 16 come into force in respect of the High Court of Judicature at Bombay, the Bombay Pleaders' Act, 1920, except section 7 thereof, shall cease to apply to or in respect of any person enrolled as an advocate of the High Court under this Act, and nothing in that Act shall be deemed to authorise the admission or enrolment of any person as a vakil or pleader of the High Court.

(4) When this Act has come into force in respect of any High Court, any provision of any other enactment or any order, scheme, rule, form or bye-law made thereunder, which was before that date applicable to advocates, vakils or pleaders entitled to practise in such High Court, shall, unless such a construction is repugnant to the context or to any provision made by or under this Act, be construed as applying to advocates of the High Court enrolled under this Act.

Section 19 — Note 1.

[1] Notice issued by High Court after the Act comes into force is ultra vires and a nullity — Procedure in S. 10 must be followed. (Vol 15) 1928 All 439 (439) : 29 Cri L Jour 998 : 51 All 76 (FB).

[2] Section 38 of the Legal Practitioners Act, 1879, runs as follows : "Except as provided by Ss. 4, 5, 7, 16,

25, 27, 32 and 36, nothing in this Act applies to advocates, vakils and attorneys admitted and enrolled by any High Court under the Letters Patent by which such Court is constituted, or to mukhtars practising in such Court or to advocates enrolled under S. 41 of this Act and, except as provided by S. 36, nothing in this Act applies to persons enrolled as advocates of any High Court under the Indian Bar Councils Act, 1926."

BERAR LAWS ACT, 1941

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

"Though the provisions of many Central Acts are applicable to Berar, this result does not flow from the British Indian Act itself being proprio vigore operative in Berar but is achieved by the application to Berar by order made under the Indian (Foreign Jurisdiction) Order in Council, 1902, of each such Act, often with certain modifications of the form in which the Act is in force in British India. Certain administrative inconveniences result from this. The Act as in force in British India is distinct from the Act as in force in Berar, the former being an enactment applying proprio vigore to British India but not to Berar, the latter consisting of the provisions of the British Indian Act made applicable to Berar by order under the Foreign Jurisdiction Order but not applicable to British India. Notifications and statutory Rules issued under identical provisions, operative both in British India and in Berar, have accordingly to be issued separately for British India and for Berar, and a similar dual process must attend any subsequent amendment of such notifications and rules. The repeal in British India of an Act made applicable to Berar does not automatically make the Act inoperative in Berar.

2. Since the commencement of Part III of the Government of India Act, 1935, on the 1st April, 1937, Berar and the Central Provinces have been deemed to be one Governor's Province, and an Act passed after that date and expressed to extend to the whole of British India does extend proprio vigore to Berar.

3. The primary object of the present Bill is to assimilate the position of Central Acts passed before the 1st day of April, 1937, to that of those passed after that date and automatically in force in Berar, that is to say, by means of one comprehensive enactment to extend to and make operative proprio vigore in Berar Central Acts passed before the commencement of Part III of the Government of India Act, 1935, while simultaneously nullifying the orders under the Foreign Jurisdiction Order in Council by virtue of which those Acts are operative in Berar. It is possible, now that the legislative competence of the Central Legislature is confined to matters enumerated in List I and List III of the Seventh Schedule to the Government of India Act, 1935, to achieve the result aimed at only in part by legislation in the Central legislature. So far as the Central Legislature is incompetent to achieve the result completely, because the subject-matter of the Act to be extended is included in List II, it is anticipated that this Central legislation will be supplemented by Provincial legislation, and that the Central Act and the Provincial Act will come into operation simultaneously, each thus completing what the other left incomplete. Accordingly the Acts to be extended to Berar are grouped in two separate Schedules, Schedules I and II, according as their subject-matter is relatable solely to List I and List III or only partly to those Lists and partly to List II.

4. In addition to Central Acts the provisions of which are already applicable to Berar by virtue of orders under the Foreign Jurisdiction Order in Council, Schedules I and II also contain a few Acts which it seems advisable to take the opportunity afforded by the Bill to extend to Berar.

5. One Act, the Indian Cotton Cess Act, 1923, which was made operative proprio vigore in Berar by the Government of India (Adaptation of Indian Laws) Order, 1937, is also still operative by virtue of an order under the Foreign Jurisdiction Order in Council. This Act has received special treatment in clause 3 of the present Bill.

6. Two Acts, the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, and the Indian Limitation Act, 1908, require small modifications when operative in Berar owing to the fact that a special law, the Berar Small Cause Courts Law, 1905, takes the place of the Provincial Small Cause Courts Act, 1887, in Berar. These modifications have been effected in the Third Schedule to the Bill. The Fourth Schedule contains a list of Acts in regard to which doubts might arise whether they are or are not still operative in Berar. They were at one time applied to Berar, and on the repeal or expiry of the Acts in British India no overt action was taken to cancel the notifications by which their provisions were applied to Berar." — Gazette of India, 1940, Part V page 247.

ACT NO. IV of 1941.^a

[17th March 1941.]

An Act to extend certain Acts to Berar.

WHEREAS by orders made under the Indian (Foreign Jurisdiction) Order in Council, 1902, the provisions of certain Acts in force in British India have from time to time been applied to, and are now, by virtue of such application, in force, in Berar;

AND WHEREAS it is expedient that those and certain other Acts should be extended to, and be, by virtue of such extension, in force, in Berar;

It is hereby enacted as follows:—

[a] For Report of Select Committee, see Gazette of India, 1941, Pt. V, p. 50.

Short title and commencement.

1. (1) This act may be called the BERAR LAWS ACT, 1941.

(2) It shall come into force on such ^adate as the Central Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, appoint.

[a] The 1st August 1941, see Gazette of India, 1941, Pt. I, p. 966.

2. (1) The Acts specified in the First Schedule and so much of any Act specified in the Second Schedule as relates to matters with respect to which the Central Legislature has power to make laws are hereby extended to, and shall be in force in, Berar; and in any enactment so extended any reference by whatever form of words to subjects of His Majesty shall be deemed to include a reference to Berari subjects of His Exalted Highness the Nizam of Hyderabad, and notwithstanding anything contained in clause (7) of section 3 of the General Clauses Act, 1897, any reference to British India shall be construed as a reference to British India and Berar.

(2) The Acts specified in the Third Schedule shall be amended in the manner set forth in the second column of that Schedule.

3. The application, if any, to Berar, made by order under the Indian (Foreign Jurisdiction) Cesser of application of Order in Council, 1902, of the Acts specified in the First Schedule, of so certain Acts to Berar. much of any Act specified in the Second Schedule as relates to matters with respect to which the Central Legislature has power to make laws, and of the Indian Cotton Cess Act, 1923 (XIV of 1923), shall cease to have effect :

Provided that all appointments, delegations, notifications, orders, bye-laws, rules and regulations, which have been made or issued under, or in pursuance of, any provision of any of the said Acts as applied to Berar by order under the said Order in Council, and which are in force at the commencement of this Act, shall be deemed to have been made or issued under or in pursuance of the corresponding provision of that Act as now extended to, and in force in, Berar.

4. For the removal of doubt it is hereby declared that the Acts specified in the Fourth Schedule have ceased to have effect and are repealed in Berar.

ACT IX of 1856.^b

[11th April 1856.]

An Act to amend the Law relating to Bills of Lading.

WHEREAS by the custom of merchants a bill of lading of goods being transferable by Preamble. endorsement, the property in the goods may thereby pass to the endorsee, but nevertheless all rights in respect of the contract contained in the bill of lading continue in the original shipper, or owner, and it is expedient that such rights should pass with the property; And whereas it frequently happens that the goods in respect of which bills of lading purport to be signed have not been laden on board, and it is proper that such bills of lading in the hands of a bona fide holder for value should not be questioned by the master or other person signing the same, on the ground of the goods not having been laden as aforesaid; it is enacted as follows:—

[a] This title has been given by the Indian Short Titles Act, 1897 (14 [XIV] of 1897). [b] This Act is based on the Bills of Lading Act, 1855 (18 and 19 Vict. c. 111). Act IX of 1856 has been declared to be in force in the whole of British India, except the Scheduled Districts, by the Laws Local Extent Act (15 [XV] of 1874), Section 3.

It has been declared by notification under S. 3 (a) of the Scheduled Districts Act (14 [XIV] of 1874), to be in force in the following Scheduled Districts:—

Sindh	See Gazette of India	...	1880, Pt. I., p. 672.
West Jalpaiguri	Ditto	...	1881, Pt. I., p. 74.
The Districts of Hazaribagh, Lohardaga (now the Ranchi District, see Calcutta Gazette , 1899, Pt. I, p. 44) and Manbhum, and Pargana Dhalbhum, and the Kolhan in the District of Singhbhum
The District of Sylhat	Ditto	...	1881, Pt. I., p. 504.
The rest of Assam (except the North Lushai Hills)	Ditto	...	1879, Pt. I., p. 681.
			Ditto	...	1897, Pt. I., p. 299.

1. Every consignee of goods named in a bill of lading, and every endorsee of a bill of lading

Rights under bills of lading to whom the property in the goods therein mentioned shall pass, upon to vest in consignee or or by reason of such consignment or endorsement, shall have transferred endorsee. to and vested in him all rights of suit, and be subject to the same liabilities in respect of such goods as if the contract contained in the bill of lading had been made with himself.

2. Nothing herein contained shall prejudice or affect any right of stoppage in transitu,^a or

Not to affect right of any right to claim freight against the original shipper or owner, or any stoppage in transitu or liability of the consignee or endorsee by reason or in consequence of his claims for freight. being such consignee or endorsee, or of his receipt of the goods by reason or in consequence of such consignment or endorsement.

[a] As to stoppage in transit, see the Indian Contract Act, 1872 (9 [IX] of 1872), Ss. 99-106 (now see Sale of Goods Act, 1930 (3 [III] of 1930), Ss. 50-52).

3. Every bill of lading in the hands of a consignee or endorsee for valuable consideration,

Bill of lading in hands of consignee, &c., conclusive evidence of the shipment as against master, &c. representing goods to have been shipped on board a vessel, shall be conclusive evidence of such shipment as against the master or other person signing the same, notwithstanding that such goods or some part thereof may not have been so shipped, unless such holder of the bill of lading shall have had actual notice at the time of receiving the same that the goods had not in fact been laden on board:

Provided that the master or other person so signing may exonerate himself in respect of such Proviso. misrepresentation, by showing that it was caused without any default on his part, and wholly by the fraud of the shipper or of the holder, or some person under whom the holder claims.

Sections 1 to 3 — Notes

[1] The object of the Act is to provide for cases where the goods have not been shipped at all. Its application is limited to endorsee to whom property in the goods shall pass by reason of such endorsement. (1909) 3 Sind L R 203 (206).

The bill of lading is symbol of the right of property in the goods specified therein. Its possession is equivalent to the possession of the goods themselves, and its transfer, being symbolical, delivery of the goods themselves has, by mercantile usage, the same effect as an actual delivery in the circumstances. RULES.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

"It is proposed by this Bill (i) to establish a system of voluntary registration of births and deaths for the benefit of such classes of the community as would be likely to avail themselves of such registration, (ii) to establish general registry offices for keeping registers of the births and deaths so registered, and of marriages registered under Act III of 1872 or the Indian Christian Marriage Act, 1872 (XV of 1872) and (iii) to provide machinery for giving evidential value to certain existing registers of births, baptisms, deaths, burials and marriages, which have been kept under no law.

2. The subject of the registration of births and deaths among Europeans in India has been long under the consideration of the Government, whose attention has, moreover, been frequently directed to it by memorials from various Christian religious bodies urging very strongly the need for legislation.

3. The Indian Statute-Book contains at present no general law for the registration of births and deaths. There are indeed, enactments which provide for the registration of births and deaths within certain specified areas, principally municipalities and cantonments, but, in the first place these enactments are strictly local in their nature, leaving the greater portion of the country unprovided for, and, in the next place, their provisions, being directed primarily to statistical purposes, are not of such a nature as to make the registers of births and deaths kept under them of value for purposes of evidence.

4. As to the numerous registers of baptisms and burials which are kept by ministers of religion in all parts of the country, it is doubtful how far they can be relied on for giving accurately the requisite particulars as to births and deaths, and most of them would, moreover, be inadmissible in evidence.

5. This being the state of the law, and considering the importance of the subject generally, and the memorials above referred to, and having regard to the fact that references are frequently made to the Secretary of State for India and to the Government of India for proof of age or of deaths in connection with questions involving large individual interests, such as rights to property, the Government of India is of opinion that it is expedient to enact a permissive law under which full facilities for registering births and deaths should be given to persons valuing unimpeachable evidence of these events.

6. As to the second object of the Bill, it is obvious that no system of registration of births and deaths can be complete or of practical value unless it provides for the establishment, at certain centres, of general offices where the information registered at the various local offices shall be collected and so arranged as to be readily available for public reference.

7. In this connection, the attention of the Government of India has been directed to the unsatisfactory nature of the system of registration of marriages under the Indian Christian Marriage Act, 1872, and Act III of 1872.

Documentary evidence of all marriages under the former Act is, by the provisions of the Act or the orders thereunder, sent to the Secretary of the Local Government who is also empowered to grant certified copies which are receivable in evidence. It would seem, therefore, at first sight, that nothing further was required. But as a matter of fact, not only are no arrangements made for maintaining an index to the marriages the records of which are retained in the local Secretariat, but the greater portion of the marriage records which are received in the local Secretariat have, under section 81 of the Act and the orders in force, to be sent on in original to the Government of India in the Home Department for transmission to the Secretary of State, so that the greater number of the marriage records which reach the local Secretariat do not remain there for purposes of reference and such as do remain are, owing to the absence of an index, practically valueless.

As to Act III of 1872, this Act makes no provision for the marriages solemnized under it being reported to any central authority. The marriage certificate books for which it provides are retained by the Registrar who is not even required to index them. Their value as records of marriage to which they refer is accordingly much diminished.

8. The Government of India have, therefore, availed themselves of the opportunity of the proposed legislation for the registration of births and deaths to remove these defects in the marriage registration law, by providing for general registry offices for keeping registers, not only of the births and deaths which may be registered under the present law, but also of marriages which may be registered under Act III of 1872 or the Indian Christian Marriage Act, 1872."

ACT NO. VI of 1886.^a

[8th March 1886.]

An Act to provide for the voluntary Registration of certain Births and Deaths, for the establishment of General Registry Offices for keeping Registers of certain Births, Deaths and Marriages, and for certain other purposes.

WHEREAS it is expedient to provide for the voluntary registration of births and deaths among certain classes of persons, for the more effectual registration of those births and deaths and of the marriages registered under Act III of 1872,^b or the Indian Christian Marriage Act, 1872, and of certain marriages registered under the Parsi Marriage and Divorce Act, 1865, and for the establishment of general registry offices for keeping registers of those births, deaths and marriages;

AND WHEREAS it is also expedient to provide for the authentication and custody of certain existing registers made otherwise than in the performance of a duty specially enjoined by the law of the country in which the registers were kept, and to declare that copies of the entries in those registers shall be admissible in evidence;

It is hereby enacted as follows :—

[a] For Report of the Select Committee, see Gazette of India, 1886, Pt. IV, p. 103; and for proceedings in Council, see ibid, 1885, Supplement, pp. 14 and 87, and ibid, 1886, p. 290. [b] Special Marriage Act, 3 [III] of 1872.

CHAPTER II.

GENERAL REGISTRY OFFICES OF BIRTHS, DEATHS AND MARRIAGES.

Establishment of general registry offices and appointment of Registrars General.

6. (1) Each ^a[Provincial Government]—

(a) shall establish^b a general registry office for keeping such certified copies of registers of births and deaths registered under this Act, or marriages registered under Act III of 1872 (to provide a form of marriage in certain cases) or the Indian Christian Marriage Act, 1872, or, beyond the local limits of the ordinary original civil jurisdiction of the High Court of Judicature at Bombay, under the Parsi Marriage and Divorce Act, 1865,^c as may be sent to it under this Act, or under any of the three last-mentioned Acts, as amended by this Act; and

(b) may appoint^d to the charge of that office an officer, to be called the Registrar General of Births, Deaths and Marriages, for the territories under its administration.

^e[* * * *]

[a] Substituted by A. O. for "Local Government." [b] For General Registry Offices established for different provinces, see local Rules and Orders for; Delhi, see Gazette of India, 1912, Pt. [e] Sub-section (2) was repealed by A. O.

7. Each Registrar General of Births, Deaths and Marriages shall cause indexes of all the certified copies of registers sent to his office under this Act, or under Act III of 1872, the Indian Christian Marriage Act, 1872, or the Parsi Marriage and Divorce Act, 1865^a as amended by this Act, to be made and kept in his office in the prescribed form.

[a] See now the Parsi Marriage and Divorce Act, 1936 (3 [III] of 1936.)

8. Subject to the payment of the prescribed fees, the indexes so made shall be at all reasonable times open to inspection by any person applying to inspect them, and copies of entries in the certified copies of the registers to which the indexes relate shall be given to all persons applying for them.

9. A copy of an entry given under the last foregoing section shall be certified by the Registrar General of Births, Deaths and Marriages, or by an officer authorized^a in this behalf by the ^b[Provincial Government], and shall be admissible in evidence for the purpose of proving the birth, death or marriage to which the entry relates.

[a] For such authorizations, see local Rules and Orders. [b] Substituted by A. O. for "Local Government".

10. Each Registrar General of Births, Deaths and Marriages shall exercise a general superintendence over the Registrars of Births and Deaths in the territories for which he is appointed.

CHAPTER III.

REGISTRATION OF BIRTHS AND DEATHS.

A.—Application of this Chapter.

Persons whose births and deaths are registrable. 11. (1) The persons whose births and deaths shall, in the first instance, be registrable under this Chapter are the following, namely:—

(a) in British India, the members of every race, sect or tribe to which the Indian Succession Act, 1865,^a applies, and in respect of which an order under section 392 of that Act is not for the time being in force, and all persons professing the Christian religion;

(b) in ^b[Indian States], British subjects being members of a like race, sect or tribe or professing the Christian religion.

(2) But the ^c[Provincial Government], by notification in the Official Gazette, may ^d[* * * *] extend the operation of this Chapter to any other class of persons either generally or in any local area.

[a] See now the Indian Succession Act, 1925 (39 [XXXIX] of 1925), S. 3. [b] Substituted by A. O. for "the dominions of Princes and States in India in alliance with Her Majesty". [c] Substituted by A. O. for "Local Government". [d] The words "with the previous approval of the Governor-General of India in Council" were omitted by the Devolution Act, 1920 (38 [XXXVIII] of 1920), S. 2 and Sch. I.

B.—Registration Establishment.

^a12. The ^b[Provincial Government] may appoint, either by name or by virtue of their office, so many persons as it thinks necessary to be Registrars of Births and Deaths for such local areas within the territories under its administration as it may define and, if it sees fit, for any class of persons within any part of those territories.

[a] As to Registrars appointed under this section, see different local Rules and Orders, and General Rules and Orders, Vol. II, P. 559. [b] Substituted by A. O. for "Local Government".

13. The ^a[Central Government] may, by notification in the ^b[Official Gazette], appoint, either by name or by virtue of their office, so many persons as ^c[it] thinks necessary to be ^dRegistrars of Births and Deaths for such local areas within ^e[any Indian State] as ^f[it] may define and, if ^g[it] sees fit, for any class of persons within any part of ^h[those States].

Registrar to be deemed a public servant. 14. Every Registrar of Births and Deaths shall be deemed to be a public servant within the meaning of the Indian Penal Code.

15. [Power to remove Registrars.] Repealed by the A. O.

Office and attendance of Registrar. 16. (1) Every Registrar of Births and Deaths shall have an office in the local area, or within the part of the territories or dominions, for which he is appointed.

(2) Every Registrar of Births and Deaths to whom the ^a[Provincial Government] may direct this sub-section to apply shall attend at his office for the purpose of registering births and deaths on such days and at such hours as the Registrar General of Births, Deaths and Marriages may direct, and shall cause to be placed in some conspicuous place on or near the outer door of his office his name, with the addition of Registrar of Births and Deaths for the local area or class for which he is appointed, and the days and hours of his attendance.

[a] Substituted by A. O. for "Local Government".

17. (1) When any Registrar of Births and Deaths to whom the ^a[Provincial Government] may direct this section to apply^b, not being a Registrar of Births and Deaths for a local area ^c[in the town of Calcutta or Madras or in the city of Bombay], is absent, or when his office is temporarily vacant, any person whom the Registrar General of Births, Deaths and Marriages appoints in this behalf, or, in default of such appointment, the Judge of the District Court within the local limits of whose jurisdiction the Registrar's office is situate, or such other officer as the ^a[Provincial Government] appoints in this behalf, shall be the Registrar of Births and Deaths during such absence or until the ^a[Provincial Government] fills the vacancy.

(2) When any such Registrar of Births and Deaths for a local area ^c[in the town of Calcutta or Madras or in the city of Bombay] is absent, or when his office is temporarily vacant, any person whom the Registrar General of Births, Deaths and Marriages appoints in this behalf shall be the Registrar of Births and Deaths during such absence or until the ^a[Provincial Government] fills the vacancy.

Sections 12 and 13 — Note

"By Sections 12 and 13, we have proposed to enable Local Government in British India, and the Governor-General in Council in States in India in alliance with Her Majesty, to appoint Registrars of Births and Deaths for classes of persons as well as for local areas. It will thus be practicable to appoint ministers of religion to be Registrars of Births and Deaths for their own congregations only without imposing on them duties for which they might have neither leisure nor inclination." — Select Committee Report.

(3) The Registrar General of Births, Deaths and Marriages shall report to the ^a[Provincial Government] all appointments made by him under this section.

[a] Substituted by A. O. for "local Government". [b] The section has been declared by the Government of Madras to apply to all Registrars appointed by that Government under S. 12, see Madras Rules and Orders,

[c] These words were substituted for "in the town of Calcutta, Madras or Bombay" by the Greater Bombay Laws and the Bombay High Court (Declaration of Limits) Act, 1945 (17 [XVII] of 1945), S. 9 and Sch. E. "City of Bombay" means the area within the local limits of the ordinary original civil jurisdiction of the High Court of Bombay immediately before the commencement of Bombay Act 17 [XVII] of 1945.—See ibid, S. 2 (1).

18. The ^a[Provincial Government] shall supply every Registrar of Births and Deaths with a sufficient number of register books of births and of register books of deaths, and shall make suitable provision for the preservation of the records connected with the registration of births and deaths.

[a] Substituted by A. O. for "Local Government".

C.—Mode of Registration.

19. Every Registrar of Births and Deaths, on receipt of notice of a birth or death within the local area or among the class for which he is appointed, shall, if the notice is given within the prescribed time and in the prescribed mode by a person authorized by this Act to give the notice, forthwith make an entry of the birth or death in the proper register book :

Provided that —

- (a) if he has reason to believe the notice to be in any respect false, he may refuse to register the birth or death until he receives an order from the Judge of the District Court directing him to make the entry and prescribing the manner in which the entry is to be made ; and
- (b) he shall not enter in the register the name of any person as father of an illegitimate child, unless at the request of the mother and of the person acknowledging himself to be the father of the child.

Persons authorised to give notice of birth.

20. Any of the following persons may give notice of a birth, namely :

- (a) the father or mother of the child ;
- (b) any person present at the birth ;
- (c) any person occupying, at the time of the birth, any part of the house wherein the child was born and having knowledge of the child having been born in the house ;
- (d) any medical practitioner in attendance after the birth and having personal knowledge of the birth having occurred ;
- (e) any person having charge of the child.

Persons authorized to give notice of death.

21. Any of the following persons may give notice of a death, namely : —

- (a) any relative of the deceased having knowledge of any of the particulars required to be registered concerning the death ;
- (b) any person present at the death ;
- (c) any person occupying, at the time of the death, any part of the house wherein the death occurred and having knowledge of the deceased having died in the house ;
- (d) any person in attendance during the last illness of the deceased ;
- (e) any person who has seen the body of the deceased after death.

Entry of birth or death to be signed by person giving notice.

22. (1) When an entry of a birth or death has been made by the Registrar of Births and Deaths under section 19, the person giving notice of the birth or death must sign the entry in the register in the presence of the Registrar :

^a[Provided that it shall not be necessary for the person giving notice to attend before the Registrar or to sign the entry in the register if he has given such notice in writing and has furnished to the satisfaction of the Registrar such evidence of his identity as may be required by any rules made by the ^b[Provincial Government] in this behalf.]

(2) Until the entry has been so signed ^a[for the conditions specified in the proviso to sub-section (1) have been complied with,] the birth or death shall not be deemed to be registered under this Act.

(3) When the birth of an illegitimate child is registered, and the mother and the person acknowledging himself to be the father of the child jointly request that that person may be registered as the father, the mother and that person must both sign the entry in the register in the presence of the Registrar.

[a] Inserted by the Births, Deaths and Marriages Registration (Amendment) Act, 1911 (9 [IX] of 1911), S. 2.
[b] Substituted by A. O. for "Local Government".

Grant of certificate of registration of birth or death. 23. The Registrar of Births and Deaths shall, on application made at the time of registering any birth or death by the person giving notice of the birth or death, and on payment by him of the prescribed fee, give to the applicant a certificate in the prescribed form, signed by the Registrar, of having registered the birth or death.

24. (1) Every Registrar of Births and Deaths in British India shall send to the Registrar General of Births, Deaths and Marriages for the territories within which the local area or class for which he is appointed is situate or resides, at the prescribed intervals, a true copy certified by him, in the prescribed form, of all the entries of births and deaths in the register book kept by him since the last of those intervals :

Duty of Registrars as to sending certified copies of entries in register books to Registrar General. Provided that in the case of Registrars of Births and Deaths who are clergymen of the Churches of England, Rome and Scotland, the Registrar may, if so directed by his ecclesiastical superior, send the certified copies in the first instance to that superior, who shall send them to the proper Registrar General of Births, Deaths and Marriages.

In this sub-section "Church of England" and "Church of Scotland" mean the Church of England and the Church of Scotland as by law established respectively ; and "Church of Rome" means the Church which regards the Pope of Rome as its spiritual head.

(2) The provisions of sub-section (1) shall apply to every Registrar of Births and Deaths in ^a[any Indian State] with this modification that the certified copies referred to in that sub-section shall be sent to such one of the Registrars General of Births, Deaths and Marriages as the ^b[Central Government], by notification^c in the ^d[Official Gazette], appoints in this behalf.

25. (1) Every Registrar of Births and Deaths shall, on payment of the prescribed fees, at all Searches and copies of entries in register books. reasonable times, allow searches to be made in the register books kept by him, and give a copy of any entry in the same.

(2) Every copy of an entry in a register book given under this section shall be certified by the Registrar of Births and Deaths and shall be admissible in evidence for the purpose of proving the birth or death to which the entry relates.

26. Notwithstanding anything in section 19, the ^a[Provincial Government] may make rules^b Exceptional provision for registration of certain births and deaths. authorizing Registrars of Births and Deaths, on conditions and in circumstances to be specified in the rules, to register births and deaths occurring outside the local areas or classes for which they are appointed.

Section 26 — Note 1.

Events occurring in the course of journeys, or in places for which Registrars of Births and Deaths have not been appointed may, by the rules framed under this section be, made registrable. See Select Committee Report.

D.—Penalty for False Information.

27. If any person wilfully makes, or causes to be made for the purpose of being inserted in any register of births or deaths, any false statement in connection with any notice of a birth or death under this Act, he shall be punished with imprisonment for a term which may extend to three years, or with fine, or with both.

E. — Correction of Errors.

28. (1) If it is proved to the satisfaction of a Registrar of Births and Deaths that any entry in a birth or death in any register kept by him under this Act is erroneous in form or substance, he may, subject to such rules^a as may be made by the ^b[Provincial Government] with respect to the conditions and circumstances on and in which errors may be corrected, correct the error by entry in the margin, without any alteration of the original entry, and shall sign the marginal entry and add thereto the date of the correction.

(2) If a certified copy of the entry has already been sent to the Registrar General of Births, Deaths and Marriages, the Registrar of Births and Deaths shall make and send a separate certified copy of the original erroneous entry and of the marginal correction therein made.

and shall deliver to the Registrar General a descriptive list or descriptive lists of all such registers or records, or portions of registers or records, as they find to be accurate and faithful.

(2) The list or lists shall contain the prescribed particulars and refer to the registers or records, or to the portions of the registers or records, in the prescribed manner.

(3) The Commissioners shall also certify^a in writing, upon some part of every separate book or volume containing any such register or record, or portion of a register or record, as is referred to in any list or lists made by the Commissioners, that it is one of the registers or records, or portions of registers or records, referred to in the said list or lists.

[a] The certificates in writing required by S. 34 (3) shall be signed by not less than two Commissioners.—No. 306 dated 4-3-1892, Gazette of India, 1892, Pt. I, page 123.

35. (1) Subject to the payment of the prescribed fees,^a the descriptive list or lists of registers or records, or portions of registers or records, delivered by the Searches of list prepared by Commissioners and grant of certified copies of entries. Commissioners to the Registrar General of Births, Deaths and Marriages shall be, at all reasonable times, open to inspection by any person applying to inspect it or them, and copies of entries in those registers or records shall be given to all persons applying for them.

(2) A copy of an entry given under this section shall be certified by the Registrar General of Births, Deaths and Marriages, or by an officer or person^b authorized in this behalf by the ^c[Provincial Government] and shall be admissible in evidence for the purpose of proving the birth, baptism, naming, dedication, death, burial or marriage to which the entry relates.

CHAPTER VI.

RULES.

36. (1) The Provincial Government, for each Province, and the Central Government, for Rules. British subjects in Indian States, may make rules to carry out the purposes of this Act].

(2) In particular and without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing power, such rules may—

(a) fix the fees payable under this Act;

- (b) prescribe the forms required for the purposes of this Act;
 - (c) prescribe the time within which, and the mode in which, persons authorized under this Act to give notice of a birth or death to a Registrar of Births and Deaths must give the notice;
 - (d) prescribe the evidence of identity to be furnished to a Registrar of Births and Deaths by persons giving notice of a birth or death in cases where personal attendance before such Registrar is dispensed with;
 - (e) prescribe the registers to be kept and the form and manner in which Registrars of Births and Deaths are to register births and deaths under this Act, and the intervals at which they are to send to the Registrar General of Births, Deaths and Marriages true copies of the entries of births and deaths in the registers kept by them;
 - (f) prescribe the conditions and circumstances on and in which Registrars of Births and Deaths may correct entries of births and deaths in registers kept by them;
 - (g) prescribe the particulars which the descriptive list or lists to be prepared by the Commissioners appointed under Chapter V are to contain, and the manner in which they are to refer to the registers or records, or portions of registers or records, to which they relate; and
 - (h) prescribe the custody in which those registers or records are to be kept.
- (3) Every power to make rules conferred by this Act is subject to the condition of the rules being made after previous publication.
- (4) All rules made under this Act shall be published in the "Official Gazette", and on such publication shall have effect as if enacted in this Act.]

THE SCHEDULE. [Repealed.]

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

"Under the Devolution Rules the regulation of boilers is a provincial subject, subject to legislation by the Indian Legislature. There are at present seven Provincial Boiler Acts; some of them were framed many years ago and are out of date, and all of them are inconsistent with each other. The result is that different rules are enforced in different provinces, and the anomalous position has been reached that a boiler which is allowed to work up to a certain pressure in one province can only be worked to a much lower pressure when transferred to another province. Further in the interest of safety a boiler requires regular inspection in whatever province it may be situated, and it is wrong that in certain provinces no boiler law should be in force at all. The object therefore of the present legislation is :— (a) to secure uniformity throughout India in all technical matters connected with boiler regulations, e. g., standards of construction, maximum pressure, and (b) to insist on the registration and regular inspection of all boilers throughout India.

This object can only be attained by an all-India Act, with uniform regulations throughout the country; under the Devolution Rules, as explained above, it is the function of the Central Government to promulgate such an Act.

2. The subject being a highly technical one a Committee of three persons including two boiler experts was appointed to examine the existing provincial laws and to put forward proposals for an all-India Act, based on the provisions of these laws brought up to date and co-ordinated. The report of this Committee has been published and the views of Local Governments obtained upon it.

The Bill which is now presented to the Assembly is the result of their recommendations as modified after consideration of the views of Local Governments.

3. The only important respect in which the Bill diverges from certain of the existing Acts is with regard to certificated boiler attendants. It is only in a few provinces that boiler attendants are required to possess certificates of competency. The Industrial Commission recommended that this requirement was unnecessary, a recommendation which the Boiler Laws Committee endorsed, and in which Local Governments, including those now insisting on certificates, have unanimously agreed."

ACT NO. V of 1923.^a

[23rd February 1923.]

An Act to consolidate and amend the law relating to steam-boilers.

Whereas it is expedient to consolidate and amend the law relating to steam-boilers; it is hereby enacted as follows :—

[a] For Report of Joint Committee, see Gazette of India, 1923, Pt. V, p. 15.

Short title, extent and commencement.

1. (1). This Act may be called the INDIAN BOILERS ACT, 1923.

(2) It extends to the whole of British India, including British Baluchistan and the Sonthal Parganas.

(3) It shall come into force on such date^a as the ^b[Central Government,] may, by notification in the ^c[Official Gazette], appoint.

[a] This Act came into force on 1st January 1924, see General Rules and Orders, Vol. V, p. 134. [b] Substituted by A. O. for "Governor-General in Council." [c] Substituted by A. O. for "Gazette of India".

Definitions. 2. In this Act, unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context, —

(a) "accident" means an explosion of a boiler or steam-pipe or any damage to a boiler or steam-pipe which is calculated to weaken the strength thereof so as to render it liable to explode;

^a[(aa) "Board" means the Central Boilers Board constituted under section 27A;]

[a] Inserted by the Indian Boilers (Amendment) Act, 1937 (11 [XI] of 1937), S. 3.

(b) "boiler" means any closed vessel exceeding five gallons in capacity which is used expressly for generating steam under pressure ^a[* * *] and includes any mounting or other fitting attached to such vessel, which is wholly or partly under pressure when steam is shut off;

[a] Words "for use outside such vessel" were repealed by the Indian Boilers (Amendment) Act, 1929 (9 [IX] of 1929), S. 2.

Section 2 (b)—Note 1.

[1] The word "expressly" does not denote that the steam generated under pressure must be used as steam under pressure. The ultimate use is immaterial. The fact that the steam was used for cleaning vessels will not take a vessel generating steam under pressure out of the category of boilers. (Vol 26) 1939 All 697 (697) : ILR (1939) All 883 : 41 Cri L Jour 26.

(c) "Chief-Inspector" and "Inspector" mean, respectively, a person appointed to be a Chief Inspector and an Inspector under this Act ;

^a[(cc) "feed pipe" means any pipe or connected fitting wholly or partly under pressure through which feed-water passes directly to a boiler;]

[a] Clause (cc) was inserted by the Indian Boilers (Amendment) Act, 1943 (17 [XVII] 1943), S. 2, [13-8-1943].

(d) "owner" includes any person using a boiler as agent of the owner thereof and any person using a boiler which he has hired or obtained on loan from the owner thereof;

(e) "prescribed" means prescribed by regulations or rules made under this Act;

(f) "steam-pipe" means any main pipe exceeding three inches in internal diameter through which steam passes directly from a boiler to a prime-mover or other first user, and includes any connected fitting of a steam-pipe; and

(g) "structural alteration, addition or renewal" shall not be deemed to include any renewal or replacement of a petty nature when the part or fitting used for replacement is not inferior in strength, efficiency or otherwise to the replaced part or fitting.

^a[2A. Every reference in this Act (except where the word 'steam-pipe' is used in clause (f) of Application of Act section 2), to a steam-pipe or steam-pipes shall be deemed to include also a reference to a feed-pipe or feed-pipes respectively.]

[a] Inserted by the Indian Boilers (Amendment) Act, 1943 (17 [XVII] of 1943), S. 3, [13-8-43].

Limitation of application.

3. (1) Nothing in this Act shall apply in the case of any boiler or steam-pipe—

(a) in any steamship as defined in section 3 of the ^aIndian Steamships Act, 1884, or in any steam-vessel as defined in section 2 of the Indian steam-vessels Act, 1917 ; or

(b) belonging to or under the control of His Majesty's Navy or ^b[the Royal Indian Navy] ; ^c[or

(c) appertaining to a sterilizer or disinfector of a type such as is commonly used in hospitals, if the boiler does not exceed twenty gallons in capacity;]

(2) The ^d[Safety Controlling Authority] may, by notification in the ^e[Official Gazette], declare that the provisions of this Act shall not apply in the case of boilers or steam-pipes, or of any specified class of boilers or steam-pipes, belonging to or under the control of any railways^f administered ^g[by the Federal Railway Authority or by any Provincial Government] or by any railway company as defined in clause (5) of section 3 of the Indian Railways Act, 1890.

^h[In this sub-section, "Safety Controlling Authority" has the same meaning as in the Indian Railways Act, 1890.]

[a] See now the Indian Merchant Shipping Act, 1923, (21³[XXI] of 1923), S. 2. [b] Substituted by A. O. for "the Royal Indian Marine Service." [c] Word "or" at the end of clause (b) was added and clause (c) was inserted by the Indian Boilers (Amendment) Act, 1942 (5 [V] of 1942), S. 2. [2-3-42.] [d] Substituted by A. O. for "Governor-General in Council." [e] Substituted by A. O. for "Gazette of India." [f] For list of railways, notified under this section, see General Rules and Orders, Vol V, p. 134. [g] Substituted by A. O. for "by the Government". [h] Inserted by A. O.

4. The ^a[Provincial Government] may, by notification in the ^b[Official Gazette], exclude^c any Power to limit extent. specified area from the operation of all or any specified provisions of this Act.

[a] Substituted by A. O. for "Governor-General in Council." [b] Substituted by A. O. for "Gazette of India." [c] The Andaman and Nicobar islands have been excluded from the operation of the provisions of this Act, see General Rules and Orders, Vol V, p. 135.

5. (1) The ^a[Provincial Government] may appoint such persons as it thinks fit to be Appointment of Chief Inspectors for the Province for the purposes of this Act, and may define Inspectors and Inspectors. the local limits within which each Inspector shall exercise the powers and perform the duties conferred and imposed on Inspectors by or under this Act.

Section 2 (d) — Note 1.

[1] The definition of "owner" is inclusive. It extends the dictionary meaning of word by including persons mentioned therein and does not restrict the meaning to only such persons. (Vol 24) 1937 Pat 500 (500) : 16 Pat 495 : 38 Cri L Jour 1054.

Section 3 — Note 1.

[1] "The boilers used on ordinary steam-ships are already subject to a law which ensures proper inspection, and boilers used on His Majesty's ships are always in the charge of competent engineers. It is, therefore, unnecessary to bring these classes of boilers within the scope of the Act. Similarly, as regards sub-clause (2), the boilers, used on the large, well organized railways are in charge of competent engineers and it would be a work of supererogation for the provincial boiler inspection staff to inspect such boilers : hence power is taken to exempt such railways. On the other hand, in the case of tramways and the smaller railway lines it may be desirable to provide for inspection by the provincial staff. Exemptions made under this clause will be specific in each case."—Statement of Objects and Reasons.

(2) The ^a[Provincial Government] shall likewise appoint a person to be Chief Inspector for the Province, who may, in addition to the powers and duties conferred or imposed on the Chief Inspector by or under this Act, exercise any power or perform any duty so conferred or imposed on Inspectors.

(3) Every Chief Inspector and every Inspector shall be deemed to be a public servant within the meaning of the Indian Penal Code.

[a] Substituted by A. O. for "Local Government."

Prohibition of use of unregistered or uncertificated boiler.

6. Save as otherwise expressly provided in this Act, no owner of a boiler shall use the boiler or permit it to be used —

- (a) unless it has been registered in accordance with the provisions of this Act ;
- (b) in the case of any boiler which has been transferred from one Province to another, until the transfer has been reported in the prescribed manner ;
- (c) unless a certificate or provisional order authorising the use of the boiler is for the time being in force under this Act ;
- (d) at a pressure higher than the maximum pressure recorded in such certificate or provisional order ;
- (e) where the ^a[Provincial Government] has made rules requiring that boilers shall be in charge of persons holding certificates of competency, unless the boiler is in charge of a person holding the certificate required by such rules :

Provided that any boiler registered, or any boiler certified or licensed, under any Act hereby repealed shall be deemed to have been registered or certified, as the case may be, under this Act :

b[*] * * * * *

[a] Substituted by A. O. for "Local Government." [b] Second proviso was repealed by the Repealing and Amending Act, 1939 (34 [XXXIV] of 1939), S. 3 and Sch. II.

7. (1) The owner of any boiler which is not registered under the provisions of this Act may apply to the Inspector to have the boiler registered. Every such application shall be accompanied by the prescribed fee.

(2) On receipt of an application under sub-section (1), the Inspector shall fix a date, within thirty days or such shorter period as may be prescribed from the date of the receipt, for the examination of the boiler and shall give the owner thereof not less than ten days' notice of the date so fixed.

(3) On the said date the Inspector shall proceed to measure and examine the boiler and to determine in the prescribed manner the maximum pressure, if any, at which such boiler may be used, and shall report the result of the examination to the Chief Inspector in the prescribed form.

(4) The Chief Inspector, on receipt of the report, may —

- (a) register the boiler and assign a register number thereto either forthwith or after satisfying himself that any structural alteration, addition or renewal which he may deem necessary has been made in or to the boiler or any steam-pipe attached thereto, or
- (b) refuse to register the boiler :

Provided that where the Chief Inspector refuses to register a boiler, he shall forthwith communicate his refusal to the owner of the boiler together with the reasons therefor.

(5) The Chief Inspector shall, on registering the boiler, order the issue to the owner of a certificate in the prescribed form authorising the use of the boiler for a period not exceeding twelve months at a pressure not exceeding such maximum pressure as he thinks fit and as is in accordance with the regulations made under this Act.

(6) The Inspector shall forthwith convey to the owner of the boiler the orders of the Chief Inspector and shall in accordance therewith issue to the owner any certificate of which the issue has been ordered, and, where the boiler has been registered, the owner shall within the prescribed period cause the register number to be permanently marked thereon in the prescribed manner.

Section 7 — Note 1.

[1] "The intention is that all boilers which come within the definition shall be registered and that the scale of registration fees shall be uniform for the whole of India, though the fee payable will of course vary according to the size of the boiler. It is desirable that, on receipt of an application for registration, the Inspector should be bound by law to examine the boiler within a reasonable period: otherwise, the owner might be put to considerable loss and inconvenience in having to wait for a long time before bringing the boiler into use. It is essential too that the Inspector should give the owner ten days' notice of the date of his inspection as in the case of multitubular boilers, it takes ten days to make the boiler ready for inspection." — Statement of Objects and Reasons.

Renewal of certificate.

8. (1) A certificate authorising the use of a boiler shall cease to be in force —

- (a) on the expiry of the period for which it was granted; or
- (b) when any accident occurs to the boiler; or
- (c) when the boiler is moved, the boiler not being a vertical boiler the heating surface of which is less than two hundred square feet, or a portable or vehicular boiler; or
- (d) when any structural alteration, addition or renewal is made in or to the boiler; or
- (e) if the Chief Inspector in any particular case so directs, when any structural alteration, addition, or renewal is made in or to any steam-pipe, attached to the boiler; or
- (f) on the communication to the owner of the boiler of an order of the Chief Inspector or Inspector prohibiting its use on the ground that it or any steam-pipe attached thereto is in a dangerous condition.

(2) Where an order is made under clause f) of sub-section (1), the grounds on which the order is made shall be communicated to the owner with the order

(3) When a certificate ceases to be in force, the owner of the boiler may apply to the Inspector for a renewal thereof for such period not exceeding twelve months as he may specify in the application.

(4) An application under sub-section (3), shall be accompanied by the prescribed fee and, on receipt thereof, the Inspector shall fix a date, within thirty days or such shorter period as may be prescribed from the date of the receipt, for the examination of the boiler and shall give the owner thereof not less than ten day's notice of the date so fixed.

Provided that, where the certificate has ceased to be in force owing to the making of any structural alteration, addition or renewal, the Chief Inspector may dispense with the payment of any fee.

(5) On the said date the Inspector shall examine the boiler in the prescribed manner, and if he is satisfied that the boiler and the steam-pipe or steam-pipes attached thereto are in good condition shall issue a renewed certificate authorising the use of the boiler for such period not exceeding twelve months and at a pressure not exceeding such maximum pressure as he thinks fit and as is in accordance with the regulations made under this Act :

Provided that if the Inspector —

(a) proposes to issue any certificate —

- (i) having validity for a less period than the period entered in the application, or
- (ii) increasing or reducing the maximum pressure at which the boiler may be used, or

(b) proposes to order any structural alteration, addition or renewal to be made in or to the boiler or any steam-pipe attached thereto, or

(c) is of opinion that the boiler is not fit for use, the Inspector shall, within forty-eight hours of making the examination, inform the owner of the boiler in writing of his opinion and the reasons therefor, and shall forthwith report the case for orders to the Chief Inspector.

(6) The Chief Inspector, on receipt of a report under sub-section (5), may, subject to the provisions of this Act and of the regulations made hereunder, order the renewal of the certificate in such terms and on such conditions, if any, as he thinks fit, or may refuse to renew it :

Provided that where the Chief Inspector refuses to renew a certificate, he shall forthwith communicate his refusal to the owner of the boiler, together with the reasons therefor.

(7) Nothing in this section shall be deemed to prevent an owner of a boiler from applying for a renewed certificate therefor at any time during the currency of a certificate.

9. Where the Inspector reports the case of any boiler to the Chief Inspector under sub-section (3) of section 7, or sub-section (5) of section 8, he may, if the boiler is not a boiler the use of which has been prohibited under clause (f) of sub-section (1) of section 8, grant to the owner thereof a provisional order in writing permitting the boiler to be used at a pressure not exceeding such maximum pressure as he thinks fit and as is in accordance with the

Section 9—Note 1.

[1] "The object of the provisional order is to allow the owner to work the boiler in certain cases before the final orders of the Chief Inspector have been received.

This provision should obviate any inconvenience which might be experienced by the owner if the Chief Inspector was on tour and the reference to him or the receipt of his orders was delayed."—Statement of Objects and Reasons.

regulations made under this Act pending the receipt of the orders of the Chief Inspector. Such provisional order shall cease to be in force—

- (a) on the expiry of six months from the date on which it is granted, or,
- (b) on receipt of the orders of the Chief Inspector, or
- (c) in any of the cases referred to in clauses (b), (c), (d), (e) and (f) of sub-section (1) of section 8, and on so ceasing to be in force shall be surrendered to the Inspector.

10. (1) Notwithstanding anything hereinbefore contained, when the period of a certificate relating to a boiler has expired, the owner shall, provided that he has applied before the expiry of that period for a renewal of the certificate, be entitled to use the boiler at the maximum pressure entered in the former certificate pending the issue of orders on the application.

(2) Nothing in sub-section (1) shall be deemed to authorise the use of a boiler in any of the cases referred to in clauses (b), (c), (d), (e) and (f) of sub-section (1) of section 8 occurring after the expiry of the period of the certificate.

11. The Chief Inspector may at any time withdraw or revoke any certificate or provisional order on the report of an Inspector or otherwise —

- (a) if there is reason to believe that the certificate or provisional order has been fraudulently obtained or has been granted erroneously or without sufficient examination; or
- (b) if the boiler in respect of which it has been granted has sustained injury or has ceased to be in good condition; or
- (c) where the ^a[Provincial Government] has made rules requiring that boilers shall be in charge of persons holding certificates of competency, if the boiler is in charge of a person not holding the certificate required by such rules; or
- (d) where no such rules have been made, if the boiler is in charge of a person who is not, having regard to the condition of the boiler, in the opinion of the Chief Inspector competent to have charge thereof:

Provided that where the Chief Inspector withdraws or revokes a certificate or provisional order on the ground specified in clause (d), he shall communicate to the owner of the boiler his reasons in writing for the withdrawal or revocation, and the order shall not take effect until the expiry of thirty days from the receipt of such communication.

[a] Substituted by A. O. for "Local Government."

12. No structural alteration, addition or renewal shall be made in or to any boiler registered under this Act unless such alteration, addition or renewal has been sanctioned in writing by the Chief Inspector.

13. Before the owner of any boiler registered under this Act makes any structural alteration, addition or renewal in or to any steam-pipe attached to the boiler, he shall transmit to the Chief Inspector a report in writing of his intention, and shall send therewith such particulars of the proposed alteration, addition or renewal as may be prescribed.

14. (1) On any date fixed under this Act for the examination of a boiler, the owner thereof shall be bound —

- (a) to afford to the Inspector all reasonable facilities for the examination and all such information as may reasonably be required of him;
- (b) to have the boiler properly prepared and ready for examination in the prescribed manner; and
- (c) in the case of an application for the registration of a boiler, to provide such drawings, specification, certificates and other particulars as may be prescribed.

(2) If the owner fails, without reasonable cause, to comply with the provisions of sub-section (1), the Inspector shall refuse to make the examination and shall report the case to the Chief Inspector who shall, unless sufficient cause to the contrary is shown, require the owner to file a fresh application under section 7 or section 8, as the case may be, and may forbid him to use the boiler notwithstanding anything contained in section 10.

Section 12 — Note

[1] "The making of a structural alteration may seriously impair the strength of a boiler; it is necessary, therefore, that, when an owner intends to make such an alteration, the Chief Inspector should have knowledge of it."—Statement of Objects and Reasons.

15. The owner of any boiler who holds a certificate or provisional order relating thereto shall, Production of certificates, etc. at all reasonable times during the period for which the certificate or order is in force, be bound to produce the same when called upon to do so by a District Magistrate, Commissioner of Police or Magistrate of the first class having jurisdiction in the area in which the boiler is for the time being, or by the Chief Inspector or by an Inspector or by any Inspector appointed under the Indian Factories Act, 1911^a, or by any person specially authorised in writing by a District Magistrate or Commissioner of Police.

[a] See now the Indian Factories Act, 1934 (25 [XXV] of 1934).

16. If any person becomes the owner of a boiler during the period for which a certificate or Transfer of certificates, etc. provisional order relating thereto is in force, the preceding owner shall be bound to make over to him the certificate or provisional order.

17. An Inspector may, for the purpose of inspecting or examining a boiler or any steam-pipe Powers of entry. attached thereto or of seeing that any provision of this Act or of any regulation or rule made hereunder has been or is being observed, at all reasonable times enter any place or building within the limits of the area for which he has been appointed in which he has reason to believe that a boiler is in use.

18. (1) If any accident occurs to a boiler or steam-pipe, the owner or person in charge thereof Report of accidents. shall, within twenty-four hours of the accident, report the same in writing to the Inspector. Every such report shall contain a true description of the nature of the accident and of the injury, if any, caused thereby to the boiler or to the steam-pipe or to any person, and shall be in sufficient detail to enable the Inspector to judge of the gravity of the accident.

(2) Every person shall be bound to answer truly to the best of his knowledge and ability every question put to him in writing by the Inspector as to the cause, nature or extent of the accident.

Appeals to Chief Inspector.

19. Any person considering himself aggrieved by —

- (a) an order made or purporting to be made by an Inspector in the exercise of any power conferred by or under this Act, or
- (b) a refusal of an Inspector to make any order or to issue any certificate which he is required or enabled by or under this Act to make or issue, may, within thirty days from the date on which such order or refusal is communicated to him, appeal against the order or refusal to the Chief Inspector.

Appeals to appellate authority.

20. Any person considering himself aggrieved by an original or appellate order of the Chief Inspector—

- (a) refusing to register a boiler or to grant or renew a certificate in respect of a boiler; or
- (b) refusing to grant a certificate having validity for the full period applied for; or
- (c) refusing to grant a certificate authorising the use of a boiler at the maximum pressure desired; or
- (d) withdrawing or revoking a certificate or provisional order; or
- (e) reducing the amount or pressure specified in any certificate or the period for which such certificate has been granted; or
- (f) ordering any structural alteration, addition or renewal to be made in or to a boiler or steam-pipe or refusing sanction to the making of any structural alteration, addition or renewal in or to a boiler, may, within thirty days of the communication to him of such order, lodge with the Chief Inspector an appeal to an appellate authority to be constituted by the ^a[Provincial Government] under this Act.

[a] Substituted by A. O. for "Local Government."

21. An order of an appellate authority under section 20 and, save as otherwise provided in Finality of orders. sections 19 and 20, an order of the Chief Inspector or of an Inspector shall be final and shall not be called in question in any Court.

Minor penalties.

22. Any owner of a boiler who refuses or without reasonable excuse neglects—

- (i) to surrender a provisional order as required by section 9, or
- (ii) to produce a certificate or provisional order when duly called upon to do so under section 15, or
- (iii) to make over to the new owner of a boiler a certificate or provisional order as required by section 16, shall be punishable with fine which may extend to one hundred rupees.

23. Any owner of a boiler who, in any case in which a certificate or provisional order is required for the use of the boiler under this Act, uses the boiler either without any such certificate or order being in force or at a higher pressure than that allowed thereby, shall be punishable with fine which may extend to five hundred rupees, and, in the case of a continuing offence, with an additional fine which may extend to one hundred rupees for each day after the first day in regard to which he is convicted of having persisted in the offence.

Other penalties. 24. Any person who —

- (a) uses or permits to be used a boiler of which he is the owner and which has been transferred from one Province to another without such transfer having been reported as required by section 6, or
 - (b) being the owner of a boiler fails to cause the registered number allotted to the boiler under this Act to be marked on the boiler as required by sub-section (6) of section 7, or
 - (c) makes any structural alteration, addition or renewal in or to a boiler without first obtaining the sanction of the Chief Inspector when so required by section 12, or to a steam-pipe without first informing the Chief Inspector, when so required by section 13, or
 - (d) fails to report an accident to a boiler or steam-pipe when so required by section 18, or
 - (e) tampers with a safety valve of a boiler so as to render it inoperative at the maximum pressure at which the use of the boiler is authorised under this Act,
- shall be punishable with fine which may extend to five hundred rupees.

25. (1) Whoever removes, alters, defaces, renders invisible or otherwise tampers with the register number marked on a boiler in accordance with the provisions of this Act or any Act repealed hereby, shall be punishable with fine which may extend to five hundred rupees.

(2) Whoever fraudulently marks upon a boiler a register number which has not been allotted to it under this Act or any Act repealed hereby, shall be punishable with imprisonment which may extend to two years, or with fine, or with both.

26. No prosecution for an offence made punishable by or under this Act shall be instituted except within six months from the date of the commission of the offence, and no such prosecution shall be instituted without the previous sanction of the Chief Inspector.

27. No offence made punishable by or under this Act shall be tried by a Court inferior to that of a Presidency Magistrate or a Magistrate of the first class.

^a[27A. (1)] A Board to be called the Central Boilers Board shall be constituted to exercise the powers conferred by section 28.

(2) The Board shall consist of fourteen members, namely :—

- (a) a chairman to be nominated by the ^b[Central Government];
- (b) one member to be nominated by each of the ^c[Provincial Governments] of Madras, Bombay, Bengal, the United Provinces, the Punjab, Bihar, the Central Provinces ^d[and Berar], Assam, the North-West Frontier Province, Sind and Orissa;
- (c) one member, holding office for a period of three years, to be nominated alternately by the ^e[Provincial Government] of Delhi and the ^e[Provincial Government] of Ajmer-Merwara; and
- (d) one member to be nominated by the Chief Commissioner of Railways.

(3) Any vacancy occurring in the Board, otherwise than by the expiry of the term of office of the member referred to in clause (c) of sub-section (2), shall be filled as soon as may be by a nomination made by the authority by whom the member vacating office was nominated.

(4) The Board shall have full power to regulate by bye-laws or otherwise its own procedure and the conduct of all business to be transacted by the Board.

(5) The powers of the Board may be exercised notwithstanding any vacancy in the Board.]

Section 23—Note

[1] The word "owner" in S. 23 has been used in the dictionary meaning and also includes persons mentioned in S. 2 (d). It is not restricted to persons who actually use the boiler. An absentee owner of a boiler which is being used for his purpose comes within the purview of this section (Vol 24) 1937 Pat 500 (501) : 16 Pat 495 : 38 Cri L Jour 1054.

28. The ^a[Board] may, by notification in the Gazette of India, make regulations^b consistent with this Act for all or any of the following purposes, namely :—

- (a) for laying down the standard conditions in respect of material, design and construction which shall be required for the purpose of enabling the registration and certification of a boiler under this Act;
- ^c[(aa) for prescribing the circumstances in which, the extent to which, and the conditions subject to which, variation from the standard conditions laid down under clause (a) may be permitted;]
- (b) for prescribing the method of determining the maximum pressure at which a boiler may be used;
- (c) for regulating the registration of boilers, prescribing the fees payable therefor, the drawings, specifications, certificates and particulars to be produced by the owner, the method of preparing a boiler for examination, the form of the Inspector's report thereon, the method of marking the register number, and the period within which such number is to be marked on the boiler;
- (d) for regulating the inspection and examination of boilers and steam-pipes, and prescribing forms of certificates therefor;
- (e) for ensuring the safety of persons working inside a boiler ; and
- (f) for providing for any other matter which is not, in the opinion of the ^a[Board], a matter of merely local or provincial importance.

29. The ^a[Provincial Government] may, by notification in the ^b[Official Gazette], make rules^c consistent with this Act and the regulations made thereunder for all or any of the following purposes, namely :—

- (a) for prescribing the qualifications and duties of the Chief Inspector and of Inspectors, ^d[* * *] for prescribing or constituting authorities to which they shall respectively be subordinate, and the limits of the administrative control to be exercised by such authorities ;
- (b) for regulating the transfer of boilers ;
- (c) for providing for the registration and certification of boilers in accordance with the regulations made under this Act ;
- (d) for requiring boilers to be in charge of persons holding certificates of competency, and for prescribing the conditions on which such certificates may be granted ;
- (e) for prescribing the times within which Inspectors shall be required to examine boilers under section 7 or section 8 ;
- (f) for prescribing the fees payable for the issue of renewed certificates and the method of determining the amount of such fees in each case ;
- (g) for regulating inquiries into accidents ;
- (h) for constituting the appellate authority referred to in section 20, and for determining its powers and procedure ;
- (i) for determining the mode of disposal of fees, costs and penalties levied under this Act and
- (j) generally to provide for any matter which is, in the opinion of the ^a[Provincial Government], a matter of merely local importance in the Province.

THE BRITISH LAW ASCERTAINMENT ACT, 1859.

(22 & 23 Vict., c. 63.)

(13th August 1859.)

An Act to afford Facilities for the more certain Ascertainment of the Law administered in one Part of Her Majesty's Dominions when pleaded in the Courts of another Part thereof.

[As modified up to 31-12-1934.]

[Preamble and enacting words: Repealed by 55 & 56 Vict., c. 19.]

1. If in any action depending in any Court within her Majesty's dominions it shall be the Courts in one part of Her Majesty's dominions may remit a case for the opinion in law of a Court in any other part thereof. opinion of such Court that it is necessary or expedient for the proper disposal of such action to ascertain the law applicable to the facts of the case as administered in any other part of Her Majesty's dominions, on any point on which the law of such other part of Her Majesty's dominions is different from that in which the Court is situate, it shall be competent to the Court in which such action may depend to direct a case to be prepared setting forth the facts, as these may be ascertained by verdict of a jury or other mode competent or may be agreed upon by the parties, or settled by such person or persons as may have been appointed by the Court for that purpose in the event of the parties not agreeing;

and upon such case being approved of by such Court or a Judge thereof they shall settle the questions of law arising out of the same on which they desire to have the opinion of another Court, and shall pronounce an order remitting the same, together with the case, to the Court in such other part of Her Majesty's dominions, being one of the superior Courts thereof, whose opinion is desired upon the law administered by them as applicable to the facts set forth in such case and desiring them to pronounce their opinion on the questions submitted to them in the terms of the Act;

and it shall be competent to any of the parties to the action to present a petition to the Court whose opinion is to be obtained; praying such last-mentioned Court to hear parties or their counsel and to pronounce their opinion thereon in terms of this Act, or to pronounce their opinion without hearing parties or counsel; and the Court to which such petition shall be presented, shall, if they think fit, appoint an early day for hearing parties or their counsel on such case, and shall thereafter pronounce their opinion upon the questions of law as administered by them which are submitted to them by the Court; and in order to their pronouncing such opinion they shall be entitled to take such further procedure thereupon as to them shall seem proper.

2. Upon such opinion being pronounced, a copy thereof, certified by an officer of such Court, shall be given to each of the parties to the action by whom the same shall be required, and shall be deemed and held to contain a correct record of such opinion.

3. It shall be competent to any of the parties to the action, after having obtained such certified copy of such opinion, to lodge the same with an officer of the Court in which the action may be depending, who may have the official charge thereof, together with a notice of motion setting forth that the party will, on a certain day named in such notice, move the Court to apply the opinion contained in such certified copy thereof to the facts set forth in the case hereinbefore specified; and the said Court shall thereupon apply such opinion to such facts, in the same manner as if the same had been pronounced by such Court itself upon a case reserved for opinion of the Court, or upon special verdict of a jury;

or the said last-mentioned Court shall, if it thinks fit, when the said opinion has been obtained before trial, order such opinion to be submitted to the jury with the other facts of the case as evidence, or conclusive evidence, as the Court may think fit, of the foreign law therein stated, and the said opinion shall be so submitted to the jury.

4. In the event of an appeal to Her Majesty in Council or to the House of Lords in any such action, it shall be competent to bring under the review of Her Majesty in Council or of the House of Lords the opinion pronounced as afore-said by any Court whose judgments are reviewable by Her Majesty in Council or by the House of Lords; and Her Majesty in Council or that House may respectively adopt or reject such opinion of any Court whose judgments are respectively reviewable by them, as the same shall appear to them as to be well founded or not in law.

5. In the construction of this Act, the word "action" shall include every judicial proceeding instituted in any Court, civil, criminal, or ecclesiastical; and the words "Superior Courts" shall include, in England, the Superior Courts of Law at Westminster, the Lord Chancellor, the Lords Justices, the Master of the Rolls or any Vice-Chancellor, the Judge of the Court of Admiralty, the Judge Ordinary of the Court for Divorce and Matrimonial Causes, and the Judge of the Court of Probate; in Scotland, the High Court of Justiciary, and the Court of Session acting by either of its divisions; in Ireland, the Superior Courts of Law at Dublin, the Master of the Rolls and the Judge of the Admiralty Court; and in any other part of Her Majesty's dominions, the Superior Courts of Law or Equity therein.

THE BRONZE COIN (LEGAL TENDER) ACT, 1918.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

"It is of importance to enable the Indian Mints to increase the rate of output of rupees from the large supply which the Government of India are at present obtaining. One method of effecting this is to arrange for the coinage elsewhere of the bronze coinage which is at present carried out by the Calcutta Mint. An arrangement has accordingly been entered into with His Exalted Highness the Nizam of Hyderabad for the coinage, for the present, at the Hyderabad Mint of bronze pice or quarter-anna pieces. In order to make the pice so coined legal tender within British India, legislation is required, since under S. 14 of the Indian Coinage Act, 1906 (III of 1906), read with S. 8 thereof, only piece coined at Mints established under the Indian Coinage Act are legal tender within British India. It is accordingly proposed by the present Bill that where the bronze coinage specified in the Indian Coinage Act are coined outside British India at the request of the Governor-General in Council, and the Governor-General in Council is satisfied that such coins are in accordance with the requirements of the Act and of any notification for the time being in force thereunder, he may by notification in the Gazette of India, direct the issue of any such coins, and these shall thereafter be legal tender in the same manner as if they had been coined under the provisions of the Indian Coinage Act."

ACT NO. XXII of 1918.^a

[26th September 1918.]

An Act to provide that certain bronze coins coined outside British India shall be legal tender in British India.

WHEREAS it is expedient to provide that certain bronze coins coined outside British India shall be legal tender in British India; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

[a] For Proceedings in Council, see Gazette of India, 1918, Pt. VI, pages 1001 and 1140.

Short title.

1. This Act may be called the BRONZE COIN (LEGAL TENDER) ACT, 1918.

Power to declare certain bronze coins coined outside British India to be legal tender.

2. (1) Where bronze coins of any of the denominations specified in section 8 of the Indian Coinage Act, 1906, are coined outside British India at the request of the ^a[Central Government], and the ^a[Central Government] is satisfied that such coins are in accordance with the requirements of section 9 and of any notification for the time being in force under section 10 of the said Act, ^b[it] may, by notification in the ^c[Official Gazette], direct the issue of any such coins, and thereafter any such coins shall be legal tender in payment or on account in the same way and to the same extent as if they were coins referred to in section 14 of the said Act, and the provisions of the said Act shall apply accordingly.

(2) Every coin which is declared to be legal tender by sub-section (1) shall be deemed to be Queen's coin within the meaning of section 230 of the Indian Penal Code.

THE CALCUTTA HIGH COURT (JURISDICTIONAL LIMITS) ACT, 1919.

ACT NO. XV of 1919.^a

[17th September 1919.]

An Act to declare and prescribe the limits of the ordinary original civil jurisdiction of the High Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal.

WHEREAS clause 11 of the Letters Patent for the High Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal, dated the 28th December, 1865, provides that the said High Court shall have and exercise ordinary original civil jurisdiction within such local limits as may from time to time be declared and prescribed by any law made by competent legislative authority for India;

AND WHEREAS it is expedient so to declare and prescribe the local limits of the ordinary original civil jurisdiction of the said High Court;

It is hereby enacted as follows:—

Short title.

1. This Act may be called the CALCUTTA HIGH COURT (JURISDICTIONAL LIMITS) ACT, 1919.

Limits of ordinary original civil jurisdiction.

2. The ordinary original civil jurisdiction of the High Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal shall be exercised within the limits set out in the Schedule:

Provided that nothing in this Act shall effect any suit or other legal proceeding pending in any Court at the date of the commencement of this Act.

THE SCHEDULE

(See section 2.)

1. The limits within which the ordinary original civil jurisdiction of the High Court shall be exercised are as follows :—

North. — A line commencing on the western side of the river Hooghly at a point where the straight line joining reference pillar No. I (in a compound on the river side of the Ghusri Cotton Mill, Howrah) and reference pillar No. II (near the south-western end of Chitpure Toll Bridge) meets the western water-line of the river Hooghly, and thence along the said line to the point where it meets the eastern water-line of the river Hooghly near the south bank of the opening of Circular Canal; thence along the water-line of the south bank of Circular Canal passing under the Chitpur Toll Bridge, the Chitpur or Baghbazar Bridge to boundary pillar A on the eastern side of the southern pile of Barrackpore Bridge.

East. — A line commencing from the said boundary pillar A following the eastern edge of the steps of the bridge to a point near the south-eastern corner of the immediate approach to the bridge marked by reference pillar III, which is on the boundary; thence by a straight line to boundary pillar B on the south-eastern corner of the junction of Cornwallis Street and Galif Street (now marked with a Public Works Department stone); thence along the eastern side and the eastern side of the eastern pavement of Cornwallis Street in a series of regular links joining points marked by posts 1-3 to boundary pillar C at the north corner of the junction of Shambazar street with Cornwallis Street, thence by a straight line to boundary pillar D on the solid south corner of the said junction; thence in an approximately straight line along the solid eastern side of Upper Circular Road marked by posts 4-9; thence eastward following the corner round to boundary pillar E on the north corner of the junction of the unnamed road (which runs into Jadu Nath Mitra Lane) with Upper Circular Road; and thence by a straight line to boundary pillar F at the solid south corner of the junction of Jadu Nath Mitra Lane with Upper Circular Road; thence by posts 10-13 to boundary pillar G on the solid south corner of the junction of Ultadingi Road with Upper Circular Road; thence along the solid south side of Ultadingi Road in a series of continuous and approximately straight lines joining points marked by posts 14-16 to boundary pillar H at the solid western corner of the junction of Ultadingi Road and Gauribere Lane; thence by the solid western side of Gauribere Lane marked by posts 17-21; thence by a straight line crossing the road diagonally to boundary pillar I on the solid south-eastern corner of the junction of Gauribere Lane and Ultadingi Junction Lane; thence along the solid eastern side of Ultadingi Junction Lane marked by posts 22-24 to boundary pillar J on the solid eastern corner of the junction of Ultadingi Junction Lane with Halsibagan Road; thence by a straight line to post 25 at the solid western corner of the said junction; thence along the solid north side of Halsibagan Road marked by post 26 to boundary pillar K on the north side of Halsibagan Road directly opposite the solid eastern side of Upper Circular Road south of it; thence by a straight line to post 27 at the solid south corner of the junction of Halsibagan Road with Upper Circular Road; thence by the solid eastern side of Upper Circular Road marked by posts 28-34 to post 35; thence turning east to boundary pillar L on the north side of Maniktola Road; thence by a straight line to post 36 at the south corner of the junction of Maniktola Road with Upper Circular Road at the north-western corner of the garden of Kali Pada Barik; thence along the eastern side of the lane on the eastern side of the raised platform road and marked by posts 37-49 to boundary pillar M at the solid north corner of the junction of Gas Street and Upper Circular Road; thence by a straight line to boundary pillar N at the solid south corner of the said junction; thence keeping again to the eastern side of the lane on the eastern side of the raised platform road along a line marked by posts 50-61 excluding the recently made Ladies' Park to boundary pillar O near the north pillar of the north entrance to North Station Sealdah; thence by a straight line to boundary pillar P at the south corner of that entrance; thence by the comparatively straight lines from pillar to pillar connecting boundary pillars P, Q, R, S, and T adjacent to the pillars forming the corners of the various approaches to Sealdah Station; thence along the solid eastern side of Lower Circular Road marked by posts 62-64 to pillar 65; thence turning west to boundary pillar U at the north-western corner of the out-patients' department of the Campbell Hospital; thence by a straight line marked by posts 66-68 to boundary pillar V on the corner of the platform to the right of the north entrance to the Calcutta Corporation Central Stores; thence by post 69 turning east to post 70; thence by posts 71-76, boundary pillars W and X at the solid corners of the junction of Beniapukur Lane with Lower Circular Road, by posts 81-86 to boundary pillars A1 and B1, at the solid corners of the junction of Nonapukur or Bijli Road and Lower Circular Road, posts 87, 88 to boundary pillar C1, near the south-western corner of the Circular Road burial ground; thence by a straight line to boundary pillar D1, on the other side of the tramway lines; thence post 89 eastward to post 90; thence to boundary pillars E1, and F1, at the solid corners of the junction of Karaya Bazar Road and Lower Circular Road, posts 91, 92 to boundary pillar G1, opposite to Theatre Road, posts 93, 94 to boundary pillar H1, a few feet south of the point directly opposite the junction of Auckland Place and Lower Circular Road, and following the curve of the road by posts 95 and 96 to reference pillar IV (which is on the boundary) on the eastern side of the junction of Beck Bagan Lane with Lower Circular Road.

South. — A line commencing from the said reference pillar IV in a straight line to boundary pillar I1, on the western corner of the junction of Beck Bagan Lane with Lower Circular Road; thence along the solid south side of Lower Circular Road to boundary pillar J1, and K1, at the solid corners of the junction of Ballyganj Circular Road and Lower Circular Road; thence by the solid south side of Lower Circular Road marked by posts 97, 98, boundary pillars L1, M1, at the solid corners of the junction of Lansdowne Road with Lower Circular Road, post 99 southward to post 100 westward to post 101, northward to post 102 and westward to post 103, boundary pillars N1, and O1, at the solid corners of the junction of Woodburn Road with Lower Circular Road, posts 104, 105, boundary pillars P1, and Q1, at the solid corners of the junction of Lee Road with Lower Circular Road; thence by the straight line links but broken boundary line formed by posts 106-113, to boundary pillar R1, on the south-eastern corner of the junction of Chowringhee with Lower Circular Road; thence by an oblique straight line to boundary pillar S1, on the south-western corner of the said junction (near a stone marked F. W. B.-26); thence by a line representing the present limits of the holdings on the south of Circular Road and marked by posts 114-116, boundary pillars T1, and U1, at the solid corners of the junction of Haris Chandra Mukharji Road and Lower Circular Road, posts 117-121; thence to boundary pillar V1, near the north corner of the junction of Bhowanipore Road and Lower Circular Road; thence following the curve of the corner and the eastern side of Bhowanipore Road and the surplus lands attached thereto by a series of straight line links joining points marked by posts 122-124, boundary pillars W1, and X1, at the junction of Shambhunath Pandit Street and Bhowanipore Road, posts 125-128 turning eastward to boundary pillar Y1, on the north side of Sankaripara Road, posts 129-130 to boundary pillars Z1, and A2 across the entrance of Ketrapati Road into Bhowanipore Road; thence by posts 131, 132 to boundary pillar B2 on the north-eastern side of Alipore Bridge; thence along a straight line joining the said boundary pillar B2 with subsidiary reference pillar VII on the south-eastern side of the said bridge to a point where that straight line meets the water-line of Tolly's Nala; thence along the water-line of Tolly's Nala to the north-eastern corner of the District Magistrate's compound, near which is boundary pillar C2; thence along the irregular northern boundary of the Magistrate's compound marked by posts 133-141 to boundary pillar D2, at the south corner of the entrance to the Civil Surgeon's house from Thackeray Road; thence southward along the western boundary of the Magistrates compound by posts 142-145 and along the southern boundary of that compound marked by posts 147, 148 to boundary pillar E2 on the bank of Tolly's Nala; thence continuing the straight line from post 148 to boundary pillar E2 till it meets the water-line of Tolly's Nala; thence along the water-line of Tolly's Nala to a point in a direct line with the north side of the masonry drain running outside the Jail Garden near which is boundary pillar F2; thence along the north side of the said drain in a straight line across Motee Zeel to post 149 against the boundary of the compound of the Magistrate's Court; thence northward along that boundary to post 150 and westward to post 151 and northward again along the boundary of the Army Clothing Agency to post 152; thence westward on the south side of the lane to boundary pillar G2 at the north-western corner of the Police Hospital Compound; thence along the wall of the Alipore Central Jail facing Belvedere Road and marked by pillars 153-157 to the north-western corner of the junction of Belvedere Road and Jail Lane following the corner eastward to post 158 and continuing along the south side of Jail Lane to post 159; thence by a straight line to boundary pillar H2 at the acute corner of the junction of Reformatory Street with Jail Lane; thence to boundary pillar I2 on the north-western side of Alipore Bridge; thence to boundary pillar J2 on the north-eastern side of the said bridge; thence by the solid south-western and western side of Bhowanipore Road marked by posts 160-167; thence following the western corner of the junction of Bhowanipore Road, and Lower Circular Road to boundary pillar K2; thence along the solid south side of Lower Circular Road following the Sweep of the railings and marked by posts 168-172 to boundary pillar L2 on Lower Circular Road and east of its junction with Belvedere Road; thence following the natural bends of the corner marked by posts 173 and 174 to boundary pillar M2 on the eastern side of Belvedere Road; thence along the eastern side of Belvedere Road now indicated by wooden railings and marked by post 175 to boundary pillar N2 on the north-eastern side of Zeerut Bridge; thence along the railings of the footpath on the eastern side of the bridge to boundary pillar O2 near its south-eastern end; thence along a bent line following the shape of the bridge and marked by posts 176, 177 to post 178 on the eastern side of the south extremity of the immediate approach to the bridge; thence by a straight line to boundary pillar P2 on the western side of the said extremity; thence turning north along the railings of the footpath on the western side of the bridge till it meets the water-line underneath the bridge, thence along the water-line of the south or Alipore bank of Tolly's Nala trending northwards under Hastings Bridge, to a point where a straight line joining reference pillar V (near the south-western end of Hastings Bridge), to reference pillar VI (on the Howrah side of the river in a line with the northern wall of the Bengal-Nagpur Railway Goods Yard) meets the water-line of the south bank of the bend of the Hooghly River, near the western side of the opening of Tolly's Nala; thence continuing the said straight line till that said straight line meets the water-line of the Howrah side of the river Hooghly.

West. — A line commencing from the point last defined along the water-line of the Howrah side of the River Hooghly to the western extremity of the northern boundary.

2. (a) When the expression "water-line" is used in this Schedule all pucca ghats and other objects permanently attached to the bank and in contact with the water shall be deemed to appertain to the area to which the land on that bank appertains and the water in contact with such objects shall be deemed to appertain to the other side of the boundary. In the places in the Schedule where the boundary is thus described the boundary line shall be the moving edge of the water wherever it may be at any time. In the case of bridges, however, the supporting pile in contact with the bank only shall be deemed to be permanently attached to the bank and the boundary line across the bridge to be immediately above the water-line so described.

(b) The expression "solid side" or "solid corner" means the line or spot marked out by solid objects, such as a pucca wall or the face of a house, the wayside lands and pavements thus being all included in the adjacent road, street or lane.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

"A committee which was appointed by the Government of India in January 1921 to consider what changes were necessary in order to introduce into the administration of cantonments the spirit of the reformed scheme of government, recommended a complete revision and amalgamation of the Cantonments Act (Act XV of 1910) and the Cantonment Code, 1912, in order to bring into conformity with ordinary municipal law the system under which military cantonments are administered.

The recommendations of the committee have now been examined by the Government of India and the conclusions arrived at are embodied in the Bill.

The main features of the Bill are as follows :—

(a) It is proposed to take power to municipalize the Government of those cantonments which contain a substantial civil population having no essential connection with or dependence upon the military administration. In other cantonments where these circumstances do not fully exist the administration of cantonment affairs will be vested in the hands of the commanding officer of the cantonment, who, for the purpose of the Act, will be constituted a corporation sole. The general effect will be that the Government authority will cease to be the purely executive agency at present. In the larger cantonments the existing cantonment committee will be replaced by a cantonment Board which will be municipal in character and an essentially local self-government body.

(b) The reformed cantonment authorities will have a separate legal person, will be capable of suing and being sued in their own name and of making contracts. They will also be empowered to make bye-laws to govern local matters of administration which require different treatment in different cantonments.

(c) The cantonment fund under the reformed system will be a local fund vested in the cantonment authority.

(d) In the reformed cantonments where a Board is constituted a proportion of the cantonment Board will be elected representatives of the civil inhabitants of the cantonment. An official majority will, however, be maintained.

(e) The cantonment Magistrate, as such, will be eliminated. In his place an "executive officer" will be appointed. He will be paid by Government. He will perform, amongst other things, the duties of Secretary of the Board and he will have no judicial powers or functions.

(f) The Local Governments will exercise certain larger powers of superintendence and control over cantonment affairs than they do at present.

(g) The military authorities will retain certain special powers in matters affecting the health, welfare and discipline of troops."

— Gazette of India, 1923, Part V, page 220.

SELECT COMMITTEE REPORT.

"3. The non-official members of the Select Committee desire to express the following opinion on two questions of administration connected with the policy which the Bill seeks to introduce. They hold very strongly that the ultimate control of cantonment administration under the reformed system should be exercised by the Government of India in the Army Department, and not by any executive military authority. They also hold that the executive officer, though he may be a military officer subordinate to the Army Department, should, like the Cantonment Magistrate of the present, be an officer in civil employ. It is recognized that it would be inappropriate to embody in the Bill provisions on these two points; but they desire it to be recorded that, in agreeing to the Bill as amended, they hope that the further administrative arrangements to be made will conform to the views here expressed."

COGNATE ACTS AND PROVISIONS.

1. CANTONMENTS (HOUSE-ACCOMMODATION) ACT, VI OF 1923.

ACT NO. II OF 1924.

[16th February 1924.]

An Act to consolidate and amend the law relating to the administration of cantonments.

WHEREAS it is expedient to consolidate and amend the law relating to the administration of cantonments; It is hereby enacted as follows:

CHAPTER I.

PRELIMINARY.

Short title, extent and commencement. 1. (1) This Act may be called the CANTONMENTS ACT, 1924..

(2) It extends to the whole of British India, including British Baluchistan.

(3) The ^a[Central Government] may, by notification in the ^b[Official Gazette], direct that this Act, or any provisions thereof which ^c[it] may specify, shall come into force on such date^d as ^c[it] may appoint in this behalf.

[a] Substituted by A. O. for "Governor-General in Council". [b] Substituted by A. O. for "Gazette of India".

[c] Substituted by A. O. for "he". [d] 1st May, 1924; see General Rules and Orders Vol. V, p. 466.

Definitions. 2. In this Act, unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context,—

(i) "Assistant Health Officer" means the medical officer appointed by the ^a[Officer Commanding-in-Chief, the Command,] to be the Assistant Health Officer for a cantonment;

Section 1 — Note 1

[1] The first general Cantonments Act, a consolidating and amending measure, was passed in 1889 and repealed a large number of existing Acts and Regulations. The Act of 1889 was followed by another consolidating and amending Act in 1910, namely, the Cantonments Act, 15 [XV] of 1910 and later by a very elaborate Code of 1924. This supersedes all previous legislation and is, though it has not itself escaped amendment, the principal Act relating to the subject. CHAPTER II.

DEFINITION AND DELIMITATION OF CANTONMENTS.

3. (1) The ^a[Central Government], ^b[* * *] may, by notification in the ^c[Official Gazette], declare any place or places in which any part of His Majesty's regular Definition of cantonments. forces or regular air force is quartered or which, being in the vicinity of any such place or places, is or are required for the service of such forces to be a cantonment for the purposes of this Act and of all other enactments for the time being in force, and ^d[* * * *] may, by a like notification, declare that any cantonment shall cease to be a cantonment.

(2) The ^a[Central Government], ^d[* * * *] may, by a like notification, define the limits of any cantonment for the aforesaid purposes.

^e[(3) When any place is declared a cantonment for the first time, the ^f[Central Government] may, until a Board is constituted in accordance with the provisions of this Act, by order make any provision which appears necessary to ^g[it] either for the administration of the Cantonment or for the constitution of the Board.]

^h[(4) The Central Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, direct that in any place declared a cantonment under sub-section (1) the provisions of any enactment relating to local self-government other than this Act shall have effect only to such extent or subject to such modifications, or that any authority constituted under any such enactment shall exercise authority only to such extent, as may be specified in the notification.]

5. When, by a notification under section 4, any local area is included in a cantonment, such area shall thereupon become subject to this Act and to all other enactments for the time being in force throughout the cantonment and to all notifications, rules, regulations, bye-laws, orders and directions issued or made thereunder.

6. (1) When, by a notification under section 3, any cantonment ceases to be a cantonment and the local area comprised therein is immediately placed under the control of a local authority, the balance of the cantonment fund and other property vesting in the ^a[Board] shall vest in such local authority, and the liabilities of the ^a[Board] shall be transferred to such local authority.

(2) When, in like manner, any cantonment ceases to be a cantonment and the local area comprised therein is not immediately placed under the control of a local authority, the balance of the cantonment fund and other property vesting in the ^a[Board] shall vest in His Majesty, and the liabilities of the ^a[Board] shall be transferred to the ^b[Central Government].

CHAPTER III.

^a[CANTONMENT BOARDS.]

Cantonment Board and Executive Officer.

^b10. For every cantonment there shall be a Cantonment Board and an Executive Officer.

[a] The chapter heading was substituted by the Repealing and Amending Act, 1939 (34 [XXXIV] of 1939), S. 2 and Sch. I for "Boards and Cantonment Boards." [b] Section 10 was substituted by the Cantonments (Amendment) Act, 1936 (24 [XXIV] of 1936), S. 5, for the original section.

^a11. Every Board shall, by the name of the place by reference to which the cantonment is known, be a body corporate having perpetual succession and a common seal with power to acquire and hold property both moveable and immoveable and to contract and shall, by the said name, sue and be sued.

[a] Section 11 was substituted by the Cantonments (Amendment) Act, 1936 (24 [XXIV] of 1936), S. 5.

^a12. (1) The Executive Officer of every cantonment shall be appointed by the ^b[Central Government], or by such person as the ^b[Central Government] may authorise in this behalf, from the Service of Executive Officers constituted by rules made under section 280 :

Provided that an Executive Officer appointed before the commencement^c of the Cantonments (Amendment) Act, 1936, shall, unless the ^b[Central Government] otherwise directs in any case, be deemed to have been duly appointed in accordance with this sub-section.

(2) Not less than half the cost of the salary of the Executive Officer shall be paid ^d[by the Central Government] and the balance from the cantonment fund :

Provided that the salary of an Executive Officer appointed before the commencement^c of the Cantonments (Amendment) Act, 1936, shall, until the ^b[Central Government] otherwise directs, continue to be paid from the source from which it was being paid at the commencement of the said Act.

(3) The Executive Officer shall be the Secretary of the Board and of every committee of the Board, but shall not be a member of the Board or of any such committee.

[a] Section 12 was substituted by the Cantonments (Amendment) Act, 1936 (24 [XXIV] of 1936), S. 5. [b] Substituted by A. O. for "Governor-General in Council". [c] The Cantonments (Amendment) Act, 1936 (24 [XXIV] of 1936), came into force on the 31st October 1936. [d] Substituted by A. O. for "by Government".

Constitution of Cantonment Boards.

^a13. (1) Cantonments shall be divided into three classes, namely :—

- (i) Class I Cantonments, in which the civil population exceeds ten thousand ;
- (ii) Class II Cantonments, in which the civil population exceeds two thousand five hundred, but does not exceed ten thousand ; and
- (iii) Class III Cantonments, in which the civil population does not exceed two thousand five hundred :

Provided that the ^b[Central Government] may, by notification in the ^c[Official Gazette], place in Class II any cantonment in the North-West Frontier Province or in British Baluchistan which if it were situated elsewhere would be a Class I Cantonment, or place in Class III any such cantonment which if it were situated elsewhere would be a Class II Cantonment.

(2) For the purposes of sub-section (1), the civil population shall be calculated in accordance with the latest official census, or, if the ^b[Central Government], by general or special order, so directs, in accordance with a special census taken for the purpose.

Section 11 — Note 1.

[1] A Cantonment Committee is a public officer within S. 2, Civil P. C. Hence before a Committee can be sued the notice prescribed under S. 80, Civil P. C., must be given. (1910) 34 Bom 583 (588).

Section 12 — Note 1.

[1] The Cantonments (Amendment) Act, 1936, came into force on 31-10-1936. Sub-section (3) of S. 1 of that Act runs as follows:—"It shall come into force at once, but the Central Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, direct either generally or in respect of a particular cantonment that a specified section or sections shall not take effect until such date as it may by a like notification appoint in this behalf."

Section 13 — Note 1.

[1] Proviso to sub-section (1) of S. 13 gives power to the Central Government to alter the classification of cantonments in order to meet the difficulty apprehended in the N.-W.F.P. and Baluchistan that owing to the military duties and frequent movements of military personnel, it might not always be possible or convenient to supply members for a more numerous Board. — Report of Second Select Committee on the Cantonments (Amendment) Act, 1936.

- (3) In Class I Cantonments, the Board shall consist of the following members, namely:—
- (a) the Officer Commanding the station or, if the ^b[Central Government] so directs in respect of any cantonment, such other military officer as may be nominated in his place by the Officer Commanding-in-Chief, the Command;
 - (b) a Magistrate of the first class nominated by the District Magistrate;
 - (c) the Health Officer;
 - (d) the Executive Engineer;
 - (e) four military officers nominated by name by the Officer Commanding the station by order in writing;
 - (f) seven members elected under this Act.
- (4) In Class II Cantonments, the Board shall consist of the following members, namely:—
- (a) the Officer Commanding the station, or, if the ^b[Central Government] so directs in respect of any cantonment, such other military officer as may be nominated in his place by the Officer Commanding-in-Chief, the Command;
 - (b) a Magistrate of the first class nominated by the District Magistrate;
 - (c) the Health Officer;
 - (d) the Executive Engineer;
 - (e) (i) in cantonments of which the civil population exceeds seven thousand five hundred three military officers,
(ii) in cantonments of which the civil population exceeds five thousand, but does not exceed seven thousand five hundred, two military officers,
(iii) in cantonments of which the civil population does not exceed five thousand and in cantonments which the ^b[Central Government] by notification under the proviso to sub-section (1), has placed in Class II, whatever be the population, one military officer, nominated by name by the Officer Commanding the station by order in writing;
 - (f) such number of members elected under this Act as is equal to the number of members constituted or nominated by or under clauses (b) to (e).
- (5) In Class III Cantonments, the Board shall consist of the following members, namely:—
- (a) the Officer Commanding the station, or if the ^b[Central Government] so directs in respect of any cantonment, such other military officer as may be nominated in his place by the Officer Commanding-in-Chief, the Command;
 - (b) one military officer nominated by name by the Officer Commanding the station by order in writing;
 - (c) one member elected under this Act.

(6) The Officer Commanding the station may, if he thinks fit, with the sanction of the Officer Commanding-in-Chief, the Command, nominate in place of any military officer whom he is empowered to nominate under clause (e) of sub-section (3), clause (e) of sub-section (4) or clause (b) of sub-section (5), any person, whether in the service of the ^d[Crown] or not, who is ordinarily resident in the cantonment or in the vicinity thereof.

(7) Every election or nomination of a member of a Board and every vacancy in the membership thereof shall be notified by the ^e[Central Government] in the ^f[Official Gazette].

[a] S. 13 was substituted by the Cantonments (Amendment) Act, 1936 (24 [XXIV] of 1936), S. 5. [b] Substituted by A. O. for "Governor-General in Council". [c] Substituted by A. O. for "Gazette of India". [d] Substituted by A. O. for "Government". [e] Substituted by A. O. for "Local Government". [f] Substituted by A. O. for "local official Gazette".

Power to vary constitution of Boards in special circumstances. ^a14. (1) Notwithstanding anything contained in section 13, if the ^b[Central Government] is satisfied—

- (a) that, by reason of military operations it is necessary, or
 - (b) ^c[* * *] that, for the administration of the cantonment, it is desirable,
- to vary the constitution of the Board in any cantonment under this section, the ^b[Central Government] may, by notification in the ^d[Official Gazette], make a declaration to that effect.

(2) Upon the making of a declaration under sub-section (1), the Board in the cantonment shall consist of the following members, namely:—

- (a) the Officer Commanding the station;

- (b) one military officer nominated by name by the Officer Commanding the station by order in writing;
- (c) one member, not being a person in the service of the Government, nominated by the Officer Commanding the station.
- (3) Every nomination of a member of a Board constituted under this section, and every vacancy in the membership thereof, shall be notified by the ^a[Central Government] in the ^f[Official Gazette].
- (4) The term of office of a Board constituted by a declaration under sub-section (1) shall not ordinarily extend beyond one year :

Provided that the ^b[Central Government] may from time to time, by a like declaration, extend the term of office of such a Board by any period not exceeding one year at a time :

Provided also that the ^b[Central Government] shall forthwith direct that the term of office of such a Board shall cease if, in the opinion of the ^b[Central Government], the reasons stated in the declaration whereby such Board was constituted, or its term of office was extended, have ceased to exist.

(5) When the term of office of a Board constituted under this section has expired or ceased, the Board shall be replaced by the former Board which, but for the declaration under sub-section (1), would have continued to hold office, or, if the term of office of such former Board has expired, by a Board constituted under section 13.

[a] Section 14 was substituted by the Cantonments (Amendment) Act, 1936 (24 [XXIV] of 1936), S. 5.

[b] Substituted by A. O. for "Governor-General in Council". [c] Words "after consultation with the Local Government" were repealed by A. O. [d] Substituted by A. O. for "Gazette of India". [e] Substituted by A. O. for "Local Government". [f] Substituted by A. O. for "local official Gazette".

15. (1) Save as otherwise provided in this section, the term of office of a member of a Board Term of office of shall be three years and shall commence from the date of the notification of members. his election or nomination under ^a[sub-section (7) of section 13], or from the date on which the vacancy has occurred in which he is elected or nominated, whichever date is later:

^b[Provided that the ^c[Central Government] may, when satisfied that it is necessary in order to avoid administrative difficulty, extend the term of office of all the elected members of a Board by such period, not exceeding one year, as ^d[it] thinks fit]:

^e[Provided further that until the termination of the hostilities in being at the commencement of the Cantonments (Amendment) Act, 1944, the foregoing proviso shall have effect as if the word 'elected' and the words 'not exceeding one year' were omitted.]

(2) The term of office of an ex-officio member of a Board shall continue so long as he holds the office in virtue of which he is such a member.

(3) The term of office of a member elected to fill a casual vacancy shall commence from the date of election, and shall continue so long only as the member in whose place he is elected would have been entitled to hold office if the vacancy had not occurred.

(4) An outgoing member shall, unless the ^f[Central Government] otherwise directs, continue in office until the election or nomination of his successor is notified under ^a[sub-section (7) of section 13].

(5) Any outgoing member may, if qualified, be re-elected or re-nominated.

[a] Substituted by the Cantonments (Amendment) Act, 1936 (24 [XXIV] of 1936), S. 6, for "sub-section (2) of section 14". [b] Inserted by S. 6, ibid. [c] Substituted by A. O. for "Governor-General in Council".

[d] Substituted by A. O. for "he". [e] Added after S. 15 (1), proviso, by the Cantonments (Amendment) Act, 1944 (8 [VIII] of 1944), S. 3. [17-3-1944.] [f] Substituted by A. O. for "Local Government".

16. (1) Vacancies arising by efflux of time in the office of an elected member of a Board Filling of vacancies. shall be filled by an ordinary election to be held on such date as the ^a[Central Government] may, by notification in the ^b[Official Gazette], direct.

(2) A casual vacancy shall be filled by a casual election the date of which shall be fixed by the ^a[Central Government] by notification in the ^b[Official Gazette], and shall be, as soon as may be, after the occurrence of the vacancy:

Provided that no casual election shall be held to fill a vacancy occurring within three months of any date on which the vacancy will occur by efflux of time, but such vacancy shall be filled at the next ordinary election.

[a] Substituted by A. O. for "Local Government". [b] Substituted by A. O. for "local official Gazette".

17. (1) If from any cause at an ordinary election no member is elected, or if the elected member is unwilling to serve on the Board, the outgoing member shall, if qualified and willing to serve, be deemed to have been re-elected :

^a[Provided that where there are more outgoing members qualified and willing to serve than there are vacancies to be filled under this sub-section, the outgoing members so deemed to have been re-elected shall, failing agreement amongst such members, be determined by lot under the supervision of the President of the Board and in such manner as he may decide.]

^b[(2) Vacancies arising in any of the following cases shall be filled by nomination by the Central Government after consultation with the Officer Commanding-in-Chief, the Command, namely :—

(a) where at a casual election no member is elected;

(b) where at an ordinary election no member or an insufficient number of members is elected, or an elected member is unwilling to serve on the Board and the outgoing member is not qualified or is not willing to serve or is dead or cannot be found within a reasonable time;

(c) where at an election held when a Board is constituted for the first time no member or an insufficient number of members is elected or an elected member is unwilling to serve on the Board.]

^c[(3) For the purposes of sub-section (2) of section 16, a member nominated in pursuance of sub-section (2) of this section shall, where there has been a division of the cantonment into wards or of the inhabitants thereof into classes, be deemed to have been elected by such ward or class, as the case may be, as the Central Government may at the time of making the nomination or at any time thereafter declare.]

^d[(4)] The term of office of a member nominated or deemed to have been re-elected under this section shall expire at the time at which it would have expired if he had been elected at the ordinary or casual election, as the case may be.

[a] Proviso was added to sub-section (1) by the Cantonments (Amendment) Act, 1942 (15 [XV] of 1942), S. 2. [30-3-1942.] [b] Substituted by S. 2, ibid., for original sub-section (2). [c] New sub-section (3) was added by S. 2, ibid. [d] Sub-section (3) was re-numbered as sub-section (4), ibid.

18. (1) Every person who is by virtue of his office, or who is nominated or elected to be, a member of a Board shall, before taking his seat, make at a meeting of the Board an oath or affirmation of his allegiance to the Crown in the following form, namely :—

"I, A. B., having ^{become}
~~been elected~~ a member of this Board, do solemnly swear (or affirm) that ~~been nominated~~

I will be faithful and bear true allegiance to His Majesty the King, Emperor of India, his heirs and successors, and that I will faithfully discharge the duty upon which I am about to enter."

(2) If any such person fails to make the oath or affirmation within such time as the ^a[Central Government] considers reasonable, the ^a[Central Government] shall, by notification in the ^b[Official Gazette], declare his seat to be vacant.

[a] Substituted by A. O. for "Local Government". [b] Substituted by A. O. for "local official Gazette".

19. (1) Any nominated or elected member of a Board who wishes to resign his office may forward his resignation in writing through the President of the Board to the Officer Commanding-in-Chief, the Command, who shall forward it for orders to the ^a[Central Government].

(2) If the ^a[Central Government] accepts the resignation, such acceptance shall be communicated to the Board, and thereupon the seat of the member resigning shall become vacant.

[a] Substituted by A. O. for "Local Government".

^{President and Vice-President.} 20. (1) The ^a[Officer Commanding the station] ^b[if a member of the Board] shall be the President of the Board :

^c[Provided that when a military officer holding the office of President ceases to be the Officer Commanding the station merely by reason of a temporary absence from the station on duty or on station leave, or during the transfer of his headquarters to a hill station, he shall not vacate the office of President.]

^d[(2) Where the Officer Commanding the station is not a member of the Board, the military officer nominated in his place under clause (a) of sub-section (3), sub-section (4) or sub-section (5) of section 13 shall be President of the Board.

(3) In every Board in which there is more than one elected member, there shall be a Vice-President elected by the elected members only and from among their number], "[in accordance with such procedure as the Central Government may by rules prescribe.]

Term of office of Vice-President. 21. ^a[(1) The term of office of a Vice-President shall be three years or the residue of his term of office as a member, whichever is less.]

(2) A Vice-President may resign his office by notice in writing to the President and, on the resignation being accepted by the Board, the office shall become vacant.

[a] Substituted by the Cantonments (Amendment) Act, 1936 (24 [XXIV] of 1936), S. 8, for the original sub-section.

Duties of President. 22. (1) It shall be the duty of the President of every Board —

(a) unless prevented by reasonable cause, to convene and preside at all meetings of the Board and to regulate the conduct of business thereat ;

(b) to exercise supervision and control over the financial and executive administration of the Board ;

(c) to perform all the duties and exercise all the powers specifically imposed or conferred on the President by or under this Act ; and

(d) subject to any restrictions, limitations and conditions imposed by this Act, to exercise executive power for the purpose of carrying out the provisions of this Act and to be directly responsible for the fulfilment of the purposes of this Act.

(2) The President may, by order in writing, empower the Vice-President to exercise all or any of the powers and duties referred to in clause (c) of sub-section (1) other than any power, duty or function which he is by resolution of the Board expressly forbidden to delegate.

(3) The exercise or discharge of any powers, duties or functions delegated by the President under this section shall be subject to such restrictions, limitations and conditions, if any, as may be laid down by the President and to the control of, and to revision by, the President.

(4) Every order made under sub-section (2) shall forthwith be communicated to the Board and to the ^a[Officer Commanding-in-Chief, the Command].

[a] Substituted by the Cantonments (Amendment) Act, 1926 (35 [XXXV] of 1926), S. 2, for "Officer Commanding the District."

Duties of Vice-President. 23. It shall be the duty of the Vice-President of every Board—

(a) in the absence of the President and unless prevented by reasonable cause, to preside at meetings of the Board and when so presiding to exercise the authority of the President under sub-section (1) of section 22 ;

(b) during the incapacity or temporary absence of the President or pending his appointment or succession, to perform any other duty and exercise any other power of the President ; and

(c) to exercise any power and perform any duty of the President which may be delegated to him under sub-section (2) of section 22.

Duties of the Executive Officer. 24. The Executive Officer shall perform all the duties imposed upon him by or under this Act, and shall be responsible for the custody of all the records of the

^a[Board], and shall arrange for the performance of such duties relative to the proceedings of the Board or of any Committee of the Board or of any Committee of Arbitration constituted under this Act, as those bodies may respectively impose on him, and shall comply with every requisition of the ^a[Board], on any matter pertaining to the administration of the cantonment.

[a] Substituted by the Cantonments (Amendment) Act, 1936 (24 [XXIV] of 1936), S. 69, for "Cantonment Authority".

25. The Executive Officer may, in cases of emergency, direct the execution of any work or the doing of any act which would ordinarily require the sanction of the ^a[Board] and the immediate execution or doing of which is, in his opinion, necessary for the service or safety of the public, and may direct that the expense of executing such work or doing such act shall be paid from the cantonment fund :—

Provided that—

- (a) ^b[* * *] he shall not act under this section without the previous sanction of the President or, in his absence, of the Vice-President ;
- (b) he shall not act under this section in contravention of any order of the ^a[Board] prohibiting the execution of any particular work or the doing of any particular act ; and
- (c) he shall report forthwith the action taken under this section and the reasons therefor to the ^a[Board].

[a] Substituted by the Cantonments (Amendment) Act, 1936 (24 [XXIV] of 1936), S. 69, for "Cantonment Authority". [b] The words, "Where there is a Board" were repealed by S. 9, ibid.

Elections.

26. (1) ^a[* * *] ^b[The Board or, where a Board is not constituted in any place declared Electoral rolls, by notification under sub-section (1) of section 3 to be a cantonment, the Officer Commanding the station], shall prepare and publish an electoral roll showing the names of persons qualified to vote at elections to the Board. Such roll shall be prepared, revised and finally published in such manner and on such date in each year as the ^c[Central Government] may by rule prescribe.

(2) Every person whose name appears in the final electoral roll shall, so long as the roll remains in force, be entitled to vote at an election to the Board, and no other person shall be so entitled.

(3) When a cantonment has been divided into wards, or the inhabitants into classes, the electoral roll shall be divided into separate lists for each ward or class, as the case may be.

(4) If a new electoral roll is not published in any year on the date prescribed, the ^c[Central Government] may direct that the old electoral roll shall continue in operation until the new roll is published.

[a] The words "Where a Board is to be constituted in any cantonment, otherwise than in accordance with the proviso to sub-section (1) of section 14," were repealed by the Cantonments (Amendment) Act, 1936 (24 [XXIV] of 1936), S. 10. [b] Substituted by S. 10, ibid, for "the Cantonment Authority". [c] Substituted by A. O. for "Local Government".

27. (1) The following persons shall, if not otherwise disqualified, be entitled to be enrolled as Qualification of electors. electors, namely :—

- (a) every person who in any year has, on or before such date as may be fixed by the ^a[Central Government] in this behalf by notification in the ^b[Official Gazette] (hereinafter in this section referred to as the aforesaid date), been assessed directly and on his own account to taxes under this Act (other than octroi, toll or terminal tax), the aggregate value whereof is not less than such amount as the ^a[Central Government] may by rule prescribe, and who on the aforesaid date is not in arrears in the payment of any such tax ;
- (b) every person who has for a period of not less than twelve months immediately preceding the aforesaid date resided in the cantonment and on the aforesaid date —
 - (i) is the owner or the mortgagee in possession or the lessee of any building or land in the cantonment, of an annual value calculated in such manner, and of not less than such amount, as the ^a[Central Government] may by rule prescribe ; or
 - (ii) is carrying on any business in the cantonment from which he derives an annual income calculated in such manner, and of not less than such amount, as the ^a[Central Government] may by rule prescribe ; or
 - (iii) ^c[has passed the Matriculation or other equivalent examination] of any University established by law in British India ; or

Section 26 — Note 1.

[1] For the meaning of the word 'person', see S. 29.

Section 27 — Note 1.

[1] Under sub-clause (iii) of clause (b) as it stood before, the minimum qualification to be entitled to be enrolled as an elector was that the person should be a graduate. But by virtue of the amendment made in 1936, it is enough if he has passed the matriculation or other equivalent examination.

Under the new proviso added in 1936 to sub-section (2) any disqualification under clause (v) of sub-section (2) automatically terminates on the lapse of three years from the expiry of the sentence or order.

[2] For the meaning of the word 'person' and as to when 'a person shall be deemed to pay a tax directly,' see section 29. As to the removal of any member who becomes subject to any of the disqualifications mentioned in sub-section (2) of this section, see section 34 (1) (a).

^d[(iv) is a person whose name is entered on the current electoral roll of the constituency of which the cantonment forms part for the purposes of the Central or Provincial Legislatures; or]

^d[(v)] is a retired or pensioned officer, whether commissioned or non-commissioned, of His Majesty's forces;

(c) every person who has, ^e[for] a period of not less than twelve months immediately preceding the aforesaid date, resided in the cantonment and has during that period been assessed to income-tax.

^f[Explanation. — When any place is declared a cantonment for the first time or when any local area is first included in a cantonment, residence in the area comprising the cantonment on the aforesaid date shall be deemed to be residence in the cantonment for the purposes of this sub-section.]

(2) A person, notwithstanding that he is otherwise qualified, shall not be entitled to be enrolled as an elector if he on the aforesaid date —

^g[(i) is not either a British subject, or a subject of an Indian State, or]

(ii) is less than 21 years of age, or

(iii) has been adjudged by a competent Court to be of unsound mind, or

(iv) is an undischarged insolvent, or

(v) has been sentenced by a Criminal Court to imprisonment for a term exceeding ^h[two years] or to transportation ⁱ[for an offence which is declared by the ^j[Central Government] to be such as to unfit him to become an elector] ^k[* * * *] or has been sentenced by a Criminal Court for any offence under Chapter IXA of the Indian Penal Code :

Provided that the ^a[Central Government] may, by order in writing, remove any disqualification incurred by a person under clause (v);

^l[Provided further that any disqualification incurred by a person under clause (v) shall terminate on the lapse of three years from the expiry of the sentence or order.]

(3) If any person having been enrolled as an elector in any electoral roll subsequently becomes subject to any of the disqualifications referred to in clauses (i), (iii), (iv) and (v) of sub-section (2), his name shall be removed from the electoral roll unless, in the case referred to in clause (v), the disqualification is removed by the ^a[Central Government].

(b) with the previous sanction of ^c[the Officer Commanding-in-Chief, the Command and] the ^d[Provincial Government concerned], enter into an agreement with any other local authority regarding the levy of any tax or toll whereby the said tax or toll respectively leviable by the ^e[Board and by such other local authority] may be levied together instead of separately within the limits of the aggregate area comprising the areas subject to the control of the ^f[Board and such other local authority].

(2) If any difference of opinion arises between any ^g[Board and other local authority] acting together under this section, the decision thereon of the ^d[Central Government] or of an officer appointed by the ^d[Central Government] in this behalf shall be final.

(3) When any agreement such as is referred to in clause (b) of sub-section (1) has been entered into, then—

(a) where the agreement relates to an octroi or terminal tax or toll, the other local authority with which the ^g[Board] has made such agreement shall have the same powers to establish octroi limits and octroi stations and places for the collection of the terminal tax and terminal toll within the cantonment, as it has within the area ordinarily subject to its control;

(b) such other local authority shall have the same power of collecting such tax or toll in the cantonment, and the provisions of any enactment in force relating to the levy of such tax or toll by such other local authority shall apply in the same manner, as if the cantonment were comprised within the area ordinarily subject to its control; and

(c) the total of the collection of such tax and toll made in the cantonment and in the area ordinarily subject to the control of such other local authority and the costs thereby incurred shall be divided between the cantonment fund and the fund subject to the control of such other local authority, in such proportion as may have been determined by the agreement.

Definition of "annual value." 64. For the purposes of this Chapter, "annual value" means—

(a) in the case of railway stations, hotels, colleges, schools, hospitals, factories and any other buildings which a ^a[Board] decides to assess under this clause, one-twentieth of the sum obtained by adding the estimated present cost of erecting the building to the estimated value of the land appertaining thereto, and

(b) in the case of a building or land not assessed under clause (a), the gross annual rent for which such building (exclusive of furniture or machinery therein) or such land is actually let or, where the building or land is not let or in the opinion of the ^a[Board] is let for a sum less than its fair letting value, might reasonably be expected to let from year to year :

Provided that, where the annual value of any building is by reason of exceptional circumstances, in the opinion of the ^a[Board], excessive if calculated in the aforesaid manner, the ^a[Board] may fix the annual value at any less amount which appears to it to be just.

(2) In any other case, the tax shall be primarily leviable as follows, namely :—

(a) if the property is let, upon the lessor ;

(b) if the property is sub-let, upon the superior lessor ;

(c) if the property is unlet, upon the person in whom the right to let the same vests.

(3) On failure to recover any sum due on account of such tax from the person primarily liable, there may be recovered from the occupier of any part of the buildings or lands in respect of which the tax is due such portion of the sum due as bears to the whole amount due the same ratio which the rent annually payable by such occupier bears to the aggregate amount of rent so payable in respect of the whole of the said buildings or lands, or to the aggregate amount of the letting value thereof, if any, stated in the authenticated assessment list.

(4) An occupier who makes any payment for which he is not primarily liable under this section shall, in the absence of any contract to the contrary, be entitled to be reimbursed by the person primarily liable for the payment, and, if so entitled, may deduct the amount so paid from the amount of any rent from time to time becoming due from him to such person.

ment Committee who shall, at the same time, certify that they have considered all objections duly made and have amended the list so far as is required by their decisions on such objections.

(2) The assessment list so authenticated shall be deposited in the office of the ^a[Board], and shall there be open, free of charge, during office hours to all owners, lessees and occupiers of property comprised therein or the authorised agents of such persons, and a public notice that it is so open shall forthwith be published.

[a] Substituted by the Cantonments (Amendment) Act, 1936 (24 [XXIV] of 1936), S. 69, for "Cantonment Authority".

70. Subject to such alterations as may thereafter be made in the assessment list under the Evidential value of provisions of this Chapter and to the result of any appeal made there- assessment list. under, the entries in the assessment list authenticated and deposited as provided in section 69 shall be accepted as conclusive evidence—

- (i) for the purpose of assessing any tax imposed under this Act, of the annual value or other valuation of all buildings and lands to which such entries respectively refer, and
- (ii) for the purposes of any tax imposed on buildings or lands, of the amount of each such tax leviable thereon during the year to which such list relates.

Amendment of assessment list. 71. ^a[(1) The Board may amend the assessment list at any time—

- (a) by inserting or omitting the name of any person whose name ought to have been or ought to be inserted or omitted, or
- (b) by inserting or omitting any property which ought to have been or ought to be inserted or omitted, or
- (c) by altering the assessment on any property which has been erroneously valued or assessed through fraud, accident or mistake, whether on the part of the Board or of the Assessment Committee or of the assessee, or
- (d) by revaluing or re-assessing any property the value of which has been increased, or
- (e) in the case of a tax payable by an occupier, by changing the name of the occupier:

Provided that no person shall by reason of any such amendment become liable to pay any tax or increase of tax in respect of any period prior to the commencement of the year in which the assessment is made.]

^b[(1a) Before making any amendment under sub-section (1) the Board shall give to any person affected by the amendment notice of not less than one month that it proposes to make the amendment.]

(2) Any person interested in any such amendment may tender an objection to the ^c[Board] in writing before the time fixed in the notice, and shall be allowed an opportunity of being heard in support of the same in person or by authorised agent.

[a] Substituted by the Cantonments (Amendment) Act, 1936 (24 [XXIV] of 1936), S. 27, for the original sub-section. [b] Inserted by S. 27, ibid. [c] Substituted by S. 69, ibid., for "Cantonment Authority".

72. The ^a[Board] shall prepare a new assessment list at least once in every three years, and Preparation of new assessment list. for this purpose the provisions of sections 66 to 71 shall apply in like manner as they apply for the purpose of the preparation of an assessment list for the first time.

[a] Substituted by the Cantonments (Amendment) Act, 1936 (24 [XXIV] of 1936), S. 69, for "Cantonment Authority."

73. (1) Whenever the title of any person primarily liable for the payment of a tax on the annual Notice of transfers. value of any building or land to or over such building or land is transferred, the person whose title is transferred and the person to whom the same is transferred shall, within three months after the execution of the instrument of transfer or after its registration, if it is registered, or after the transfer is effected, if no instrument is executed, give notice of such transfer to the Executive Officer.

Section 71 — Note 1

[1] As to the conditions of right to appeal, see S. 87 (a).

Section 72 — Note 1

[1] "We think it unnecessary to require the preparation of a fresh assessment list every year, and have accordingly made it obligatory only once in three years."

—Select Committee Report.

(2) In the event of the death of any person primarily liable as aforesaid, the person on whom the title of the deceased devolves shall give notice of such devolution to the Executive Officer within six months from the death of the deceased.

(3) The notice to be given under this section shall be in such form as the Executive Officer may direct, and the transferee or other person on whom the title devolves shall, if so required, be bound to produce before the Executive Officer any documents evidencing the transfer or devolution.

(4) Every person who makes a transfer as aforesaid without giving such notice to the Executive Officer shall continue liable for the payment of all taxes assessed on the property transferred until he gives notice or until the transfer has been recorded in the registers of the ^a[Board], but nothing in this section shall be held to affect the liability of the transferee for the payment of the said tax.

^b[(5) The Executive Officer shall record every transfer ^c[or] devolution of title notified to him under sub-section (1) or sub-section (2) in the assessment list and other tax registers of the Board.]

74. (1) If any building is erected or re-erected within the meaning of section 179, the owner Notice of erection of buildings. shall give notice thereof to the Executive Officer within thirty days from the date of its completion or occupation, whichever is earlier.

(2) Any person failing to give the notice required by sub-section (1) shall be punishable with fine which may extend to fifty rupees or ten times the amount of the tax payable on the said building, as erected or re-erected, as the case may be, in respect of a period of three months, whichever is greater.

Remission and Refund.

75. If any building is wholly or partly demolished or destroyed or otherwise deprived of value, Demolition, etc., of buildings. the ^a[Board] may, on the application ^b[in writing] of the owner ^c[or occupier], remit or refund such portion of ^d[any tax assessed on the annual value thereof] as it thinks fit.

Charge on Immoveable Property.

80. A tax assessed on the annual value of any building or land shall, subject to the prior Tax on buildings and payment of the land-revenue, if any, due to the Government thereon, be land to be a charge thereon. a first charge upon the building or land.

Octroi, Terminal Tax and Toll.

81. Every person bringing or receiving any goods, vehicles or animals within the limits of Inspection of imported any cantonment in which octroi or terminal tax or toll is leviable, shall, goods, etc. when so required by an officer duly authorised by the ^a[Board] in this behalf, so far as may be necessary for ascertaining the amount of tax chargeable —

(a) permit that officer to inspect, examine or weigh such goods, vehicles or animals ; and

(b) communicate to that officer any information, and exhibit to him any bill, invoice or document of a like nature, which such person may possess relating to such goods, vehicles or animals.

82. (1) Any person who takes or attempts to take past any octroi station or any other place Evasion of octroi or appointed within a cantonment for the collection of octroi, terminal tax or terminal tax. toll any goods, vehicles or animals, on account of which octroi, terminal tax or toll is leviable and thereby evades, or attempts to evade, the payment of such octroi, terminal tax or toll, and any person who abets any such evasion, or attempt at evasion,

Section 81 — Note 1

[1] As to the meaning of the word ‘imported’, see (1897) 22 Bom 843 (844).

Section 82 — Note 1

[1] “We have re-drafted the first part of sub-clause (1) of this clause in order to meet an objection made to the original clause that, as octroi limits are frequently situated some distance inside the boundary of a cantonment, a person would be unable either to pay or tender octroi before introducing into the cantonment the goods on which the tax is payable.” — Select Committee Report.

shall be punishable with fine which may extend either to ten times the value of such octroi, terminal tax or toll, or to fifty rupees, whichever is greater and which shall not be less than twice the value of such octroi, terminal tax or toll, as the case may be.

(2) In case of non-payment of any octroi or terminal tax or toll on demand, the officer empowered to collect the same may seize any goods, vehicles or animals on which the octroi, terminal tax or toll is chargeable or any part or number thereof which is of sufficient value to satisfy the demand ^a and shall give a receipt specifying the items seized.]

(3) The ^b [Board], after the lapse of five days from the seizure, and after the issue of a notice in writing to the person in whose possession the goods, vehicles or animals were at the time of seizure, fixing the time and place of sale, may cause the property so seized, or so much thereof as may be necessary, to be sold by auction to satisfy the demand and any expenses occasioned by the seizure, custody and sale thereof, unless the demand and expenses are in the meantime paid :

Provided that the Executive Officer may, in any case, order that any article of a perishable nature which cannot be kept for five days without serious risk of damage, or which cannot be kept save at a cost which, together with the amount of octroi, terminal tax or toll, is likely to exceed its value, shall be sold after the lapse of such shorter time as he may, having regard to the nature of the article, think proper.

(4) If, at any time before the sale has begun, the person whose property has been seized tenders to the Executive Officer the amount of all expenses incurred and of the octroi, terminal tax or toll, the Executive Officer shall release the property seized.

(5) The surplus, if any, of the sale-proceeds shall be credited to the cantonment fund, and shall, on application made to the ^b [Board] within one year after the sale, be paid to the person in whose possession the property was at the time of seizure, and, if no such application is made, shall be the property of the ^b [Board].

[a] Inserted by the Cantonments (Amendment) Act, 1936 (24 [XXIV] of 1936), S. 31. [b] Substituted by S. 69, ibid, for "Cantonment Authority".

83. It shall be lawful for the ^a [Board], with the previous sanction of the ^b [Officer Commanding-Lease of octroi, terminal in-Chief, the Command,] to lease the collection of any octroi, terminal tax or toll. tax or toll for any period not exceeding one year ; and the lessee and all persons employed by him in the management and collection of the octroi, terminal tax or toll shall, in respect thereof,—

(a) be bound by any orders made by the ^a [Board] for their guidance ;

(b) have such powers exercisable by officers or servants of the ^a [Board] under this Act as the ^a [Board] may confer upon them ; and

(c) be entitled to the same remedies and be subject to the same responsibilities as if they were employed by the ^a [Board] for the management and collection of the octroi, terminal tax or toll, as the case may be :

Provided that no article distrained may be sold except under the orders of the ^a [Board].

[a] Substituted by the Cantonments (Amendment) Act, 1936 (24 [XXIV] of 1936), S. 69, for "Cantonment Authority." [b] Substituted by the Cantonments (Amendment) Act, 1926 (35 [XXXV] of 1926), S. 2, for "Officer Commanding the District."

Appeals.

84. (1) An appeal against the assessment or levy of, or against the refusal to refund, any Appeals against tax under this Act shall lie to the District Magistrate or to such other officer assessment. as may be empowered by the ^a [Central Government] in this behalf :

Provided that, where ^b [* * *] the person to whom the appeal would ordinarily lie is, or was when the tax was imposed, a member of the Board, the appeal shall lie to the Commissioner of the Division, or, in a Province where there are no Commissioners, to the District Judge.

Section 84 — Note 1 — Suit for refund of tax

[1] Where a plaintiff brings a suit for the refund of tax assessed under this Act, if the Court is of opinion that the tax levied is ultra vires of the Act, the civil Court will have jurisdiction to entertain the suit; but not if the tax levied is intra vires. (Vol 26) 1939 Lah 147 (148).

[2] The jurisdiction of the civil Court is excluded in all matters relating to any valuation, assessment, liability to assessment or taxation by the Board. (Vol 20) 1933 All 163 (165).

[3] Section 84 gives a remedy to an aggrieved person against the levy of tax. Section 88 provides that an order passed by an appellate authority shall be final. Hence, the remedy of the person to resort to a civil Court for refund of excess tax or for an injunction restraining the Cantonment Authorities to levy alleged excess tax in future is clearly barred. (Vol 24) 1937 Sind 305 (306).

(2) If, on the hearing of an appeal under this section, any question as to the liability to, or the principle of assessment of, a tax arises on which the officer hearing the appeal entertains reasonable doubt, he may, either of his own motion or on the application of the appellant, draw up a statement of the facts of the case and the point on which doubt is entertained, and refer the statement with his own opinion on the point for the decision of the High Court.

(3) On a reference being made under sub-section (2), the subsequent proceedings in the case shall be, as nearly as may be, in conformity with the rules relating to references to the High Court contained in Order XLVI of the First Schedule to the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908.

[a] Substituted by A. O. for "Local Government." [b] The words "there is a Board and" were repealed by the Cantonments (Amendment) Act, 1936 (24 [XXIV] of 1936), S. 32.

85. In every appeal the costs shall be in the discretion of the officer hearing the appeal.

86. If the ^a[Board] fails to pay any costs awarded to an appellant within ten days after the date of the order for payment thereof, the Officer awarding the costs may order the person having the custody of the balance of the cantonment fund to pay the amount.

[a] Substituted by the Cantonments (Amendment) Act, 1936 (24 [XXIV] of 1936), S. 69, for "Cantonment Authority."

Conditions of right to appeal. 87. No appeal shall be heard or determined under this Chapter unless —

(a) the appeal is, in the case of a tax assessed on the annual value of buildings or lands or both, brought within thirty days next after the date of the authentication of the assessment list under section 69 (exclusive of the time requisite for obtaining a copy of the relevant entries therein), or, as the case may be, within thirty days of the date on which an amendment is finally made under section 71, and, in the case of any other tax, within thirty days next after the date of the receipt of the notice of assessment or of alteration of assessment or, if no notice has been given, within thirty days next after the date of the presentation of the first bill in respect thereof:

Provided that an appeal may be admitted after the expiration of the period prescribed therefor by this section if the appellant satisfies the Court before whom the appeal is preferred that he had sufficient cause for not preferring it within that period;

(b) the amount, if any, in dispute in the appeal has been deposited by the appellant in the office of the ^a[Board].

[a] Substituted by the Cantonments (Amendment) Act, 1936 (24 [XXIV] of 1936), S. 69, for "Cantonment Authority".

88. The order of an appellate authority confirming, setting aside or modifying an order in respect of any valuation or assessment or liability to assessment or taxation shall be final.

Provided that it shall be lawful for the appellate authority, upon application or on its own motion, to review any order passed by it in appeal if application in this behalf is made within three months from the date of the original order.

Payment and Recovery of Taxes.

Time and manner of payment of taxes. 89. Save as otherwise expressly provided under this Act, any tax imposed under the provisions of this Act shall be payable on such dates and in such instalments, if any, as the ^a[Board] may, by public notice, direct.

[a] Substituted by the Cantonments (Amendment) Act, 1936 (24 [XXIV] of 1936), S. 69, for "Cantonment Authority."

90. (1) When any tax has become due, the Executive Officer shall cause to be presented to the person liable for the payment thereof a bill for the amount due.

(2) Every such bill shall specify the particulars of the tax and the period for which the charge is made.

91. (1) If the amount of the tax for which any bill has been presented is not paid to the ^a[Board] within thirty days from the presentation thereof, the Executive Officer may cause to be served upon the person liable for the payment of the same a notice of demand in the form set forth in Schedule I.

(2) For every notice of demand which the Executive Officer causes to be served on any person under this section, a fee of such amount, not exceeding one rupee, as shall in each case be fixed by the Executive Officer, shall be payable by the said person and shall be included in the costs of recovery.

[a] Substituted by the Cantonments (Amendment) Act, 1936 (24 [XXIV] of 1936), S. 69, for "Cantonment Authority".

92. (1) If the person liable for the payment of any tax does not, within thirty days from the Recovery of tax. service of the notice of demand, pay the amount due, or show sufficient cause for non-payment of the same to the satisfaction of the Executive Officer, such sum, with all costs of recovery, may be recovered under a warrant, issued in the form set forth in Schedule II, by distress and sale of the moveable property of the defaulter :

Provided that the Executive Officer shall not recover any sum the liability for which has been remitted on appeal under this Chapter.

(2) Every warrant issued under this section shall be signed by the Executive Officer.

93. (1) It shall be lawful for any servant of the ^a[Board] to whom a warrant issued under Distress. section 92 is addressed to distrain, wherever it may be found ^b[in the cantonment], any moveable property of ^b[or standing timber, growing crops or grass belonging to] the person therein named as defaulter, subject to the following conditions, exceptions and exemptions; namely :—

(a) the following property shall not be distrained :—

- (i) the necessary wearing apparel and bedding of the defaulter, his wife and children,
- (ii) tools of artisans,
- (iii) books of account, or
- (iv) when the defaulter is an agriculturist, his implements of husbandry, seed-grain, and such cattle as may be necessary to enable the defaulter to earn his livelihood ;

(b) the distress shall not be excessive, that is to say, the property distrained shall be as nearly as possible equal in value to the amount recoverable under the warrant, and if any property has been distrained which, in the opinion of the Executive Officer, should not have been distrained, it shall forthwith be returned.

(2) The person charged with the execution of a warrant of distress shall forthwith make an inventory of the property which he seizes under such warrant, and shall, at the same time, give a written notice in the form set forth in Schedule III to the person in possession thereof at the time of seizure that the said property will be sold as therein mentioned.

[a] Substituted by the Cantonments (Amendment) Act, 1936 (24 [XXIV] of 1936), S. 69, for "Cantonment Authority". [b] Inserted by S. 33, ibid.

94. (1) When the property seized is subject to speedy and natural decay, or when the Disposal of distrained property. expense of keeping it in custody is, when added to the amount to be recovered, likely to exceed its value, the Executive Officer shall give notice to the person in whose possession the property was at the time of seizure that it will be sold at once, and shall sell it accordingly by public auction unless the amount mentioned in the warrant is forthwith paid.

(2) If the warrant is not in the meantime suspended by the Executive Officer, or discharged, the property seized shall, after the expiry of the period named in the notice served under sub-section (2) of section 93, be sold by public auction by order of the Executive Officer.

(3) The surplus of the sale-proceeds, if any, shall forthwith be credited to the cantonment fund, and notice of such credit shall be given at the same time to the person from whose possession the property was taken, and, if the same is claimed by written application to the ^a[Board] within one year from the date of the notice, a refund thereof shall be made to such person. Any surplus not claimed within one year as aforesaid shall be the property of the ^a[Board].

(4) For every distraint made under this Chapter a fee of such amount, not exceeding one rupee, as shall in each case be fixed by the Executive Officer shall be charged, and the said fee shall be included in the costs of recovery.

[a] Substituted by the Cantonments (Amendment) Act, 1936 (24 [XXIV] of 1936), S. 69, for "Cantonment Authority".

Section 93 — Note 1

[1] As to whether a distraint becomes invalid by reason of immaterial defect, see section 105.

Section 94 — Note 1

[1] "We have made a slight amendment in sub-clauses (1) and (2) which will require distrained property, if sold, to be sold by public auction." — Select Committee Report.

95. (1) If the Executive Officer has reason to believe that any person from whom any sum Recovery from a person is due ^a[or is about to become due] on account of any tax is about to about to leave cantonment. remove from the cantonment, he may direct the immediate payment by such person of the sum so due or about to become due, and cause a bill for the same to be served on such person.

(2) If, on the service of such bill, such person does not forthwith pay the sum so due or about to become due, the amount shall be leviable by distress and sale in the manner hereinbefore provided in this Chapter, except that it shall not be necessary to serve upon the defaulter any notice of demand and the warrant for distress and sale may be issued and executed without any delay.

[a] Inserted by the Repealing and Amending Act, 1930 (8 [VIII] of 1930), S. 2 and Schedule I.

96. Instead of proceeding against a defaulter by distress and sale as hereinbefore provided Power to institute in this Chapter, or after a defaulter has been so proceeded against unsuccessfully suit for recovery. fully or with only partial success, any sum due or the balance of any sum due, as the case may be, from such defaulter on account of a tax may be recovered from him by a suit in any Court of competent jurisdiction.

Special Provisions relating to Taxation.

Power to prohibit or exempt from taxation. 97. Every ^a[Board] shall be deemed to be a Municipal Committee for the purposes of the Municipal Taxation Act, 1881.

[a] Substituted by the Cantonments (Amendment) Act, 1936 (24 [XXIV] of 1936), S. 69, for "Cantonment Authority".

98. A ^a[Board] may make special provision for the cleansing of any factory, hotel, club or Power to make special provision for conservancy in certain cases. group of buildings or lands used for any one purpose and under one management, and may fix a special rate and the dates and other conditions for periodical payment thereof, which shall be determined by a written agreement with the person liable for the payment of the conservancy or scavenging tax in respect of such factory, hotel, club or group of buildings or lands :

Provided that, in fixing the amount, proper regard shall be had to the probable cost to the ^a[Board] of the services to be rendered.

103. (1) The Executive Officer may, by written notice, call upon any inhabitant of the Obligation to disclose liability. cantonment to furnish such information as may be necessary for the purpose of ascertaining—

(a) whether such inhabitant is liable to pay any tax imposed under this Act;

(b) at what amount he should be assessed; or

(c) the annual value of the building or land which he occupies and the name and address of the owner or lessee thereof.

(2) If any person, when called upon under sub-section (1) to furnish information, neglects to furnish it or furnishes information which is not true to the best of his knowledge or belief, he shall be punishable with fine which may extend to one hundred rupees.

104. No assessment and no charge or demand on account of any tax or fee shall be impeached Immaterial error not to affect liability. or affected by reason only of any mistake in the name of any person liable to pay such tax or fee, or in the description of any property or thing, or any mistake in the amount of the assessment, charge or demand, if the directions contained in this Act and the rules and bye-laws made thereunder have in substance and effect been complied with; but any person who sustains any special damage by reason of any such mistake shall be entitled to recover compensation for the same by suit in a Court of competent jurisdiction.

105. No distress levied under this Chapter shall be deemed unlawful, nor shall any person Distraint not to be invalid by reason of immaterial defect. making the same be deemed a trespasser, on account only of any defect of form in the notice of demand, warrant of distress or other proceeding relating thereto; nor shall any such person be deemed a trespasser ab initio on account of any irregularity afterwards committed by him; but any person who sustains any special damage by reason of any such irregularity shall be entitled to recover compensation for the same by suit in a Court of competent jurisdiction.

CHAPTER VI

CANTONMENT FUND AND PROPERTY.

Cantonment Fund.

106. There shall be formed for every cantonment a cantonment fund, and Cantonment fund. there shall be placed to the credit thereof the following sums, namely:—

(a) the balance, if any, of the cantonment fund formed for the cantonment under the Cantonments Act, 1910,

Section 106 — Note 1

107. (1) Where in or near a cantonment there is a Government treasury or sub-treasury, or Custody of cantonment fund. a branch of the Imperial Bank of India, the cantonment fund shall be kept in such treasury, sub-treasury or bank, as the case may be.

(2) Where there is no such treasury, sub-treasury or bank, the cantonment fund may be deposited with any bank to which the Government treasury business has been entrusted, and, in the absence of such a bank, with any banker or person acting as a banker who has given such security for the safe custody of the fund and the payment on demand of the funds so deposited as the ^a[Central Government] may in each case direct.

^b(3) A ^c[Board] may, from time to time, with the previous sanction of the ^d[Officer Commanding-in-Chief, the Command], invest any portion of its cantonment fund in securities of the ^e[Central Government] or in such other securities, including fixed deposits in banks, as the ^a[Central Government] may approve in this behalf, and may dispose of such investments or vary them for others of a like nature.]

(4) The income resulting from any fixed deposit or from any such security as is referred to in sub-section (3) or from the proceeds of the sale of any such security shall be credited to the cantonment fund.

criminal law. If, therefore, the Indian Legislature chose to legislate as regards any Courts of criminal jurisdiction in a Province, including the Courts in cantonment areas, such legislation would prevail over any provincial legislation with respect to the administration of justice within the Province. A suit was instituted by the United Provinces against the Central Government for a declaration that S. 106 (c) was ultra vires the then Legislature and all fines imposed and realised by criminal Courts for offences committed within the cantonment areas should be credited to the provincial revenues and that the United Provinces were entitled to recover and adjust all sums wrongly credited to the cantonment funds since 1924. It was held (i) that the United Provinces were not entitled to a declaration that provisions of S. 106 (c) were ultra vires; (ii) that S. 106 (c) was a law in force immediately before the commencement of Part III of the Government of India Act, 1935, and under the India and Burma (Transitory Provisions) Order 1937, such fines credited to the cantonment funds must be deemed not to form part of the revenues of the United Provinces till 31st March 1939; and (iii) that as S. 106 (c) has been deleted under the Government of India (Adaptation of Indian Laws) Order, 1937, all such fines should be credited to the provincial revenues from 1st April 1939. Dogs.

Registration and control of dogs. 119. (1) A ^a[Board] may make bye-laws to provide for the registration of all dogs kept within the cantonment.

(2) Such bye-laws shall —

- (a) require the registration, by the Officer Commanding each military unit, of all dogs kept in the lines occupied by that unit;
- (b) require that every registered dog shall wear a collar to which shall be attached a metal token to be issued by the registration authority, and fix the fee payable for the issue thereof;
- (c) require that any dog which has not been registered or which is not wearing such token shall, if found in any public place, be detained at a place set apart for the purpose; and

- (d) fix the fee which shall be charged for such detention and provide that any such dog shall be liable to be destroyed or otherwise disposed of unless it is claimed and the fee in respect thereof is paid within one week ; and may provide for such other matters as the ^a[Board] thinks fit.

(3) A ^a[Board] may —

- (a) cause to be destroyed, or to be confined for such period as ^b[it] may direct, any dog or other animal which is, or is reasonably suspected to be, suffering from rabies, or which has been bitten by any dog or other animal suffering or suspected to be suffering from rabies ;
- (b) by public notice direct that, after such date as may be specified in the notice, dogs which are without collars or without marks distinguishing them as private property and are found straying on the streets or beyond the enclosures of the houses of their owners, if any, may be destroyed, and cause them to be destroyed accordingly.

(4) No damages shall be payable in respect of any dog or other animal destroyed or otherwise disposed of under this section.

(5) Whoever, being the owner or person in charge of any dog, neglects to restrain it so that it shall not be at large in any street without being muzzled and without being secured by a chain lead in any case in which —

- (a) he knows that the dog is likely to annoy or intimidate any person, or
- (b) the ^a[Board] has, by public notice during the prevalence of rabies, directed that dogs shall not be at large without muzzles and chain leads, shall be punishable with fine which may extend to one hundred rupees.

(6) Whoever in a cantonment —

- (a) allows any ferocious dog which belongs to him or is in his charge to be at large without being muzzled, or
- (b) sets on or urges any dog or other animal to attack, worry or intimidate any person, or
- (c) knowing or having reason to believe that any dog or animal belonging to him or in his charge has been bitten by an animal suffering or reasonably suspected to be suffering from rabies, neglects to give immediate information of the fact to the Executive Officer or gives information which is false, shall be punishable with fine which may extend to two hundred rupees.

Traffic.

120. Whoever in driving, leading or propelling a vehicle along a street fails, except in a case of actual necessity, —

- (a) to keep to the left when passing a vehicle coming from the opposite direction, or
- (b) to keep to the right when passing a vehicle going in the same direction as himself, shall be punishable with fine which may extend to fifty rupees.

Prevention of Fire, etc.

121. (1) A ^a[Board] may, by public notice, direct that within such limits in the cantonment

Use of inflammable materials for building purposes. as may be specified in the notice, the roofs and external walls of huts or other buildings shall not, without the permission in writing of the ^a[Board], be made or renewed of grass, mats, leaves or other inflammable materials, and may, by notice in writing, require any person who has disobeyed any such direction as aforesaid to remove or alter the roofs or walls so made or renewed.

(2) A ^a[Board] may, by notice in writing, require the owner of any building in the cantonment which has an external roof or wall made of any such material as aforesaid to remove such roof or wall within such time as may be specified in the notice, notwithstanding that a public notice under sub-section (1) has not been issued or that such roof or wall was made with the consent of the ^a[Board] or before the issue of such public notice :

Provided that, in the case of any such roof or wall in existence before the issue of such a public notice or made with the consent of the ^a[Board], that Authority^b shall make compensation, not exceeding the original cost of constructing the roof or wall, for any damage caused by the removal.

122. A ^a[Board] may, by public notice, prohibit in any case where such prohibition appears Stacking or collecting to it to be necessary for the prevention of danger to life or property, the inflammable materials. stacking or collecting of wood, dry grass, straw or other inflammable materials, or the placing of mats or thatched huts or the lighting of fires in any place in the cantonment, or within any limits therein, which may be specified in the notice.

[a] Substituted by the Cantonments (Amendment) Act, 1936 (24 [XXIV] of 1936), S. 69, for "Cantonment Authority."

123. No person shall set a naked light on or near any building in any street or other public Care of naked lights. place in a cantonment in such manner as to cause danger of fire:

Provided that nothing in this section shall be deemed to prohibit the use, subject to the permission in writing of the ^a[Board], of lights for purposes of illumination on the occasion of a festival or public or private entertainment.

[a] Substituted by the Cantonments (Amendment) Act, 1936 (24 [XXIV] of 1936), S. 69, for "Cantonment Authority."

124. (1) Notwithstanding anything contained in the Cinematograph Act, 1918, no exhibition Regulation of cinematic and dramatic performances. of pictures or other optical effects by means of a cinematograph or other like apparatus for the purpose of which inflammable films are used, and no public dramatic performance or pantomime, shall be given in any cantonment elsewhere than in premises for which a licence has been granted by the ^a[Board] under this section.

(2) If the owner of a cinematograph or other apparatus uses the apparatus or allows it to be used, or if any person takes any part in any public dramatic performance or pantomime, in contravention of the provisions of this section, or if the occupier of any premises allows them to be used in contravention of the provisions of this section or of any condition of any licence granted under this section, he shall be punishable with fine which may extend to two hundred rupees, and, in the case of a continuing offence, with an additional fine which may extend to fifty rupees for each day after the first during which the offence continues.

(3) Nothing in this section shall be deemed to prohibit the giving of any exhibition or any dramatic performance or pantomime in any theatre or institute which is the property of ^b[the Crown] where the exhibition, performance or pantomime is held with the permission and under the control of the military authorities.

[a] Substituted by S. 69 of the Cantonments (Amendment) Act, 1936 (24 [XXIV] of 1936) for "Cantonment Authority". [b] Substituted by A. O. for "Government".

125. Whoever in a cantonment discharges any fire-arm or lets off fire-works or fire-balloons, Discharging fire-works, fire-arms, etc. or engages in any game in such manner as to cause or to be likely to cause danger to persons passing by or dwelling or working in the neighbourhood or risk of injury to property shall be liable to fine which may extend to fifty rupees.

126. Where in a cantonment any building, or wall, or anything affixed thereto, or any well, Power to require buildings, wells, etc., to be rendered safe. tank, reservoir, pool, depression, or excavation, or any bank or tree, is in the opinion of the ^a[Board], ^b[in a ruinous state or], for want of sufficient repairs, protection or enclosure, ^b[a nuisance or] dangerous to persons passing by or dwelling or working in the neighbourhood, the ^a[Board] ^c[by notice in

[1] There was a conflict of opinion as to whether S. 126 requires the Board to give, to the owner of property in regard to which action is taken under the section, an option whether to remove the same or to repair it or whether the Board can require the removal without such option. The amendment made to section in 1944 now sets the conflict at rest by establishing the latter view.

[2] Option to determine question whether the building is in a dangerous condition and whether the owner shall be required to remove or repair the same is an option given to the Board and not to the owner. (Vol 6) 1919 Bom 172 (173); 20 Cri L Jour 697.

[3] A notice, which does not specify at all what kind of repairs the cantonment authority requires the owner to make to the houses specified in the notice, is illegal. (1912) 13 Cri L Jour 17 (17, 18).

[4] The cantonment authorities have discretion to issue orders to repair buildings for public safety and Courts have no jurisdiction to interfere. (1904) 1904 Pun Re No. 19, p. 56.

[5] Cantonment committee must give the owner of a building destroyed by fire the option of removing its remains or repairing it and a conviction for failure to comply with a notice without the option is illegal. (1905) 1905 Pun Re No. 23, p. 56; 3 Cri L Jour 301 (302).

CHAPTER X.

SANITATION AND THE PREVENTION AND TREATMENT OF DISEASE.

Sanitary Authorities.

128. The following officers shall, for the purposes of sanitation, have control over, and be Responsibility for sanitation. responsible for maintaining in a sanitary condition, those parts of a cantonment, respectively, which are specified in the case of each, that is to say:—

- (a) the ^a[Officer Commanding the station]—all buildings and lands which are occupied or used for military purposes;
- (b) the Officer Commanding the air forces in the cantonment—all buildings and lands which are occupied or used for air-force purposes;
- (c) the head of any civil department or railway administration occupying as such any part of the cantonment—all buildings and lands in his charge as head of that department or administration.

[a] Substituted by the Cantonments (Amendment) Act, 1925 (7 [VII] of 1925), S. 14, for "Commanding Officer of the Cantonment".

129. (1) The Health Officer shall exercise a general sanitary supervision over the whole General duties of Health Officer. cantonment and shall submit monthly to the ^a[Board] a report as to the sanitary condition of the cantonment, together with such recommendations in connection therewith as he thinks fit.

(2) The Assistant Health Officer shall perform such duties in connection with the sanitation of the cantonment as are, subject to the control of the ^a[Board], allotted to him by the Health Officer.

[a] Substituted by the Cantonments (Amendment) Act, 1936 (24 [XXIV] of 1936), S. 69, for "Cantonment Authority".

Conservancy and Sanitation.

130. All public latrines and urinals provided or maintained by a ^a[Board] shall be so Public latrines, urinals and conservancy establishments. constructed as to provide separate compartments for each sex and not to be a nuisance, and shall be provided with all necessary conservancy establishments, and shall regularly be cleansed and kept in proper order.

[a] Substituted by the Cantonments (Amendment) Act, 1936 (24 [XXIV] of 1936), S. 69, for "Cantonment Authority".

Section 126 (contd.)

[6] The section does not contemplate the issue of a notice for effecting repairs to houses that may be dangerous to the tenants or un-inhabitable. Where the repairs are not necessary for "public safety" the issue of notice is illegal and conviction based thereon is illegal. (1906) 1906 Pun Re No. 1 p. 4 (Cr). See also the following case. (1907) 5 Cri L Jour 493 (495). (Case under 1899 Code—Notice issued without resolution of cantonment committee—Conviction for non-compliance of notice is illegal.)

Chapter X — Note 1

[1] As to the power of the Central Government to extend any of the provisions of Chap. X to any area beyond a cantonment and in the vicinity thereof, see S. 286.

131. (1) On the application or with the consent of the occupier of any building or land, or, where the occupier of any building or land fails to make arrangements to the satisfaction of the ^a[Board] for the matters referred to in this section, without such consent, and after giving notice in writing to the occupier, a ^a[Board] may undertake the house scavenging of any building or land in the cantonment for such period as it thinks fit on such terms as it may prescribe in this behalf.

(2) Where the ^a[Board] has undertaken the duties referred to in this section, all matter removed in the performance of such duties shall be the property of that ^b[Board].

(3) For the purposes of this section, "house scavenging" means the removal of filth or rubbish or other offensive matter from a privy, latrine, urinal, drain, cesspool, or other common receptacle for such matter.

[a] Substituted by the Cantonments (Amendment) Act, 1936 (24 [XXIV] of 1936), S. 69, for "Cantonment Authority". [b] Substituted for the word "Authority" by the Repealing and Amending Act, 1939 (34 [XXXIV] of 1939), S. 2 and Sch. I. [28-9-1939].

132. (1) Every ^a[Board] shall provide or appoint, in proper and convenient situations, public receptacles, depots or places for the temporary deposit or disposal of household rubbish, offensive matter, carcasses of dead animals and sewage.

(2) The ^a[Board] may, by public notice, issue directions as to the time at which, the manner in which, and the conditions subject to which, any matter referred to in sub-section (1) may be removed along a street or may be deposited or otherwise disposed of.

(3) All matter deposited in receptacles, depots or places provided or appointed under this section shall be the property of the ^a[Board].

[a] Substituted by the Cantonments (Amendment) Act, 1936 (24 [XXIV] of 1936), S. 69, for "Cantonment Authority".

Cesspools, receptacles for filth, etc. 133. The Executive Officer of any cantonment may, by notice in writing, —

(a) require any person having the control whether as owner, lessee or occupier of any land or building in the cantonment —

(i) to close any cesspool appertaining to the land or building which is, in the opinion of the Executive Officer, a nuisance, or

(ii) to keep in a clean condition, in such manner as may be prescribed by the notice, any receptacle for filth or sewage accumulating on the land or in the building, or

(iii) to prevent the water of any private latrine, urinal, sink or bathroom or any other offensive matter, from soaking, draining or flowing, or being put, from the land or building upon any street or other public place, or into any water-course or into any drain not intended for the purpose; or

(iv) to collect and deposit for removal by the conservancy establishment of the ^a[Board], within such time and in such receptacle or place, situate at not more than one hundred feet from the nearest boundary of the premises, as may be specified in the notice, any offensive matter or rubbish which such person has allowed to accumulate or remain under, in or on such building or land; or

(b) require any person to desist from making or altering any drain leading into a public drain; or

(c) require any person having the control of a drain in the cantonment to cleanse, purify, repair or alter the same, or otherwise put it in good order, within such time as may be specified in the notice.

[a] Substituted by the Cantonments (Amendment) Act, 1936 (24 [XXIV] of 1936), S. 69, for "Cantonment Authority".

134. (1) Where any well, tank, cistern, reservoir, receptacle, or other place in the cantonment where water is stored or accumulates, whether within any private enclosure or not, is in such a condition as to create a nuisance or, in the opinion of the Health Officer, or the Filling up of tank, etc. Assistant Health Officer, is or is likely to be a breeding place for mosquitoes, the ^a[Board] may, by notice in writing, require the owner, lessee or occupier thereof, within such period as may be specified in the notice, to fill up or cover the well, cistern, reservoir or receptacle, or to fill up the tank, or to drain off or remove the water, as the case may be.

(2) The ^a[Board] may, if it thinks fit, with the previous sanction of the ^b[Officer Commanding-in-Chief, the Command,] meet the whole or any portion of the expenses incurred in complying with a requisition under sub-section (1).

135. A ^a[Board] may, by notice in writing, require the owner or lessee of any building or Provision of land in the cantonment to provide, in such manner as may be specified in the latrines, etc. notice, any latrine, urinal, cesspool, dust-bin or other receptacle for filth, sewage, or rubbish, or any additional latrine, urinal, cesspool or other receptacle as aforesaid, which should in its opinion, be provided for the building or land.

[a] Substituted by the Cantonments (Amendment) Act, 1936 (24 [XXIV] of 1936), S. 69, for Cantonment Authority".

136. Every person employing, whether on behalf of the Government or otherwise, more than Sanitation in factories, ten workmen or labourers, and every person managing or having control of a market, school, theatre or other place of public resort, in a cantonment shall give notice of the fact to the ^a[Board], and shall provide such latrines, and urinals, and shall employ such number of sweepers, as the ^a[Board] thinks fit, and shall cause the latrines and urinals to be kept clean and in proper order :

Provided that nothing in this section shall apply in the case of a factory to which the Indian Factories Act, 1911, ^b applies.

[a] Substituted by the Cantonments (Amendment) Act, 1936 (24 [XXIV] of 1936), S. 69, for "Cantonment Authority". [b] See now the Indian Factories Act, 1934 (25 [XXV] of 1934).

Private latrines.

137. A ^a[Board] may, by notice in writing, —

- (a) require the owner or other person having the control of any private latrine or urinal in the cantonment not to put the same to public use ; or
- (b) where any plan for the construction of private latrines or urinals has been approved by the ^a[Board], and copies thereof may be obtained free of charge on application, —
 - (i) require any person repairing or constructing any private latrine or urinal not to allow the same to be used until it has been inspected by or under the direction of the Health Officer and approved by him as conforming with such plan ; or
 - (ii) require any person having control of any private latrine or urinal to re-build or alter the same in accordance with such plan ; or
- (c) require the owner or other person having the control of any such private latrine or urinal which, in the opinion of the ^a[Board], constitutes a nuisance, to remove the latrine or urinal ; or
- (d) require any person having the control whether as owner, lessee or occupier of any land or building in the cantonment —
 - (i) to have any latrines provided for the same shut out by a sufficient roof and wall or fence from the view of persons passing by or dwelling in the neighbourhood, or
 - (ii) to cleanse in such manner as the ^a[Board] may specify in the notice any latrine or urinal belonging to the land or building ;
- (e) require any person being the owner and having the control of any drain in the cantonment to provide, within ten days from the service of the notice, such covering as may be specified in the notice.

[a] Substituted by the Cantonments (Amendment) Act, 1936 (24 [XXIV] of 1936), S. 69, for "Cantonment Authority".

138. (1) Where it appears to a ^a[Board] that any block of buildings in the cantonment is in Removal of congested an unhealthy condition by reason of the manner in which the buildings are buildings. crowded together, or of the narrowness or closeness of the street, or of the want of proper drainage or ventilation, or of the impracticability of cleansing the buildings or other similar cause, it may cause the block to be inspected by a committee consisting of —

- (a) the Health Officer,

Section 137 — Note 1

[1] As to whether all proceedings to enforce the order and all prosecutions for any contravention thereof shall be held in abeyance pending the decision of the appeal from an order under S. 137 (a), see S. 276.

(b) the Civil Surgeon of the district, or, if his services are not available, some other medical officer ^b[in the service of the Crown].

(c) the Executive Engineer or a person deputed by the Executive Engineer in this behalf, and

^c[(d) Where the cantonment is a Class I or Class II cantonment, two non-official members of the Board, or where the cantonment is a Class III cantonment, one non-official member of the Board.]

(2) The committee shall make a report in writing to the ^a[Board] regarding the sanitary conditions of the block, and if it considers that the condition thereof is likely to cause risk of disease to the inhabitants of the building or of the neighbourhood or otherwise to endanger the public health, it shall clearly indicate on a plan verified by the Executive Engineer or the person deputed by him to serve on the committee, the buildings which should in its opinion wholly or in part be removed in order to abate the unhealthy condition of the block.

(3) If, upon receipt of such report, the ^a[Board] is of opinion that all or any buildings indicated should be removed, it may, by notice in writing, require the owners thereof to remove them :

Provided that the ^a[Board] shall make compensation to the owners for any buildings so removed which may have been erected under proper authority :

Provided, further, that the ^a[Board] may, if it considers it equitable in the circumstances so to do, pay to the owners such sum as it thinks fit as compensation for any buildings so removed which have not been erected under proper authority.

(4) For the purposes of this section "buildings" includes enclosure walls and fences appertaining to buildings.

139. (1) Where it appears to a ^a[Board] that any building or part of a building in the Overcrowding of cantonment which is used as a dwelling house is so overcrowded as to endanger the health of the inmates thereof, it may, after such inquiry as it thinks fit, by notice in writing require the owner or occupier of the building or part thereof, as the case may be, within such time not being less than one month as may be specified in the notice, to abate the overcrowding of the same by reducing the number of lodgers, tenants, or other inmates to such number as may be specified in the notice.

(2) Any person who fails, without reasonable cause, to comply with a requisition made upon him under sub-section (1) shall be punishable with fine which may extend to fifty rupees, and, in the case of a continuing offence, to an additional fine which may extend to five rupees for every day after the first during which the failure has continued.

[a] Substituted by the Cantonments (Amendment) Act, 1936 (24 [XXIV] of 1936), S. 69, for "Cantonment Authority".

140. (1) Where any building in a cantonment is so ill-constructed or dilapidated as to be, Power to require repair or alteration of building. in the opinion of the ^a[Board], in an insanitary state, the ^a[Board] may, by notice in writing, require the owner, within such time as may be specified in the notice, to execute such repairs or to make such alterations as it thinks necessary for the purpose of removing such defects.

(2) A copy of every notice issued under sub-section (1) shall be conspicuously posted on the building to which it relates.

(3) A notice issued under sub-section (1) shall be deemed to have been complied with if the owner of the building to which it relates has, instead of executing the repairs or making the alterations directed by the notice, removed the building.

Section 140 — Note 1

[1] As to whether all proceedings to enforce the order and all prosecutions for any contravention thereof shall be held in abeyance pending the decision of the appeal from an order under this section, see S. 276.

141. (1) The Executive Officer may, by notice in writing, require the owner, lessee or occupier of any building or land in the cantonment, which appears to be in a filthy or insanitary state, within twenty-four hours to cleanse the same or otherwise put it in a proper state, in such manner as may be specified in the notice.

(2) If, within three months from the date of the service of a notice under sub-section (1), any building or land in respect of which the notice was issued is again in a filthy or insanitary state, the owner, lessee or occupier, as the case may be, shall be punishable with fine which may extend to two hundred rupees.

142. If a ^a[Board] is satisfied that any building or part of a building in the cantonment which is intended for or used as a dwelling place is unfit for human habitation, it may cause a notice to be posted on some conspicuous part of the building prohibiting the owner or occupier thereof from using the building or room for human habitation, or allowing it to be so used, until it has been rendered fit for such use to the satisfaction of the ^a[Board].

[a] Substituted by the Cantonments (Amendment) Act, 1936 (24 [XXIV] of 1936), S. 69, for "Cantonment Authority".

143. A ^a[Board] may, by notice in writing, require the owner, lessee, or occupier of any land in the cantonment to clear away and remove any thick or noxious vegetation or undergrowth which appears to it to be injurious to health or offensive to persons residing in the neighbourhood.

[a] Substituted by the Cantonments (Amendment) Act, 1936 (24 [XXIV] of 1936), S. 69, for "Cantonment Authority".

144. Where, in the opinion of a ^a[Board], the cultivation in the cantonment of any description of crop or the use therein of any kind of manure or the irrigation of any land therein in any specified manner is likely to be injurious to the health of persons dwelling in the neighbourhood, the ^a[Board] may, by public notice, prohibit such cultivation, use or irrigation after such date as may be specified in the notice, or may, by a like notice, direct that it shall be carried out subject to such conditions as the ^a[Board] thinks fit:

Provided that if, when a notice is issued under this section, any land to which it relates has been lawfully prepared for cultivation or any crop is sown therein or is standing thereon, the ^a[Board] shall, if it directs that the notice is to take effect on a date earlier than that by which the crop would ordinarily be sown or reaped, as the case may be, make compensation to all persons interested in the land or crop for the loss, if any, incurred by them respectively by reason of compliance with the notice.

Burial and Burning Grounds.

145. A ^a[Board] may, by notice in writing, require the owner or person in charge of any burial or burning ground in the cantonment to supply such information as may be specified in the notice concerning the condition, management or position of such ground.

[a] Substituted by the Cantonments (Amendment) Act, 1936 (24 [XXIV] of 1936), S. 69, for "Cantonment Authority".

146. (1) No place in a cantonment which has not been used as a burial or burning ground before the commencement of this Act shall be so used without the permission in writing of the ^a[Board].

(2) Such permission may be granted subject to any conditions which the ^a[Board] thinks fit to impose for the purpose of preventing annoyance to, or danger to the health of, persons residing in the neighbourhood.

Section 141 — Note 1

[1] The use of the word "again" suggests that the offence contemplated in sub-s. (2) is a recurring and not a continuing offence. Hence, where a person fails to comply with notice under S. 141 (1) he cannot be prosecuted under S. 141 (2). He can be dealt with under S. 141 (1) read with S. 268 and in case of a continuing failure to comply with it he is liable to an additional fine. (Vol 22) 1935 All 905(906,907):36 Cri L Jour 1493.

147. (1) Where a ^a[Board], after making or causing to be made local inquiry, is of opinion that any burial or burning ground in the cantonment has become offensive to, or dangerous to the health of, persons living in the neighbourhood, it may, with the previous sanction of the ^b[Central Government], by notice in writing, require the owner or person in charge of such ground to close the same from such date as may be specified in the notice.

(2) Where the ^b[Central Government] sanctions the issue of any notice under sub-section (1), it shall declare the conditions on which the burial or burning ground may be re-opened, and a copy of such declaration shall be annexed to the notice.

(3) Where the ^b[Central Government] sanctions the issue of any such notice, it shall require a new burial or burning ground to be provided at the expense of the cantonment fund, or, if the community concerned is willing to provide a new burial or burning ground, the ^b[Central Government] shall require a grant to be made from the cantonment fund towards the cost of the same.

(4) No corpse shall be buried or burnt in any burial or burning ground in respect of which a notice issued under this section is for the time being in force.

151. (1) In the event of a cantonment being visited or threatened by an outbreak of any infectious or contagious disease among the inhabitants thereof or of any epidemic disease among any animals therein, the ^a[Officer Commanding-in-Chief, the Command], if he thinks that the provisions of this Act or of any law for the time being in force in the cantonment are insufficient for the purpose, may, with the previous sanction of the ^b[Central Government], —

(a) take such special measures, and

(b) by public notice, make such temporary regulations to be observed by the public or by any class or section of the public, as he thinks necessary to prevent the outbreak or the spread of the disease :

Provided that, where in the opinion of the ^a[Officer Commanding-in-Chief, the Command], immediate measures are necessary, he may take action without such sanction as aforesaid and, if he does so, shall forthwith report such action to the ^b[Central Government].

Section 151 — Note 1

[1] Power is given under this section to the Officer Commanding-in-Chief, the Command, to take emergent measures for the prevention of the spread of disease in cases of extreme urgency without having to wait for the previous sanction of the Central Government.—See the Report of the Select Committee.

(2) Whoever commits a breach of any temporary regulation made under sub-section (1) shall be deemed to have committed an offence under section 188 of the Indian Penal Code.

152. Where it is certified to the Executive Officer by a medical practitioner that the outbreak of any infectious or contagious disease in the cantonment is, in the opinion of such medical practitioner, attributable to the milk supplied by any dairyman, the Executive Officer may, by notice in writing, require the dairyman, within such time as may be specified in the notice, to furnish him with a full and complete list of the names and addresses of all his customers within the cantonment, or to give him such information as will enable him to trace the persons to whom the dairyman has sold milk.

153. Where it is certified to the Executive Officer by the Health Officer that it is desirable, with a view to prevent the spread of any infectious or contagious disease in the cantonment, that the Health Officer should be furnished with a list of the customers of any washerman, the Executive Officer may, by notice in writing, require the washerman, within a time to be specified in the notice, to furnish the Health Officer with a full and complete list of the names and addresses of all owners within the cantonment of clothes and other articles which the washerman washes or has washed during the six weeks immediately preceding the date of the notice.

154. Where, after inspection, the Health Officer is of opinion that any infectious or contagious disease is caused or is likely to arise in the cantonment from the consumption of the milk supplied from a dairy or from the washing of clothes or other articles in any place, or from any process employed by a washerman, he shall report the matter to the Executive Officer.

Report after inspection of dairy or washerman's place of business. 155. Upon receipt of a report submitted by the Health Officer under section 154, the Executive Officer may, by notice in writing,—

- (a) prohibit the supply of milk from the dairy until the notice has been withdrawn; or
- (b) prohibit the washerman from washing clothes or other articles in any such place or by any such process as aforesaid until the notice has been withdrawn or unless he uses such place in such manner, or washes by such process, as the Executive Officer may direct in the notice.

156. The Health Officer may take possession of any milk, clothes or other articles which are or have recently been in the possession of any dairyman on whom a notice has been served under section 152, or of any clothes or other articles which are or have recently been in the possession of any washerman, on whom a notice has been served under section 153, and may subject the same or cause the same to be subjected to such chemical or other process as he may think necessary; and the ^a[Board] shall pay from the cantonment fund all the costs of the process and shall also pay to the owner of the milk, clothes or ^b[other] articles such sum as compensation for any loss occasioned by such process as may appear to it to be reasonable.

Contamination of public conveyance.

157. Whoever in a cantonment —

- (a) uses a public conveyance while suffering from an infectious or contagious disease, or
- (b) uses a public conveyance for the carriage of a person who is suffering from any such disease, or
- (c) uses a public conveyance for the carriage of the corpse of a person who has died from any such disease, shall be bound to take proper precautions against the communication of the disease to other persons using or who may thereafter use the conveyance and to notify such use to the owner, driver or person in charge of the conveyance, and further to report without delay to the Executive Officer the number of the conveyance and the name of the person so notified.

158. (1) Where any person suffering from, or the corpse of any person who has died from, an infectious or contagious disease has been carried in a public conveyance which ordinarily plies in a cantonment, the driver thereof shall forthwith report the fact to the Executive Officer who shall forthwith cause the conveyance to be disinfected if that has not already been done.

(2) No such conveyance shall be brought again into use until the Executive Officer has granted a certificate stating that it can be used without causing risk of infection.

159. Whoever fails to make to the Executive Officer any report which he is required to make by section 157 or section 153, shall be punishable with fine which may extend to one hundred rupees.

160. Notwithstanding anything contained in any law for the time being in force, no owner, driver or person in charge of a public conveyance shall be bound to convey or to allow to be conveyed in such conveyance in or in the vicinity of a cantonment any person suffering from an infectious or contagious disease or the corpse of any person who has died from such disease unless and until such person pays or tenders a sum sufficient to cover any loss and expense which would ordinarily be incurred in disinfecting the conveyance.

161. Where a ^a[Board] is, upon the advice of the Health Officer, of opinion that the cleansing and disinfection of any building or part of a building in the cantonment or of any articles in any such building or part which are likely to retain infection, or the renewal of the flooring of any such building or part of such building, would tend to prevent or check the spread of any infectious or contagious disease, he may, by notice in writing, require the owner or occupier to cleanse and disinfect the said building, part or articles, as the case may be, or to renew the said flooring, within such time as may be specified in the notice :

Provided that where, in the opinion of the ^a[Board], the owner or occupier is from poverty or any other cause unable effectually to carry out any such requisition, the ^a[Board] may, at the expense of the cantonment fund, cleanse and disinfect the building, part or articles, or, as the case may be, renew the flooring.

[a] Substituted by the Cantonments (Amendment) Act, 1936 (24 [XXIV] of 1936), S. 69, for "Cantonment Authority".

162. (1) Where the destruction of any hut or shed in a cantonment is, in the opinion of the ^a[Board], necessary to prevent the spread of any infectious or contagious disease, the ^a[Board] may, by notice in writing, require the owner to destroy the hut, or shed and the materials thereof within such time as may be specified in the notice.

(2) Where the President of a Board ^b[* * *] is satisfied that the destruction of any hut or shed in the cantonment is immediately necessary for the purpose of preventing the spread of any infectious or contagious disease, he may order the owner or occupier of the hut or shed to destroy the same forthwith, or may himself cause it to be destroyed after giving not less than two hours' notice to the owner or occupier thereof.

(3) The ^a[Board] shall pay compensation to the owner of any hut or shed destroyed under this section.

[a] Substituted by the Cantonments (Amendment) Act, 1936 (24 [XXIV] of 1936), S. 69, for "Cantonment Authority". [b] The words "or, where there is no Board, the Officer Commanding the station" were repealed by S. 40, ibid.

163. The ^a[Board] shall provide free of charge temporary shelter or house accommodation for the members of any family in which an infectious or contagious disease has appeared who have been compelled to leave their dwelling by reason of any proceedings taken under section 161 or section 162, and who desire such shelter or accommodation as aforesaid to be provided for them.

[a] Substituted by the Cantonments (Amendment) Act, 1936 (24 [XXIV] of 1936), S. 69, for "Cantonment Authority".

164. (1) Where in a cantonment any building or part of a building is intended to be let in which any person has, within the six weeks immediately preceding, been suffering from an infectious or contagious disease, the person letting the building or part shall before doing so disinfect the same in such manner as the ^a[Board] may, by public or special notice, direct, together with all articles therein liable to retain infection.

(2) For the purposes of this section, the keeper of an hotel, lodging house or sarai shall be deemed to let to any person who is admitted as a guest therein that part of the building in which such person is permitted to reside.

[a] Substituted by the Cantonments (Amendment) Act, 1936 (24 [XXIV] of 1936), S. 69, for "Cantonment Authority".

165. No person shall, without previous disinfection of the same, give, lend, sell, transmit or otherwise dispose of to another person any article or thing which he knows or has reason to believe has been exposed to contamination by any infectious or contagious disease and is likely to be used in, or taken into, a cantonment.

Means of disinfection.

166. (1) Every ^a[Board] shall—

(a) provide proper places with necessary attendants and apparatus for the disinfection of conveyances, clothing, bedding or other articles which have been exposed to infection ;

(b) cause conveyances, clothing or other articles brought for disinfection to be disinfected either free of charge or on payment of such charges as it may fix.

(2) A ^a[Board] may notify places at which articles of clothing, bedding, conveyances or other articles which have been exposed to infection shall be washed, and, if it does so, no person shall wash any such thing at any place not so notified without having previously disinfected such thing.

(3) The President of a Board ^b[* * *] may direct the destruction of any clothing, bedding or other article in the cantonment likely to retain infection, and may give such compensation as he thinks fit for any article so destroyed.

[a] Substituted by the Cantonments (Amendment) Act, 1936 (24 [XXIV] of 1936), S. 69, for "Cantonment Authority." [b] The words "or, where there is no Board, the Officer Commanding the station" were repealed by S. 41, ibid.

Making or selling of food etc., or washing clothes by infected person.

167. Whoever, while suffering from, or in circumstances in which he is likely to spread, any infectious or contagious disease, —

(a) makes, carries or offers for sale in a cantonment or takes any part in the business of making, carrying or offering for sale therein any article of food or drink or any medicine or drug for human consumption, or any article of clothing or bedding for personal use or wear, or

(b) takes any part in the business of the washing or carrying of clothes, shall be punishable with fine which may extend to one hundred rupees.

168. When a cantonment is visited or threatened by an outbreak of any infectious or contagious disease, the ^a[Board] may, by public notice, restrict in such manner or prohibit for such period, as may be specified in the notice, the sale or preparation of any article of food or drink for human consumption specified in the notice or the sale of any flesh of any description of animals so specified.

[a] Substituted by the Cantonments (Amendment) Act, 1936 (24 [XXIV] of 1936), S. 69, for "Cantonment Authority".

169. (1) If a ^a[Board] is of opinion that the water in any well, tank or other place is likely, if used for drinking, to engender, or cause the spread of, any disease, it may, —

(a) by public notice, prohibit the removal or use of such water for drinking ;

(b) by notice in writing, require the owner or person having control of such well, tank or place to take such steps as may be directed by the notice to prevent the public from having access to or using such water ; or

(c) take such other steps as it may consider expedient to prevent the outbreak or spread of any such disease.

(2) In the event of a cantonment or any part of a cantonment being visited or threatened by an outbreak of any infectious or contagious disease, the Health Officer or any person authorised by him in this behalf may, without notice and at any time, inspect and disinfect any well, tank or other place from which water is, or is likely to be, taken for the purposes of drinking, and may further take such steps as he thinks fit to ensure the purity of the water or to prevent the use of the same for drinking purposes.

[a] Substituted by the Cantonments (Amendment) Act, 1936 (24 [XXIV] of 1936), S. 69, for "Cantonment Authority".

Disposal of infectious corpse.

170. Where any person has died in a cantonment from any infectious or contagious disease, the Executive Officer may, by notice in writing,—

(a) require any person having charge of the corpse to convey the same to a mortuary, thereafter to be disposed of in accordance with law ; or

(b) prohibit the removal of the corpse from the place where death occurred except for the purpose of being buried or burned or of being conveyed to a mortuary.

*Hospitals and Dispensaries.Maintenance or aiding of hospitals or dispensaries.*171. (1) A ^a[Board] may —

(a) provide and maintain either within or without the cantonment as many hospitals and dispensaries as it thinks fit; or

(b) make, upon such terms as it thinks fit to impose, a grant-in-aid to any hospital or dispensary ^b[or veterinary hospital], whether within or without the cantonment, not maintained by it.

(2) Every hospital or dispensary maintained or aided under sub-section (1) shall have attached to it a ward or wards for the treatment of persons suffering from infectious or contagious diseases.

(3) A medical officer, appointed in such manner as the ^c[Central Government] may direct, shall be in charge of every hospital or dispensary maintained or aided under this section.[a] Substituted by S. 69 of the Cantonments (Amendment) Act, 1936 (24 [XXIV] of 1936) for "Cantonment Authority". [b] Inserted by S. 42, ibid. [c] Substituted by A. O. for "Local Government".172. (1) Every hospital or dispensary maintained or aided under section 171 shall be maintained in accordance with any general or special orders of the ^a[Central Government] ^b[for the conduct of hospitals and dispensaries or in accordance with the said orders modified in such manner as the ^a[Central Government] ^b[* * ] ^c[ * *], thinks fit.(2) The ^d[Board] shall cause every such hospital or dispensary to be provided with all requisite drugs, instruments, apparatus, furniture and appliances and with sufficient cots, bedding and clothing for in-patients.

[a] Inserted by the Cantonments (Amendment) Act, 1936 (24 [XXIV] of 1936), S. 45.

179. (1) Whoever intends to erect or re-erect any building in a cantonment shall ^a[apply for sanction by giving notice] in writing of his intention to the ^b[Board].

(2) For the purposes of this Act, a person shall be deemed to erect or re-erect a building who —

- (a) makes any material alteration or enlargement of any building, or
- (b) converts into a place for human habitation any building not originally constructed for that purpose, or
- (c) converts into more than one place for human habitation a building originally constructed as one such place, or
- (d) converts two or more places of human habitation into a greater number of such places, or
- (e) converts into a stable, cattle-shed or cowhouse any building originally constructed for human habitation, or
- (f) makes any alteration which there is reason to believe is likely to affect prejudicially the stability or safety of any building or the condition of any building in respect of drainage, sanitation or hygiene, or
- (g) makes any alteration to any building which increases or diminishes the height of, or area covered by, or the cubic capacity of, the building, or which reduces the cubic capacity of any room in the building below the minimum prescribed by any bye-law made under this Act.

- (e) the level and width of the foundation, the level of the lowest floor and the stability of the structure ;
 - (f) the line of frontage with neighbouring buildings if the building abuts on a street ;
 - (g) the means to be provided for egress from the building in case of fire ;
 - (h) the materials and method of construction to be used for external and party walls for rooms, floors, fire-places and chimneys ;
 - (i) the height and slope of the roof above the uppermost floor upon which human beings are to live or cooking operations are to be carried on ; and
 - (j) any other matter affecting the ventilation and sanitation of the buildings ;
- and the person erecting or re-erecting the building shall obey all such written directions in every particular.

^b[(2) The Board may refuse to sanction the erection or re-erection of any building, either on grounds sufficient in the opinion of the Board affecting the particular building, or in pursuance of a general scheme sanctioned by the Officer Commanding-in-Chief, the Command, restricting the erection or re-erection of buildings within specified limits for the prevention of overcrowding or in the interests of persons residing within such limits or for any other public purpose.

(3) The Board, before sanctioning the erection or re-erection of a building on land which is under the management of the Military Estates Officer, shall refer the application to the Military Estates Officer for ascertaining whether there is any objection on the part of Government to such erection or re-erection ; and the Military Estates Officer shall return the application together with his report thereon to the Board within thirty days after it has been received by him.

(4) The Board may refuse to sanction the erection or re-erection of any building—

- (a) when the land on which it is proposed to erect or re-erect the building is held on a lease ^c[from the Crown], if the erection or re-erection constitutes a breach of the terms of the lease, or
- (b) when the land on which it is proposed to erect or re-erect the building is not held on a lease ^c[from the Crown], if the right to build on such land is in dispute between the person applying for sanction and the Government.

(5) If the Board decides to refuse to sanction the erection or re-erection of the building, it shall communicate in writing the reasons for such refusal to the person by whom notice was given.

(6) Where the Board neglects or omits, for one month after the receipt of a valid notice, to make and to deliver to the person who has given the notice any order of any nature specified in this section, and such person thereafter by a written communication sent by registered post to the Board calls the attention of the Board to the neglect or omission, then, if such neglect or omission continues for a further period of fifteen days from the date of such communication the Board shall be deemed to have given sanction to the erection or re-erection, as the case may be, unconditionally :

Provided that, in any case to which the provisions of sub-section (3) apply, the period of one month herein specified shall be reckoned from the date on which the Board has received the report referred to in that sub-section.]

[a] Substituted by the Cantonments (Amendment) Act, 1936 (24 [XXIV] of 1936), S. 69, for "Cantonment Authority". [b] Sub-sections (2) to (6) were substituted by S. 47, ibid., for the original sub-sections (2), (3) and (4). [c] Substituted by A. O. for "from Government."

182. (1) No compensation shall be claimable by any person for any damage or loss which he Compensation. may sustain in consequence of the refusal of the ^a[Board] of sanction to the erection of any building or in respect of any direction issued by it under sub-section (1) of section 181.

(2) The ^a[Board] shall make compensation to the owner of any building for any actual damage or loss sustained by him in consequence of the prohibition of the re-erection of any building or of its requiring any land belonging to him to be added to the street :

Section 182 — Note 1

[1] "We think that compensation should only be payable in cases where actual loss is caused by the refusal of a Cantonment Authority to allow a building to be re-erected and have provided accordingly. To enact, as was proposed in the Bill as introduced, that compensation should be payable in any case where the refusal is on the ground that the building is unsuitable in plan or design to the locality or is intended for a purpose unsuited to the locality would in our opinion be to invite a systematic blackmail of the Cantonment Authority." — Select Committee Report.

Provided that the ^a[Board] shall not be liable to make any compensation in respect of the prohibition of the re-erection of any building which for a period of three years or more immediately preceding such refusal has not been in existence or has been unfit for human habitation.

183. Every sanction for the erection or re-erection of a building given or deemed to have Lapse of sanction. been given by the ^a[Board] as hereinbefore provided shall be available for one year from the date on which it is given, and, if the building so sanctioned is not begun by the person who has obtained the sanction or some one lawfully claiming under him within that period, it shall not thereafter be begun ^b[unless the Board on application made therefor has allowed an extension of that period.]

^a[183A. A Board, when sanctioning the erection or re-erection of a building as hereinbefore Period for completion provided, shall specify a reasonable period after the work has commenced of building. within which the erection or re-erection is to be completed, and, if the erection or re-erection is not completed within the period so fixed, it shall not be continued thereafter without fresh sanction obtained in the manner hereinbefore provided, unless the Board on application made therefor has allowed an extension of that period :

Provided that not more than two such extensions shall be allowed by the Board in any case.]

Illegal erection and re-erection. 184. Whoever begins, continues or completes the erection or re erection of a building —

- (a) without having given a valid notice as required by sections 179 and 180, or before the building has been sanctioned or is deemed to have been sanctioned, or
- (b) without complying with any direction made under sub-section (1) of section 181, or
- (c) when sanction has been refused, or has ceased to be available, ^a[or has been suspended by the Officer Commanding-in-Chief, the Command, under clause (b) of sub-section (1) of section 52,] shall be punishable with fine which may extend to five hundred rupees.

[a] Inserted by the Cantonments (Amendment) Act, 1936 (24 [XXIV] of 1936), S. 50.

185. ^a[(1)] A ^b[Board] may, at any time, by notice in writing, direct the owner, lessee or occupier of any land in the cantonment to stop the erection or re-erection Power to stop erection or re-erection or to demolish. of a building in any case in which the ^b[Board] considers that such erection or re-erection is an offence under section 184, and may in any such case ^c[or in any other case in which the Board considers that the erection or re-erection of a building is an offence under section 184, within six months of the completion of such erection or re-erection] in like manner

Section 184 — Note 1

[1] Erecting or re-erecting a building without the permission and failure to comply with a notice to alter or demolish a building are separate offences. Non-compliance with a notice given after the enactment of 1924, is punishable under the Act of 1924, even though the building was erected before 1924. Prosecution for such disobedience may be launched within 6 months of such disobedience. (Vol 19) 1932 Lah 370 (372) : 33 Cri L Jour 336.

[2] Section 184 provides no penalty for a continuing failure or contravention, although such a penalty is provided in S. 268. (Vol 21) 1934 Oudh 29 (31) : 35 Cri L Jour 666.

[3] An order directing a person, who has erected a structure without sanction, to remove the structure within a certain time or in default to pay thereafter a daily fine is improper. If the Magistrate's directions are not carried out, then the proper course is to institute a further prosecution and allow the accused an opportunity of defending himself before the further fine is imposed. (1911) 12 Cri L Jour 371 (372). (Case under S. 104 of the Act of 1889).

[4] It is not proper to substitute a conviction under S. 268 for one under S. 184 (b). (Vol 21) 1934 Oudh 29 (31) : 35 Cri L Jour 666.

Section 184 (b). — [5] Section 184 (b) does not provide a punishment for mere non-compliance with direction made under sub-s. (1) of S. 181. What it makes punishable is the beginning, continuation or completion of the erection of building without complying with such direction. (Vol 21) 1934 Oudh 29 (31).

Section 185 — Note 1

[1] The owner should know the precise nature and extent of the repairs which he is expected to make. A notice which does not state what kind of repairs the Board requires the owner to make to the houses specified in the notice is illegal. (1912) 13 Cr L J 17 (17). (Case under S. 94 of old Act.)

[2] It was held in the following case that it was not necessary for the cantonment authority to issue a notice for the demolition within a reasonable time and that such a notice could be given at any time. (Vol 19) 1932 Lah 370 (371) : 33 Cri L Jour 336. But now see the amendment made in the section by the Cantonments (Amendment) Act, 1936.

direct the alteration or demolition as it thinks necessary, of the building or any part thereof, so erected or re-erected :

Provided that the ^b[Board] may, instead of requiring the alteration or demolition of any such building or part thereof, accept by way of composition such sum as it thinks reasonable :

^c[Provided further that the Board shall not, without the previous concurrence of the Officer Commanding-in-Chief, the Command, accept any sum by way of composition under the foregoing proviso in respect of any building on land which is not under the management of the Board.

(2) A Board shall by notice in writing direct the owner, lessee or occupier of any land in the cantonment to stop the erection or re-erection of a building in any case in which the order under section 181 sanctioning the erection or re-erection has been suspended by the Officer Commanding-in-Chief, the Command, under clause (b) of sub-section (1) of section 52, and shall in any such case in like manner direct the demolition or alteration, as the case may be, of the building or any part thereof so erected or re-erected where the Officer Commanding-in-Chief, the Command, thereafter directs that the order of the Board sanctioning the erection or re-erection of the building shall not be carried into effect or shall be carried into effect with modifications specified by him :

Provided that the Board shall pay to the owner of the building compensation for any loss actually incurred by him in consequence of the demolition or alteration of any building which has been erected or re-erected prior to the date on which the order of the Officer Commanding-in-Chief, the Command, has been communicated to him.]

Power to make bye-laws.

186. A ^a[Board] may make bye-laws prescribing—

- (a) the manner in which notice of the intention to erect or re-erect a building in the cantonment shall be given to the ^a[Board] and the information and plans to be furnished with the notice ;
- (b) the type or description of buildings which may or may not, and the purpose for which a building may or may not, be erected or re-erected ^b[in the cantonment or any part thereof];
- (c) the minimum cubic capacity of any room or rooms in a building which is to be erected or re-erected ; ^c[*]
- (d) the fees payable on provision by the ^a[Board] of plans or specifications of the type of buildings which may be erected in the cantonment or any part thereof ;
- ^d[(e) the circumstances in which a mosque, temple or church or other sacred building may be erected or re-erected ; and
- (f) with reference to the erection or re-erection of buildings, or of any class of building, all or any of the following matters, namely :—
 - (i) the line of frontage where the building abuts on a street ;
 - (ii) the space to be left about the building to secure free circulation of air and facilities for scavenging and for the prevention of fire ;
 - (iii) the materials and method of construction to be used for external and party-walls, roofs and floors ;
 - (iv) the position, the material and the method of construction of fire places, chimneys, drains, latrines, privies, urinals and cesspools ;
 - (v) height and slope of the roof above the uppermost floor upon which human beings are to live or cooking operations are to be carried on ;
 - (vi) the level and width of the foundation, the level of the lowest floor and the stability of the structure ;
 - (vii) the number and height of the storeys of which the building may consist ;
 - (viii) the means to be provided for egress from the building in case of fire ;
 - (ix) the safeguarding of wells from pollution ; or
 - (x) the materials and method of construction to be used for godowns intended for the storage of foodgrains in excess of fifty maunds in order to render them rat proof.]

187. (1) No owner or occupier of any building in a cantonment shall, without the permission in writing of the ^a[Board] add to or place against or in front of the building any projection or structure overhanging, projecting into, or encroaching on, any street or any drain, sewer or aqueduct therein.

(2) The ^a[Board] may, by notice in writing, require the owner or occupier of any such building to alter or remove any such projection or encroachment as aforesaid :

Provided that, in the case of any projection or encroachment lawfully in existence at the commencement of this Act, the ^a[Board] shall make compensation for any damage caused by the removal or alteration.

(3) The ^a[Board] may, by order in writing, give permission to the owners or occupiers of buildings in any particular street to put up open verandahs, balconies or rooms projecting from any upper storey thereof to an extent beyond the line of the plinth or basement wall at such height from the level ground or street as may be specified in the order.

188. A ^a[Board] may, by notice in writing, require any person who has, without its permission in writing, newly erected or re-erected any ^b[structure] over any public sewer, drain, culvert, water-course or water-pipe in the cantonment to pull down or otherwise deal with the same as it thinks fit.

189. (1) A ^a[Board] may, by notice in writing, require the owner or lessee of any building or land in any street, at his own expense and in such manner as the ^a[Board] thinks fit, to put up and keep in good condition proper troughs and pipes for receiving and carrying rain water from the building or land and for discharging the same or to establish and maintain any other connection or communication between such building or land and any drain or sewer.

(2) For the purpose of efficiently draining any building or land in the cantonment, the ^a[Board] may, by notice in writing, require the owner or lessee of the building or land—

(a) to pave, with such materials and in such manner as it thinks fit, any courtyard, alley or passage between two or more buildings, or

(b) to keep any such paving in proper repair.

[a] Substituted by the Cantonments (Amendment) Act, 1936 (24 [XXIV] of 1936), S. 69, for "Cantonment Authority".

Section 187 — Note 1

[1] Notice under this section must be issued by the Cantonment Board. Conviction cannot be sustained for disobedience of notice issued by Executive Officer of Cantonment when notice was not issued by or with the approval of Cantonment Authority. Subsequent confirmation by the Board is of no avail. (Vol 20) 1933 Lah 545 (545) : 35 Cri L Jour 612.

[2] Where a person ordinarily authorised to communicate the sanction does so on an official form of the Board, the applicant making an application for the same is entitled to act on such communication, it being not his business to enquire whether the sanction conveyed to him was actually granted by the Board. (Vol 21) 1934 Lah 510 (511) : 36 Cri L Jour 700.

[3] A person is not bound to comply with the notice of the Board which is illegal and if he fails to comply with an illegal notice he cannot be liable to a fine under the Act. (Vol 20) 1933 All 486 (488). (1932 All 673, distinguished.)

[4] A Cantonment Board gave permission to build warning the applicant that the question of title to the land was doubtful and hence he would build it at his own risk. Immediately the construction was started the board served a notice "to demolish the unauthorized construction" and thereafter prosecuted him under S. 268. It was held that prosecution could not stand as there was no construction for which sanction was not obtained. (Vol 20) 1933 All 486 (488). (1932 All 673, distinguished.)

[5] In the following case it was held that the open space in question in that case was not a 'street' within the meaning of S. 2 (37) and therefore paving it with burnt bricks did not amount to 'placing a structure encroaching on the street' within the meaning of this section. (Vol 22) 1935 Lah 588 (589) : 36 Cri L Jour 1475.

[6] A municipal committee passed a resolution : "the committee authorize the President . . . to take notice of any breach of the bye-laws, and to take action on the same, reporting the said action for the approval of the committee at the ensuing meeting." It was held that the resolution did not validate a notice for removal of a terrace given by a Deputy Commissioner as the President of the municipality and breach of such notice was not, therefore, punishable. (1881) 1881 Pun Re No. 32, p. 84 (87). ((Vol 13) 1926 Cal 1073 (1075), a case under Bengal Municipal Act, 1884, may be consulted.)

190. A ^a[Board] may attach to the outside of any building, or to any tree in the cantonment Power to attach brackets for lamps brackets for lamps in such manner as not to occasion injury thereto or inconvenience.

Streets.

191. A ^a[Board] may by order in writing, permit the temporary occupation of any street, or Temporary occupation of street, land, etc. of any land vested in the ^a[Board], for the purpose of depositing any building materials or making any temporary excavation therein or erection thereon, subject to such conditions as it may prescribe for the safety or convenience of the public, and may charge a fee for such permission and may in its discretion withdraw such permission.

[a] Substituted by the Cantonments (Amendment) Act, 1936 (24 [XXIV] of 1936), S. 69, for "Cantonment Authority".

192. (1) A ^a[Board] shall not permanently close any street or open any new street without the Closing and opening of streets. previous sanction of the ^b[Officer Commanding-in-Chief, the Command].

(2) A ^a[Board] may, by public notice, temporarily close any street or any part of a street for repair or for the purpose of carrying out any work connected with drainage, water-supply or lighting or any other work which it is by or under this Act required or permitted to carry out :

Provided that where, owing to any works or repairs or from any other cause, the condition of any street or of any water-works, drain, culvert or premises vested in the ^a[Board], is such as to be likely to cause danger to the public, the ^a[Board] shall —

(a) take all reasonable means for the protection of the adjacent buildings and land and provide reasonable means of access thereto;

(b) cause sufficient barriers or fences to be erected for the security of life and property, and cause such barriers or fences to be sufficiently lighted from sunset to sunrise.

[a] Substituted by the Cantonments (Amendment) Act, 1936 (24 [XXIV] of 1936), S. 69, for "Cantonment Authority". [b] Substituted by the Cantonments (Amendment) Act, 1926 (35 [XXV] of 1926), S. 2, for "Officer Commanding the District".

193. (1) A ^a[Board] may cause a name to be given to any street and to be affixed on any building in the cantonment in such place as it thinks fit, and may also cause Names of streets and numbers of buildings. a number to be affixed to any such building.

(2) Whoever destroys, pulls down, defaces or alters any such name or number or puts up any name or number differing from that put up by the order of the ^a[Board] shall be punishable with fine which may extend to twenty rupees.

^b[(3) When a number has been affixed to any building under sub-section (1), the owner of the building shall maintain the number in order, and shall replace it if removed or defaced, and if he fails to do so the Board may by notice in writing require him to replace it.]

Boundaries and Trees.

194. (1) No boundary wall, hedge or fence of any material or Boundary walls, hedges and fences. description shall be erected in a cantonment without the permission in writing of the ^a[Board].

(2) A ^a[Board] may, by notice in writing, require the owner or lessee of any land in the cantonment—

(a) to remove from the land any boundary wall, hedge or fence which is in its opinion unsuitable, unsightly or otherwise objectionable; or

(b) to construct on the land sufficient boundary walls, hedges or fences of such material, description or dimensions as may be specified in the notice; or

(c) to maintain the boundary walls, hedges or fences of such lands in good order :

Section 194 — Note 1

[1] Before an order can legally be issued by the Board, it must form the opinion that the boundary wall is unsuitable, unsightly or otherwise objectionable. The Executive Officer has no authority of his own initiative to issue an order under this section. (1909) 9 Cri L Jour 447 (448).

Provided that, in the case of any such boundary wall, hedge or fence which was erected with the consent or under the orders of the ^a[Board], or which was in existence at the commencement of this Act, the ^a[Board] shall make compensation for any damage caused by the removal thereof.

(3) The ^a[Board] may, by notice in writing, require the owner, lessee or occupier of any such land to cut or trim any hedge on the land in such manner and within such time as may be specified in the notice.

[a] Substituted by the Cantonments (Amendment) Act, 1936 (24 [XXIV] of 1936), S. 69, for "Cantonment Authority".

195. (1) Where, in the opinion of a ^a[Board], the felling of any tree of mature growth Felling, lopping and trimming of trees. standing in a private enclosure in the cantonment is necessary for any reason, the ^a[Board] may, by notice in writing, require the owner, lessee or occupier of the land to fell the tree within such time as may be specified in the notice.

(2) A ^a[Board] may —

(a) cause to be lopped or trimmed any tree standing on land in the cantonment which belongs to ^b[the Crown] ; or

(b) by public notice require all owners, lessees or occupiers of land in the cantonment, or by notice in writing require the owner, lessee or occupier of any such land, to lop or trim, in such manner as may be specified in the notice, all or any trees standing on such land or to remove any dead trees from such land.

[a] Substituted by the Cantonments (Amendment) Act, 1936 (24 [XXIV] of 1936), S. 69, for "Cantonment Authority". [b] Substituted by A. O. for "Government".

196. Whoever, without the permission in writing of the ^a[Board], digs up the surface of any Digging of public land. open space in the cantonment, which is not private property, shall be punishable with fine which may extend to twenty rupees, and, in the case of a continuing offence, ^b[with an additional fine] which may extend to five rupees for every day after the first during which the offence continues.

[a] Substituted by the Cantonments (Amendment) Act, 1936 (24 [XXIV] of 1936), S. 69, for "Cantonment Authority". [b] Substituted by the Repealing and Amending Act, 1930 (8 [VIII] of 1930), S. 2 and Sch. I, for "to an additional fine".

197. (1) If, in the opinion of a ^a[Board], the working of a quarry in the cantonment, or the Improper use of land. removal of stone, earth or other material from the soil in any place in the cantonment, is dangerous to persons residing in or frequenting the neighbourhood of such quarry or place, or creates, or is likely to create, a nuisance, the ^a[Board] may, by notice in writing, prohibit the owner, lessee or occupier of such quarry or place or the person responsible for such ^b[working] or removal, from continuing or permitting the working of such quarry or the moving of such material, or require him to take such steps in the matter as the ^a[Board] may direct for the purpose of preventing danger or abating the nuisance arising or likely to arise therefrom.

(2) If, in any case referred to in sub-section (1), the ^a[Board] is of opinion that such a course is necessary in order to prevent imminent danger, it may, by order in writing, require a proper hoarding or fence to be put up for the protection of passers-by.

[a] Substituted by the Cantonments (Amendment) Act, 1936 (24 [XXIV] of 1936), S. 69, for "Cantonment Authority". [b] Substituted by the Repealing and Amending Act, 1930 (8 [VIII] of 1930), S. 2 and Sch. I, for "making".

CHAPTER XII.

MARKETS, SLAUGHTER-HOUSES, TRADES AND OCCUPATIONS.

198. (1) A ^a[Board] may provide and maintain, either within or without the cantonment, Public markets and slaughter-houses. public markets and public slaughter-houses, to such number as it thinks fit, together with stalls, shops, sheds, pens and other buildings or conveniences for the use of persons carrying on trade or business in or frequenting such markets or slaughter-

Section 195 — Note 1

[1] A notice under this section must be in writing; a disobedience of a notice not in writing is not punishable under S. 268. (Vol 6) 1919 All 158 (158); 20 Cri L Jour 384.

Chapter XII — Note 1

houses, and may provide and maintain in any such market buildings, places, machines, weights, scales and measures for the weighing or measurement of goods sold therein.

(2) When such market or slaughter-house is situated beyond cantonment limits, the ^a[Board] shall have the same power for the inspection and proper regulation of the same as if it were situated within those limits.

(3) The ^a[Board] may at any time, by public notice, close any public market or public slaughter-house or any part thereof.

(4) Nothing in this section shall be deemed to authorise the establishment of a public market or public slaughter-house within the limits of any area administered by any local authority other than the ^a[Board], without the permission of such local authority or otherwise than on such conditions as such local authority may approve.

199. (1) No person shall, without the general or special permission in writing of the Use of public markets. ^a[Board], sell or expose for sale any animal or article in any public market.

(2) Any person contravening the provisions of this section, and any animal or article exposed for sale by such person, may be summarily removed from the market by or under the orders of the Executive Officer or any officer or servant of the ^a[Board] authorised by it in this behalf.

Levy of stallages, rents and fees. 200. A ^a[Board] may —

(a) charge for the occupation or use of any stall, shop, standing, shed or pen in a public market, or public slaughter-house, or for the right to expose goods for sale in a public market, or for weighing or measuring goods sold therein, or for the right to slaughter animals in any public slaughter-house, such stallages, rents and fees as it thinks fit; or

(b) with the sanction of the ^b[Officer Commanding-in-Chief, the Command], farm the stallages, rents and fees leviable as aforesaid or any portion thereof for any period not exceeding one year at a time; or

(c) put up to public auction, or with the sanction of the ^b[Officer Commanding-in-Chief, the Command], dispose of by private sale, the privilege of occupying or using any stall, shop, standing, shed or pen in a public market or public slaughter-house for such term and on such conditions as it thinks fit.

[a] Substituted by the Cantonments (Amendment) Act, 1936 (24 [XXIV] of 1936), S. 69, for "Cantonment Authority". [b] Substituted by the Cantonments (Amendment) Act, 1926 (35 [XXXV] of 1926), S. 2, for "Officer Commanding the District".

201. A copy of the table of stallages, rents and fees, if any, leviable in any public market or Stallages, rents, etc., to public slaughter-house, and of the bye-laws made under this Act for the be published. purpose of regulating the use of such market or slaughter-house, printed in the English language and in such other language or languages as the ^a[Board] may direct, shall be affixed in some conspicuous place in the market or slaughter-house.

202. (1) No place in a cantonment other than a public market shall be used as a market Private markets and and no place in a cantonment other than a public slaughter-house shall slaughter-houses. be used as a slaughter-house, unless such place has been licensed as a market or slaughter-house, as the case may be, by the ^a[Board] :

Section 200 — Note 1

[1] The cantonment authorities rented a shed to X for Rs. 300, for use as vegetable shop. The period of tenure was three years. Before the expiry of the period the shed was blown off. Some instalments were paid by X but he refused to pay instalments after the shed blew off. The agreement included a clause that any amount due would be recovered from the movable and immovable property of X. The cantonment authorities recovered the dues by issue of a warrant of attachment.

Thereupon X filed a suit for illegal restraint and damages.

Held that S. 200 applies to the case and not S. 210. The relationship between the authorities and X was that of ordinary landlord and tenant and it was optional for X to avoid the lease under S. 108 of the T. P. Act. (Vol 20) 1933 Lah 517 (519).

[2] Failure to pay rent for a stall rented from cantonment authority is not punishable. 1906 Pun Re No. 15 Cr. p. 70. (Case with reference to S. 131 of 1899 Act.)

Provided that nothing in this sub-section shall apply in the case of a slaughter-house established and maintained by the Government.

(2) Nothing in sub-section (1) shall be deemed —

(a) to restrict the slaughter of any animal in any place on the occasion of any festival or ceremony, subject to such conditions as to prior or subsequent notice as the Executive Officer with the previous sanction of the District Magistrate may, by public or special notice, impose in this behalf, or

(b) to prevent the Executive Officer, with the sanction of the ^a[Board], from setting apart places for the slaughter of animals in accordance with religious custom, when such animals are slaughtered for consumption by the troops or for the purpose of the sale of the flesh thereof to the troops.

(3) Whoever omits to comply with any condition imposed by the Executive Officer under clause (a) of sub-section (2) shall be punishable with fine which may extend to fifty rupees and, in the case of a continuing offence, with an additional fine which may extend to ten rupees for every day after the first during which the offence is continued.

[a] Substituted by the Cantonments (Amendment) Act, 1936 (24 [XXIV] of 1936), S. 69, for "Cantonment Authority".

203. (1) A ^a[Board] may charge such fees as it thinks fit to impose for the grant of a licence Conditions of grant of licence for private market or slaughter-house. to any person to open a private market or private slaughter-house in the cantonment, and may grant such licence subject to such conditions, consistent with this Act and any bye-laws made thereunder, as it thinks fit to impose.

(2) The ^a[Board] may refuse to grant any such licence without giving reasons for such refusal.

[a] Substituted by the Cantonments (Amendment) Act, 1936 (24 [XXIV] of 1936), S. 69, for "Cantonment Authority".

204. (1) Any person who keeps open for public use any market or slaughter-house in respect of which a licence is required by or under this Act, without obtaining licence therefor, or while the licence therefor is suspended, or after the same has been cancelled, shall be punishable with fine which may extend to fifty rupees and, in the case of a continuing offence, with an additional fine which may extend to five rupees for every day after the first during which the offence is continued. Penalty for keeping market or slaughter-house open without licence, etc.

(2) When a licence to open a private market or private slaughter-house is granted or refused or is suspended or cancelled, the ^a[Board] shall cause a notice of the grant, refusal, suspension or cancellation to be posted in English, and in such other language or languages as it thinks necessary, in some conspicuous place by or near the entrance to the place to which the notice relates.

[a] Substituted by the Cantonments (Amendment) Act, 1936 (24 [XXIV] of 1936), S. 69, for "Cantonment Authority".

205. Whoever, knowing that any market or slaughter-house has been opened to the public without a licence having been obtained therefor when such licence is required by or under this Act, or that the licence granted therefor is for the time being suspended or that it has been cancelled, sells or exposes for sale any article in such market, or slaughters any animal in such slaughter-house, shall be punishable with fine which may extend to fifty rupees and, in the case of a continuing offence, with an additional fine which may extend to five rupees for every day after the first during which the offence is continued. Penalty for using unlicensed market or slaughter-house.

206. (1) Where, in the opinion of the ^a[Board], it is necessary on sanitary grounds so to do, it may, by public notice, prohibit for such period, not exceeding one month, as may be specified in the notice, or for such further period, not exceeding one month, as it may specify by a like notice, the use of any private slaughter-house specified in the notice, or the slaughter therein of any animal of any description so specified. Prohibition and restriction of use of slaughter-houses.

(2) A copy of every notice issued under sub-section (1) shall be conspicuously posted in the slaughter-house to which it relates.

[a] Substituted by the Cantonments (Amendment) Act, 1936 (24 [XXIV] of 1936), S. 69, for "Cantonment Authority".

207. (1) Any servant of a ^a[Board], authorised by order in writing in this behalf by the President of the Board ^b[* * *] or the Health Officer, may, if he has reason to believe that any animal has been, is being, or is about to be slaughtered in any place in contravention of the provisions of this Chapter, enter into and inspect any such place at any time, whether by day or by night.

(2) Every such order shall specify the place to be entered and the locality in which the same is situated and the period, which shall not exceed seven days, for which the order is to remain in force.

[a] Substituted by the Cantonments (Amendment) Act, 1936 (24 [XXIV] of 1936), S. 69, for "Cantonment Authority". [b] The words "if any" were repealed by S. 54, ibid.

208. A ^a[Board] may, with the approval of the ^b[Central Government], make bye-laws consistent with this Act to provide for all or any of the following matters, namely :—

- (a) the days on, and the hours during, which any private market or private slaughter-house may be kept open for use;
- (b) the regulation of the design, ventilation and drainage of such markets and slaughter-houses, and the material to be used in the construction thereof;
- (c) the keeping of such markets and slaughter-houses and lands and buildings appertaining thereto in a clean and sanitary condition, the removal of filth and refuse therefrom, and the supply therein of pure water and of a sufficient number of latrines and urinals for the use of persons using or frequenting the same;
- (d) the manner in which animals shall be stalled at a slaughter-house;
- (e) the manner in which animals may be slaughtered;
- (f) the disposal or destruction of animals offered for slaughter which are, from disease or any other cause, unfit for human consumption; and
- (g) the destruction of carcases which from disease or any other cause are found after slaughter to be unfit for human consumption.

[a] Substituted by the Cantonments (Amendment) Act, 1936 (24 [XXIV] of 1936), S. 69, for "Cantonment Authority". [b] Substituted by A. O. for "Local Government".

Trades and Occupations.

209. (1) A ^a[Board] may provide suitable places for the exercise by washermen of their calling, and may require payment of such fees for the use thereof as it thinks fit.

(2) Where the ^a[Board] has provided such places as aforesaid it may, by public notice, prohibit the washing of clothes by washermen at any other place in the cantonment :

Provided that such prohibition shall not be deemed to apply to the washing by a washerman of his own clothes or of the clothes of any other person who is an occupier of the place at which they are washed.

(3) Whoever contravenes any prohibition contained in a notice issued under sub-section (2) shall be punishable with fine which may extend to twenty rupees.

[a] Substituted by the Cantonments (Amendment) Act, 1936 (24 [XXIV] of 1936), S. 69, for "Cantonment Authority".

Licences required for carrying on of certain occupations.

210. (1) No person of any of the following classes, namely :—

- (a) butchers and vendors of poultry, game or fish;
- (b) persons keeping pigs for profit, and dealers in the flesh of pigs which have been slaughtered in India;

Section 207 — Note 1

[1] Nothing in S. 241 shall be deemed to confer upon any person any power such as is referred to in this section; see proviso to S. 241.

Section 210 — Note 1

Sub-section (1) (1) — [1] The word "wood" is unqualified and not restricted to "inflammable wood" only. Hence a person selling bamboos, ballies, takhats and karies within cantonment without licence is guilty under S. 268. (Vol 21) 1934 All 987 (987) : 36 Cri L Jour 261.

Sub-section (3). — [2] The word "locality" is not an unfair interpretation of the word "part" in cl. (a) of S. 210 (3). It covers all that part of the cantonment where the bazaar was situated and where the particular trader could carry on his occupation without offence or danger to other parts of the cantonment not used for the purpose of a bazaar, but where residences of officers

- (c) persons keeping milch cattle or milch goats for profit;
- (d) persons keeping for profit any animals other than pigs, milch cattle or milch goats;
- (e) dairymen, buttermen and makers and vendors of ghee;
- (f) makers of bread, biscuits or cake, and vendors of bread, biscuits or cake made in India
- (g) vendors of fruit or vegetables;
- (h) manufacturers of aerated or other potable waters or of ice or ice-cream, and vendors of the same;
- ^a[(i)] vendors of any medicines, drugs or articles of food or drink for human consumption (other than the flesh of pigs, milk, butter, bread, biscuits, cake, fruit, vegetables, aerated or other potable waters or ice or ice-cream) which are of a perishable nature;
- (j) vendors of water to be used for drinking purposes;
- (k) washermen;
- (l) dealers in hay, straw, wood, charcoal or other inflammable material;
- (m) dealers in fire-works, kerosene oil, petroleum or any other inflammable oil or spirit;
- (n) tanners and dyers;
- (o) persons carrying on any trade or occupation from which offensive or unwholesome smells arise;
- (p) vendors of wheat, rice and other grain or of flour; ^b[*]
- (q) makers and vendors of sugar or sweetmeats; ^c[and
- (r) barbers and keepers of shaving saloons;]

shall carry on his trade, calling or occupation in any part of a cantonment unless he has applied for and obtained a licence in this behalf from the ^d[Board].

(2) A licence granted under sub-section (1) shall be valid ^e[until the end of the year in which it is issued] and the grant of such licence shall not be withheld by the ^d[Board] unless it has reason to believe that the business which it is intended to establish or maintain would be offensive or dangerous to the public.

(3) Notwithstanding anything contained in sub-section (1),—

- (a) no person who was, at the commencement of this Act, carrying on his trade, calling or occupation in any part of a cantonment shall be bound to apply for a licence for carrying on such trade or occupation in that part until he has received from the ^d[Board] not less than three months' notice in writing of his obligation to do so, and if the ^d[Board] refuses to grant him a licence, it shall pay compensation for any loss, incurred by reason of such refusal;
- (b) no person shall be required to take out a licence for the sale or storage of petroleum or for the sale or possession for sale of poisons or white arsenic in any case in which he is required to take out a licence for such sale, storage or possession for sale by or under the Indian Petroleum Act, 1899,^f or the Poisons Act, 1919.

(4) The ^d[Board] may charge for the grant of licences under this section such fees ^e[not exceeding the cost of granting the licences,] as it may fix with the previous sanction of the ^g[Central Government].

[a] Original clauses (j) to (r) were re-lettered (i) to (q) by the Repealing and Amending Act, 1934 (24 [XXIV] of 1934), S. 2 and Sch. I. [b] The word "and" was repealed by the Cantonments (Amendment) Act, 1936 (24 [XXIV] of 1936), S. 55. [c] Inserted by S. 55, ibid. [d] Substituted by S. 69, ibid., for "Cantonment Authority". [e] Substituted by S. 55, ibid., for "for one year". [f] See now the Indian Petroleum Act, 1934 (30 [XXX] of 1934). [g] Substituted by A. O. for "Local Government".

or the barracks for troops are situated. (Vol 29) 1942 Sind 95 (95) : 43 Cri L Jour 733.

[3] Where a person has been carrying on a trade in the same part of the cantonment from the commencement of the Cantonments Act, there is no obligation upon him to apply for licence to carry on the trade. Cantonment Authority must give him three months' notice of his obligation to apply for licence. Without such notice he cannot be convicted for carrying on trade without a licence. (Vol 29) 1942 Sind 95 (95) : 43 Cri L Jour 733.

[4] A notice was served on a person prohibiting him from selling fruit in the cantonment area. He made a representation under sub-s. (3) (a) whereupon he was allowed to continue the business but it was not clear whether the cantonment authorities required him to take a licence. However, he applied for a licence without paying the fee prescribed for it. No licence was issued and he was tried summarily for offence under Ss. 210 (g) and 213, and convicted. It was held that he could not, by reason of his conduct in applying for a licence, avail of sub-s. (3) (a). It was also remarked that the accused should not have been tried summarily. (Vol 25) 1938 Lah 427 (427).

211. A licence granted to any person under section 210 shall specify the part of the cantonment in which the licensee may carry on his trade, calling or occupation, and may regulate the hours and manner of transport within the cantonment of any specified articles intended for human consumption, and may contain any other conditions which the ^a[Board] thinks fit to impose in accordance with bye-laws made under this Act.

General Provisions.

212. If a ^a[Board] is satisfied that any place used under a licence granted under this Chapter is a nuisance or is likely to be dangerous to life, health or property, the ^a[Board] may, by notice in writing, require the owner, lessee or occupier thereof to discontinue the use of such place or to effect such alterations, additions, or improvements as will, in the opinion of the ^a[Board], render it no longer a nuisance or dangerous.

[a] Substituted by the Cantonments (Amendment) Act, 1936 (24 [XXIV] of 1936), S. 69, for "Cantonment Authority".

213. Whoever carries on any trade, calling or occupation for which a licence is required without obtaining a licence therefor or while the licence therefor is suspended or after the same has been cancelled, and whoever, after receiving a notice under section 212, uses or allows to be used any building or place in contravention thereof, shall be punishable with fine which may extend to two hundred rupees and, in the case of a continuing offence, with an additional fine which may extend to forty rupees for every day after the first during which the offence is continued.

214. Whoever feeds or allows to be fed on filthy or deleterious substances any animal, which is kept for the purpose of supplying milk to, or which is intended to be used as food for, the inhabitants of a cantonment or allows it to graze in any place in which grazing has, for sanitary reasons, been prohibited by public notice by the ^a[Board] shall be punishable with fine which may extend to fifty rupees.

[a] Substituted by the Cantonments (Amendment) Act, 1936 (24 [XXIV] of 1936), S. 69, for "Cantonment Authority".

Entry, Inspection and Seizure.

215. (1) The President or the Vice-President ^a[* * *] the Executive Officer, the Health Officer, the Assistant Health Officer, or any other officer or servant of a ^b[Board] authorised by it in writing in this behalf,—

(a) may at any time enter into any market, building, shop, stall or other place in the cantonment for the purpose of inspecting, and may inspect any animals, article or thing intended for human food or drink or for medicine, whether exposed or hawked about for sale or deposited in or brought to any place for the purpose of sale, or of preparation for sale, or any utensil or vessel for preparing, manufacturing or containing any such article, or thing, and may enter into and inspect any place used as a slaughter-house and may examine any animal or article therein ;

(b) may seize any such animal, article or thing which appears to him to be diseased, or unwholesome or unfit for human food or drink or medicine, as the case may be, or to be adulterated or to be not what it is represented to be, or any such utensil or vessel which is of such a kind or in such a state as to render any article prepared, manufactured or contained therein unwholesome or unfit for human food or for medicine, as the case may be.

(2) Any article seized under sub-section (1) which is of a perishable nature may, under the orders of the Health Officer or the Assistant Health Officer, forthwith be destroyed if, in his opinion, it is diseased, unwholesome or unfit for human food, drink or medicine, as the case may be.

(3) Every animal, article, utensil, vessel or other thing seized under sub-section (1) shall, if it is not destroyed under sub-section (2), be taken before a Magistrate, ^c[who shall give orders as to its disposal].

Section 213 — Note 1

[1] A butcher who had no licence imported meat in large quantities and distributed it. There was no evidence of his receiving any money. He alleged that he was a salaried person employed for fetching meat by several persons. It was held that the presumption was that he imported meat for sale and sold it, and in the absence of any other evidence conviction was proper. (Vol 16) 1929 Sind 150 (151).

Section 215 — Note 1

[1] Nothing in section 241 shall be deemed to confer upon any person any power such as is referred to in this section; see proviso to section 241.

(4) The owner or person in possession, at the time of seizure under sub-section (1), of any animal or carcase which is diseased or of any article or thing which is unwholesome or unfit for human food, drink or medicine as the case may be, or is adulterated or is not what it is represented to be, or of any utensil or vessel which is of such kind or in such state as is described in clause (b) of sub-section (1), shall be punishable with fine which may extend to one hundred rupees, and the animal, article, utensil, vessel or other thing shall be liable to be forfeited to the ^b[Board] or to be destroyed or to be so disposed of as to prevent its being exposed for sale or used for the preparation of food, drink or medicine, as the case may be.

Explanation I. — If any such article, having been exposed or stored in, or brought to, any place mentioned in sub-section (1) for sale as ghee, contains any substance not exclusively derived from milk, it shall be deemed, for the purposes of this section, to be an article which is not what it is represented to be.

Explanation II. — Meat subjected to the process of blowing shall be deemed to be unfit for human food.

Explanation III. — The article of food or drink shall not be deemed to be other than what it is represented to be merely by reason of the fact that there has been added to it some substance not injurious to health :

Provided that—

- (a) such substance has been added to the article because the same is required for the preparation or production thereof as an article of commerce in a state fit for carriage or consumption and not fraudulently to increase the bulk, weight or measure of the food or drink or conceal the inferior quality thereof, or
- (b) in the process of production, preparation or conveyance of such article of food or drink, the extraneous substance has unavoidably become intermixed therewith, or
- (c) the owner or person in possession of the article has given sufficient notice by means of a label distinctly and legibly written or printed thereon or therewith, or by other means of a public description, that such substance has been added, or
- (d) such owner or person has purchased the article with a written warranty that it was of a certain nature, substance and quality and had no reason to believe that it was not of such nature, substance and quality, and has exposed it or hawked it about or brought it for sale in the same state and by the same description as that in and by which he purchased it.

Import of Cattle and Flesh.

216. (1) No person shall, without the permission in writing of the ^a[Board], bring into a Import of cattle and flesh. cantonment any animal intended for human consumption, or the flesh of any animal slaughtered outside the cantonment otherwise than in a slaughter-house maintained by the Government or the ^a[Board].

(2) Any animal or flesh brought into a cantonment in contravention of sub-section (1) may be seized by the Executive Officer or by any servant of the ^a[Board] and sold or otherwise disposed of as the ^b[President of the Board] may direct, and, if it is sold, the sale-proceeds may be credited to the cantonment fund.

(3) Whoever contravenes the provisions of sub-section (1) shall be punishable with fine which may extend to fifty rupees.

(4) Nothing in this section shall be deemed to apply to cured or preserved meat or to animals driven or meat carried through a cantonment for consumption outside thereof, or to meat brought into a cantonment by any person for his immediate domestic consumption :

Provided that the ^a[Board] may, by public notice, direct that the provisions of this section shall apply to cured or preserved meat of any specified description or brought from any specified place.

CHAPTER XIII.

WATER-SUPPLY, DRAINAGE AND LIGHTING.

Water-supply.

217. (1) In every cantonment where a sufficient supply of pure water for domestic use does not already exist, the ^a[Board] shall provide or arrange for the Maintenance of water-supply. provision of such a supply.

(2) The ^a[Board] shall, as far as possible, make adequate provision that such supply shall be continuous throughout the year, and that the water shall be at all times pure and fit for human consumption.

218. (1) The ^a[Board] may, with the previous sanction of the ^b[Central Government], by Control over sources of public water-supply. public notice, declare any lake, stream, spring, well, tank, reservoir or other source, whether within or without the limits of the cantonment (other than a source of water-supply under the control of the ^c[Military Engineer] Services or the Public Works Department) from which water is or may be made available for the use of the public in the cantonment to be a source of public water-supply.

(2) Every such source shall be under the control of the ^a[Board].

[a] Substituted by the Cantonments (Amendment) Act, 1936 (24 [XXIV] of 1936), S. 69, for "Cantonment Authority". [b] Substituted by A. O. for "Local Government". [c] Substituted by the Cantonments (Amendment) Act, 1925 (7 [VII] of 1925), S. 9, for "Military Works".

Power to require maintenance or closing of private source of public drinking water-supply. 219. The ^a[Board] may, by notice in writing, require the owner or any person having the control of any source of public water-supply which is used for drinking purposes—

- (a) to keep the same in good order and to clear it from time to time of silt, refuse and decaying vegetation, or
- (b) to protect the same from contamination in such manner as the ^a[Board] may direct, or
- (c) if the water therein is proved to the satisfaction of the ^a[Board] to be unfit for drinking purposes, to take such measures as may be specified in the notice to prevent the public from having access to or using such water :

Provided that, in the case of a well, such person as aforesaid may, instead of complying with the notice, signify in writing his desire to be relieved of all responsibility for the proper maintenance of the well and his readiness to place it under the control and supervision of the ^a[Board] for the use of the public, and, if he does so, he shall not be bound to carry out the requisition, and the ^a[Board] shall undertake the control and supervision of the well.

220. (1) The ^a[Board] may permit the owner, lessee or occupier of any building or land to Supply of water. connect the building or land with a source of public water-supply by means of communication pipes of such size and description as it may prescribe for the purpose of obtaining water for domestic use.

(2) The occupier of every building so connected with the water-supply shall be entitled to have for domestic use, in return for the water tax, if any, such quantity of water as the ^a[Board] may determine.

Chapter XIII — Note 1

[1] As to the power of the Central Government to extend any of the provisions of Chapter XIII to any area beyond a cantonment and in the vicinity thereof, see section 286.

Section 218 — Note 1

[1] "It has been pointed out that this clause as originally drafted would enable the cantonment authority to take under its own control sources of water-supply belonging to a municipality supplying water in the cantonment besides giving somewhat wide powers of confiscation of wells, etc. We have accordingly made the exercise of the powers conferred by this section subject to the sanction of the Local Government."

— Select Committee Report.

Section 219 — Note 1

[1] The Officer of the Military Engineer Services or the Public Works Department when in charge of water-supply may require the Board to exercise any of the powers conferred by this section ; see section 233 (1).

Section 220 — Note 1

[1] As to the penalty for using for other than domestic purposes any water supplied for domestic use, see section 226.

[2] As to whether the Board empowered to levy tax on water can increase or vary the tax without sanction from Government, see (Vol 13) 1926 Sind 130 (131, 132): 20 Sind L R 325.

(3) All water supplied in excess of the quantity to which such supply is limited under sub-section (2) and, in a cantonment in which a water tax is not imposed, all water supplied under this section, shall be paid for at such rate as the ^a[Board] may fix.

(4) The supply of water for domestic use shall not be deemed to include any supply —

- (a) for animals or for washing vehicles where such animals or vehicles are kept for sale or hire;
- (b) for any trade, manufacture or business;
- (c) for fountains, swimming baths or any ornamental or mechanical purpose;
- (d) for gardens or for purposes of irrigation;
- (e) for making or watering roads or paths; or
- (f) for building purposes.

[a] Substituted by the Cantonments (Amendment) Act, 1936 (24 [XXIV] of 1936), S. 69, for "Cantonment Authority".

221. If it appears to the ^a[Board] that any building or land in the cantonment is without a proper supply of pure water, the ^a[Board] may, by notice in writing, require the owner, lessee or occupier of the building or land to obtain from a source of public water-supply such quantity of water as is adequate to the requirements of the persons usually occupying or employed upon the building or land, and to provide communication pipes of the prescribed size and description, and to take all necessary steps for the above purposes.

[a] Substituted by the Cantonments (Amendment) Act, 1936 (24 [XXIV] of 1936), S. 69, for "Cantonment Authority".

222. (1) The ^a[Board] may, by agreement, supply, from any source of public water-supply, the owner, lessee or occupier of any building or land in the cantonment with any water for any purpose, other than a domestic purpose, on such terms and conditions, consistent with this Act and the rules and bye-laws made thereunder as may be agreed upon between the ^a[Board] and such owner, lessee or occupier.

(2) The ^a[Board] may withdraw such supply or curtail the quantity thereof at any time if it should appear necessary to do so for the purpose of maintaining sufficient supply of water for domestic use by inhabitants of the cantonment.

[a] Substituted by the Cantonments (Amendment) Act, 1936 (24 [XXIV] of 1936), S. 69, for "Cantonment Authority".

223. Notwithstanding any obligation imposed on ^a[Boards] under this Act, a ^b[Board] shall not be liable to any forfeiture, penalty or damages for failure to supply water or for curtailing the quantity thereof if the failure or curtailment, as the case may be, arises from accident or from drought or other unavoidable cause unless, in the case of an agreement for the supply of water under section 222, the ^b[Board] has made express provision for forfeiture, penalty or damages in the event of such failure or curtailment.

[a] Substituted by the Cantonments (Amendment) Act, 1936 (24 [XXIV] of 1936), S. 69, for "Cantonment Authorities". [b] Substituted by S. 69, ibid., for "Cantonment Authority".

224. Notwithstanding anything hereinbefore contained or contained in any agreement under section 222, the supply of water by a ^a[Board] to any building or land shall be, and shall be deemed to have been, granted subject to the following conditions, namely:—

- (a) the owner, lessee or occupier of any building or land in or on which water supplied by the ^a[Board] is wasted by reason of the pipes, drains or other works being out of repair shall, if he has knowledge thereof, give notice of the same to such officer as the ^a[Board] may appoint in this behalf;
- (b) the Executive Officer or any other officer or servant of the ^a[Board] authorised by it in writing in this behalf may enter into or on any premises supplied with water by the ^a[Board], for the purpose of examining all pipes, taps, works and fittings connected with the supply of water and of ascertaining whether there is any waste or misuse of such water;

(c) the ^a[Board] may, after giving notice in writing, cut off the connection between any source of public water-supply and any building or land to which water is supplied for any purpose therefrom, or turn off such supply if —

- (i) the owner or occupier of the building or land neglects to pay the water-tax or other charges connected with the water-supply within one month from the date on which such tax or charge falls due for payment ;
 - (ii) the occupier refuses to admit the Executive Officer or other authorised officer or servant of the ^a[Board] into the building or land for the purpose of making any examination or inquiry authorised by clause (b) or prevents the making of such examination or inquiry ;
 - (iii) the occupier wilfully or negligently misuses or causes waste of water ;
 - (iv) the occupier wilfully or negligently injures or damages his meter or any pipe or tap conveying water from the water-works ;
 - (v) any pipes, taps, works or fittings connected with the supply of water to the building or land are found, on examination by the Executive Officer, to be out of repair to such an extent as to cause a waste of water ;
- (d) the expense of cutting off the connection or of turning off the water in any case referred to in clause (c) shall be paid by the owner or occupier of the building or land ;
- (e) no action taken under or in pursuance of clause (c) shall relieve any person from any penalty or liability which he may otherwise have incurred.

[a] Substituted by the Cantonments (Amendment) Act, 1936 (24 [XXIV] of 1936), S. 69, for "Cantonment Authority".

225. A ^a[Board] may allow any person not residing within the limits of the cantonment to Supply to persons take or be supplied with water for any purpose from any source of public outside cantonment. water-supply on such terms as it may prescribe, and may at any time withdraw or curtail such supply.

Penalty.

226. Whoever—

- (a) uses for other than domestic purposes any water supplied by a ^a[Board] for domestic use, or
- (b) where water is supplied by agreement with a ^a[Board] for a specified purpose, uses that water for any other purpose, shall be punishable with fine which may extend to fifty rupees, and the ^a[Board] shall be entitled to recover from him the price of the water misused.

Water, Drainage and other Connections.

Power of Board to lay wires, connections, etc.

227. A ^a[Board] may carry any cable, wire, pipe, drain, sewer or channel of any kind,—

- (a) for the purpose of carrying out, establishing or maintaining any system of water-supply, lighting, drainage, or sewerage, through, across, under or over any road or street, or any place laid out or intended as a road or street, or, after giving reasonable notice in writing to the owner or occupier, into, through, across, under or over any land or building, or up the side of any building, situated within the cantonment, or
- (b) for the purpose of supplying water or of the introduction or distribution of outfall of water or for the removal or outfall of sewage, after giving reasonable notice in writing to the owner or occupier, into, through, across, under or over any land or building, or up the side of any building, situated outside the cantonment ;

and may at all times do all acts and things which may be necessary or expedient for repairing or maintaining any such cable, wire, pipe, drain, sewer or channel in an effective state for the purpose for which the same may be used or is intended to be used :

Provided that no nuisance shall be caused in excess of what is reasonably necessary for the proper execution of the work :

Provided, further, that compensation shall be payable to the owner or occupier for any damage sustained by him which is directly occasioned by the carrying out of any such operation.

[a] Substituted by the Cantonments (Amendment) Act, 1936 (24 [XXIV] of 1936), S. 69, for "Cantonment Authority".

228. In the event of any cable, wire, pipe, drain, sewer or channel being laid or carried above the surface of any land or through, over or up the side of any building, such Wires, etc., laid above surface of ground. cable, wire, pipe, drain, sewer or channel shall be so laid or carried as to interfere as little as possible with the rights of the owner or occupier to the due enjoyment of such land or building, and compensation shall be payable by the ^a[Board] in respect of any substantial interference with the right to any such enjoyment.

[a] Substituted by the Cantonments (Amendment) Act, 1936 (24 [XXIV] of 1936), S. 69, for "Cantonment Authority".

229. No person shall, for any purpose whatsoever, without the permission of the ^a[Board], at any time make or cause to be made any connection or communication with any cable, wire, pipe, drain, sewer or channel constructed or maintained by, or vested in, a ^a[Board]. Connection with main not to be made without permission.

[a] Substituted by the Cantonments (Amendment) Act, 1936 (24 [XXIV] of 1936), S. 69, for "Cantonment Authority".

230. A ^a[Board] may prescribe the size of the ferrules to be used for the supply of gas, if any, and may establish meters or other appliances for the purpose of testing the quantity of any water, or the quantity or quality of any gas supplied to any premises by the ^a[Board]. Power to prescribe ferrules and to establish meters, etc.

[a] Substituted by the Cantonments (Amendment) Act, 1936 (24 [XXIV] of 1936), S. 69, for "Cantonment Authority".

231. The ferrules, communication pipes, connections, meters, stand-pipes and all fittings thereon or connected therewith leading from water mains or from pipes, drains, sewers or channels into any house or land, to which water or gas is supplied by a ^a[Board], and the pipes, fittings, and works inside any such house or within the limits of any such land, shall in all cases be ^b[installed or] executed subject to the inspection and to the satisfaction of the ^a[Board]. Power of inspection.

Application of this Chapter to Government Water-supplies.

233. (1) Where in any cantonment there is a water-supply under the control of the ^a[Military Engineer] Services or the Public Works Department, the Officer of the ^a[Military Engineer] Services or of the Public Works Department, as the case may be, in charge of such water-supply (hereinafter in ^b[this Chapter] referred to as the Officer) may publish in the cantonment in such manner as he thinks fit a notice declaring that any lake, stream, spring, well, tank, reservoir or other source, whether within or without the limits of the cantonment (other than a source of public water-supply) under the control of the ^c[Board] is a source of public water-supply and may, for the purpose of keeping any such source in good order or of protecting it from contamination or from use, require the ^c[Board] to exercise any power conferred upon ^d[it] by section 219.

(2) In the case of any water-supply such as is referred to in sub-section (1), the following provisions of this Chapter, namely, the provisions of sections 220, 222, 223, 224, 226, 227, 228, 229, 230, 231 and 232 shall, as far as may be, be applicable in respect of the supply of water to the cantonment, and for the purpose of such application references to the ^c[Board] shall be construed as references to the Officer, and references to the Executive Officer or other officer or servant of the ^c[Board] shall be construed as references to such person as may be authorised in this behalf by the Officer.

^e[(3) The provisions of section 222 shall be applicable in respect of the supply of water by agreement to the Board by the Officer for use for any purpose other than a domestic purpose in like manner as they are applicable to such supply to the owner, lessee or occupier of any building or land in the cantonment.]

Removal and exclusion from cantonment of disorderly persons.

238. (1) A Magistrate of the first class, having jurisdiction in a cantonment, on receiving information that any person residing in or frequenting the cantonment —

- (a) is a disorderly person who has been convicted more than once of gaming or who keeps or frequents a common gaming house, a disorderly drinking shop or a disorderly house of any other description, or
- (b) has been convicted more than once, either within the cantonment or elsewhere, of an offence punishable under Chapter XVII of the Indian Penal Code, or
- (c) has been convicted, either within the cantonment or elsewhere, of any offence punishable under section 156 of the Army Act,^a or
- (d) has been ordered under Chapter VIII of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, either within the cantonment or elsewhere, to execute a bond for his good behaviour, may record in writing the substance of the information received, and may issue a summons to such person requiring such person to appear and show cause why he should not be required to remove from the cantonment and be prohibited from re-entering it.

(2) Every summons issued under sub-section (1) shall be accompanied by a copy of the

239. (1) If any person in a cantonment causes or attempts to cause or does any act which he knows is likely to cause disloyalty, disaffection or breaches of discipline amongst any portion of His Majesty's forces or is a person from whom Removal and exclusion from cantonment of sedition persons. who, the ^a[Officer Commanding the station] has reason to believe, is likely to do any such act, the ^a[Officer Commanding the station] may make an order in writing setting forth the reasons for the making of the same and requiring such person to remove from the cantonment within such time as may be specified in the order and prohibiting him from re-entering it without the permission in writing of the ^a[Officer Commanding the station] :

Provided that no order shall be made under this section against any person unless he has had a reasonable opportunity of being informed of the grounds on which it is proposed to make the order and of showing cause why the order should not be made.

(2) Every order made under sub-section (1) shall be sent to the Superintendent of Police of the district, who shall cause a copy thereof to be served on the person concerned.

(3) Upon the making of any order under sub-section (1), the ^a[Officer Commanding the station] shall forthwith send a copy of the same to the ^b[Central Government].

(4) The ^b[Central Government] may, of its own motion, and shall, on application, made to it in this behalf within one month of the date of the order by the person against whom the order has been made, call upon the District Magistrate to make, after such inquiry as the ^b[Central Government] may prescribe, a report regarding the justice of the order and the necessity therefor. At every such inquiry the person against whom the order has been made shall be given an opportunity of being heard in his own defence.

(5) The ^b[Central Government] may, at any time after the receipt of a copy of an order sent under sub-section (3), or where a report has been called for under sub-section (4), on receipt of that report, if it is of opinion that the order should be varied or rescinded, ^c[make such order thereon as it thinks fit].

(6) Any person who has been excluded from a cantonment by an order made under this section may, at any time after the expiry of one month from the date thereof, apply to the Officer Commanding-in-Chief, the Command, for the rescission of the same and, on such application being made, the said Officer may, after making such inquiry, if any, as he thinks necessary, either reject the application or rescind the order.

The first of these makes it clear that the person whom it is proposed to expel shall be given an opportunity of hearing the grounds on which his expulsion is considered necessary before being required to show cause under sub-clause (1). The second makes it clear that at any inquiry by the District Magistrate under sub-clause (4) the person expelled shall be given an opportunity of being heard in his own defence." — Select Committee Report.

(b) knowing that any person has, under this Chapter, been required to remove from the cantonment and has not obtained the requisite permission to re-enter it, harbours or conceals such person in the cantonment, shall be punishable with fine which may extend to two hundred rupees, and, in the case of a continuing offence, with an additional fine which may extend to twenty rupees for every day after the first during which he has persisted in the offence.

CHAPTER XV.

POWERS, PROCEDURE, PENALTIES AND APPEALS.

Entry and Inspection.

241. It shall be lawful for the President or the Vice-President of a Board, or the Executive Officer, or the Health Officer or Assistant Health Officer, or any person specially authorised by the Health Officer or the Assistant Health Officer, or for any other person authorised by general or special order of a ^a[Board] in this behalf, to enter into or upon any building or land with or without assistants or workmen in order to make any inquiry, inspection, measurement, valuation or survey, or to execute any work, which is authorised by or under this Act or which it is necessary to make or execute for any of the purposes or in pursuance of any of the provisions of this Act or of any rule, bye-law or order made thereunder:

Provided that nothing in this section shall be deemed to confer upon any person any power such as is referred to in section 207 or section 215 or to authorise the conferment upon any person of any such power.

[a] Substituted by the Cantonments (Amendment) Act, 1936 (24 [XXIV] of 1936), S. 69, for "Cantonment Authority".

242. With the previous sanction of the President, any member of a Board may inspect any work or institution constructed or maintained, in whole or part, at the expense of the Board, and any register, book, accounts or other document belonging to, or in the possession of, the Board.

Power of inspection, etc.

243. (1) A ^a[Board] may, by general or special order, authorise any person—

- (a) to inspect any drain, privy, latrine, urinal, cesspool, pipe, sewer or channel in or on any building or land in the cantonment, and, in his discretion, to cause the ground to be opened for the purpose of preventing or removing any nuisance arising from the drain, privy, latrine, urinal, cesspool, pipe, sewer or channel, as the case may be;
- (b) to examine works under construction in the cantonment, to take levels or to remove, test, examine, replace or read any meter.

(2) If, on such inspection, the opening of the ground is found to be necessary for the prevention or removal of a nuisance, the expenses thereby incurred shall be paid by the owner or occupier of the land or building, but if it is found that no nuisance exists or but for such opening would have arisen the ground or portion of any building, drain, or other work opened, injured or removed for the purpose of such inspection shall be filled in, reinstated, or made good, as the case may be, by the ^a[Board].

[a] Substituted by the Cantonments (Amendment) Act, 1936 (24 [XXIV] of 1936), S. 69, for "Cantonment Authority".

244. (1) The Executive Officer of a cantonment may, with or without assistants or workmen, enter on any land within fifty yards of any work authorised by or under this Act for the purpose of depositing thereon any soil, gravel, stone or other materials, or of obtaining access to such work, or for any other purpose connected with the carrying on of the same.

(2) The Executive Officer shall, before entering on any land under sub-section (1), give the occupier, or, if there is no occupier, the owner not less than three days' previous notice in writing of his intention to make such entry, and shall state the purpose thereof, and shall, if so required by the occupier or owner, fence off so much of the land as may be required for such purpose.

Chapter XV — Note 1

[1] As to the power of the Central Government to extend any of the provisions of Chapter XV to any area beyond a cantonment and in the vicinity thereof, see Section 286.

(3) The Executive Officer shall, in exercising any power conferred by this section, do as little damage as may be, and compensation shall be payable by the ^a[Board] to the owner or occupier of such land, or to both, for any such damage whether permanent or temporary.

[a] Substituted by the Cantonments (Amendment) Act, 1936 (24 [XXIV] of 1936), S. 69, for "Cantonment Authority".

Breaking into premises. 245. It shall be lawful for any person, authorised by or under this Act to make any entry into any place, to open or cause to be opened any door, gate or other barrier —

(a) if he considers the opening thereof necessary for the purpose of such entry; and

(b) if the owner or occupier is absent, or being present refuses to open such door, gate or barrier.

Entry to be made in the day time. 246. Save as otherwise expressly provided in this Act, no entry authorised by or under this Act shall be made except between the hours of sunrise and sunset.

247. Save as otherwise expressly provided in this Act, no building or land shall be entered without the consent of the occupier, or if there is no occupier, of the owner thereof, and no such entry shall be made without giving the said occupier or owner, as the case may be, not less than four hours' written notice of the intention to make such entry :

Provided that no such notice shall be necessary if the place to be inspected is a stable for horses or a shed for cattle, or a latrine, privy or urinal, or a work under construction.

248. When any place used as a human dwelling is entered under this Act, due regard shall be paid to the social and religious customs and usages of the occupants of the place entered, and no apartment in the actual occupancy of a female shall be entered or broken open until she has been informed that she is at liberty to withdraw and every reasonable facility has been afforded to her for withdrawing.

249. Whoever obstructs or molests any person employed by a ^a[Board], who is not a public servant within the meaning of section 21 of the Indian Penal Code or any person with whom the ^a[Board] has lawfully contracted, in the execution of his duty or of anything which he is empowered or required to do by virtue or in consequence of any of the provisions of this Act or of any rule, bye-law or order made thereunder, or in fulfilment of his contract, as the case may be, shall be punishable with fine which may extend to one hundred rupees.

Powers and Duties of Police Officers.

250. Any member of the police force employed in a cantonment may, without a warrant, arrest any person committing in his view a breach of any of the provisions of this Act which are specified in Schedule IV :

Provided that—

(a) in the case of the breach of any such provision as is specified in Part B of Schedule IV, no person shall be so arrested who consents to give his name and address, unless there is reasonable ground for doubting the accuracy of the name or address so given, the burden of proof of which shall lie on the arresting officer, and no person so arrested shall be detained after his name and address have been ascertained; and

(b) no person shall be so arrested for an offence under section 236 except—

(i) at the request of the person importuned or of a military officer in whose presence the offence was committed; or

(ii) by or at the request of a member of the Military or Air Force Police, who is employed in the cantonment and authorised in this behalf by the ^a[Officer Commanding the station], and in whose presence the offence was committed or by or at the request of Notices.

252. Where any notice, order or requisition made under this Act or any rule or bye-law made thereunder requires anything to be done for the doing of which no time is fixed in this Act or in the rule or bye-law, the notice, order or requisition shall specify a reasonable time for doing the same.

253. Every notice, order or requisition issued by a ^a[Board] under this Act or any rule or bye-law made thereunder shall be signed —

(a) ^a[* * ] either by the President of the Board or by the Executive Officer, or, ^a[ * *]

(b) by the members of any committee especially authorised by the ^a[Board] in this behalf.

254. (1) Every notice, order or requisition issued under this Act or any rule or bye-law made thereunder shall, save as otherwise expressly provided, be served or presented —

(a) by giving or tendering the notice, order or requisition, or sending it by post, to the person for whom it is intended ; or

(b) if such person cannot be found, by affixing the notice, order or requisition on some conspicuous part of his last known place of abode or business, if within the cantonment, or by giving or tendering the notice, order or requisition to some adult male member or servant of his family, or by causing it to be affixed on some conspicuous part of the building or land, if any, to which it relates.

(2) When any such notice, order or requisition is required or permitted to be served upon an owner, lessee or occupier of any building or land, it shall not be necessary to name the owner, lessee or occupier therein, and the service thereof shall, save as otherwise expressly provided, be effected either —

(a) by giving or tendering the notice, order or requisition, or sending it by post, to the owner, lessee or occupier, or, if there are more owners, lessees or occupiers than one, ^a[to] any one of them ; or

(b) if no such owner, lessee or occupier can be found, by giving or tendering the notice, order or requisition to the authorised agent, if any, of any such owner, lessee or occupier, or to an adult male member or servant of the family of any such owner, lessee or occupier, or by causing it to be affixed on some conspicuous part of the building or land to which it relates.

(3) When the person on whom a notice, order or requisition is to be served is a minor, service upon his guardian or upon an adult male member or servant of his family shall be deemed to be service upon the minor.

Recovery of Money.

257. (1) If any such notice as is referred to in section 256 has been given to any person in respect of property of which he is the owner, the ^a[Board] may require any occupier of such property or of any part thereof to pay to it, instead of to the owner, any rent payable by him in respect of such property, as it falls due, up to the amount recoverable from the owner under section 256 :

Provided that, if the occupier, on application made to him by the ^a[Board], refuses truly to disclose the amount of his rent or the name or address of the person to whom it is payable, the ^a[Board] may recover from the occupier the whole amount recoverable under section 256.

(2) Any amount recovered from an occupier instead of from an owner under sub-section (1) shall, in the absence of any contract between the owner and the occupier to the contrary, be deemed to have been paid to the owner.

258. (1) Where any person, by reason of his receiving the rent of immovable property as an agent or trustee, or of his being as an agent or trustee the person who would receive the rent if the property were let to a tenant, would under this Act be bound to discharge any obligation imposed on the owner of the property for the discharge of which money is required, he shall not be bound to discharge the obligation unless he has, or but for his own improper act or default might have had, funds in his hands belonging to the owner sufficient for the purpose.

(2) The burden of proving any fact entitling an agent or trustee to relief under sub-section (1) shall lie upon him.

(3) Where any agent or trustee has claimed and established his right to relief under this section, the ^a[Board] may, by notice in writing, require him to apply to the discharge of such obligation as aforesaid the first monies which may come to his hands on behalf, or for the use, of the owner, and, on failure to comply with the notice, he shall be deemed to be personally liable to discharge the obligation.

259. (1) Notwithstanding anything elsewhere contained in this Act, arrears of any tax and any other money recoverable by a Board under this Act may be recovered together with the cost of recovery either by suit or, on application to a Magistrate having jurisdiction in the cantonment or in any place where the person from whom such tax or money is recoverable may for the time being be residing, by the distress and sale of any moveable property of, or standing timber, growing crops or grass belonging to, such person which is within the limits

[1] This section was substituted for the old section by the Cantonments (Amendment) Act, 1936. Under the old section only moveable property was mentioned; but under the new section in addition to moveable property, standing timber, growing crops or grass are also included. Further, under the new section the proviso to sub-section (1) exempts tools of artisans from such distress and sale.

[2] The expression 'recoverable by a Board under this Act' applies to such dues as are recoverable by the Board under the express provisions of certain sections of this Act, which entitle it to levy fees for permitting acts to be done which cannot otherwise be done without the sanction or permission of the Board in the interest of sanitation and general welfare of the cantonment. It does not include moneys which are payable to the Board under express agreements or contracts which the Board is authorised to enter into or to make like an ordinary individual. Where, therefore, the Board proceeds to recover arrears of rent due from a tenant by distress and sale of his moveable property its action is illegal. (Vol 20) 1933 Lah 517 (520).

of such Magistrate's jurisdiction, and shall, if payable by the owner of any property as such, be a charge on the property until paid :

Provided that the tools of artisans shall be exempt from such distress or sale.

Committees of Arbitration.

260. In the event of any disagreement as to the liability of a ^a[Board] to pay any compensation under this Act, or as to the amount of any compensation so payable, the person claiming such compensation may apply to the ^a[Board] for the reference of the matter to a Committee of Arbitration, and the ^a[Board] shall forthwith proceed to convene a Committee of Arbitration to determine the matter in dispute.

[a] Substituted by the Cantonments (Amendment) Act, 1936 (24 [XXIV] of 1936), S. 69, for "Cantonment Authority".

261. When a Committee of Arbitration is to be convened, the ^a[Board] shall cause a public notice to be published stating the matter to be determined, and shall forthwith send copies of the order to the District Magistrate, and to the other party concerned, and shall, as soon as may be, nominate such members of the Committee, as it is entitled to nominate under section 262, and, by notice in writing, call upon the other persons who are entitled to nominate a member or members of the Committee to nominate such member or members in accordance with the provisions of that section.

[a] Substituted by the Cantonments (Amendment) Act, 1936 (24 [XXIV] of 1936), S. 69, for "Cantonment Authority".

262. (1) Every Committee of Arbitration shall consist of five members, namely :—

(a) a Chairman who shall be a person not in the service of the ^a[Crown] or the ^b[Board], and who shall be nominated by the ^c[Officer Commanding the station];

(b) two persons nominated by the ^b[Board];

(c) two persons nominated by the other party concerned.

d[* * * *]

(2) If the ^b[Board] or the other party concerned or the ^c[Officer Commanding the station] fails within seven days of the date of issue of the notice referred to in section 261 to make any nomination which it or he is entitled to make or, if any member who has been so nominated neglects or refuses to act and the ^b[Board] or other person by whom such member was nominated fails to nominate another member in his place within seven days from the date on which it or he may be called upon to do so by the District Magistrate, the District Magistrate shall forthwith appoint a member or members, as the case may be, to fill the vacancy or vacancies.

No person to be nominated who has direct interest or whose services are not immediately available.

263. (1) No person who has a direct interest in the matter under reference or whose services are not immediately available for the purposes of the Committee, shall be nominated a member of a Committee of Arbitration.

(2) If, in the opinion of the District Magistrate, any person who has been nominated has a direct interest in the matter under reference, or is otherwise disqualified for nomination, or if the services of any such person are not immediately available as aforesaid, and if the ^a[Board] or other person by whom any such person was nominated fails to nominate another member within seven days from the date on which it or he may be called upon to do so by the District Magistrate, such failure shall be deemed to constitute a failure to make a nomination within the meaning of section 262.

264. (1) When a Committee of Arbitration has been duly constituted, the ^a[Board] shall, by Meetings and powers of notice in writing, inform each of the members of the fact, and the Committees of Arbitration. Committee shall meet as soon as may be thereafter.

(2) The Chairman of the Committee shall fix the time and place of meetings, and shall have power to adjourn any meeting from time to time as may be necessary.

(3) The Committee shall receive and record evidence, and shall have power to administer oaths to witnesses, and, on requisition in writing signed by the Chairman of the Committee, the District Magistrate shall issue the necessary processes for the attendance of witnesses and the production of documents required by the Committee, and may enforce the said processes as if they were processes for attendance or production before himself.

[a] Substituted by the Cantonments (Amendment) Act, 1936 (24 [XXIV] of 1936), S. 69, for "Cantonment Authority".

265. (1) The decision of every Committee of Arbitration shall be in accordance with the Decisions of Committees majority of votes taken at a meeting at which the Chairman and at least three of the other members are present.

(2) If there is not a majority of votes in favour of any proposed decision, the opinion of the Chairman shall prevail.

(3) The decision of a Committee of Arbitration shall be final and shall not be questioned in any Court.

Prosecutions.

266. ^a[(1)] Save as otherwise expressly provided in this Act, no Court shall proceed to the Prosecutions. trial of any offence made punishable by or under this Act, other than an offence specified in Schedule IV, except on the complaint of, or upon information received from the ^b[Board] concerned or a person authorised by the ^b[Board] by a general or special order in this behalf.

267. (1) A ^a[Board], or any person authorised by it, by general or special order in this Composition of offence. behalf, may, either before or after the institution of the proceedings, compound any offence made punishable by or under this Act other than an offence under Chapter XIV:

Section 266 — Note 1

[1] "We have excepted from the general rule that cognizance is not to be taken of offences otherwise than on complaint by or under the authority of the Cantonment Authority, those offences under the Act for which the Police can arrest without warrant."—Select Committee Report.

[2] This section merely lays down that no Court shall proceed to the trial of any offence under this Act unless moved by the persons mentioned in the section. After such persons initiate the proceedings, the Court must follow the procedure laid down in the Criminal P. C. This section does not lay down that on the information or complaint of certain persons the Court should proceed with the trial of the case irrespective of the provisions of the Criminal P. C. (1928) 29 Cri L Jour 591 (592).

[3] Offences under S. 141 (1) and offences under S. 141 (2) are not specified in Sch. IV. Therefore, no Court can proceed with the trial of any of these offences except on the complaint filed in accordance with S. 266. (Vol 22) 1935 All 905 (906).

[4] The letter on record, which was written to the Sub-Divisional Magistrate, purported to be signed by the Executive Officer of Cantonment Authority. No evidence was called to prove this letter. Neither was it proved to have been signed by the Cantonment Authority nor was the officer proved to have been authorised by the Authorities. Held that S. 266 was not complied with and the proceedings commenced on that letter and the orders passed were invalid. (Vol 22) 1935 All 905 (906) : 36 Cri L Jour 1493.

[5] Cantonment Board lodging a complaint signed by its Executive Officer—Executive Officer filing no authority but having power to file such complaint—Affidavit filed in revision Court showing that he had an authority to do so—Omission to file authority held was curable under S. 537, Criminal P. [6] On the report of a Cantonment Official, the Cantonment Magistrate wrote : "A is to blame ; prosecute A." The Magistrate then proceeded to try A himself without informing him that he was entitled to have the case tried by another Magistrate. It was held that the Magistrate should not have tried the case without informing the accused of his right to trial by another Magistrate. (Vol 7) 1920 Lah 203 (204).

[7] Sub-section (2), as inserted by the amending Act in 1936, now specifically provides that no offence made punishable under this Act shall be tried by a Magistrate if such Magistrate is a member of the Board. The following case decided in 1928 holding that a cantonment Magistrate can try a complaint even though he is a member of the Board is no longer good law. (Vol 15) 1928 Lah 946 (947) : 29 Cri L Jour 822.

Provided that no offence shall be compoundable which is committed by failure to comply with a notice, order or requisition issued by or on behalf of the ^a[Board], unless and until the same has been complied with in so far as compliance is possible.

(2) Where an offence has been compounded, the offender, if in custody, shall be discharged and no further proceedings shall be taken against him in respect of the offence so compounded.

General Penalty Provisions.

268. Whoever, in any case in which a penalty is not expressly provided by this Act, fails to General penalty. comply with any notice, order or requisition issued under any provision thereof, or otherwise contravenes any of the provisions of this Act, shall be punishable with fine which may extend to two hundred rupees, and, in the case of a continuing failure or contravention, with an additional fine which may extend to twenty rupees for every day after the first during which he has persisted in the failure or contravention.

269. Where any person to whom a licence has been granted under this Act or any agent or Cancellation and suspension of licences. servant of such person commits a breach of any of the conditions thereof, of, or of any bye-law made under this Act for the purpose of regulating the manner or circumstances in, or the conditions subject to, which anything permitted by such licence is to be or may be done, the ^a[Board] may, without prejudice to any other penalty which may have been incurred under this Act, by order in writing, cancel the licence or suspend it for such period as it thinks fit :

Provided that no such order shall be made until an opportunity has been given to the holder of the licence to show cause why it should not be made.

[a] Substituted by the Cantonments (Amendment) Act, 1936 (24 [XXIV] of 1936), S. 69, for "Cantonment Authority".

270. Where any person has incurred a penalty by reason of having caused any damage to Recovery of amount payable in respect of damage to cantonment property. the property of a ^a[Board], he shall be liable to make good such damage, and the amount payable in respect of the damage shall, in case of disputes, be determined by the Magistrate by whom the person incurring such penalty is convicted, and, on non-payment of such amount on demand, the same shall be recovered by distress and sale of the moveable property of such person, and the Magistrate shall issue a warrant for its recovery accordingly.

Appeals and Revision.

274. (1) Any person aggrieved by any order described in the second column of Schedule V Appeals from may appeal to the authority specified in that behalf in the third column executive orders. thereof.

(2) No such appeal shall be admitted if it is made after the expiry of the period specified in that behalf in the fourth column of the said Schedule.

(3) The period specified as aforesaid shall be computed in accordance with the provisions of the Indian Limitation Act, 1908, with respect to the computation of periods of limitation thereunder.

275. (1) Every appeal under section 274 shall be made by petition in writing accompanied Petition of appeal. by a copy of the order appealed against.

(2) Any such petition may be presented to the authority which made the order against which the appeal is made, and that authority shall be bound to forward it to the appellate authority, and may attach thereto any report which it may desire to make by way of explanation.

276. On the admission of an appeal from an order, other than an order contained in a notice Suspension of action issued under clause (a) of section 137, section 140, section 176, or section 238 pending appeal. all proceedings to enforce the order and all prosecutions for any contravention thereof shall be held in abeyance pending the decision of the appeal, and, if the order is set aside on appeal, disobedience thereto shall not be deemed to be an offence.

Section 273 — Note 1

[1] Sub-section (1) of this section does not apply to suits on private contracts for which specific rules of limitation are prescribed by the Limitation Act. The section contemplates actions brought against the Board in respect of acts done in pursuance of the Act or any rules or bye-laws made thereunder. A suit for the recovery of the price of the goods supplied to the cantonment Board is not a suit within the ambit of this section. Hence, such a suit is governed by Art. 52, Limitation Act, and not by this section. (Vol 21) 1934 All 436 (437).

District Magistrate ^c[either party to the proceedings] may, within thirty days from the date thereof, apply, through the ^d[Officer Commanding-in-Chief, the Command], to the ^e[Central Government], or to such authority as the ^e[Central Government] may appoint in this behalf, for a revision of the decision.

^a[(2)] The provisions of this Chapter with respect to appeals shall apply, as far as may be, to applications for revision made under this section.

[a] The original sub-section (1) was omitted and sub-sections (2) and (3) were re-numbered as (1) and (2) by the Cantonments (Amendment) Act, 1926 (35 [XXXV] of 1926), S. 9. [b] Substituted by the Cantonments (Amendment) Act, 1936 (24 [XXIV] of 1936), S. 69, for "Cantonment Authority". [c] Substituted by S. 65, ibid., for "the Cantonment Authority". [d] Substituted by the Cantonments (Amendment) Act, 1926 (35 [XXXV] of 1926), S. 9, for "Officer Commanding the District". [e] Substituted by A. O. for "Local Government".

Finality of appellate orders.

278. Save as otherwise provided in section 277, every order of an appellate authority shall be final.

279. No appeal shall be decided under this Chapter unless the appellant has been heard, or Right of appellant to be heard. has had a reasonable opportunity of being heard in person or through a legal practitioner.

CHAPTER XVI.

RULES AND BYE-LAWS.

280. (1) The ^a[Central Government] may, after previous publication, make rules^b to carry Power to make Rules. out the purposes and objects of this Act.

(2) In particular, and without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing power, such rules may provide for all or any of the following matters, namely:—

(a) the manner in which, and the authority to which, application for permission to occupy land belonging to ^c[the Crown] in a cantonment is to be made;

(b) the authority by which such permission may be granted and the conditions to be annexed to the grant of any such permission;

^d[(bb) the allotment to a ^e[Board] of a share of the rents and profits accruing from property entrusted to its management under the provisions of section 116A;]

(c) the appointment, control, supervision, suspension, removal, dismissal and punishment of servants of ^f[Boards];

^g[(cc) the constitution of a service of Executive Officers and the appointment, control, supervision, conditions of service, pay and allowances, suspension, removal, dismissal and punishment of the members thereof;]

(d) the circumstances in which security shall be demanded from servants of ^f[Boards] and the amount and nature of such security;

(e) the grant of leave, absentee or acting allowance to servants of ^f[Boards];

(f) the creation and management of Provident Funds, and the circumstances in which, and the conditions subject to which, contributions thereto shall be made from cantonment funds and by servants of ^f[Boards];

(g) the keeping of accounts by ^f[Boards] and the manner in which such accounts shall be audited and published;

Section 277 — Note 1

[1] An order inflicting a fine under S. 268 is a judicial order and, therefore, is open to revision. (1910) 11 Cri L Jour 17 (18).

[2] It is no part of the duty of the superior Court to search through a voluminous enactment like the Cantonments Act in order to ascertain whether convictions are maintainable otherwise than under the precise section quoted by the Magistrate as his authority. Where, therefore, a Magistrate convicts under a wrong section, the accused is entitled to the benefit of the mistake and the Magistrate's orders are liable to be set aside in revision as being illegal. sisted in. The continuing failure must be matter of separate inquiry and proof. (1898) 22 Bom 841 (843). (Failure to re-build latrines according to plan.)

CHAPTER XVII.

SUPPLEMENTAL PROVISIONS.

286. The ^a[Central Government], may, by notification in the ^b[Official Gazette], and subject to any conditions as to compensation or otherwise which it thinks fit to impose, extend to any area beyond a cantonment and in the vicinity thereof, with or without restriction or modification, any of the provisions of Chapters IX, X, XI, XII, XIII, XIV and XV or of any rule or bye-law made under this Act for the cantonment which relates to the subject-matter of any of those Chapters, and every enactment, rule or bye-law so extended shall thereupon apply to that area as if the area were included in the cantonment.

[^a] Substituted by A. O. for "Local Government". [^b] Substituted by A. O. for "local official Gazette".

286A. The ^c[Board] may empower any of its members or officers to exercise or perform in the absence of the Executive Officer from the cantonment all or any of such powers or duties of an Executive Officer under this Act as the ^d[Central Government] may, by notification in the ^e[Official Gazette], specify in this behalf.]

[^a] Inserted by the Cantonments (Amendment) Act, 1931 (7 [VII] of 1931), S. 8. [^b] Substituted by the Cantonments (Amendment) Act, 1936 (24 [XXIV] of 1936), S. 69, for "Cantonment Authority." [^c] Substituted by A. O. for "Governor-General in Council." [^d] Substituted by A. O. for "Gazette of India".

287. (1) Paragraphs 2 and 3 of section 54, and sections 59, 107 and 123 of the Transfer of Property Act, 1932, with respect to the transfer of property by registered instrument, shall, on and from the commencement of this Act, extend to every cantonment.

^a[(2) The Registrar or Sub-Registrar of the district or sub-district formed for the purposes of the Indian Registration Act, 1908, in which any cantonment is situated, shall, ^b[when any document relating to immoveable property within the cantonment is registered, send information of the registration] forthwith to the ^c[Board] or such other authority as the ^d[Central Government] may prescribe in this behalf.]

[^a] Substituted by the Cantonments (Amendment) Act, 1926 (35 [XXXV] of 1926), S. 11, for the original subsection. [^b] Substituted by the Repealing and Amending Act, 1927 (10 [X] of 1927), S. 2 and Sch. I, for the original words. [^c] Substituted by the Cantonments (Amendment) Act, 1936 (24 [XXIV] of 1936), S. 69, for "Cantonment Authority" and "Cantonment Authorities", respectively. [^d] Substituted by A. O. for "Governor-General in Council".

288. No notice, order, requisition, licence, permission in writing or other such document issued under this Act shall be invalid merely by reason of any defect of form.

289. A copy of any receipt, application, plan, notice, order or other document or of any entry in a register, in the possession of a ^a[Board] shall, if duly certified by the legal keeper thereof or other person authorised by the ^a[Board] in this behalf, be admissible in evidence of the existence of the document or entry, and shall be admitted as evidence of the matters and transactions therein recorded in every case where, and to the same extent to which, the original document or entry would, if produced, have been admissible to prove such matters.

[^a] Substituted by the Cantonments (Amendment) Act, 1936 (24 [XXIV] of 1936), S. 69, "Cantonment Authority."

290. No officer or servant of a ^a[Board] shall, in any legal proceeding to which the ^a[Board] is not a party, be required to produce any register or document the contents of which can be proved under section 289 by a certified copy, or

Section 287 — Note 1

[1] The effect of S. 32 of the Cantonments Act of 1889 (corresponding to S. 287 of the present Act) is that a gift of property situate in a cantonment must be made in the manner provided by S. 123 of the T. P. Act. An oral gift by a Muhammadan of such property is, therefore, not valid. (Vol 7) 1920 Lah 249 (251).

[2] Transaction purporting to create a mortgage by deposit of title deeds effected in a cantonment area is invalid. The determining factor in such a case is not the place where the property is situated but the formalities required by the law for a mortgage at a place where the title-deeds are delivered to the creditor. (Vol 20) 1933 Lah 972 (974).

[3] This section makes S. 59 of the T. P. Act applicable to cantonments. Hence a mortgage by deposit of title-deeds within the limits of the cantonment is invalid. (Vol 20) 1933 Lah 1001 (1001, 1002).

[4] Section 107 of the Transfer of Property Act has been made applicable to cantonments by this section; hence lease of land in cantonment from month to month has to be registered. (Vol 18) 1931 Lah 501 (502).

Section 289 — Note 1

[1] Where the General Lands Register of a Cantonment Board was found not to have been carefully prepared: Held, that the Court will not rely on it without corroborative evidence from other records of the cantonment or other testimony. (Vol 22) 1935 Lah 588 (589).

to appear as a witness to prove any matter or transaction recorded therein save by order of the Court made for special cause.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

"The committee which was appointed in the winter of 1920-21 to enquire into and make recommendations in regard to the administration of cantonments recommended inter alia that the Cantonments (House-Accommodation) Act should be revised, so as to remove certain defects which have been brought to light and to carry out more fully the intention of the Act, namely, the better provision of house-accommodation for military officers in cantonments. These recommendations have now been examined by the Government of India whose conclusions are embodied in the draft Bill.

2. A number of the amendments are designed merely to bring the Act up-to-date by specifying, in place of the authorities by whom the Act is at present administered, other authorities recently constituted, e.g., District Commanders in lieu of Divisional Commanders.

3. The principal changes of substance which the Bill seeks to introduce are, firstly, to substitute for the procedure under which houses are liable to be appropriated for use, on a monthly tenancy, by military officers holding direct from the house-owner, a procedure under which Government will take such houses as may be required on a repairing lease for a term of at least five years and will allot the houses so leased to officers requiring accommodation. Under this procedure, officers will become the tenants of Government who alone will deal with the house-owners. Secondly, it is proposed to repeal those sections of the existing Act which provide for interference in the settlement of disputes between house-owners and individual tenants. If the Bill becomes law, individual officers will, as already explained, cease to be the direct tenants of house owners. Where the military officer prefers to take a house by private agreement with a house-owner, and not from Government, it is considered that there is no justification for interference between the two parties in cases of disputes, which will in future be settled as they would outside a cantonment, either by agreement between the parties or by recourse to the law Courts. Thirdly, the Bill alters the constitution of Committees of Arbitration and provides for an appeal to the Court against the decisions of such committees."

COGNATE ACTS AND PROVISIONS.

1. CANTONMENTS ACT, II of 1924.

THE CANTONMENTS (HOUSE-ACCOMMODATION) ACT, 1923

(ACT VI OF 1923)^a.

[5th March 1923.]

An Act further to amend and to consolidate the law relating to the provision of house-accommodation for military officers in cantonments.

WHEREAS it is expedient further to amend and to consolidate the law relating to the provision of house-accommodation for military officers in cantonments; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

[a] For Report of Joint Committee, see Gazette of India, 1923, Pt. V, p. 5.

CHAPTER I.

PRELIMINARY.

Short title, extent and commencement.

1. (1) This Act may be called the Cantonments (House-Accommodation) Act, 1923.

(2) It extends to the whole of British India (inclusive of British Baluchistan) ^a[* * *].

(3) It shall come into force on the first day of April, 1923, but it shall not become operative in any cantonment or part of a cantonment until the issue, or otherwise than in pursuance, of a notification as hereinafter provided by section 3:

Provided that any notification made under section 3 of the ^bCantonments (House-Accommodation) Act, 1902, which is in force at the commencement of this Act, shall be deemed to be a notification made under section 3 of this Act.

[a] The words "except Aden" were repealed by A. O. [b] Repealed by this Act, S. 39 and Schedule.

Definitions.

2. (1) In this Act, unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context,—

(a) "Brigade area" means one of the Brigade areas, whether occupied by a brigade or not, into which India is for military purposes for the time being divided, and includes any area which the ^a[Central Government] may, by notification in the ^b[Official Gazette], declare to be a Brigade area for all or any of the purposes of this Act;

[a] Substituted by A. O. for "Governor-General in Council". [b] Substituted by A. O. for "Gazette of India".

^a[(b) "Cantonment Board" means a Cantonment Board constituted under the Cantonments Act, 1924;]

[a] This clause originally lettered (bb) was inserted by the Cantonments (House-Accommodation Amendment) Act, 1925 (10 [X] of 1925), S. 2. It was re-lettered (b), and the original clause (b) was repealed, see ibid, 1930 (9 [IX] of 1930), S. 2.

(c) "Command" means one of the Commands into which India is for military purposes for the time being divided, and includes any area which the ^a[Central Government] may, by notification in the ^b[Official Gazette], declare to be a Command for all or any of the purposes of this Act;

[a] Substituted by A. O. for "Governor-General in Council". [b] Substituted by A. O. for "Gazette of India".

(d) ^a["Officer Commanding the station"] means the officer for the time being in command of the forces in a cantonment ^b[or, if that officer is the Officer Commanding the District, the military officer who would be in command of those forces in the absence of the Officer Commanding the District].

[a] Substituted by the Cantonments (House-Accommodation Amendment) Act, 1925 (10 [X] of 1925), S. 6, for "Commanding Officer of the Cantonment". [b] Inserted, see ibid, 1930 (9 [IX] of 1930), S. 2.

(e) "District" means one of the Districts into which India is for military purposes for the time being divided; it includes a Brigade area which does not form part of any such District and any area which the ^a[Central Government] may, by notification in the ^b[Official Gazette], declare to be a District for all or any of the purposes of this Act;

[a] Substituted by A. O. for "Governor-General in Council". [b] Substituted by A. O. for "Gazette of India".

- (f) "house" means a house suitable for occupation by a military officer or a military mess, and includes the land and buildings appurtenant to a house ;
- (g) "military officer" means a commissioned or warrant officer of His Majesty's military or air forces on military or air force duty in a cantonment, and includes a Chaplain on duty with troops in a cantonment, ^a[an officer of the Cantonments Department] and any person in Army departmental employment whom the Officer Commanding the District may at any time, by an order in writing, place on the same footing as a military officer for the purposes of this Act ;

[a] Substituted by the Cantonments (House-Accommodation Amendment) Act, 1925 (10 [X] of 1925), S. 2, for "a Cantonment Magistrate".

- (h) "owner" includes the person who is receiving, or is entitled to receive, the rent of a house, whether on his own account or on behalf of himself and others or as an agent or trustee, or who would so receive the rent, or be entitled to receive it, if the house were let to a tenant ; and

- (i) a house is said to be in a state of reasonable repair when —

- (i) all floors, walls, pillars and arches are sound and all roofs sound and watertight,
- (ii) all doors and windows are intact, properly painted or oiled, and provided with proper locks or bolts or other secure fastenings, and
- (iii) all rooms, out-houses and other appurtenant buildings are properly colour-washed or white-washed.

(2) If any question arises whether any land or building is appurtenant to a house, it shall be decided by the ^a[Officer Commanding the station] whose decision thereon shall, subject to revision by the ^b[Collector], be final.

[a] Substituted by the Cantonments (House-Accommodation Amendment) Act, 1925 (10 [X] of 1925), S. 6, for "Commanding Officer of the Cantonment". [b] Substituted, see ibid, 1930 (9 [IX] of 1930), S. 2, for "District Magistrate".

CHAPTER II.

APPLICATION OF ACT.

3. (1) The ^a[Central Government] ^b[* * ] may, by notification in the ^c[Official Gazette], declare this Act to be operative in any cantonment or part of a cantonment ^d[ * *] other than a cantonment situate within the limits of a presidency-town.

(2) Before issuing a notification under sub-section (1) in respect of any cantonment or part of a cantonment, the ^a[Central Government] shall cause local inquiry to be made with a view to determining whether it is expedient to issue such notification, and what portion (if any) of the area proposed to be included therein should be excluded therefrom.

[a] Substituted by A. O. for "Local Government". [b] The words "with the previous sanction of the Governor-General in Council" were repealed by A. O. [c] Substituted by A. O. for "local official Gazette". [d] The words "situate in the Province" were repealed by A. O.

Saving of written instruments. ^a[4. Nothing in this Act shall affect the provisions of any written Crown contract^b unless all the parties to that contract consent in writing to be bound by the terms of this Act.]

[a] Substituted by A. O. for the original section. [b] For definition, see the General Clauses Act, 1897 (10 [X] of 1897), S. 3 (141).

CHAPTER III.

APPROPRIATION OF HOUSES.

5. Every house situate in a cantonment or part of a cantonment in respect of which a notification under sub-section (1) of section 3 is for the time being in force shall be liable to appropriation by ^a[the Central Government] on a lease in the manner and subject to the conditions hereinafter provided.

[a] Substituted by A. O. for "the Government".

Section 4 — Note 1

[1] Section 4 does not apply to a licence under General Order No. 179 unless the Secretary of State and the other party entitled consent to be bound by the terms of the Act. (Vol 23) 1936 Lah 582 (583).

[2] Where Government once owned land in a cantonment to which General Order No. 179 applied, the occupiers of buildings thereon are licensees and the onus is upon them to show that they own the land. (Vol 23) 1936 Pesh 217 (227, 228).

Conditions on which houses may be appropriated.

^a[6. (1) Where—

(a) a military officer who is stationed in or has been posted to the cantonment, or a President of a military mess in the cantonment, applies in writing to the Officer Commanding the Station stating that he is unable to secure suitable accommodation in the cantonment for himself or the mess on reasonable terms by private agreement, and that no suitable house or quarter ^b[belonging to the Crown] is available for his occupation or for the occupation of the mess, and the Officer Commanding the Station is satisfied on inquiry of the truth of the facts so stated; or

(b) the Officer Commanding the Station is satisfied on inquiry that there is not in the cantonment a sufficient and assured supply of houses available at reasonable rates of rent by private agreement to meet the requirements of the military officers and military messes whose accommodation in the cantonment is in his opinion necessary or expedient, the Officer Commanding the Station may, with a view to enforcing the liability under section 5, serve a notice on the owner of any house which appears to him to be suitable for occupation by a military officer or a military mess, as the case may be, within the cantonment, or, if this Act is in force in part only of the cantonment, within that part, requiring the owner to permit the house to be inspected, measured and surveyed by such person and on such date, not being less than three clear days from the service of the notice, and at such time between sunrise and sunset, as may be specified in the notice.

(2) On the date and at the time so specified the owner shall be bound to afford all reasonable facilities to the person specified in the notice for the purpose of the inspection, measurement and survey of the house and if he refuses or neglects to do so, such person may, subject to any rules made under this Act, enter on the premises and do all such things as may be reasonably necessary for the said purpose.]

[a] Substituted by the Cantonments (House-Accommodation Amendment) Act, 1930 (9 [IX] of 1930), S. 3, for the original section. [b] Substituted by A. O. for "belonging to Government".

7. (1) If, on the report of such person as aforesaid, the ^a[Officer Commanding the station]

Procedure for taking house on lease. is satisfied that the house is suitable for occupation by a military officer or a military mess, he may ^b[* * *] by notice—

(a) require the owner to execute a lease of the house to ^c[the Central Government] for a specified period which shall not be less than five years;

(b) require the existing occupier, if any, to vacate the house; and

(c) require the owner to execute within such time as may be specified in the notice such repairs as may, in the opinion of the ^a[Officer Commanding the station], be necessary for the purpose of putting the house into a state of reasonable repair.

(2) Every notice issued under sub-section (1) shall state the amount of the annual rent proposed as reasonable for the house, calculated on the assumption that the owner will carry out the required repairs, if any. It shall also contain an estimate of the cost of such repairs.

(3) The following shall be deemed to be conditions of every lease executed under sub-section (1), namely :—

(a) that the house shall, on the expiration of the lease, be re-delivered to the owner in a state of reasonable repair, and

(b) that the grounds and the garden, if any, appertaining to the house shall be maintained in the condition in which they are at the time at which the lease is executed :

^d[Provided that nothing in this sub-section shall be deemed to affect the right of ^e[the Central Government] to avoid the lease in any such event as is specified in clause (e) of section 108 of the Transfer of Property Act, 1882.]

[a] Substituted by the Cantonments (House-Accommodation Amendment) Act, 1925 (10 [X] of 1925), S. 6, for "Commanding Officer of the Cantonment". [b] The words "with the previous sanction of the Officer Commanding the District" were repealed by the Cantonments (House-Accommodation Amendment) Act, 1930 (9 [IX] of 1930), S. 4. [c] Substituted by A. O. for "the Government". [d] Inserted by Act 9 [IX] of 1930, S. 4.

Section 6 — Note 1

[1] As to service of notice, see Section 34.

Section 7 — Note 1

[1] As to appeal to Officer Commanding the District, see S. 30; and as to service of notice, see Section 34.

[2] Best criterion for arriving at a reasonable figure of rent of a house is to find out the rent of the houses in the locality. (Vol 26) 1939 Pesh 22 (22, 23).

[3] When the procedure prescribed in the Act is not followed, the amount of rent payable by a military officer is a matter of contract expressed or implied between the officer and the owner. (1913) 11 All L Jour 129 (132).

8. [Procedure to be observed before taking a house on lease.] Repealed by the Cantonments House-Accommodation Amendment) Act, 1930 (IX of 1930), S. 5.

9. No house in any cantonment or part of a cantonment in which this Act is operative shall, Sanction to be obtained before a house is occupied as a hospital, etc. unless it was so occupied at the date of the issue of the notification declaring this Act or the ^aCantonments (House-Accommodation) Act, 1902, as the case may be, to be operative, be occupied for the purposes of a hospital, school, school hostel, bank, hotel, or shop, or by a railway administration, a company or firm engaged in trade or business or a club, without the previous sanction of the Officer Commanding the District given with the concurrence of the Commissioner or, in a Province where there are no Commissioners, of the Collector.

[a] Repealed by this Act, S. 39 and Schedule.

Houses not to be appropriated in certain cases.

10. No notice shall be issued under section 7 if the house —

(a) was, at the date of the issue of the notification declaring this Act or the ^aCantonments (House-Accommodation) Act, 1902, as the case may be, to be operative in the cantonment or part of the cantonment, or is, with such sanction as is required by section 9, occupied as a hospital, school, school hostel, bank, hotel or shop, and has been so occupied continuously during the three years immediately preceding the time when the occasion for issuing the notice arises, or

(b) was, at the date of such a notification as is referred to in clause (a), or is, with such sanction as aforesaid, occupied by a railway administration or by a company or firm engaged in trade or business or by a club, or

(c) is occupied by the owner, or

(d) has been appropriated by the ^b[Provincial Government] with the concurrence of the Officer Commanding the District, or by the ^c[Central Government], for use as a public office or for any other purpose.

[a] Repealed by this Act, S. 39 and Schedule. [b] Substituted by A.O. for "Local Government". [c] Substituted by A. O. for "Governor-General in Council".

11. (1) If a house is unoccupied, a notice issued under section 7 may require the owner to Time to be allowed for giving possession of house. give possession of the same to the ^a[Officer Commanding the station] within twenty-one days from the service of the notice.

(2) If a house is occupied, a notice issued under section 7 shall not require its vacation in less than thirty days from the service of the notice.

(3) Where a notice has been issued under section 7 and the house has been vacated in pursuance thereof, the lease shall be deemed to have commenced on the date on which the house was so vacated.

[a] Substituted by the Cantonments (House-Accommodation Amendment) Act, 1925 (10 [X] of 1925), S. 6, for "Commanding Officer of the Cantonment".

12. If the owner fails to give possession of a house to the ^a[Officer Commanding the station] Surrender of house when to be enforced. in pursuance of a notice issued under section 7, or if the existing occupier fails to vacate a house in pursuance of such a notice, the District Magistrate, by himself or by another person generally or specially authorised by him in this behalf, shall enter on the premises and enforce the surrender of the house.

[a] Substituted by the Cantonments (House-Accommodation Amendment) Act, 1925 (10 [X] of 1925), S. 6, for "Commanding Officer of the Cantonment".

Option in certain cases for owner on whom notice is issued under section 7 to call upon the Government to purchase.

13. (1) If a house, in respect of which a notice is issued under section 7, is shown to the satisfaction of the ^a[Central Government], or is proved by a decree or order of a Court of competent jurisdiction, to have been erected—

(a) under any conditions, rules, regulations or orders which were in force in Bengal prior to the eighth day of December, 1864, and conferred on the owner the option of offering the

(2) If the owner elects to sell the house, and^c [the Central Government] is willing to purchase it, the question of the amount of the purchase-money to be paid shall, in the event of disagreement, be referred to^d [a Civil Court, in accordance with the provisions of Chapter IV].

14. (1) If a house, in respect of which a notice is issued under section 7, is occupied by a tenant holding in good faith and for valuable consideration under a registered lease for any term exceeding one year,^a [the Central Government] shall, for the term of one year from the date on which the house is vacated in pursuance of the notice, or for the unexpired term of the lease whichever is the shorter, be liable to the owner for the rent fixed by the registered lease instead of for the rent payable under this Act if the rent so fixed exceeds the rent so payable.

(2) If a house, in respect of which a notice is issued under section 7, is occupied by a tenant holding in good faith and for valuable consideration under a registered lease from year to year,^a [the Central Government] shall be liable as aforesaid for the term of six months from the date on which the house is vacated in pursuance of the notice.

(3) Nothing in this section shall be deemed —

(a) to render^b [the Central Government] so liable unless an application in writing in this behalf is made by the owner to the^c [Officer Commanding the station] within fifteen days from the service of the notice; or

(b) to limit or otherwise affect any agreement between^b [the Crown] and the owner.

15. (1) If the owner considers that the rent stated in a notice issued under section 7 is not reasonable, he may, within a period of^a [thirty] days from the service of such notice,^b [refer the matter to a Civil Court, in accordance with the provisions of Chapter IV] :

^c [Provided that where an appeal has been made to the Officer Commanding the District under section 30, the period of thirty days shall be reckoned from the date on which the owner received notice of the result of the appeal under sub-section (2) of section 32.]

(2) If the owner does not make such a^d [reference] within the said period, he shall be deemed to have accepted the rent so offered.

[b] Substituted by S. 7, ibid., for "require that the matter be referred by the Officer Commanding the station to a Committee of Arbitration". [c] Inserted by the Cantonments (House-Accommodation Amendment) Act, 1933 (22 [XXII] of 1933), S. 2. [d] Substituted by Act, 9 [IX] of 1930, S. 7, for "requisition".

Section 15 — Note 1

[1] As to computation of period of limitation, see Section 34A.

[2] Where owner does not raise question of enhancement until commencement of tenancy, and is served with notice for repairs, he is not entitled to enhanced rent from commencement of tenancy. (Vol 13) 1926 All 746 (747).

[3] It is the owner alone that can make a reference under this section to the Civil Court. Therefore, in a reference the owner is not bound to make a mortgagee, who is not in possession of the lease property, a party to the reference and his non-joinder will not defeat the suit. However, the Court may join the mortgagee as a proper party under Civil P. C., O. 1, R. 10. (Vol 24) 1937 Pesh 17 (17, 18).

[4] The Peshawar Court has observed that there is a lacuna in the Act which should be filled up by the Legislature. It has, therefore, suggested that there should be a provision to the effect that where the house has been taken over and the question of rent is contested by the landlord the amount fixed by the authorities should be paid to the landlord without prejudice to his right to fight in Court the question as to the reasonableness of the rent proposed. (Vol 26) 1939 Pesh 22 (23).

16. (1) If the owner fails to execute any repairs to a house as required by a notice issued to him under section 7, the ^a[Officer Commanding the station] may by Power for owner to refer to Civil Court on question of repairs. notice require the owner to execute the repairs within such period, not being less than ^b[thirty] days, as may be specified in the notice.

(2) If the owner objects to any requisition contained in a notice issued under sub-section (1), he may, within ^b[thirty] days from the service of the notice, ^c[refer the matter to a Civil Court in accordance with the provisions of Chapter IV] :

^d[Provided that where an appeal has been made to the Officer Commanding the District under section 80, the period of thirty days shall be reckoned from the date on which the owner received notice of the result of the appeal under sub-section (2) of section 82.]

THE INDIAN CARRIAGE BY AIR ACT, 1934

(ACT XX of 1934)

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

"An International Convention for the unification of certain rules relating to international carriage by air was signed at Warsaw in October, 1929, by certain Governments. The convention defines the liability of air carriers for injury or damage caused to passengers or goods. The convention was not signed on behalf of India, but its provisions have been examined by the Government of India and are, in their opinion, suitable to Indian conditions. They, therefore, propose to adhere to the convention as soon as requisite legislation to implement its provisions has been enacted. To that end they have framed the present Bill.

The convention applies only in respect of international carriage by air, i. e. carriage between two States signatory to the convention but as there is no law on the subject in India, beyond the general law of contract and the law relating to carriages on land, the Bill seeks to provide power to the Governor-General in Council to make rules extending the provisions of the convention also to internal carriage by air."

—Gazette of India, 1934, part V, p. 78.

THE INDIAN CARRIAGE BY AIR ACT, 1934

(ACT XX OF 1934.^a)

[as amended by Act XXXI of 1939]

[19th August 1934.]

An Act to give effect in British India to a Convention for the unification of certain rules relating to international carriage by air.

WHEREAS a Convention for the unification of certain rules relating to international carriage by air (hereinafter referred to as the Convention) was, on the 12th day of October, 1929, signed at Warsaw;

AND WHEREAS it is expedient that British India should accede to the Convention and should make provision for giving effect to the said Convention in British India;

AND WHEREAS it is also expedient to make provision for applying the rules contained in the Convention (subject to exceptions, adaptations and modifications) to carriage by air in British India which is not international carriage within the meaning of the Convention;

It is hereby enacted as follows:—

[a] For Report of Select Committee, see Gazette of India, 1934, Pt. V, p. 189.

Short title, extent and commencement.

1. (1) This Act may be called the Indian Carriage by Air Act, 1934.

(2) It extends to the whole of British India, including British Baluchistan and the Sonthal Parganas.

(3) It shall come into force on such date^a as the ^b[Central Government] may, by notification in the ^c[Official Gazette], appoint.

[a] 18th February 1935, See Gazette of India, 1935, Pt. I, P. 320. [b] Substituted by A. O. for "Governor-General in Council". [c] Substituted by A. O. for "Gazette of India."

2. (1) The rules contained in the First Schedule, being the provisions of the Convention relating to the rights and liabilities of carriers, passengers, consignors, consignees and other persons, shall, subject to the provisions of this Act, have the force of law in British India in relation to any carriage by air to which those rules apply, irrespective of the nationality of the aircraft performing the carriage.

(2) The ^a[Central Government] may, by notification in the ^b[Official Gazette], certify who are the High Contracting Parties to the Convention, in respect of what territories they are parties, and to what extent they have availed themselves of the Additional Protocol to the Convention, and any such notification shall be conclusive evidence of the matters certified therein.

(3) Any reference in the First Schedule to the territory of any High Contracting Party to the Convention shall be construed as a reference to all the territories in respect of which he is a party.

^c[(3A) Any reference in the First Schedule to agents of the carrier shall be construed as including a reference to servants of the carrier.]

(4) Notwithstanding anything contained in the Indian Fatal Accidents Act, 1855, or any other enactment or rule of law in force in any part of British India, the rules contained in the First Schedule shall, in all cases to which those rules apply, determine the liability of a carrier in respect of the death of a passenger, and the rules contained in the Second Schedule shall determine the persons by whom and for whose benefit and the manner in which such liability may be enforced.

(5) Any sum in francs mentioned in rule 22 of the First Schedule shall, for the purpose of any action against a carrier, be converted into rupees at the rate of exchange prevailing on the date on which the amount of damages to be paid by the carrier is ascertained by the Court.

[a] Substituted by A. O. for "Governor-General in Council." [b] Substituted by A. O. for "Gazette of India."
[c] Inserted by the Indian Carriage by Air (Amendment) Act, 1939 (31 [XXXI] of 1939), S. 2. [28-9-1939.]

3. (1) Every High Contracting Party to the Convention who has not availed himself of the provisions of the Additional Protocol thereto shall, for the purposes of any suit brought in a Court in British India in accordance with the provisions of rule 23 of the First Schedule to enforce a claim in respect of carriage undertaken by him, be deemed to have submitted to the jurisdiction of that Court and to be a person for the purposes of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908.

(2) The High Court may make rules of procedure providing for all matters which may be expedient to enable such suits to be instituted and carried on.

(3) Nothing in this section shall authorise any Court to attach or sell any property of a High Contracting Party to the Convention.

4. The ^a[Central Government] may, by notification in the ^b[Official Gazette], apply the rules contained in the First Schedule and any provision of section 2 to such carriage by air, not being international carriage by air as defined in the First Schedule, as may be specified in the notification, subject however to such exceptions, adaptations and modifications, if any, as may be so specified.

FIRST SCHEDULE

(See section 2.)

RULES.

CHAPTER I.

SCOPE—DEFINITIONS.

1. (1) These rules apply to all international carriage of persons, luggage or goods performed by aircraft for reward. They apply also to such carriage when performed gratuitously by an air transport undertaking.

(2) In these rules "High Contracting Party" means a High Contracting Party to the Convention.

(3) For the purposes of these rules the expression "international carriage" means any carriage in which, according to the contract made by the parties, the place of departure and the place of destination, whether or not there be a break in the carriage or a transshipment, are situated either within the territories of two High Contracting Parties, or within the territory of a single High Contracting Party, if there is an agreed stopping place within a territory subject to the sovereignty, suzerainty, mandate or authority of another Power, even though that Power is not a party to the Convention. A carriage without such an agreed stopping place between territories subject to the sovereignty, suzerainty, mandate or authority of the same High Contracting Party is not deemed to be international for the purposes of these rules.

(4) A carriage to be performed by several successive air carriers is deemed, for the purposes of these rules, to be one undivided carriage, if it has been regarded by the parties as a single operation, whether it has been agreed upon under the form of a single contract or of a series of contracts, and it does not lose its international character merely because one contract or a series of contracts is to be performed entirely within a territory subject to the sovereignty, suzerainty, mandate or authority of the same High Contracting Party.

2. (1) These rules apply to carriage performed by the State or by legally constituted public bodies provided it falls within the conditions laid down in rule 1.

(2) These rules do not apply to carriage performed under the terms of any international postal Convention.

CHAPTER II.

DOCUMENTS OF CARRIAGE.

Part I. — Passenger ticket.

3. (1) For the carriage of passengers the carrier must deliver a passenger ticket which shall contain the following particulars :—

(a) the place and date of issue ;

(b) the place of departure, and of destination ;

(c) the agreed stopping places, provided that the carrier may reserve the right to alter the stopping places in case of necessity, and that if he exercises that right, the alteration shall not have the effect of depriving the carriage of its international character ;

(d) the name and address of the carrier or carriers ;

(e) a statement that the carriage is subject to the rules relating to liability contained in this Schedule.

(2) The absence, irregularity or loss of the passenger ticket does not affect the existence or the validity of the contract of carriage, which shall none the less be subject to these rules. Nevertheless, if the carrier accepts a passenger without a passenger ticket having been delivered he shall not be entitled to avail himself of those provisions of this Schedule which exclude or limit his liability.

Part II. — Luggage ticket.

4. (1) For the carriage of luggage, other than small personal objects of which the passenger takes charge himself, the carrier must deliver a luggage ticket.

(2) The luggage ticket shall be made out in duplicate, one part for the passenger and the other part for the carrier.

(3) The luggage ticket shall contain the following particulars :—

- (a) the place and date of issue ;
- (b) the place of departure and of destination ;
- (c) the name and address of the carrier or carriers ;
- (d) the number of the passenger ticket ;
- (e) a statement that delivery of the luggage will be made to the bearer of the luggage ticket ;
- (f) the number and weight of the packages ;
- (g) the amount of the value declared in accordance with rule 22 (2) ;
- (h) a statement that the carriage is subject to the rules relating to liability contained in this Schedule.

(4) The absence, irregularity or loss of the luggage ticket does not affect the existence or the validity of the contract of carriage, which shall none the less be subject to these rules. Nevertheless, if the carrier accepts luggage without a luggage ticket having been delivered, or if the luggage ticket does not contain the particulars set out at (d), (f) and (h) of sub-rule (3), the carrier shall not be entitled to avail himself of those provisions of this Schedule which exclude or limit his liability.

Part III. — Air consignment note.

5. (1) Every carrier of goods has the right to require the consignor to make out and hand over to him a document called an "air consignment note"; every consignor has the right to require the carrier to accept this document.

(2) The absence, irregularity or loss of this document does not affect the existence or the validity of the contract of carriage which shall, subject to the provisions of rule 9, be none the less governed by these rules.

6. (1) The air consignment note shall be made out by the consignor in three original parts and be handed over with the goods.

(2) The first part shall be marked "for the carrier", and shall be signed by the consignor. The second part shall be marked "for the consignee"; it shall be signed by the consignor and by the carrier and shall accompany the goods. The third part shall be signed by the carrier and handed by him to the consignor after the goods have been accepted.

(3) The carrier shall sign an acceptance of the goods.

(4) The signature of the carrier may be stamped ; that of the consignor may be printed or stamped.

(5) If, at the request of the consignor, the carrier makes out the air consignment note, he shall be deemed, subject to proof to the contrary, to have done so on behalf of the consignor.

7. The carrier of goods has the right to require the consignor to make out separate consignment notes when there is more than one package.

8. The air consignment note shall contain the following particulars :—

- (a) the place and date of its execution ;
- (b) the place of departure and of destination ;
- (c) the agreed stopping places, provided that the carrier may reserve the right to alter the stopping places in case of necessity, and that if he exercises that right the alteration shall not have the effect of depriving the carriage of its international character ;
- (d) the name and address of the consignor ;
- (e) the name and address of the first carrier ;
- (f) the name and address of the consignee, if the case so requires ;
- (g) the nature of the goods ;
- (h) the number of the packages, the method of packing and the particular marks or numbers upon them ;
- (i) the weight, the quantity and the volume or dimensions of the goods ;
- (j) the apparent condition of the goods and of the packing ;
- (k) the freight, if it has been agreed upon, the date and place of payment and the person who is to pay it ;
- (l) if the goods are sent for payment on delivery, the price of the goods and, if the case so requires, the amount of the expenses incurred ;
- (m) the amount of the value declared in accordance with rule 22 (2) ;
- (n) the number of parts of the air consignment note ;
- (o) the documents handed to the carrier to accompany the air consignment note ;
- (p) the time fixed for the completion of the carriage and a brief note of the route to be followed, if these matters have been agreed upon ;
- (q) a statement that the carriage is subject to the rules relating to liability contained in this Schedule.

9. If the carrier accepts goods without an air consignment note having been made out, or if the air consignment note does not contain all the particulars set out in rule 8 (a) to (v) inclusive and (g), the carrier shall not be entitled to avail himself of the provisions of this Schedule which exclude or limit his liability.

10. (1) The consignor is responsible for the correctness of the particulars and statements relating to the goods which he inserts in the air consignment note.

(2) The consignor will be liable for all damage suffered by the carrier or any other person by reason of the irregularity, incorrectness or incompleteness of the said particulars and statements.

11. (1) The air consignment note is prima facie evidence of the conclusion of the contract, of the receipt of the goods and of the conditions of carriage.

(2) The statements in the air consignment note relating to the weight, dimensions and packing of the goods, as well as those relating to the number of packages, are prima facie evidence of the facts stated; those relating to the quantity, volume and condition of the goods do not constitute evidence against the carrier except so far as they both have been, and are stated in the air consignment note to have been, checked by him in the presence of the consignor, or relate to the apparent condition of the goods.

12. (1) Subject to his liability to carry out all his obligations under the contract of carriage, the consignor has the right to dispose of the goods by withdrawing them at the aerodrome of departure or destination, or by stopping them in the course of the journey on any landing, or, by calling for them to be delivered at the place of destination or in the course of the journey to a person other than the consignee named in the air consignment note, or by requiring them to be returned to the aerodrome of departure. He must not exercise this right of disposition in such a way as to prejudice the carrier or other consignors and he must repay any expenses occasioned by the exercise of this right.

(2) If it is impossible to carry out the orders of the consignor the carrier must so inform him forthwith.

(3) If the carrier obeys the orders of the consignor for the disposition of the goods without requiring the production of the part of the air consignment note delivered to the latter, he will be liable, without prejudice to his right of recovery from the consignor, for any damage which may be caused thereby to any person who is lawfully in possession of that part of the air consignment note.

(4) The right conferred on the consignor ceases at the moment when that of the consignee begins in accordance with rule 13. Nevertheless, if the consignee declines to accept the consignment note or the goods, or if he cannot be communicated with, the consignor resumes his right of disposition.

13. (1) Except in the circumstances set out in rule 12, the consignee is entitled, on arrival of the goods at the place of destination, to require the carrier to hand over to him the air consignment note and to deliver the goods to him, on payment of the charges due and on complying with the conditions of carriage set out in the air consignment note.

(2) Unless it is otherwise agreed, it is the duty of the carrier to give notice to the consignee as soon as the goods arrive.

(3) If the carrier admits the loss of the goods, or if the goods have not arrived at the expiration of seven days after the date on which they ought to have arrived, the consignee is entitled to put into force against the carrier the rights which flow from the contract of carriage.

14. The consignor and the consignee can respectively enforce all the rights given them by rules 12 and 13, each in his own name, whether he is acting in his own interest or in the interest of another, provided that he carries out the obligations imposed by the contract.

15. (1) Rules 12, 13 and 14 do not affect either the relations of the consignor or the consignee with each other or the mutual relations of third parties whose rights are derived either from the consignor or from the consignee.

(2) The provisions of rules 12, 13 and 14 can only be varied by express provision in the air consignment note.

16. (1) The consignor must furnish such information and attach to the air consignment note such documents as are necessary to meet the formalities of customs, octroi or police before the goods can be delivered to the consignee. The consignor is liable to the carrier for any damage occasioned by the absence, insufficiency or irregularity of any such information or documents, unless the damage is due to the fault of the carrier or his agents.

(2) The carrier is under no obligation to enquire into the correctness or sufficiency of such information or documents.

CHAPTER III.

LIABILITY OF THE CARRIER.

17. The carrier is liable for damage sustained in the event of the death or wounding of a passenger or any other bodily injury suffered by a passenger, if the accident which caused the damage so sustained took place on board the aircraft or in the course of any of the operations of embarking or disembarking.

18. (1) The carrier is liable for damage sustained in the event of the destruction or loss of, or of damage to, any registered luggage or any goods, if the occurrence which caused the damage so sustained took place during the carriage by air.

(2) The carriage by air within the meaning of the preceding paragraph comprises the period during which the luggage or goods are in charge of the carrier, whether in an aerodrome or on board an aircraft, or, in the case of a landing outside an aerodrome, in any place whatsoever.

(3) The period of the carriage by air does not extend to any carriage by land, by sea or by river performed outside an aerodrome. If, however, such a carriage takes place in the performance of a contract for carriage by air, for the purpose of loading, delivery or transshipment, any damage is presumed, subject to proof to the contrary, to have been the result of an event which took place during the carriage by air.

19. The carrier is liable for damage occasioned by delay in the carriage by air of passengers, luggage or goods.

20. (1) The carrier is not liable if he proves that he and his agents have taken all necessary measures to avoid the damage or that it was impossible for him or them to take such measures.

(2) In the carriage of goods and luggage the carrier is not liable if he proves that the damage was occasioned by negligent pilotage or negligence in the handling of the aircraft or in navigation and that, in all other respects, he and his agents have taken all necessary measures to avoid the damage.

21. If the carrier proves that the damage was caused by or contributed to by the negligence of the injured person the Court may exonerate the carrier wholly or partly from his liability.

22. (1) In the carriage of passengers the liability of the carrier for each passenger is limited to the sum of 125,000 francs. Where damages may be awarded in the form of periodical payments, the equivalent capital value of the said payments shall not exceed 125,000 francs. Nevertheless, by special contract the carrier and the passenger may agree to a higher limit of liability.

(2) In the carriage of registered luggage and of goods, the liability of the carrier is limited to a sum of 250 francs per kilogram, unless the consignor has made, at the time when the package was handed over to the carrier, a special declaration of the value at delivery and has paid a supplementary sum if the case so requires. In that case the carrier will be liable to pay a sum not exceeding the declared sum, unless he proves that that sum is greater than the actual value to the consignor at delivery.

(3) As regards objects of which the passenger takes charge himself the liability of the carrier is limited to 5,000 francs per passenger.

(4) The sums mentioned in this rule shall be deemed to refer to the French franc consisting of 65½ milligramms gold of millesimal fineness 900.

23. Any provision tending to relieve the carrier of liability or to fix a lower limit than that which is laid down in these rules shall be null and void, but nullity of any such provision does not involve the nullity of the whole contract, which shall remain subject to the provisions of this Schedule.

24. (1) In the cases covered by rules 18 and 19 any action for damages, however founded, can only be brought subject to the conditions and limits set out in this Schedule.

(2) In the cases covered by rule 17 the provisions of sub-rule (1) also apply, without prejudice to the questions as to who are the persons who have the right to bring suit and what are their respective rights.

25. (1) The carrier shall not be entitled to avail himself of the provisions of this Schedule which exclude or limit his liability, if the damage is caused by his wilful misconduct or by such default on his part as is in the opinion of the Court equivalent to wilful misconduct.

(2) Similarly the carrier shall not be entitled to avail himself of the said provisions, if the damage is caused as aforesaid by any agent of the carrier acting within the scope of his employment.

26. (1) Receipt by the person entitled to delivery of luggage or goods without complaint is prima facie evidence that the same have been delivered in good condition and in accordance with the document of carriage.

(2) In the case of damage, the person entitled to delivery must complain to the carrier forthwith after the discovery of the damage, and, at the latest, within three days from the date of receipt in the case of luggage and seven days from the date of receipt in the case of goods. In the case of delay the complaint must be made at the latest within fourteen days from the date on which the luggage or goods have been placed at his disposal.

(3) Every complaint must be made in writing upon the document of carriage or by separate notice in writing despatched within the times aforesaid.

(4) Failing complaint within the times aforesaid, no action shall lie against the carrier, save in the case of fraud on his part.

27. In the case of the death of the person liable, an action for damages lies in accordance with these rules against those legally representing his estate.

28. An action for damages must be brought at the option of the plaintiff, either before the Court having jurisdiction where the carrier is ordinarily resident, or has his principal place of business, or has an establishment by which the contract has been made or before the Court having jurisdiction at the place of destination.

29. The right of damages shall be extinguished if an action is not brought within two years, reckoned from the date of arrival at the destination, or from the date on which the aircraft ought to have arrived, or from the date on which the carriage stopped.

30. (1) In the case of carriage to be performed by various successive carriers and falling within the definition set out in sub-rule (4) of rule 1, each carrier who accepts passengers, luggage or goods is subjected to the rules set out in this Schedule, and is deemed to be one of the contracting parties to the contract of carriage in so far as the contract deals with that part of the carriage which is performed under his supervision.

(2) In the case of carriage of this nature, the passenger or his representative can take action only against the carrier who performed the carriage during which the accident or the delay occurred, save in the case where, by express agreement, the first carrier has assumed liability for the whole journey.

(3) As regards luggage or goods, the passenger or consignor will have a right of action against the first carrier, and the passenger or consignee who is entitled to delivery will have a right of action against the last carrier, and further, each may take action against the carrier who performed the carriage during which the destruction, loss, damage or delay took place. These carriers will be jointly and severally liable to the passenger or to the consignor or consignee.

CHAPTER IV.

PROVISIONS RELATING TO COMBINED CARRIAGE.

31. (1) In the case of combined carriage performed partly by air and partly by any other mode of carriage, the provisions of this Schedule apply only to the carriage by air, provided that the carriage by air falls within the terms of rule 1.

(2) Nothing in this Schedule shall prevent the parties in the case of combined carriage from inserting in the document of air carriage conditions relating to other modes of carriage, provided that the provisions of this Schedule are observed as regards the carriage by air.

CHAPTER V.

GENERAL AND FINAL PROVISIONS.

32. Any clause contained in the contract and all special agreements entered into before the damage occurred by which the parties purport to infringe the rules laid down by this Schedule, whether by deciding the law to be applied, or by altering the rules as to jurisdiction, shall be null and void. Nevertheless for the carriage of goods arbitration clauses are allowed, subject to these rules, if the arbitration is to take place in the territory of one of the High Contracting Parties within one of the jurisdictions referred to in rule 25.

33. Nothing contained in this Schedule shall prevent the carrier either from refusing to enter into any contract of carriage, or from making regulations which do not conflict with the provisions of this Schedule.

34. This Schedule does not apply to international carriage by air performed by way of experimental trial by air navigation undertakings with the view to the establishment of a regular line of air navigation, nor does it apply to carriage performed in extraordinary circumstances outside the normal scope of an air carrier's business.

35. The expression "days" when used in these rules means current days, not working days.

36. When a High Contracting Party has declared at the time of ratification of or of accession to the Convention that the first paragraph of Article 2 of the Convention shall not apply to international carriage by air performed directly by the State, its colonies, protectorates or mandated territories or by any other territory under its sovereignty, suzerainty or authority, these rules shall not apply to international carriage by air so performed.

SECOND SCHEDULE.

(See section 2.)

PROVISIONS AS TO LIABILITY OF CARRIERS IN THE EVENT OF THE DEATH OF A PASSENGER.

1. The liability shall be enforceable for the benefit of such of the members of the passenger's family as sustained damage by reason of his death.

In this rule the expression "member of a family" means wife or husband, parent, step-parent, grandparent, brother, sister, half-brother, half-sister, child, step-child, grandchild :

Provided that, in deducting any such relationship as aforesaid any illegitimate person and any adopted person shall be treated as being, or as having been, the legitimate child of his mother and reputed father or, as the case may be, of his adopters.

2. An action to enforce the liability may be brought by the personal representative of the passenger or by any person for whose benefit the liability is under the last preceding rule enforceable, but only one action shall be brought in British India in respect of the death of any one passenger, and every such action by whomsoever brought shall be for the benefit of all such persons so entitled as aforesaid as either are domiciled in British India, or, not being domiciled there, express a desire to take the benefit of the action.

3. Subject to the provisions of the next succeeding rule the amount recovered in any such action, after deducting any costs not recovered from the defendant, shall be divided between the persons entitled in such proportions as the Court may direct.

4. The Court before which any such action is brought may at any stage of the proceedings make any such order as appears to the Court to be just and equitable in view of the provisions of the First Schedule to this Act limiting the liability of a carrier and of any proceedings which have been, or are likely to be, commenced outside British India in respect of the death of the passenger in question.

THE INDIAN CARRIAGE OF GOODS BY SEA ACT, 1925.

(ACT XXVI of 1925).

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

"A bill of lading was originally a receipt for the goods placed on a ship and also a document for transferring the title of the goods to the consignee. With the development of trade, it became recognised as a negotiable instrument in which shippers, the carriers and the consignees or purchasers of the goods as well as bankers and under-writers became increasingly interested. Concurrently with this it became the custom to show on the bill of lading the terms of the contract on which the goods were delivered to and received by the ship, and from time to time new clauses were added usually in the direction of contracting the carrier out of liability for some kind of loss or damage to the goods. There thus arose great diversity between the conditions on which goods were carried by sea and considerable uncertainty about the liabilities which still attached to the carrier.

2. There has been a demand for many years among the different commercial interests which handle bills of lading for uniformity among all maritime countries in the definition of the liabilities and risks attaching to the carrier of goods by sea. Some countries, e. g. Canada, Australia, and the United States of America, enacted legislation prohibiting carriers of goods by sea from contracting themselves out of certain kinds of liability. The matter was discussed at several International Conferences between shipowners, shippers and bankers in an attempt to secure the universal adoption of an agreed set of rules.

3. A code of rules was drawn up in 1921 by the International Law Association at the Hague. These were subjected to criticism by the various interests affected till finally agreement was reached at the International Conferences on Maritime Law held in Brussels in October, 1922, and again in October 1923. A Code of rules defining the responsibilities and liabilities to which a carrier of goods by sea should be subject and also the rights and immunities he was entitled to enjoy was drawn up, and it was unanimously recommended that every country should give legal sanction to these rules. The United Kingdom has done so by the Carriage of Goods by Sea Act (1924) (14 and 15 Geo. V, c. 22). It is proposed to do the same in India by this Bill.

4. This Bill follows closely the English Act. The agreed Code of Rules are reproduced in the Schedule. Clause 5 of the Bill exempts from these rules goods carried in the coasting trade under documents other than bills of lading whilst clause 6 saves the carrier from claims for shortage of weight in certain cases of bulk shipments where, by the custom of the trade, the weight entered in the bill of lading is a weight ascertained or accepted by a third party other than the carrier or shipper and this fact is so stated in the bill of lading."—Gazette of India, 1925, Part V, page 37.

REPORT OF JOINT COMMITTEE.

"The following report of the Joint Committee on the Bill to amend the law with respect to the carriage of goods by sea was presented to the Legislative Assembly on the 31st August 1925 :—

We, the undersigned, Members of the Joint Committee to which the Bill to amend the law with respect to the carriage of goods by sea was referred, have considered the Bill and the papers noted in the margin and have now the honour to submit this our Report, with the Bill as amended by us annexed thereto.

We have made one change in the Bill the substitution of new clause 5.

Original clause 5, following lines of the English Act, exempted the whole of the coasting trade from the requirement that in all cases a bill of lading should be issued subject to the conditions prescribed in the Rules, that is to say, such trade was excluded from the operation of the Rules.

It is clear from the opinions received that, contrary to the English practice, bills of lading are almost invariably issued by steamship companies engaged in the Indian coasting trade, and that it is the desire of the mercantile community that the provisions of the Bill relating to bills of lading should apply to such trade.

It is not, however, the practice for sailing vessels engaged in the coasting trade or proceeding from Indian ports to issue bills of lading and these have been exempted accordingly.

The provision in clause (b) is intended to cover the case of goods carried by the South Indian Railway ferry boat from Dhanushkodi to Talaimanar. Bills of lading are not issued for the short sea journey and cargo is carried subject to the provisions of the Railway Act."

MINUTE OF DISSENT.

[By Purushotamdas Thakurdas] "I think it is necessary to draw the attention of the Indian Legislature to the opinion of Mr. Justice J. R. Ellis Cunliffe of the Rangoon High Court. He says that the English statute corresponding to the Bill under report 'was the result of a so-called International Maritime Conference at Brussels, which has been subject to acute criticism on the part of high legal authorities at Home.' These authorities 'regarded the draft provisions of the Bill as being extremely difficult to interpret and likely to lead to much unnecessary litigation arising out of their obscurity.' The learned Judge further remarks :

"The construction of Article 6 under the Schedule will be extremely difficult to decide. How the Courts are to come to a satisfactory conclusion as to whether the stipulation mentioned in the first part of the Article is or is not contrary to public opinion, I do not know. And further, the ordinary trader is bound to be in very great doubt as to the difference between the receipt mentioned therein, which is ruled to be a non-negotiable instrument and to be so marked and, the ordinary bill of lading, which is, by custom, largely a formally printed document.'

The only reason that I know of for recommending the Indian Legislature to adopt the Rules given in the Schedule to this Bill is to ensure uniformity in a matter which has been under discussion between experts of the various countries for a number of years. But in this long and protracted discussion, it must be noted that, Indian interests had no direct say or representation. Whilst I see no reason, so far, to oppose the Bill as amended by the "Select Committee", I deem it my duty to bring the opinion expressed by Justice Cunliffe to the notice of the Legislature by a separate Minute."

THE INDIAN CARRIAGE OF GOODS BY SEA ACT, 1925.

(ACT XXVI OF 1925.)^a

[21st September 1925]

An Act to amend the Law with respect to the carriage of goods by sea.

WHEREAS at the International Conference on Maritime Law held at Brussels in October, 1922, the delegates at the Conference, including the delegates representing His Majesty, agreed unanimously to recommend their respective Governments to adopt as the basis of a convention a draft convention for the unification of certain rules relating to bills of lading ;

AND WHEREAS at a meeting held at Brussels in October, 1923, the rules contained in the said draft convention were amended by the Committee appointed by the said Conference ;

AND WHEREAS provision has been made by the Carriage of Goods by Sea Act, 1924, that the said rules as so amended and as set out with modifications in the Schedule, shall, subject to the provisions of that Act, have the force of law with a view to establishing the responsibilities, liabilities, rights and immunities attaching to carriers under bills of lading;

AND WHEREAS it is expedient that like provision should be made in British India; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

[a] [This Indian Act follows, with slight modifications, the provisions contained in the English Carriage of Goods by Sea Act, 1924 (14 and 15, Geo. V, c. 22).]

Short title and extent. 1. (1) This Act may be called the INDIAN CARRIAGE OF GOODS BY SEA ACT, 1925.

(2) It extends to the whole of British India.

2. Subject to the provisions of this Act, the rules set out in the Schedule (hereinafter referred to as "the Rules") shall have effect in relation to and in connection with the carriage of goods by sea in ships carrying goods from any port in British India to any other port whether in or outside British India.

[(1924) 14 and 15 Geo. V, c. 22—S. 1.]

Absolute warranty of seaworthiness not to be implied in contracts to which Rules apply. 3. There shall not be implied in any contract for the carriage of goods by sea to which the Rules apply any absolute undertaking by the carrier of the goods to provide a seaworthy ship.

[(1924) 14 and 15 Geo. V, c. 22—S. 2.]

4. Every bill of lading, or similar document of title, issued in British India which contains Statement as to application of Rules or is evidence of any contract to which the Rules apply, shall to be included in bills of lading. contain an express statement that it is to have effect subject to the provisions of the said Rules as applied by this Act.

[(1924) 14 and 15 Geo. V, c. 22—S. 3.]

Modification of Article VI of Rules in relation to goods carried in sailing ships and by prescribed routes.

5. Article VI of the Rules shall, in relation to —

(a) the carriage of goods by sea in sailing ships carrying goods from any port in British India to any other port whether in or outside British India, and

(b) the carriage of goods by sea in ships carrying goods from a port in British India notified^a in this behalf in the ^b[Official Gazette] by the ^c[Central Government] to a port in Ceylon specified in the said notification, have effect as though the said Article referred to goods of any class instead of to particular goods and as though the proviso to the second paragraph of the said Article were omitted.

[(1924) 14 and 15 Geo. V, c. 22—S. 4.]

6. Where under the custom of any trade the weight of any bulk cargo inserted in the bill of lading is a weight ascertained or accepted by a third party other than the carrier or the shipper and the fact that the weight is so ascertained or accepted is stated in the bill of lading, then, notwithstanding anything in the Rules, the bill of lading shall not be deemed to be prima facie evidence against the carrier of the receipt of goods of the weight so inserted in the bill of lading, and the accuracy thereof at the time of shipment shall not be deemed to have been guaranteed by the shipper.

[(1924) 14 and 15 Geo. V, c. 22—S. 5.]

7. (1) Nothing in this Act shall affect the operation of sections four hundred and forty-six to four hundred and fifty, both inclusive, five hundred and two, and five hundred and three of the Merchant Shipping Act, 1894, as amended by any subsequent enactment, or the operation of any other enactment for the time being in force limiting the liability of the owners of sea-going vessels.

(2) The Rules shall not by virtue of this Act apply to any contract for the carriage of goods by sea before such day,^a not being earlier than the first day of January, 1926, as the ^b[Central Government] may, by notification in the ^c[Official Gazette], appoint, nor to any bill of lading or similar

SCHEDULE.

RULES RELATING TO BILLS OF LADING.

ARTICLE I.

Definitions.

In these Rules the following expressions have the meanings hereby assigned to them respectively, that is to say —

- (a) "Carrier" includes the owner or the charterer who enters into a contract of carriage with a shipper :
- (b) "Contract of carriage" applies only to contracts of carriage covered by a bill of lading or any similar document of title, in so far as such document relates to the carriage of goods by sea including any bill of lading or any similar document as aforesaid issued under or pursuant to a charterparty from the moment at which such bill of lading or similar document of title regulates the relations between a carrier and a holder of the same :
- (c) "Goods" includes goods, wares, merchandises, and articles of every kind whatsoever, except live animals and cargo which by the contract of carriage is stated as being carried on deck and is so carried :
- (d) "Ship" means any vessel used for the carriage of goods by sea :
- (e) "Carriage of goods" covers the period from the time when the goods are loaded on to the time when they are discharged from the ship.

[(1924) 14 & 15 Geo. V, c. 22—Art. I.]

ARTICLE II.

Risks.

Subject to the provisions of Article VI, under every contract of carriage of goods by sea the carrier, in relation to the loading, handling, stowage, carriage, custody, care, and discharge of such goods, shall be subject to the responsibilities and liabilities, and entitled to the rights and immunities hereinafter set forth.

[(1924) 14 & 15 Geo. V, c. 22—Art. II.]

ARTICLE III.

Responsibilities and Liabilities.

1. The carrier shall be bound, before and at the beginning of the voyage, to exercise due diligence to —

- (a) make the ship seaworthy :
- (b) properly man, equip, and supply the ship :
- (c) make the holds, refrigerating and cool chambers, and all other parts of the ship in which goods are carried, fit and safe for their reception, carriage and preservation.

2. Subject to the provisions of Article IV, the carrier shall properly and carefully load, handle, stow, carry keep, care for and discharge the goods carried.

3. After receiving the goods into his charge, the carrier, or the master or agent of the carrier, shall on demand of the shipper, issue to the shipper a bill of lading showing among other things—

- (a) The leading marks necessary for identification of the goods as the same are furnished in writing by the shipper before the loading of such goods starts, provided such marks are stamped or otherwise shown clearly upon the goods if uncovered, or on the cases or coverings in which such goods are contained, in such a manner as should ordinarily remain legible until the end of the voyage :
- (b) Either the number of packages or pieces, or the quantity, or weight, as the case may be, as furnished in writing by the shipper :
- (c) The apparent order and condition of the goods :

Article III — Note 1

[1] Paragraph 3 (b)—In a suit for short delivery of goods, where the bill of lading expressly says 'weight, contents and value when shipped unknown', the burden is on the plaintiff to prove shortage. (Vol 10) 1923 Mad 523 (523).

[2] Paragraph 4 — A bill of lading is evidence and sometimes conclusive evidence of the contract of affreightment, but is not the contract of affreightment itself. (Vol 6) 1919 Mad 931 (935).

[3] Paragraph 6 — Paragraph 6 is to be construed strictly — Ship leaving port on a particular date must be deemed to have delivered cargo to consignee — Consignee cannot take advantage of survey unduly delayed to extend period of limitation. (Vol 24) 1937 Sind 11 (13) : 30 Sind L R 345.

[4] Paragraph 6 does not only purport to limit the time within which the holder of a bill of lading may enforce his rights against the carrier, but it goes much further. It extinguishes the right itself. (Vol 18) 1931 Sind 124 (126) : 25 Sind L R 222.

[5] Condition in a bill of lading that carrier or ship will not be liable unless claim for damages for short delivery is brought within one year after delivery of goods — Suit for damages brought after one year of delivery—Held condition extinguished consignee's right to claim damages. (Vol 19) 1932 Bom 330 (332); (Vol 27) 1940 Rang 294 (295, 296) : 1940 Rang L R 552. (By virtue of Art. II the carrier is liable under the contract and not by way of tort in addition to it.)

[6] 'Removal' means physical removal. (Vol 24) 1937 Sind 11 (13) : 30 Sind L R 345.

Provided that no carrier, master or agent of the carrier, shall be bound to state or show in the bill of lading any marks, number, quantity, or weight which he has reasonable ground for suspecting not accurately to represent the goods actually received, or which he has had no reasonable means of checking.

4. Such a bill of lading shall be prima facie evidence of the receipt by the carrier of the goods as therein described in accordance with paragraph 3 (a), (b) and (c).

5. The shipper shall be deemed to have guaranteed to the carrier the accuracy at the time of shipment of the marks, number, quantity, and weight, as furnished by him, and the shipper shall indemnify the carrier against all loss, damages, and expenses arising or resulting from inaccuracies in such particulars. The right of the carrier to such indemnity shall in no way limit his responsibility and liability under the contract of carriage to any person other than the shipper.

6. Unless notice of loss or damage and the general nature of such loss or damage be given in writing to the carrier or his agent at the port of discharge before or at the time of the removal of the goods into the custody of the person entitled to delivery thereof under the contract of carriage, or if the loss or damage be not apparent, within three days, such removal shall be prima facie evidence of the delivery by the carrier of the goods as described in the bill of lading.

The notice in writing need not be given if the state of the goods has at the time of their receipt been the subject of joint survey or inspection.

In any event the carrier and the ship shall be discharged from all liability in respect of loss or damage unless suit is brought within one year after delivery of the goods or the date when the goods should have been delivered.

In the case of any actual or apprehended loss or damage, the carrier and the receiver shall give all reasonable facilities to each other for inspecting and tallying the goods.

7. After the goods are loaded the bill of lading to be issued by the carrier, master or agent of the carrier, to the shipper shall, if the shipper so demands, be a "shipped" bill of lading, provided that, if the shipper shall have previously taken up any document of title to such goods, he shall surrender the same as against the issue of the "shipped" bill of lading, but at the option of the carrier, such document of title may be noted at the port of shipment by the carrier, master, or agent with the name or names of the ship or ships upon which the goods have been shipped and the date or dates of shipment, and when so noted the same shall for the purpose of this Article be deemed to constitute a "shipped" bill of lading.

8. Any clause, covenant or agreement in a contract of carriage relieving the carrier or the ship from liability for loss or damage to or in connection with goods arising from negligence, fault or failure in the duties and obligations provided in this Article or lessening such liability otherwise than as provided in these Rules, shall be null and void and of no effect.

A benefit of insurance or similar clause shall be deemed to be a clause relieving the carrier from liability.

[(1924) 14 & 15 Geo. V, c. 22 — Art. III.]

ARTICLE IV.

Rights and Immunities.

1. Neither the carrier nor the ship shall be liable for loss or damage arising or resulting from unseaworthiness unless caused by want of due diligence on the part of the carrier to make the ship seaworthy, and to secure that the ship is properly manned, equipped and supplied, and to make the holds, refrigerating and cool chambers and all other parts of the ship in which goods are carried fit and safe for their reception, carriage and preservation in accordance with the provisions of paragraph 1 of Article III.

Whenever loss or damage has resulted from unseaworthiness the burden of proving the exercise of due diligence shall be on the carrier or other person claiming exemption under this section.

2. Neither the carrier nor the ship shall be responsible for loss or damage arising or resulting from —

- (a) act, neglect, or default of the master, mariner, pilot, or the servants of the carrier in the navigation or in the management of the ship :
- (b) fire, unless caused by the actual fault or privity of the carrier :
- (c) perils, dangers and accidents of the sea or other navigable waters :
- (d) act of God :
- (e) act of war :
- (f) act of public enemies :
- (g) arrest or restraint of princes, rulers or people, or seizure under legal process :
- (h) quarantine restriction :
- (i) act or omission of the shipper or owner of the goods, his agent, or representative :
- (j) strikes or lock-outs or stoppage or restraint of labour from whatever cause, whether partial or general :
- (k) riots and civil commotions :
- (l) saving or attempting to save life or property at sea :

Article IV — Note 1

[1] Paragraph 2 (g)—Where a lighter carries goods from the port but does not carry goods to any other port, the fact that goods transported are placed in another ship, which itself carries them to another port, would not bring the lighter within the purview of S. 2 of the Act. Moreover, even if this lighter is a 'ship' to which the Act applies, then Art. IV, Para. 2, clause (g) would make the owners of the lighter liable for the loss of goods which is due to the fault of the agent of the carriers. (Vol 26) 1939 Mad 401 (402).

- (m) waslage in bulk or weight or any other loss or damage arising from inherent defect, quality, or vice of the goods :
- (n) insufficiency of packing :
- (o) insufficiency or inadequacy of marks :
- (p) latent defects not discoverable by due diligence :
- (q) any other cause arising without the actual fault or privity of the carrier, or without the fault or neglect of the agents or servants of the carrier, but the burden of proof shall be on the person claiming the benefit of this exception to show that neither the actual fault or privity of the carrier nor the fault or neglect of the agents or servants of the carrier contributed to the loss or damage.

3. The shipper shall not be responsible for loss or damage sustained by the carrier or the ship arising or resulting from any cause without the act, fault or neglect of the shipper, his agents or his servants.

4. Any deviation in saving or attempting to save life or property at sea, or any reasonable deviation shall not be deemed to be an infringement or breach of these Rules or of the contract of carriage, and the carrier shall not be liable for any loss or damage resulting therefrom.

5. Neither the carrier nor the ship shall in any event be or become liable for any loss or damage to or in connection with goods in any amount exceeding 100% per package or unit, or the equivalent of that sum in other currency, unless the nature and value of such goods have been declared by the shipper before shipment and inserted in the bill of lading.

This declaration if embodied in the bill of lading shall be prima facie evidence, but shall not be binding or conclusive on the carrier.

By agreement between the carrier, master or agent of the carrier and the shipper another maximum amount than that mentioned in this paragraph may be fixed, provided that such maximum shall not be less than the figure above named.

Neither the carrier nor the ship shall be responsible in any event for loss or damage to or in connection with goods if the nature or value thereof has been knowingly mis-stated by the shipper in the bill of lading.

6. Goods of an inflammable, explosive or dangerous nature to the shipment whereof the carrier, master or agent of the carrier, has not consented, with knowledge of their nature and character, may at any time before discharge be landed at any place or destroyed or rendered innocuous by the carrier without compensation, and the shipper of such goods shall be liable for all damages and expenses directly or indirectly arising out of or resulting from such shipment.

If any such goods shipped with such knowledge and consent shall become a danger to the ship or cargo, they may in like manner be landed at any place or destroyed or rendered innocuous by the carrier without liability on the part of the carrier except to general average, if any.

[(1924) 14 & 15 Geo. V, c. 22 — Art. IV.]

ARTICLE V.

Surrender of Rights and Immunities, and Increase of Responsibilities and Liabilities.

A carrier shall be at liberty to surrender in whole or in part all or any of his rights and immunities or to increase any of his responsibilities and liabilities under the Rules contained in any of these Articles, provided such surrender or increase shall be embodied in the bill of lading issued to the shipper.

The provisions of these Rules shall not be applicable to charterparties, but if bills of lading are issued in the case of a ship under a charterparty they shall comply with the terms of these Rules. Nothing in these Rules shall be held to prevent the insertion in a bill of lading of any lawful provision regarding general average.

[(1924) 14 & 15 Geo. V, c. 22 — Art. V.]

ARTICLE VI.

Special Conditions.

Notwithstanding the provisions of the preceding Articles, a carrier, master or agent of the carrier, and a shipper shall in regard to any particular goods be at liberty to enter into any agreement in any terms as to the responsibility and liability of the carrier for such goods, and as to the rights and immunities of the carrier in respect of such goods, or his obligation as to seaworthiness, so far as this stipulation is not contrary to public policy, or the care or diligence of his servants or agents in regard to the loading, handling, stowage, carriage, custody, care and discharge of the goods carried by sea, provided that in this case no bill of lading has been or shall be issued and that the terms agreed shall be embodied in a receipt which shall be a non-negotiable document and shall be marked as such.

Any agreement so entered into shall have full legal effect :

Provided that this Article shall not apply to ordinary commercial shipments made in the ordinary course of trade, but only to other shipments where the character or condition of the property to be carried or the circumstances, terms and conditions under which the carriage is to be performed, are such as reasonably to justify a special agreement.

SCHEDULE.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

"The defective state of the Law of India in respect of the liabilities of carriers, whether companies or individuals, has for some time past attracted the attention of the Governor-General in Council, but it was thought desirable to postpone any enactment on the subject, until it should be seen whether the labours of Her Majesty's Commissioners for preparing a Body of Substantive Law would relieve the Indian Legislature from the necessity of special legislation.

Meantime, however, the question has become pressing, from the increase in the numbers of carrying companies, from the transfer of part of the Government carrying business to one of them, and from the prospect of Tramways being constructed under Act XXII of 1863 (to provide for taking land for works of public utility to be constructed by private persons or companies, and for regulating the construction and use of works on land so taken). The necessity for prompt legislation has further been urged on the Government in petitions, and by the Government of Madras in an official letter.

The Bill now published by the Viceroy's permission follows the principles, though not the form or language, of the English Statutes regulating the liability of carriers.

The earlier sections extend to India the principle embodied in the English Statute 11 Geo. IV, and 1 Will. IV, Cap. 68. They relieve carriers from the extraordinary liabilities which would be imposed on them by the delivery to them, without notice, of articles of peculiar value or perishableness. Any customer, delivering to the carrier any of the articles enumerated in the Schedule, must declare them, and then the carriers may charge at a higher rate for the additional risk, in conformity with a scale to be publicly exhibited in his place of business. Under the ordinary law of contract, the carrier might relieve himself from the liability by such a notice, but it would be necessary to bring the notice home to the customer by evidence. From the necessity of giving such evidence, the carrier will now be relieved by this enactment.

By Section VI it is provided that the carrier shall not rid himself of his liability for articles, neither unusually valuable nor unusually perishable, by any public notice, but (unless he be the owner of a Tramway) he is permitted to modify his legal obligations by special contract.

Section VII extends to Tramways constructed under Act XXII of 1863, the same rule which is applied to Railways by Act XVIII of 1854. It seems highly expedient that the same law should, if possible, be made to govern both Railways and Tramways.

The rule applicable to Indian Railway Companies is contained in Section XI of Act XVIII of 1854, and is as follows :—

"The liability of such a Railway Company for loss or injury to any articles or goods to be carried by them other than those specially provided for by this Act, shall not be deemed or construed to be limited, or in anywise affected by any public notice given, or any private contract made by them; but such a Railway Company shall be answerable for such loss or injury when it shall have been caused by gross negligence or misconduct on the part of their agents or servants."

On this Section the Government of Madras observes : "The first clause prohibiting any private contract in limitation of liability goes far beyond the Common Law of England and Statute 17 and 18 Vic., Cap. 31, S. VII, which admits of such contracts if just and reasonable. It is difficult to see why a Railway Company in India should be deprived of that power of protecting itself by special contract which a Railway Company in England possesses. If the latter clause of the section, which makes a company liable for gross negligence or misconduct of their agents, is meant to relieve them from liability in all other cases, it would be well to say so by distinct negative words. But it is very questionable whether so wide an exemption from responsibility is desirable or was intended."

If, however, the word "only" be supplied after "answerable" in the last line but three of the extract from the Railways Act as printed above, the Section becomes intelligible. It limits the liability of Railway Companies to the consequences of gross negligence or misconduct on the part of their agents or servants, but declares that from this liability so limited they shall not be allowed to relieve themselves by any kind of contract. There cannot indeed be much doubt that the intention of the Legislature was to place all Railway Companies in what was once supposed to be the exact position of a carrier who had contracted for himself as favourably as the law of England would permit.

It was, in fact, long supposed in England that, while a carrier could by contract relieve himself from most of his liabilities, his power of doing so stopped short of liability for negligence or misconduct. Such is the view of the law taken by Mr. Justice Story in his "Commentaries on the law of Bailments", Section 549, and such is understood to be still the law in America. But a series of decisions in the English Courts overturned the older doctrine, and it was settled that a carrier could, by a properly framed contract, deliver himself from liability even for misconduct or negligence. The liberty thus conceded was, however, found to be a practical evil, and the English Legislature intervened by 17 and 18 Vic., Cap. 31.

The nearly contemporaneous enactment of the Indian Legislature, embodied in Section XI of Act XVIII of 1854, is obviously aimed at the same object.

It seems very undesirable to adopt the rule contained in Section VII of 17 and 18 Vic., Cap. 31, which permits companies to contract themselves on certain conditions, out of their liability for negligence. The Section in question has been severely condemned by the present Lord Chancellor of England on the ground both of obscurity of expression and of difficulty of application :—(Peek v. The North Staffordshire Railway Company, 32 Law Journal N. S. Q. B. 241). On the other hand, the rule of the Indian Legislature is comparatively simple; it would probably be sustained by the general sense of the mercantile community and it is especially applicable to a country in which there exists considerable difference of opinion as to the general liabilities of carriers."

THE CARRIERS ACT, 1865.^a

(ACT III OF 1865.)

[14th February 1865.]

An Act relating to the rights and liabilities of Common Carriers.

WHEREAS it is expedient, not only to enable common carriers to limit their liability for loss or damage to property delivered to them to be carried, but also to declare their liability for loss of or damage to such property occasioned by the negligence or criminal acts of themselves, their servants, or agents; It is enacted as follows :

[a] For Proceedings relating to the Bill, see Gazette of India 1864 Supplement, p. 497, and ibid, 1865, pp. 51, 64 and 65.

The Act has been declared to be in force in the whole of British India, except the Scheduled Districts, by the Laws Local Extent Act, 1874 (15 [XV] of 1874), S. 3.

It has been applied to the Santhal Parganas, by the Santhal Parganas Settlement Regulation, 1872 (3 [III] of 1872), S. 31.

It has been declared, by notification under S. 3 (a) of the Scheduled Districts Act, 1874 (14 [XIV] of 1874), to be in force in the following Scheduled Districts, namely :—

Sind, see Gazette of India, 1880, Pt. I, p. 672; West Jalpaiguri, the Western Hills of Darjilling, the Darjilling Tarai and the Damson Sub-division of the Darjilling District, see ibid, 1881, Pt. I, p. 74; The Districts of Hazaribagh, Lohardaga (now the Ranchi District, see Calcutta Gazette, 1899, Pt. I, p. 44), and Manbhum, and Pargana Dhalbhum and the Kolhan in the District of Singhbhum, see ibid, 1881, Pt. I, p. 504; The Porahat Estate in the District of Singhbhum, see ibid, 1897, Pt. I, p. 382; The Districts of Hazara, Peshawar, Kohat, Bannu, Dera Ismail Khan and Dera Ghazi Khan, [Portions of the Districts of Hazara, Bannu, Dera Ismail Khan and Dera Ghazi Khan and the Districts of Peshawar and Kohat now form the N. W. F. P., see Gazette of India, 1901, Pt. I, p. 857, and ibid, 1902, Pt. I, p. 575 : but its application to that part of the Hazara District known as Upper Tanawal is barred by the Hazara (Upper Tanawal) Regulation, 1900 (2 [II] of 1900)] see ibid, 1886, Pt. I, p. 48; The Scheduled Districts of the C. P., see ibid, 1879, Pt. I, p. 771; The Scheduled Districts in Ganjam and Vizagapatam, see ibid, 1898, Pt. I, p. 870; The District of Sylhet see ibid, 1879, Pt. I, p. 681; The rest of Assam (except the North Lushai Hills) see ibid, 1897, Pt. I, p. 299.

It has been declared, by notification under S. 3 (b) of the last-mentioned Act, not to be in force in the Scheduled District of Lohal—Sec Gazette of India, 1886, Pt. I, p. 301.

It has been extended, by notification under S. 3 of the same Act to the following Scheduled Districts, namely: The Talai of the Province of Agra—Sec Gazette of India, 1876, Pt. I p. 505; Ajmer and Merwar, see ibid, 1877, Pt. I, page 605.

It has been repealed as to carriers by rail by the Indian Railways Act, 1879 (4 [IV] of 1879).

For the Indian Railways Act now in force, see the Indian Railways Act, 1890 (9 [IX] of 1890).

Short title.

1. This Act may be cited as the CARRIERS ACT, 1865.

Interpretation clause.

2. In this Act, unless there be something repugnant in the subject or context,—

“Common carrier” denotes a person, other than the Government, engaged in the business of “Common carrier.” transporting for hire property from place to place, by land or inland navigation, for all persons indiscriminately :

“Person.” “Person” includes any association or body of persons, whether incorporated or not :

3. No common carrier shall be liable for the loss of or damage to property delivered to him to be carried exceeding in value one hundred rupees and of the description contained in the schedule to this Act, unless the person delivering such property to be carried, or some person duly authorized in that behalf, shall have expressly declared, to such carrier or his agent, the value and description thereof.^a

[a] The earlier sections extend to India the principle embodied in the Carriers Act, 1830 (11 Geo. IV, and 1 Will IV, c. 68) — See Statement of Objects and Reasons.

1. Preamble

[1] The duties and liabilities of a common carrier are governed in India by the principles of the common law in England on that subject except where they have been departed from in the case of particular class of common carriers, e.g. by the Carriers Act or the Railways Act. A common carrier's responsibility is not within the Contract Act. (Vol 2) 1915 Mad 833 (834) : 38 Mad 941 ; (Vol 6) 1919 Upp Bur 17 (18) : 3 Upp Bur Rul 120 ; (1911) 38 Cal 28 (41, 42).

[2] In a suit against defendants who are carriers by sea and hence not “common carriers” within this Act the law applicable was held to be lex loci contractus, and the lex loci being the Law of England; it was held that the defendants were common carriers and the English law as to common carriers applied to them. (1905) 28 Mad 400 (403). (Now see the Carriage of Goods by Sea Act, 1925.)

[3] Carriers by sea are not “common carriers” within the meaning of S. 2 of this Act and hence this Act will not apply to them; but they are nevertheless common carriers whose liabilities and duties are governed by the principles of the common law of England regarding the common carriers. (Vol 2) 1915 Mad 833 (833, 834) : 38 Mad 941. (Now see the Carriage of Goods by Sea Act, 1925.)

[4] This Act is not applicable in the case of railways except to a very limited extent. (Vol 18) 1931 Cal 585 (586).

[5] Enactments like the Carriers Act and the Railways Act are not affected by the Contract Act. (1878-79) 3 Bom 109 (113).

Section 2 — Note 1

[1] The Act does not apply to carriers by sea. (Vol 15) 1928 Bom 5 (6) : 52 Bom 37 ; (Vol 3) 1916 Bom 265 (267) : 40 Bom 529.

[2] Though carriers by sea are not contemplated by this Act they are nevertheless common carriers for other purposes, e.g. for the purpose of Limitation Act. (1881) 3 Mad 107 (110).

[3] The definition of a “common carrier” in S. 2 is framed without reference to the extent of his liability. Thus, a common carrier does not cease to be so if he enters into special contract lawfully limiting his liability. (Vol 2) 1915 Nag 6 (7) : 11 Nag L R 174.

[4] “For all persons indiscriminately” means simply that carriers are not at liberty to refuse business. (Vol 11) 1924 P C 40 (42) : 51 Ind App 28 : 51 Cal 304 (P C).

[5] Where under the terms of the licence, a licensee is under the obligation to carry goods of all persons, except when due to special reasons he may refuse, he is a common carrier. (Vol 20) 1933 Cal 735 (737, 738) : 60 Cal 879.

[6] A licensee of a ferry is a “common carrier.” (Vol 6) 1919 Upp Bur 17 (18) : 3 Upp Bur Rul 120.

[7] Where a canal company which transported goods under a contract with a railway company was sued for damages for loss of goods, it was held that canal company was a common carrier and liable as such. (Vol 18) 1931 Mad 115 (117).

Section 3 — Note 1

[1] When a package containing both scheduled and non-scheduled articles is lost, the value of the non-scheduled articles may be recovered although the value of the scheduled articles cannot be recovered. (Vol 19) 1932 Cal 344 (346) : 59 Cal 472.

[2] Liability for loss or damage of property is not defeated by the fact that the goods delivered as luggage are in fact merchandize. (Vol 1) 1914 Cal 150 (151) : 41 Cal 80.

[3] Misdescription of property lost in transit does not exonerate the carrier from his liability for the loss. The liability is limited to the value declared and not the value of the actual contents of the package consigned. (1879) 3 Bom 120 (129, 130).

4. Every such carrier may require payment for the risk undertaken in carrying property

For carrying such property payment may be required at rates fixed by carrier. exceeding in value one hundred rupees and of the description aforesaid, at such rate of charge as he may fix :

Provided that, to entitle such carrier to payment at a rate higher than his ordinary rate of charge, he shall have caused to be exhibited, in the place where he carries on the business of receiving property to be carried, notice of the higher rate of charge required, printed or written in English and in the vernacular language of the country wherein he carries on such business.

5. In case of the loss of or damage to property exceeding in value one hundred rupees and of the description aforesaid, delivered to such carrier to be carried, when the value and description thereof shall have been declared, and payment shall have been required in manner provided for by this Act, the person entitled to recover in respect of such loss or damage shall also be entitled to recover any money actually paid to such carrier in consideration of such risk as aforesaid.

The person entitled to recover in respect of property loss or damaged may also recover money paid for its carriage. 6. The liability of any common carrier for the loss of or damage to any property delivered to him to be carried, not being of the description contained in the schedule to this Act, shall not be deemed to be limited or affected by any public notice ; but any such carrier, not being the owner of a railroad or tramroad constructed under the provisions of "Act XXII of 1863 (to provide for taking land for works of public utility to be constructed by private persons or companies, and for regulating the construction and use of works on land so taken)" may, by special contract, signed by the owner of such property so delivered as last aforesaid, or by some person duly authorized in that behalf by such owner, limit his liability in respect of the same.

[a] See now the Land Acquisition Act, 1894 (1 [I] of 1894), S. 2.

Section 4 — Note 1

[1] Where a person makes a declaration about the nature of the articles consigned but the carrier does not demand higher payment, the carrier is liable for the loss of articles although the higher payment is not made. (1892) 19 Cal 538 (540, 541).

Section 6 — Note 1

[1] The rights and liabilities of a common carrier are outside the Contract Act and are governed by the principles of the English Common Law as modified by the Carriers Act. In India, a common carrier is, therefore, subject to two distinct classes of liability, the one for loss for which he is liable as an insurer, the other for loss for which he is liable under his obligation to carry safely. The effect of sections 6, 8 and 9 is that the liability of a common carrier for the loss of goods not being of the description contained in the schedule may be limited by special contract signed by the owner save when such loss shall have arisen from the negligence or criminal act of the carrier or any of his agents or servants. (1911) 38 Cal 28 (41, 42).

[2] The position of common carriers is different from that of railway companies who are only bailees coming under Ss. 151, 152 and 161 of the Contract Act. The liability of common carriers is that of an insurer subject to certain exceptions under S. 6 of this Act. (1913) 40 Cal 716 (718, 719).

[3] Certain goods were lost in transit by the defendants who were common carriers. It was found that the loss had not been occasioned by act of God or the Queen's enemies. The defendants had taken as much care of them as a man of ordinary prudence would take of similar goods belonging to himself. It was held that Ss. 151 and 152, Contract Act, did not apply, and defendants were liable for loss, in the absence of a special contract such as is provided for in S. 6 of Carriers Act. (1884) 10 Cal 166 (182) (FB).

[4] What is required to limit the liability of "carrier" is that the nature of the contract entered into must either have limitation of liability under the Act made expressly and in writing or the facts must be such, that the contractor was engaging in a different type of business from that of common carriers. (Vol 11) 1924 P C 40 (42) : 51 Ind App 28 : 51 Cal 304 (PC).

[5] In the case of continuous carriers, (1) when goods have to be carried with the aid of different transport agencies in order to arrive at the destination, the carrier with whom the contract is made at one end is, in the absence of any contract limiting his liability to his own transport system, liable for the loss or destruction of the goods on portions beyond his own system or in consequence of acts or default of persons other than his own servants; (2) in the absence of a contract to the contrary, the consignor cannot hold the company with whom he does not contract liable for damages when all that can be complained of is non-feasance, though such company may be liable in tort for breach of duty arising from the mere fact that it has undertaken the liability of carrying goods or property belonging to another; (3) when there is an agreement between two companies the effect of which is to constitute one company the agent of the other and the traffic is carried for the joint benefit of both the companies, either company may be sued at the option of the consignor. (Vol 5) 1918 Mad 341 (343).

[6] Goods were delivered to M Railway Company. The destination was a station on the G Railway lines. M and G Companies had an agreement between themselves for conveyance of goods handed over by one another for carriage on their own lines. The goods were lost after they were handed over to G company. It was held that a suit by the consignor against G company was maintainable. (1880-81) 5 Bom 371 (378).

[7] The plaintiffs consigned goods through a steam navigation company knowing that it would be carried by another railway company in latter part of the journey. The goods were lost after being delivered to the railway to him to be carried only when such loss or damage shall have been caused by negligence or a criminal act on his part or on that of his agents or servants.

[a] Section 7 (so far as it relates to railways) has been repealed by the Indian Railways Act, 1890 (9 [IX] of 1890), S. 72. [b] See now the Land Acquisition Act, 1894 (1 [I] of 1894), S. 2.

and shall also be liable to the owner for loss or damage to any such property other than property to which the provisions of section 3 apply and in respect of which the declaration required by that section has not been made where such loss or damage has arisen from the negligence of the carrier or any of his agents or servants].

company. It was held that the agreement was in substance, with both companies and that the railway company was absolved from liability under S. 75 of the Railways Act. (1907) 11 Cal W N 1076 (1077).

[8] A consignor entered into a contract with a railway company for carrying certain goods to a port and thence to England. Owing to a breach on the railway line the goods had to be conveyed in steamers by a steamship company with whom the Railway Company had entered into an agreement. It was held that a suit by the consignor against the steamship company for loss of goods during transit by the latter company was maintainable. (Vol 7) 1920 Cal 758 (762) : 47 Cal 6.

[9] Where goods are booked to be carried over the lines of several carriers the proper person who is liable is one to whom the goods are delivered by the consignor. The contract is an indivisible contract and not so many contracts with different persons. The question with whom the contract is made is a question of fact. (Vol 14) 1927 Cal 394 (398) : 54 Cal 430.

Section 8 — Note 1

[1] Sections 8 and 9 are declared by S. 72 of the Railways Act not to affect the responsibility of the Railway Company as defined in the latter section. (1894) 17 Mad 445 (446).

[2] A common carrier is responsible for safety of goods except when loss is caused by act of God or King's enemies. (Vol 3) 1916 Cal 647 (648).

[3] A common carrier does not cease to be a common carrier simply because he agreed to a special stipulation, to carry goods safely. Special stipulations do not absolve the carrier from his liabilities under the Act. (Vol 20) 1933 Cal 735 (737, 738) : 60 Cal 879.

[4] The combined effect of Ss. 6 and 8 is that in respect of the property not mentioned in the schedule common carriers may limit their liability by special contract but not so as to get rid of their liability for negligence. (1891) 18 Cal 620 (628, 629) : 18 Ind App 12 (P. C.); (1890) 17 Cal 39 (43, 44).

[5] Agreement limiting liability of carrier does not relieve carriers of liability arising from the negligence of their servants. (1911) 38 Cal 28 (42).

[6] Where a special contract absolves the carrier from liability in the case of loss or damage by accident as well as resulting from negligence, the clause absolving from liability due to negligence is bad; but this does not make the contract wholly void. The carriers are nevertheless absolved from their liability in case of accident. (1890) 17 Cal 39 (44).

[7] Where one transporting agency undertakes to transport goods which are to be transported by several agencies consecutively, the other agencies are agents of the contracting agency which is responsible for the loss of goods during the whole transport. An agreement that the contracting agency will not be liable after it has delivered goods to another agency is void as offending against S. 8. (Vol 19) 1932 Cal 344 (346) : 59 Cal 472.

Section 9 — Note 1

[1] Negligence is presumed by the loss of goods. (Vol 18) 1931 Mad 115 (117).

[2] Loss from unknown cause is presumptive proof of negligence. (Vol 15) 1928 Cal 371 (376).

[3] Occurrence of fire without any explanation as to origin of it is evidence of negligence. (1899) 26 Cal 393 (403) : 26 Ind App 1 (P. C.).

place to another, nothing appears to have been done which was inconsistent with due care and skill, the presumption of negligence is rebutted, and the carriers are entitled to have the action dismissed. (1897) 24 Cal 787 (787, 789, 791).

Section 10 — Note 1

[1] To maintain a suit for damages for short delivery against a common carrier, notice of claim under S. 10 must be given even though the carrier came to know of the claim aliunde within six months' time and had no difficulty in tracing the goods. (Vol 5) 1918 Cal 896 (897); (1911) 38 Cal 50 (51).

[2] This section places Steamship Company in the same position as a Railway and makes it obligatory upon person wanting to sue Steamer Company to give notice of such suit within the time mentioned in section. (1908) 8 Cal L Jour 192 (192).

[3] In a suit against a common carrier, plaintiff need not state the fact of issue of notice under S. 10 in the plaint. It is implied under O. 6, R. 6, Civil P. C. Defendants should raise plea of absence of notice. On their failure to do so, the onus is on them to prove absence of negligence on their part. (Vol 25) 1938 Rang 437 (438, 439). (Per Dunkley J. — Absence of plea of want of notice in the written statement amounts to waiver on the part of the defendant.)

[4] The essential of a good notice appears to be that it should reach the person liable for the loss. Notice to local agent is sufficient. (Vol 14) 1927 Cal 394 (398); 54 Cal 430.

[5] A contract with a proviso: "No claim of any kind whatsoever in respect of this contract shall be valid unless in writing and delivered at the office of the Company . . . within six months from the date of any default, loss or damage in respect of which such claim arises," is not unreasonable. (3 Mad 107 and 27 Cal L J 294, rel. on.) (Vol 15) 1928 Cal 371 (374).

THE CASTE DISABILITIES REMOVAL ACT, 1850^a. (ACT XXI of 1850.)

[11th April 1850.]

An Act for extending the principle of section 9, Regulation VII, 1832, of the Bengal Code, throughout the Territories subject to the Government of the East India Company.

Whereas it is enacted by section 9, Regulation VII, 1832,^b of the Bengal Code, that "whenever Preamble. in any civil suit the parties to such suit may be of different persuasions, when one party shall be of the Hindu and the other of the Muhammadan persuasion : or where one or more of the parties to the suit shall not be either of the Muhammadan or Hindu persuasions : the laws of those religions shall not be permitted to operate to deprive such party or parties of any property to which, but for the operation of such laws, they would have been entitled;" and whereas it will be beneficial to extend the principle of that enactment throughout the territories subject to the Government of the East India Company : It is enacted as follows :—

[a] The short title was given by the Indian Short Titles Act, 1897 (14 [XIV] of 1897).

The Act (21 [XXI] of 1850) has been declared to be in force in the whole of British India, except the Scheduled Districts, by the Laws Local Extent Act, 1874 (15 [XV] of 1874), S. 3.

It has been declared to be in force in the Santhal Parganas, by the Santhal Parganas Settlement Regulation (3 [III] of 1872), S. 3. It has been declared, by notification under S. 3 (a) of the Scheduled Districts Act, 1874 (14 [XIV] of 1874), to be in force in the following Scheduled Districts, namely :— Sind, see Gazette of India, 1880, Pt. I, page 672 ; West Jalpaiguri, see ibid, 1881, Pt. I, page 74 ; The Districts of Hazaribagh, Lohardaga (now the Ranchi District, see Calcutta Gazette, 1899, Pt. I, page 44), and Manbhum, and Pargana Dhalbhum and the Kolhan in the District of Singhbhum, see ibid, 1881, Pt. I, page 504; the Scheduled portion of the Mirzapur District, see ibid, 1879, Pt. I, page 383; Jaunsar Bawar, see ibid, 1879, Pt. I, page 382; The Districts of Peshawar, Hazara, Kohat, Bannu, Dera Ismail Khan and Dera Ghazi Khan. [Portions of the Districts of Hazara, Bannu, Dera Ismail Khan and Dera Ghazi Khan and the Districts of Peshawar and Kohat now form the N. W. F. P., see Gazette of India, 1901, Pt. I, page 557, and ibid, 1902, Pt. I, page 575; but its application has been barred in that part of the Hazara District known as Upper Tanawal by the Hazara (Upper Tanawal) Regulation, 1900 (2 [II] of 1900), S. 3], see ibid, 1886, Pt. I, page 48; The District of Lahaul see ibid, 1886, Pt. I, page 301; the Scheduled Districts of the C. P., see ibid, 1879, Pt. I, page 771; the Scheduled Districts in Ganjam and Vizagapatam, see ibid, 1898, Pt. I, page 870 ; Coorg, see ibid, 1898, Pt. I, page 870; the District of Sylhet, see ibid, 1879, Pt. I, page 631; the rest of Assam (except the North Lushai Hills), see ibid, 1897, Pt. I, page 299; the Porahat Estate in the Singhbhum District see ibid, 1897, Pt. I, page 1059.

It has been extended, by notification under S. 5 of the same Act, to the following Scheduled Districts, namely:— Kumaon and Garhwal, see Gazette of India, 1876, Pt. I, page 606; the Tarai of the Province of Agra, see Gazette of India, 1876, Pt. I, page 505.

[b] Repealed by the Bengal Civil Courts Act, 1871 (6 [VI] of 1871), which was repealed by the Bengal, North Western Provinces and Assam Civil Courts Act, 1887 (12 [XII] of 1887).

1. So much of any law or usage now in force within the territories subject to the Government of the East India Company, as inflicts on any person forfeiture of rights or property, or may be held in any way to impair or affect any right of inheritance, by reason of his or her renouncing, or having been excluded from the communion of any religion, or being deprived of caste, shall cease to be enforced as law in the Courts of the East India Company, and in the Courts established by Royal Charter within the said territories.

Law or usage which inflicts forfeiture of, or affects, rights on change of religion or loss of caste to cease to be enforced.

SECTION 1. — SYNOPSIS.

1. Applicability and scope.
2. 'Deprived of caste.'
3. 'Forfeiture of rights.'
4. 'Right of inheritance.'

1. Applicability and scope.— [1] The Act is not retrospective. (1907) 29 All 487 (492).

[2] Before the enactment of this Act, upon degradation from caste a Hindu, whether male or female, was considered as dead by Hindu law. His degradation caused an extinction of all his property, whether acquired by inheritance, succession, or in any other manner. (1880) 5 Cal 776 (792) : 7 Ind App 115 (PC). (The question as to what would be the effect of this Act on the vested estate of a Hindu widow on her being degraded or deprived of caste for unchastity was left unconsidered in this case.)

[3] The Act provides for the cases of those who, (a) have renounced, or (b) have been excluded from the communion of any religion, or (c) have been deprived of caste, meaning those who by their own choice, or by action of their caste fellows, have been finally shut out, or temporarily deprived. (1873) 19 Suth W R 367 (406) (FB). (This case is useful for its discussion on the object and construction of this Act.)

[4] This Act sets aside the provisions of Hindu law which penalises the renunciation of religion or exclusion from caste by enforcing forfeiture of property of the convert. (1911) 33 All 356 (365, 366) : 35 Ind App 87 (PC).

[5] Section 1 applies only to person actually converted or outcasted. (Vol 17) 1930 P C 251 (252) : 57 Ind App 813 (P C). (11 All 100, overruled.)

[6] The Act secures after apostasy the same rights to individuals in property as they enjoyed before apostasy. (Vol 2) 1915 Lah 441 (441) : 1915 Pun Re No. 89.

Section 1 (contd.)

[7] The Act deals with rights to property of the apostate and with the property of the convert. (Vol 27) 1940 All 134 (140) : I L R (1940) All 100.

[8] Provisions apply only to the convert and not to his descendants. (Vol 5) 1918 Mad 430 (430) : 40 Mad 1118.

[9] The Act only abrogates any law or usage which inflicts forfeiture by reason of change of religion or caste but does not lay down any rule of succession after conversion. (1909) 1909 Pun Re No. 36, p. 106.

[10] This Act provides not only for prevention of forfeiture of rights of those who are put out of caste on account of their renouncing, or being excluded from Hindu religion, but also relieves those who are deprived of caste on grounds other than change of religion. But there is nothing in the Act which has the effect of placing outcaste, in every respect, in the position which he would occupy if he had not been put out of caste, or of restoring to him all rights which he, as casteman, could have civilly enforced. It does not contemplate the restoration of privileges the granting of which would amount to interference with autonomy of caste. (1900) 23 Mad 171 (176).

[11] Since Act 21 [XXI] of 1850 came into force, mere loss of caste does not occasion a forfeiture of rights or property. (1877) 1 Bom 559 (560).

[12] Held that S. 9 of Regulation VII of 1832 did not abrogate the Hindu law as to the consequence of apostasy, but merely laid down for the guidance of the Judge a rule under which he might refuse to enforce these consequences; but it did not purport to affect the substantive law. (1907) 29 All 487 (491). (Hindu joint family of father and son—Father embracing Islamism—Son immediately becomes sole owner of joint property.)

[13] Province of Oudh was annexed on 13th February, 1866. Therefore, Regulation 7 [VII] of 1832 and Act 21 [XXI] of 1850 did not apply to the case of convert who renounced his religion prior to that date. (Vol 15) 1928 Oudh 138 (139) : 3 Luck 154.

2. 'Deprived of caste.'—[1] Deprivation of caste in the Act means deprivation owing to change of religion and not merely for moral degradation. (Vol 18) 1931 Cal 741 (744) : 53 Cal 1392.

3. 'Forfeiture of rights.'—[1] A general principle of Hindu law is that the degradation of the husband from caste does not dissolve the marriage tie. (1870) 2 N.-W. P. 300 (302); (1880) 4 Bom 330 (332). (Convert's marriage with a Muhammadan during the life-time of her former husband will amount to an offence under S. 494, Penal Code.); (1891) 18 Cal 264 (269). (Do.); (1886) 9 Mad 466 (470); (1907) 1907 Pun Re No. 49, page 198 (200).

[2] Where a Hindu widow after embracing Islamism marries a Muhammadan, she does not thereby lose her right as a devisee of property bequeathed to her by her Hindu sister. (Vol 12) 1925 Mad 861 (870).

[3] Excommunication from caste as of itself does not deprive a wife of the right to joint enjoyment of her husband's property. (1882) 4 Mad 243 (243).

[4] This Act does not repeal the usage of Hindu temples or of religious or quasi-religious institutions. A right consisting in the participation, along with other members of a caste, in the benefits of a religious institution appropriated to the members of the caste is not within the purview of this Act. (1890) 13 Mad 293 (298, 299).

[5] Suit for restitution of conjugal rights—Hindu husband turned out of caste at the time of institution of suit—Decree for restitution of conjugal rights conditional on plaintiff's obtaining restoration to caste may be passed. (1886) 8 All. 78 (81).

[6] A Hindu deprived of his caste does not incur forfeiture of his right as guardian to the custody of his minor daughter. (1877) 1 All 549 (560).

[7] The word 'rights' means not merely rights of property or inheritance but also includes the right of guardianship of infant children. (1901) 1901 Pun Re No. 60, page 191 (199).

[8] In the absence of any special reason to the contrary, Hindu mother has better right to guardianship of her infant daughter than infant's paternal grandfather, and this right is not taken away by the fact that mother has been an outcaste. (1906) 28 All 233 (235).

[9] The right of giving his son in adoption is not lost by a Hindu father even after his conversion to Muhammadanism. (1901) 25 Bom 551 (555).

[10] Conversion does not give right to partition if there is none prior to conversion. (Vol 8) 1921 Mad 224 (224) : 44 Mad 891 (F.B.). (1912 MWN 386, overruled.)

[11] Conversion of a Hindu coparcener creates a partition by operation of Hindu law. Hence, the right of survivorship is not retained by the convert unless the partition by conversion is renounced by convert. (Vol 14) 1927 Mad 883 (884, 885).

[12] Under the strict Hindu law, converts not only become divided in status but forfeit all rights to their tarwad property. But Act 21 [XXI] of 1850 preserves their right to the property in that they can still continue to possess the rights incidental to their ownership. However, the Act does not preserve their status as a member of the tarwad or the incidents appropriate to and dependent thereon. (Vol 25) 1938 Mad 242 (245).

[13] A Christian becoming Muhammadan after marrying Christian woman—Held that an Indian Christian domiciled in India and married to a Christian woman also domiciled in India can validly marry a Muhammadan woman after his conversion. There is nothing in this Act which invalidates such marriage. (Vol 26) 1939 Cal 417 (418) : I L R (1939) 2 Cal 12.

4. 'Right of inheritance.'—[1] Their Lordships of the Privy Council observe : "It is perfectly true that the words 'his or her' are not so easy to apply, because there is not a person expressed in the Act who is represented by 'his or her', but it seems to their Lordships to be plain that the words 'or may be held in any way to impair or affect any right of inheritance by reason of his or her renouncing' should be read 'any right of inheritance of any person by reason of his or her renouncing.' The clause is given a simple meaning by this construction and their Lordships think that that is the correct view." (Vol 17) 1930 P C 251 (252, 253). (11 All 100 overruled.)

[2] The effect of the Act is not to enlarge the convert's interest in any property or to get rid of any condition of restriction to which it was originally subject. (Vol 8) 1921 Mad 224 (224) : 44 Mad 891 (F.B.). (1912 M W N 386, overruled; 40 Cal 407, dissented.)

[3] Exclusion from caste no longer entails forfeiture of right of inheritance. (Vol 17) 1930 Pat 564 (568); (Vol 27) 1940 All 134 (140) : I L R (1940) All 100. (The Act does not deal with succession to estate of convert.)

[4] The Act only relieves from forfeiture of rights to property the person who has changed his religion and not any other person who may be affected by such a change. (Vol 14) 1927 Mad 72 (72).

[5] Succession to a person converted is governed by the law applicable to convert after conversion. (Vol 17) 1930 P C 251 (252) : 57 Ind App 813 (P.C.). (11 All 100 overruled.); (Vol 23) 1936 All 202 (204).

[6] The Act has abrogated the rule of Muhammadan law by which a non-Muslim is excluded from succession to a Muslim. (Vol 7) 1920 Lah 276 (277) : 1 Lah 376.

Section 1 (contd.)

[7] The words "any right of inheritance" in the Act refer to any right of inheritance, which is not affected by conversion, accruing to any person. Hindu son of a Mohamedan convert is entitled to inherit the property of his apostate father. (Vol 1) 1914 Sind 36 (36, 39) : 8 Sind L R 156.

[8] Hindu embracing Shia faith—Heirs to the estate of such person are to be determined by Shia law and not by this Act. (Vol 15) 1928 Oudh 138 (139, 140) : 3 Luck 154.

[9] Succession to property of the convert would be governed by Muhammadan law in the case of a Christian converted to Muhammadanism. Neither this Act nor S. 37, Bengal, Agra and Assam Civil Courts Act has application to such succession. (Vol 26) 1939 Cal 417 (419) : 1 L R (1939) 2 Cal 12.

[10] A Hindu who was joint in estate with his son became a convert to Muhammadanism in 1845 and died in 1851. It was held that the convert's son who remained a Hindu did not acquire any enforceable right to his father's share in the joint family property. (1911) 33 All 356 (366) : 33 Ind App 87 (P C). (29 All 487, reversed.)

[11] Provisions of the Act cannot be extended beyond its specific provisions. Conversion of a Hindu to Muhammadanism does not entail forfeiture of any rights to ancestral property which his descendants may otherwise possess. (1902) 1902 Pun Re No. 104, p. 462.

[12] Even after conversion right to inheritance is not lost. (Vol 11) 1924 Pat 420 (430) : 3 Pat 152.

[13] If any ancestor of the propositus in any degree of ascent has changed his religion the Act would not apply in determining the status of an heir to such a propositus. (Vol 15) 1928 Oudh 138 (141) : 3 Luck 154. (11 All 100, explained and dissented from.)

[14] A Hindu married woman embracing Muhammadanism and marrying a Muhammadan during lifetime of her Hindu husband without having been divorced from her former husband is disqualified from inheriting her father's property on the ground of unchastity. The provisions of this Act do not save her right of inheritance, as she has not lost her right by reason of her renouncing or being excluded from the Hindu communion. (1905) 32 Cal 871 (873, 874).

[15] A widow of a separated Hindu marrying a Muhammadan after embracing Islamism does not lose her interest in the property in her late husband. (1913) 35 All 466 (469). (Hindu Widow's Remarriage Act, 1856 does not apply to such a case — 19 Cal 289, not followed.)

[16] Hindu widow becoming Muhammadan and then marrying a Muhammadan forfeits first husband's estate. (Vol 6) 1919 Mad 854 (859, 860) (FB). (The forfeiture is also entailed by reason of S. 2 of Act 15 [XV] of 1856—(Vol 5) 1918 Mad 314, overruled.)

[17] This Act has no application to the case of a son born of a marriage of a Brahmin with a Sudra female. He inherits the portion of the father's estate according to Hindu law. (Vol 18) 1931 Bom 89 (93, 94) : 55 Bom 1.

[18] A Hindu daughter cannot inherit from her father who has been converted to Muhammadanism. (Vol 14) 1927 Mad 72 (72). (11 All 100, not followed.)

[19] The Burmese Buddhist relations of the deceased Muhammadan convert cannot succeed unless they show that they had right to succeed otherwise than as Muhammadans. (Vol 9) 1922 Low Bur 15 (16).

- (2) It extends to the whole of British India ^b[except the presidency-towns and such local

Section 1 — Note 1

[1] The maintenance of private cattle pounds is incompatible with the provisions of the Cattle-trespass Act and the establishment and maintenance of cattle pounds under the superintendence and control of Government. Officials assisted by the police may be considered essential for the maintenance of law and order and the peace and good government of the country. Hence, where the Executive Government takes over the charge of the pounds from private persons who were previously controlling them it is not competent to the Civil Courts to interfere. (1912) 39 Cal 615 (662) : 39 I A 31 (P C).

CHAPTER II.

POUNDS AND POUND-KEEPERS.

4. Pounds shall be established at such places as the Magistrate of the District, subject to the Establishment of pounds. general control of the "Provincial Government", from time to time directs.

The village by which every pound is to be used shall be determined by the Magistrate of the District.

[a] Substituted by A. O. for "Local Government".

Control of pounds. Rates of charge for feeding impounded cattle.

5. The pounds shall be under the control of the Magistrate of the District; and he shall fix, and may from time to time alter, the rates of charge for feeding and watering impounded cattle.

Appointment of pound-keepers.

6. ^a[The ^bProvincial Government shall appoint a pound-keeper for every Pound-keepers may hold other offices.

Any pound-keeper may hold simultaneously any other office under the Crown.

Pound-keepers to be "public servants."

Every pound-keeper shall be deemed to be a public servant within the meaning of the Indian Penal Code.]

[a] Substituted by the Supplemental A. O. for the following:—

"The Magistrate of the District shall also appoint for each pound a pound-keeper:

Provided that, in the Presidency of Fort St. George, the heads of villages and, in the Presidency of Bombay, the police patils, or (where there are no police patils) the heads of villages shall be ex-officio the keepers of village pounds.

Every pound-keeper appointed by the Magistrate of the District may be suspended or removed by such Magistrate.

Any pound-keeper may hold simultaneously any other office under Government.

Every pound-keeper shall be deemed a public servant within the meaning of the Indian Penal Code "

[b] This expression includes also such person as the Provincial Government may direct under the Government of India Act, 1935, S. 241 (1) (b). See the General Clauses Act, 1897, S. 4A (2).

Section 3—Note 1

Sub-section (5) of S. 125, Railways Act, 1890, runs as follows: "The word 'cattle' has the same meaning in this section as in the Cattle-trespass Act, 1871."

Duties of Pound-keepers.

To keep registers and furnish returns.

7. Every pound-keeper shall keep such registers and furnish such returns as the ^a[Provincial Government] from time to time directs.

[a] Substituted by A. O. for "Local Government".

To register seizures.

8. When cattle are brought to a pound, the pound-keeper shall enter in his register,—

- (a) the number and description of the animals,
- (b) the day and hour on and at which they were so brought,
- (c) the name and residence of the seizer, and
- (d) the name and residence of the owner, if known, and shall give the seizer or his agent a copy of the entry.

To take charge of and feed cattle.

9. The pound-keeper shall take charge of, feed and water the cattle until they are disposed of as hereinafter directed.

CHAPTER III.

IMPOUNDING CATTLE.

10. The cultivator or occupier of any land, or any person who has advanced cash for the Cattle damaging land. cultivation of the crop or produce² on any land, or the vendee or mortgagee of such crop or produce or any part thereof, may seize or cause to be seized any cattle trespassing on such land, and doing damage¹ thereto or to any crop or produce thereon, and ^a[send them or cause them to be sent within twenty-four hours⁴] to the pound established for the village in which the land is situate.

All officers of police shall, when required, aid in preventing (a) resistance to such seizures, and Police to aid seizures. (b) rescues from persons making such seizures.

[a] Substituted by the Cattle-trespass Act (1871) Amendment Act, 1891 (1 [I] of 1891), S. 3, for "take them or cause them to be taken without unnecessary delay".

PROVINCIAL AMENDMENT.

Central Provinces and Berar. — For section 10, the following section¹ shall be substituted, namely: —

"10. The owner or occupier of any land or the person having interest in any land may seize or cause to be seized any cattle trespassing on such land and doing damage thereto or to any crop, produce or property thereon belonging to such owner, occupier or interested person, or causing hurt or injury or obstruction to any of them or to any person by leave or licence present on, or having charge of, such land or of any such crop, produce or property, and send them or cause to be sent within twenty-four hours to the pound established for the local area in which the land is situate.

All officers of police shall, when required, aid in preventing (a) resistance to such seizures and (b) rescues from persons making such seizures."

— C. P. and Berar Act 12 [XII] of 1935, S. 2. [30-3-1935]

Section 8 — Note 1

[1] When the cattle are brought to the pound it is not necessary to inform the pound-keeper whether the cattle were seized rightly or wrongly. (Vol 30) 1943 Oudh 280 (282) : 44 Cri L Jour 640.

SECTION 10 — SYNOPSIS.

- (1) Damage, whether essential.
- (2) "Produce" on the land.
- (3) Seizure, when to be made.
- (4) "Within twenty-four hours."
- (5) Who can seize.

1. Damage, whether essential. — [1] A person is not entitled to seize cattle which has not done any damage. A clear finding of damage done by the trespassing cattle is essential to a conviction under S. 24. (Vol 27) 1940 Pat 299 (300) : 41 Cri L Jour 257; (Vol 32) 1945 Oudh 116 (117). (A finding that cattle were grazing crops implies that they were doing damage); (Vol 5) 1918 Pat 649 (650) : 19 Cri L Jour 157; (Vol 7) 1920 Pat 832 (838) : 21 Cri L Jour 640. (Lower Court relied on the evidence of a witness who deposed that he saw the cattle grazing on the complainant's bhoga paddy.— Held that the evidence was insufficient to show that damage was caused); (Vol 5) 1918 Pat 628 (628) : 19 Cri L Jour 202; (1905) 1 Weir 709; (Vol 5) 1918 All 267 (268) : 19 Cri L Jour 368.

[2] Where the damage done by the cattle is only little, their seizure may be unreasonable but is not illegal. (1939) 1939 O W N 150 (152). (Hence compensation under S. 22 cannot be granted.)

2. "Produce" on the land. — [1] Grass is "produce" on the land within the meaning of S. 10. (Vol 30) 1943 Sind 152 (154) : 1 L R (1943) Kar 112 : 44 Cri L Jour 761.

3. Seizure, when to be made.—[1] Where there is a trespass by cattle, the mere fact that they had left the land trespassed before they could be seized does not deprive the owner of land of the right of seizure conferred upon him by S. 10. (Vol 15) 1928 Lah 692 (693) : 30 Cri L Jour 627.

[But see (1905) 1 Weir 709 (709). (It is only when cattle are actually trespassing that they can be seized

*11. Persons in charge of public roads, pleasure-grounds, plantations, canals, drainage-works, Cattle damaging public roads, embankments and the like and officers of police, may seize or canals and embankments. cause to be seized any cattle doing damage to such roads, grounds, plantations, canals, drainage-works, embankments and the like, or the sides or slopes of such roads, canals, drainage-works or embankments or found straying thereon, and shall ^b[send them or cause them to be sent within twenty-four hours] to the nearest pound.

^a As to the application of S. 11 to forests, see the Indian Forest Act, 1927 (16 [XVI] of 1927), S. 70, and the Assam Forest Regulation, 1891 (7 [VII] of 1891), S. 66; to railways, see the Indian Railways Act, 1890 (9 [IX] of 1890), S. 125 (4). ^b Substituted by the Cattle-trespass Act (1871) Amendment Act, 1891 (1 [I] of 1891), S. 4, for "take them without unnecessary delay".

PROVINCIAL AMENDMENT.

Central Provinces and Berar. — In Section 11 after the words "and the like" insert the words "officers and servants of the local authorities".

— C. P. and Berar Act 12 [XII] of 1935, S. 3. [30-3-1935]

*12. For every head of cattle impounded as aforesaid, the pound-keepers shall levy a fine Fines for cattle in accordance with the scale for the time being prescribed by the ^b[Provincial Government] in this behalf by notification in the Official Gazette. Different scales may be prescribed for the different local areas.

Section 10 (contd.)

and impounded under S. 10.; (Vol 12) 1925 Nag 50 (50) : 25 Cri L Jour 1004. (Right to seize subsists only until the cattle leave the land.)

[2] Although the right of capture would not extend to following them to their sheds and seizing them there, yet the person who attempts to seize the cattle while actually trespassing on the land has a right to capture them before they have definitely made their escape from the spot though they may not be actually inside the field trespassed when captured. (Vol 21) 1934 Nag 258 (259) : 31 Nag L R 139 : 36 Cri L Jour 361. ((Vol 12) 1925 Nag 50 : 25 Cri L Jour 1004, distinguished.)

4. "Within twenty-four hours." — [1] Where the person seizing a cow kept it overnight in his custody and released it next morning (before 24 hours of the seizure) on receipt of some money from the owner: Held that no offence under S. 379 of the Penal Code or under any other provision was committed. (Vol 10) 1923 Nag 64 (65) : 23 Cri L Jour 511.

5. Who can seize. — [1] What is or is not "occupation" must depend on the nature of the land. (Vol 30) 1943 Sind 152 (154) : 1 L R (1943) Kar 112 : 44 Cri L Jour 761.

[2] A person in exclusive possession of land is an occupier thereof under S. 10. (Vol 3) 1916 Lah 281 (281) : 1916 Pun Re No. 3 (Cr) : 17 Cri L Jour 63. (The question of title of the owner of the cattle to the land trespassed does not affect the right to seize.)

[3] A private protected forest and embankment are included within the meaning of the term "land". Proprietor of such forest or embankment is an "occupier" of land. (1939) 20 P L T 310 (341).

[4] Unless the burgadar is shown to be a mere servant of the lessor, burgadar can seize the cattle of the lessor if they trespass on his land under burga lease. (Vol 6) 1919 Cal 93 (93) : 20 Cri L Jour 398.

[5] The impounding of the cattle by a watchman who has got general instructions from the occupier to seize them while trespassing, is authorised under S. 10. (Vol 3) 1916 Mad 786 (786) : 16 Cri L Jour 772; (Vol 9) 1922 Pat 317 (317). ((Vol 3) 1916 Mad 786 : 16 Cri L Jour 772, followed)

[6] Where an indigo factory supplies the seeds, pays for the labour of sowing, and gives compensation to raiyats growing indigo on their own land, but no advance in cash has been made, held that, although the indigo is grown for the factory, a servant of the factory is not a person authorised under S. 10 of the Act, to seize cattle doing damage to the indigo. (1905) 2 Cri L Jour 345 (346, 347) (Cal).

[7] Seizure by a claimant to the disputed possession of land is illegal under this section, when his intention is to take by force the cattle of his opponent and not to protect his crop or produce. (Vol 30) 1943 Sind 152 (154) : 1 L R (1943) Kar 112 : 44 Cri L Jour 761.

[8] The fact that the lessee seizing the cattle intends that in order to prevent impounding the owner of the cattle may pay the grazing charges, will not make the seizure illegal if it is otherwise legal. (Vol 5) 1918 Cal 701 (702) : 18 Cri L Jour 849. (Per Tennon J.—Huda J., contra.)

Section 11—Note 1.

[1] Sub-section (4) of S. 125, Railways Act, 1890, runs as follows : "The expression 'public road' in Ss. 11 and 26, Cattle-trespass Act, 1871, shall be deemed to include a railway, and any railway servant may exercise the powers conferred on officers of police by the former of those sections."

[2] Section 70, Forest Act, 1927, is as follows : "Cattle trespassing in a reserved forest or in any portion of a protected forest which has been lawfully closed to grazing shall be deemed to be cattle doing damage to a public plantation within the meaning of S. 11, Cattle-trespass Act, 1871, and may be seized and impounded as such by any Forest Officer or Police Officer."

[3] Actual damage must be proved to sustain conviction under S. 24. (Vol 17) 1930 Oudh 250 (250) : 6 Luck 26 : 31 Cri L Jour 1015. (Cattle passing over regular Railway track — No fencing—Damage not proved—No conviction.)

[See however (Vol 21) 1934 Sind 34 (36) : 28 Sind L R 73 : 35 Cri L Jour 880. (Straying cattle may be seized and impounded before damage to property is caused—Actual damage is not necessary.)]

[4] There is "trespass" within the meaning of S. 70, Forest Act, even where the cattle do not go into the reserved forest themselves but are driven into it. Such cattle are liable to seizure. (1892) Rat Un Cr C 602 (603).

[5] See also Notes on S. 10.

Section 12—Note 1.

[1] Section 71, Forest Act, 1927, is as follows : "The Provincial Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, direct that, in lieu of the fines fixed under S. 12, Cattle trespass Act, 1871, there shall be levied for each head of cattle impounded under S. 70

All fines so levied shall be sent to the Magistrate of the District through such officer as the [Provincial Government] may direct.

A list of the fines and of the rates of charge for feeding and watering cattle shall be posted in a conspicuous place on or near to every pound.]

CHAPTER IV.

DELIVERY OR SALE OF CATTLE.

Procedure when owner claims the cattle and pays fines and charges.

13. If the owner of the impounded cattle or his agent appear and claim the cattle, the pound-keeper shall deliver them to him on payment of the fines and charges incurred in respect of such cattle.

The owner or his agent, on taking back the cattle, shall sign a receipt for them in the register kept by the pound-keeper.

14. If the cattle be not claimed within seven days from the date of their being impounded, Procedure if cattle be not claimed within a week. the pound-keeper shall report the fact to the officer in charge of the nearest police-station, or to such other officer as the Magistrate of the District appoints in this behalf.

Such officer shall thereupon stick up in a conspicuous part of his office a notice stating —

- (a) the number and description of the cattle,
- (b) the place where they were seized,
- (c) the place where they are impounded, and shall cause proclamation of the same to be made by beat of drum in the village and at the market-place nearest to the place of seizure.

If the cattle be not claimed within seven days from the date of the notice, they shall be sold by public auction by the said officer, or an officer of his establishment deputed for that purpose, at such place and time and subject to such conditions as the Magistrate of the District by general or special order from time to time directs :

Provided that, if any such cattle are, in the opinion of the Magistrate of the District, not likely to fetch a fair price if sold as aforesaid, they may be disposed of in such manner as he thinks fit.

PROVINCIAL AMENDMENTS.

Bombay. — In the proviso to section 14 for the words "Magistrate of the District" the words "officer authorised to sell them by public auction" shall be substituted. —Bombay Act 5 [V] of 1931, S. 2. [23-5-1931]

Central Provinces and Berar. — After the proviso to section 14 the following proviso shall be added, namely:—

"Provided further that the Magistrate of the District may sell asses and infirm cattle, at any time after the expiry of seven days from the date of their being impounded, without the issue of a notice and proclamation."

—C. P. and Berar Act 22 [XXII] of 1937, S. 2. [29-1-1937]

Section 12 (contd.)

of this Act such fines as it thinks fit, but not exceeding the following, that is to say, for each elephant — ten rupees; for each buffalo or camel—two rupees; for each horse, mare, gelding, pony, colt, filly, mule, bull, bullock, cow or heifer—one rupee; for each calf, ass, pig, ram, ewe, sheep, lamb, goat, or kid—eight annas."

[2] A fine levied by a pound-keeper under this section is not a punishment imposed on conviction for an 'offence'. (1870) 7 Bom H C R Cr 55 (56).

15. If the owner or his agent appear and refuse to pay the said fines and expenses, on the ground that the seizure was illegal and that the owner is about to make a complaint under section 20, then, upon deposit of the fines and charges incurred in respect of the cattle, the cattle shall be delivered to him.

16. If the owner or his agent appear and refuse or omit to pay or (in the case mentioned in section 15) to deposit the said fines and expenses, the cattle, or as many of them as may be necessary, shall be sold by public auction by such officer at such place and time, and subject to such conditions, as are referred to in section 14.

The fines leviable and the expenses of feeding and watering, together with the expenses of sale, if any, shall be deducted from the proceeds of the sale.

The remaining cattle and the balance of the purchase-money, if any, shall be delivered to the owner or his agent, together with an account showing —

- (a) the number of cattle seized,
- (b) the time during which they have been impounded,
- (c) the amount of fines and charges incurred,
- (d) the number of cattle sold,
- (e) the proceeds of sale, and
- (f) the manner in which those proceeds have been disposed of.

The owner or his agent shall give a receipt for the cattle delivered to him and for the balance of the purchase-money (if any) paid to him according to such account.

The officer by whom the sale was made shall send to the Magistrate of the District the fines so deducted.

The charges for feeding and watering deducted under section 16 shall be paid over to the pound-keeper, who shall also retain and appropriate all sums received by him on account of such charges under section 13.

The surplus unclaimed proceeds of the sale of cattle shall be sent to the Magistrate of the District, who shall hold them in deposit for three months, and, if no claim thereto be preferred and established within that period, shall, at its expiry, be deemed to hold them as part of the revenues of the Province.]

[a] Substituted by A. O. for "dispose of them as hereinafter provided."

18. [Application of fines and unclaimed proceeds of sale.] Repealed by the Government of India (Adaptation of Indian Laws) Order, 1937.

No officer of police or other officer or pound-keeper appointed under the provisions herein contained shall, directly or indirectly, purchase any cattle at a sale under this Act.

No pound-keeper shall release or deliver any impounded cattle otherwise than in accordance with the former part of this Chapter, unless such release or delivery is ordered by a Magistrate or Civil Court.

CHAPTER V.^a

COMPLAINTS OF ILLEGAL SEIZURE OR DETENTION.

20. Any person whose cattle have been seized under this Act, or, having been so seized, have been detained in contravention of this Act, may, at any time within ten days from the date of the seizure, make a complaint^b to the Magistrate of the District or any Magistrate authorized to receive and try charges without reference by the Magistrate of the District.

[a] Substituted for the original Chap. V by the Cattle-trespass Act (1871) Amendment Act, 1891 (1 [I] of 1891), S. 6. [b] The term "offence" as defined by the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898 (5 [V] of 1898), S. 4 (1) (c), includes any act in respect of which a complaint may be made under this section. Offences under this section may be tried in a summary way, see Act 5 [V] of 1898, S. 260 (1) (m).

Section 20—Note 1.

[1] An act in respect of which a complaint could be made under this section was held not to be an offence in the cases decided under the Criminal P. C. of 1882; and hence a request for action against such act was not a complaint within the meaning of that Act. (1896) 18 All 353 (354); (1871) 8 Bom H C R 22 (23); (1886) 13 Cal 304 (305); (1896) 23 Cal 248 (249); (1896) 23 Cal

21. The complaint shall be made by the complainant in person, or by an agent personally acquainted with the circumstances. It may be either in writing or verbal. Procedure on complaint. If it be verbal, the substance of it shall be taken down in writing by the Magistrate.

If the Magistrate, on examining the complainant or his agent, sees reason to believe the complaint to be well founded, he shall summon the person complained against, and make an enquiry into the case.

22. If the seizure or detention be adjudged illegal, the Magistrate shall award to the complainant, for the loss caused by the seizure or detention, or detention, reasonable compensation, not exceeding one hundred rupees, to be paid by the person who made the seizure or detained the cattle together with all fines paid and expenses incurred by the complainant in procuring the release of the cattle, and, if the cattle have not been released, the Magistrate shall, besides awarding such compensation, order their release and direct that the fines and expenses leviable under this Act shall be paid by the person who made the seizure or detained the cattle. Release of cattle.

[2] But the addition of the words "it also includes any act in respect of which a complaint may be made under section 20 of the Cattle-trespass Act, 1871" in the definition of the word "offence" in S. 4 (1) (o), Criminal P. C., 1898, now makes it clear that such an act is an offence. (Vol 7) 1920 Bom 85 (85) : 44 Bom 42 : 21 Cri L Jour 95; (1907) 6 Cri L Jour 363 (364) : 34 Cal 926; (Vol 14) 1927 Mad 396 (397) : 50 Mad 841 : 28 Cri L Jour 301.

[3] Though a complaint under S. 20 of the Cattle-trespass Act must be entertained either by a District Magistrate or a Magistrate specially authorised, such Magistrate has power under Criminal P. C., S. 192, sub-s. (1) to transfer the case, after taking cognizance of it, to any Subordinate Magistrate. (1907) 34 Cal 926 (927). (23 Cal 300, 23 Cal 442, overruled.); (1879) 1879 Pun Re No. 26 Cr, page 76 (77) (F B).

[4] A Magistrate authorised under S. 190, Criminal P. C., to take cognizance of offences upon receiving complaints can take cognizance of an offence under S. 20 of the Cattle-trespass Act, 1871, though there is no special authorisation in that behalf. (Vol 7) 1920 Bom 85 (85) : 44 Bom 42 : 21 Cri L Jour 95; (Vol 14) 1927 Mad 396 (397) : 50 Mad 841 : 28 Cri L Jour 301.

[5] Subject to the conditions mentioned in S. 260 (1), Cr. P. C., the offence under this section is triable in a summary way. See cl. (m) of S. 260 (1), Cr. P. C.

[6] Complaint after ten days of seizure is barred by time under S. 20. (Vol 22) 1935 Cal. 116 (116) : 36 Cri L Jour 495.

[7] Where a complaint is filed under S. 22 within ten days from date of seizure of cattle to a Court having no jurisdiction and that Court transfers it to a proper Court after expiry of ten days, the complaint cannot be entertained. S. 537, Cr. P. C. would not cure the defect. (Vol 25) 1938 Oudh 183 (184) : 39 Cri L Jour 827.

[8] Though the General Clauses Act does not apply to this Act, S. 10, General Clauses Act (which provides for extension of period of limitation in case of last day being holiday) should be applied to complaints under S. 20. (Vol 16) 1929 Nag 96 (96) : 30 Cri L Jour 125.

Section 21 — Note 1

[1] The expression 'agent personally acquainted' in S. 21, means an agent or servant who could be said to have acted as an agent, such as a kamdar who, if not present at the time of seizure, had received information of it soon after the event. It cannot, however, include an agent, who lives at a distance and who has received information of the seizure at second hand.

Where a complaint is made by a wrong person, there is no complaint at all and the Court has no jurisdiction to inquire into the matter. (Vol 18) 1931 Nag 98 (99) : 27 Nag L R 167 : 32 Cri L Jour 896.

[2] Agent is authorised to file a complaint though he is not capable of giving direct evidence of all circumstances. (Vol 10) 1923 Nag 156 (156) : 26 Cri L Jour 327.

[3] Grazier of cattle is agent of owner of cattle within the meaning of S. 21. (Vol 16) 1929 Nag 152 (153) : 26 Nag L R 201 : 30 Cri L Jour 633.

[4] Where the cattle belonging to one person are in the custody of another, and are seized from his custody, the owner, if he is not personally acquainted with the circumstances, is not entitled to institute a complaint under S. 21. (1903) 5 Bom L R 205 (206).

[5] Under S. 21, the District Magistrate is enjoined to summon the person complained against for impounding cattle illegally and make an inquiry into the case. (Vol 24) 1937 Lah 748 (750).

SECTION 22 — SYNOPSIS.

1. Applicability and scope.
2. Appeal.
3. Compensation.
4. Compensation, to whom awarded.
5. Compensation order against several persons—Joint liability.
6. "Fines and expenses."
7. Proceeding under section 22, nature of.
8. Sentence of fine.
9. Sentence of imprisonment.
10. Specific claim for compensation, whether necessary.

1. Applicability and scope.—[1] Where there was a dispute between the complainant and party charged as to the ownership of land on which the complainant's cattle were found, the order of the Magistrate referring the parties to the Civil Court was illegal; he should dispose of the case himself under S. 22. (1875) 23 Suth W R (Cr) 2 (3).

[2] Where the seizure and detention of cattle were wrongful and illegal, the jurisdiction of the Magistrate to grant compensation under this section is not affected even if the person detaining them happens to be a Forest Officer who claims to act under the colour of the Forest Act, if the seizure and detention had nothing to do with any forest. (Vol 25) 1938 Mad 820 (821) : 39 Cri L Jour 956 (1).

[3] Where an accused person was found to have loosened the complainant's cattle at night and to have driven them to the pound with the object of sharing

23. The compensation, fines and expenses mentioned in section 22 may be recovered as if Recovery of compensation. they were fines imposed by the Magistrate.^a

[a] See Sections 63 to 70, Penal Code, 1860, and Section 386, Criminal P. C., 1898, see also Section 25, General Clauses Act, 1897.

Section 22 (contd.)

with the pound-keeper the fees to be paid for the release: Held that the accused was not liable under this section inasmuch as there was no illegal seizure and detention of the cattle. The accused was ordered to be charged and tried for theft. (1895) 22 Cal 139 (142).

[4] The fact that the damage was likely to be very small does not make the seizure of the cattle illegal though it may be unreasonable. Hence, compensation under S. 22 cannot be awarded in such cases. (1939) 1939 Oudh W N 150 (151, 152).

[5] The illegal seizure, for which the accused was convicted, took place after passing of Act I of 1871. This Act of 1871 repealed the old Act under which the accused was convicted. No injustice was, however, done to the accused taking into consideration the provisions of the Act of 1871. It was held that the conviction should not be interfered with. (1871) 18 Suth W R (Cr) 12 (12).

2. Appeal. — [1] By S. 4 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, the word "offence" includes an act in respect of which a complaint may be made under S. 20 of the Cattle-trespass Act. It follows, therefore, that a person against whom an order under S. 22 of the Cattle-trespass Act is made is "a person convicted on a trial". An appeal against the conviction lies, therefore, under Ss. 407 and 408 of the Criminal P. C. (1905) 1 Weir 712 (713); (Vol 9) 1922 Bom 191 (191) : 46 Bom. 58 : 22 Cri L Jour 624. (Compensation awarded under S. 22 not being a fine, the restrictive provisions of S. 413 of the Criminal P. C. are not applicable.); (1908) 6 Cri L Jour 121 (122) : 4 Low Bur Rul 10.

[2] The following cases, decided prior to 1898, are no longer good law : (1886) 10 Bom 230 (231) ; (1888) 15 Cal. 712 (713) ; (1888) 11 Mad. 359 (360) ; (1896) 19 Mad. 238 (239).

3. Compensation.—[1] Compensation for wrongful seizure of cattle under S. 22 should be by way of reasonable compensation for the costs caused by the seizure and detention of cattle; and not by way of penalty, or of an award of general damages to the complainant. (1878) 1878 Pun Re No. 25 (Cr), Page 65 (65).

[2] In awarding compensation for illegal seizure of cattle, the complainant's costs incurred in prosecuting his complaint may be included in the compensation awarded. (1872-92) 1872-92 Low Bur Rul 515.

[3] Court-fees paid by the complainant may form part of the compensation. (1878) 2 Cal L Rep 507 (508), (1905) 1 Weir 715 (715).

[4] Under the head of compensation for the loss caused by the seizure and detention of cattle, it is open to a Magistrate to include the process fees. (1905) 1 Weir 715 (715).

[5] Section 22 does not contemplate the award of compensation for damage to the reputation of the complainant. (1878) 1878 Pun Re No. 37 (Cr), Page 87 (88).

[6] In awarding compensation under S. 22, fees paid by the complainant to his counsel should not be considered. (Vol 25) 1938 Mad 820 (821) : 39 Cri L Jour 956; (Vol 20) 1933 Mad 502 (502) : 34 Cri L Jour 676. (Especially when the cattle had been released long before the complainant engaged a pleader.)

[7] Where some compensation was awarded in addition to the sum allowed on account of the fines and "expenses" or other charges incurred in procuring the release of the cattle, held that the High Court would not consider the sufficiency or insufficiency of the amount allowed. (1905) 1 Weir 715 (716).

[8] Where an order under S. 22 directed that the amount mentioned be paid to the complainant as compensation for the cost and damages incurred by him, and the words with which the decretal part of the judgment began were "I therefore fine the accused" held that latter portion was a mere surplusage and that, although the order was inaccurately worded, the intention to award compensation was clear. (1905) 1 Weir 715 (716).

4. Compensation, to whom awarded.—[1] Compensation may be awarded to owner of the cattle and not to agent filing complaint. (Vol 16) 1929 Nag 152 (153) : 26 Nag L R 201 : 30 Cri L Jour 633.

5. Compensation order against several persons — Joint liability. [1] Where compensation is ordered to be paid by two persons without specifying the proportionate amount payable by each they are jointly and severally liable to pay it (1887) 14 Cal 175 (176).

6. "Fines and expenses"—[1] A Magistrate is not authorised under S. 22 to fine, but only to award compensation. But he is also authorised to add to the compensation, fines and expenses paid to the pound-keeper by the owner on releasing the cattle, and order them to be paid by the party who made the seizure. (1905) 1 Weir 710 (710).

7. Proceeding under S. 22, nature of. — [1] A proceeding under S. 22 is not a regular criminal proceeding but a quasi-civil proceeding in which a Magistrate is authorised to assess and enforce, in a summary manner, compensation for an injury, for which a civil action might be brought. (1887) 14 Cal 175 (176).

[2] The summary procedure laid down in Ch. XXII of the Criminal P. C. is applicable to the trial of offences under S. 22. (1896) 1896 All W N 136 (136).

8. Sentence of fine.—[1] A Magistrate is not competent, under S. 22, to pass any sentence of fine. He can only award compensation for an illegal seizure of cattle. (1900) 27 Cal 992 (992); (1905) 1 Weir 710 (710); (1878) 1878 Pun. Re. No. 37 (Cr), Page 87 (88) :

9. Sentence of imprisonment. — [1] Order for imprisonment, in default of payment of compensation awarded under S. 22, is illegal. (1896) 19 Mad. 233 (239); (Vol 17) 1930 Nag 149 (149) : 31 Cri L Jour 278 : 26 Nag L R 158; (Vol 26) 1939 Oudh 37 (38) : 14 Luck 325 : 40 Cri L Jour 141 ; (1905) 1 Weir 712 (712) ; (1872-92) 1872-92 Low Bur Rul 515 ; (1905) 1 Weir 711 (711, 712) ; (1900) 27 Cal. 992 (992) ; (1872-92) 1872-92 Low Bur Rul 429.

10. Specific claim for compensation, whether necessary.—(1) No compensation can be awarded for loss caused by the seizure of cattle unless the complainant makes the specific claim for it. (Vol 26) 1939 Oudh 37 (38) : 14 Luck. 325 : 40 Cri L Jour 141 ; (Vol 17) 1930 Nag 149 (149) : 31 Cri L Jour 278 ; 26 Nag L R 158; (Vol 10) 1923 Pat 292 (293) : 24 Cri L Jour 311; (1907) 6 Cri L Jour 122 (122) : 4 Low Bur Rul 11. (But he is entitled to a refund of the expenses incurred in procuring the release of the cattle, fees paid on the complaint and process fees.)

[But see (Vol 22) 1935 All 925 (926) : 37 Cri L Jour 29 ; (Vol 15) 1928 Mad 369 (370) : 29 Cri L Jour 325.]

Section 23 — Note 1.

[1] Section 25 of the General Clauses Act, 1897, is as follows : "Sections 63 to 70 of the Indian Penal Penalty for forcibly opposing the seizure of cattle or rescuing the same.

shall, on conviction before a Magistrate, be punished with imprisonment for a period not exceeding six months, or with fine not exceeding five hundred rupees, or with both.

^a25. Code and the provisions of the Code of Criminal Procedure for the time being in force in relation to the issue and the execution of warrants for the levy of fines shall apply to all fines imposed under any Act, Regulation, rule or bye-law unless the Act, Regulation, rule or bye-law contains an express provision to the contrary."

SECTION 24—SYNOPSIS.

1. Appeal.
2. Conviction — Legality of.
3. Offence under Penal Code.
4. Offence whether compoundable.
5. Opposing seizure.
6. Rescue of cattle.
7. Withdrawal of complaint.

1. Appeal. — (1) Where a person was convicted under S. 447, Penal Code, and S. 24, Cattle-trespass Act and the two punishments of fine of Rs. 50 and of Rs. 20 were combined just as in S. 414, Cr. P. C., the sentence was held to be appealable. (Vol 19) 1932 Oudh 27 (28) : 7 Luck 501: 33 Cri L Jour 278.

2. Conviction—Legality of.—[1] For a conviction under S. 24, it is not enough that the cattle were removed from the pound or a person taking or about to take them to a pound. The cattle must be proved to be liable to seizure under this Act. (Vol 5) 1918 Pat 649 (650): 19 Cri L Jour 157; (Vol 13) 1926 All 276 (276) : 27 Cri L Jour 313.

[2] Where a conviction was not justified under S. 24 and especially where the fine was arbitrary, High Court interfered to set aside the conviction in revision. (Vol 17) 1930 Oudh 250 (251): 6 Luck 26: 31 Cri L Jour 1015.

[3] Where an act is punishable both under the Penal Code and this Act, the accused can be punished only under one of the two enactments and not both. A person convicted for theft under the Penal Code cannot be convicted under S. 24 of this Act. (Vol 18) 1931 Mad 18 (19): 32 Cri L Jour 354.

[4] Where a charge is framed under S. 379, Penal Code, and the defence is directed only to that charge, conviction for an offence under S. 24 of this Act is illegal in the absence of the framing of another charge and giving proper opportunity to produce evidence. (Vol 5) 1918 Pat 628 (630): 19 Cri L Jour 202.

3. Offence under Penal Code.—[1] A conviction under S. 24 is not essential before any offence under the Penal Code connected with such an offence can be taken into consideration. (Vol 32) 1945 Oudh 116 (117).

[2] "Offence" in S. 441, Penal Code, includes offence under S. 24 of this Act. (Vol 14) 1927 Lah 495 (496): 8 Lah 331: 28 Cri L Jour 665.

[3] Entering the cattle pound with intent to commit an offence under S. 24 amounts to criminal trespass within S. 447, Penal Code. (Vol 14) 1927 Lah 495 (496): 8 Lah 331: 28 Cri L Jour 665.

4. Offence whether compoundable. — Offence under S. 24 is not compoundable. (Vol 6) 1919 All 31 (31) : 42 All 202: 21 Cri L Jour 305.

5. Opposing seizure. — [1] Opposition to unlawful seizure of cattle is not an offence punishable under S. 24. (1891) 1891 Pun Re No. 4, page 11.

[2] To resist the seizure of the cattle, which escaped from pound and which were found grazing in charge of their owner, is not an offence punishable under S. 24. (1886) Rat. Un- Cr. C 294 (295).

[3] Where an owner of the cattle opposes the seizure of the cattle trespassing a land, on the ground that he has a title over that land, the question of title does not affect the right of the person in exclusive possession of the land to seize the cattle. (Vol 3) 1916 Lah 281 (281): 1916 Pun Re No. 3 (Or) : 17 Cri L Jour 63.

6. Rescue of cattle. — [1] A conviction under S. 24 can only be supported if the cattle were "liable to be seized" under the Act. If not, their rescue is no offence. (1901) 24 Mad 318 (319) , (Vol 6) 1919 Cal 93 (93) : 20 Cri L Jour 398.

[2] 'Rescue' in S. 24 includes driving away cattle by shouts and cries. (Vol 10) 1923 Mad 608 (608): 24 Cri L Jour 456.

[3] A person who removes cattle from the pound without paying the fees, has undoubtedly the dishonest intention of escaping from the payment. Such removal amounts to theft. (Vol 18) 1931 Mad 18 (19) : 32 Cri L Jour 354.

[But see (1891) 1 Weir 716 (716). (Removing of cattle from a pound with intention of returning it to the owner is an offence punishable under S. 24 and not of theft in a building.)]

[4] The offence of causing hurt is a separate offence from that of rescuing cattle and separate sentence may legally be passed. (Vol 15) 1928 Mad 18 (18) : 28 Cri L Jour 982.

7. Withdrawal of complaint. — [1] An offence under this section is triable as a summons-case. Hence, a complaint of such an offence can be withdrawn under section 248, Cr. P. C. (Vol 6) 1919 All 31 (31) : 42 All 202 : 21 Cri L Jour 305.

[2] Offence under this section joined with S. 323, Penal Code—Offence under Penal Code compounded — Offence under this section should be deemed to be withdrawn. (Vol 6) 1919 All 31 (31) : 42 All 202 : 21 Cri L Jour 305.

26. Any owner or keeper of pigs who, through neglect or otherwise, damages or causes or permits to be damaged any land, or any crop or produce of land, or any public road^a, by allowing such pigs to trespass thereon, shall, on conviction before a Magistrate, be punished with fine not exceeding ten rupees.

Penalty for damage caused to land or crops or public roads by pigs. [The "Provincial Government"] by notification in the Official Gazette, may from time to time, with respect to any local area specified in the notification, direct that the foregoing portion of this section shall be read as if it had reference to cattle generally, or to cattle of a kind described in the notification, instead of to pigs only, or as if the words "fifty rupees" were substituted for the words "ten rupees," or as if there were both such reference and such substitution.]

[a] "Public road" includes a railway, see the Indian Railways Act, 1890 (9 [IX] of 1890), S. 125 (4). [b] Inserted by the Cattle-trespass Act (1871) Amendment Act, 1891 (1 [I] of 1891), S. 8. [c] Substituted by A. O. for "Local Government". [d] The last paragraph was repealed by the Repealing and Amending Act, 1914 (10 [X] of 1914).

27. Any pound-keeper releasing or purchasing or delivering cattle contrary to the provisions of section 19, or omitting to provide any impounded cattle with sufficient food and water, or failing to perform any of the other duties imposed upon him by this Act, shall, over and above any other penalty to which he may be liable, be punished, on conviction before a Magistrate, with fine not exceeding fifty rupees.

Such fines may be recovered by deductions from the pound-keeper's salary.

Application of fines recovered under sections 25, 26 or 27.

28. All fines recovered under section 25, section 26 or section 27 may be appropriated in whole or in part as compensation for loss or damage proved to the satisfaction of the convicting Magistrate.

Section 25 (contd.)

[2] Sub-section (3) of Section 125, Railways Act, 1890, runs as follows:—"Any fine imposed under this section may, if the Court so directs, be recovered in manner provided by section 25 of the Cattle-trespass Act, 1871."

Section 26 — Note 1

[1] As to application of fine recovered under this section, see section 28.

[2] Section 125, sub-ss. (1) and (2), Railways Act, 1890, run as follows: "(1) The owner or person in charge of any cattle straying on a railway provided with fences suitable for the exclusion of cattle shall be punished with fine which may extend to five rupees for each head of cattle, in addition to any amount which may have been recovered or may be recoverable under the Cattle-trespass Act, 1871.

(2) If any cattle are wilfully driven, or knowingly permitted to be, on any railway otherwise than for the purpose of lawfully crossing the railway or for any other lawful purpose, the person in charge of the cattle, or at the option of the railway administration, the owner of the cattle shall be punished with fine which may extend to ten rupees for each head of cattle, in addition to any amount which may have been recovered or may be recoverable under the Cattle-trespass Act, 1871."

[3] Sub-section (4) of Section 125, Railways Act, 1890, runs as follows:—"The expression 'public road' in sections 11 and 26 of the Cattle-trespass Act, 1871, shall be deemed to include a railway, and any railway servant may exercise the powers conferred on officers of police by the former of those sections."

[4] Before any person can be convicted under S. 26, prosecution must establish that owner has, through neglect or otherwise, damaged or caused or permitted to be damaged land, etc., by allowing his cattle to trespass thereon. A personal neglect on the part of the owner, and his allowing his cattle to trespass must, if they cannot be inferred from the circumstances of the case, be shown affirmatively to exist. (1896) Rat Un Cr C 867 : Cr Rg 36 of 1896.

Section 27 — Note 1

[1] A person, who is not himself a pound-keeper, but has been merely engaged by a Police Patel, who was ex-officio the pound-keeper, is not a pound-keeper within the meaning of S. 27, and cannot, therefore, be convicted under that section. (1872) 9 B H C R (A C) 164 (165).

[2] Where the pound-keeper falsifies accounts, the offence committed does not fall under S. 27, but falls under Ss. 409 and 511 of the Penal Code. (1896) Rat Un Cr C. 632 : Cr Rg 2 of 1893.

[3] As to application of fine recovered under this section, see section 28.

CHAPTER VII.

SUITS FOR COMPENSATION.

29. Nothing herein contained prohibits any person whose crops or other produce of land have been damaged by trespass of cattle from suing for compensation in any competent Court.

Saving of right to sue for compensation.

PROVINCIAL AMENDMENT.

Central Provinces and Berar.—In section 29 for the words “whose crops or other produce of land have been damaged” substitute the words “whose property, crops or other produce of land have been damaged or to whom any hurt or injury or obstruction has been caused”. —C. P. and Berar Act 12 [XII] of 1935, S. 4. [30-3-1935]

30. Any compensation paid to such person under this Act by order of the convicting Magistrate shall be set-off and deducted from any sum claimed by or awarded to him as compensation in such suit.

Set-off.

PROVINCIAL AMENDMENT

Bengal. — After section 31 the following section shall be inserted, namely :—

“32. (1) The Magistrate of the District may appoint for the purposes of this Act, a President of a Union Board constituted under the Bengal Village Self-Government Act, 1919, to discharge the functions of an officer appointed under section 14, in respect of cattle impounded within the local area subject to the jurisdiction of that Union Board :—

Power for Magistrate of the District to appoint Presidents of Union Boards to discharge the functions of an officer under section 14.

Provided that a President so appointed may, by general or special order, delegate all or any of his functions under section 14 to the Vice-President of such Union Board and may at any time withdraw the same.

(2) A President so appointed or Vice-President to whom the President may delegate his functions shall not, directly or indirectly, purchase any cattle at a sale under this Act.”

Section 29 — Note 1

[1] In a suit for damages for illegal seizure of cattle the onus lies on defendant to prove that the seizure was justifiable. Such a suit is not barred by reason of Ch. 5. (Vol 5) 1918 Nag 124 (125); (1871) 15 W R 279 (280); (1889) 16 Cal 159 (160); (2 Cal L Rep 344, dissented from).

[2] Where in a suit against joint tortfeasors for damages, the plaintiff compromises with some of them without releasing the entire cause of action, he is not debarred from getting a decree against the others. (Vol 29) 1942 Oudh 73 (74); 17 Luck 284.

[3] In a suit for damages under this section it was alleged that the defendants dishonestly let loose their cattle. It was not alleged that the defendants did so with a view to have the defendant's crops grazed. It was not found that the defendants had acted jointly or in concert. The extent of damage caused by the cattle of each defendant was not known. It was held that a joint decree for all the damages against all the defendants could not be passed. Further, in the absence of evidence to show what damages were caused by the cattle of each defendant, only nominal damages could be awarded against each defendant. SPECIAL PROVISIONS RELATING TO SALT

31. Special and permanent rights of manufacturing salt to be recognised.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

"The administration of internal commodity taxation in British India has grown up piecemeal over many years and has been considerably expanded during the last decade. Hitherto, the introduction of a new central duty of excise has required the enactment of a self-contained law and the preparation of a separate set of statutory rules. There are now no less than 10 separate excise Acts (the excise on kerosene being covered by a part of the Indian Finance Act, 1922) and 11 sets of statutory rules; and there are also 5 Acts relating to salt, the duty on which is by a wide margin the oldest of our taxes on indigenous commodities. The taxes being closely akin to one another, the methods of collection follow the same general pattern, and many of the provisions of the various Acts are identical or closely similar; and this is the case also with many of the statutory rules. The agglomeration of statutes and regulations dealing with similar matters is neither convenient for the public nor conducive to well-organised administration. Moreover, under this disjunctive arrangement, we have not, and cannot readily construct, a comprehensive code of standing instructions for the governance of the excise staff and each set of statutory rules is burdened with departmental instructions in which the public has no concern or interest and which, even taken together, do not form an adequate administrative code.

2. It is accordingly proposed to consolidate in a single enactment all the laws relating to central duties of excise and to the tax on salt and to embody therein

FIRST SCHEDULE

SECOND SCHEDULE

a Schedule, similar to that in the Indian Tariff Act, 1934, setting forth the rates of duty leviable on each class of goods. At the same time the statutory rules will be similarly amalgamated and disembarassed of their unnecessary detail. The Act and the consolidated statutory rules, together with as many manuals of departmental instructions as may be necessary, will then form a complete Central Excise Code, which will simplify the administration of this branch of the revenue system and aid such further development as may be necessary; and any proposal for a new excise which may hereafter be laid before the Legislature may then take the simpler and more convenient form of a clause in the annual Finance Bill.

3. The intention of the Bill is to reproduce provisions already existing in the Acts which it is proposed to repeal, but in the process certain small amendments have been made, either in modernising the language or for dovetailing the provisions and otherwise adapting them to present circumstances. These amendments are the minimum consistent with such blending and adaptation.

4. The combination of a number of separate measures, each of which has been moulded to fit its particular subject, necessarily includes their special features as well as those which are common to others in the group and it follows that certain provisions which have hitherto applied only to certain goods will, after consolidation, become applicable over the whole field, either as a matter of course or by notification as circumstances may require. In particular the Bill provides that certain features of the salt law relating to transport by small coastal craft will become adaptable, as necessary, in the administration of other excise duties.

5. No interference of any kind is made in any of the existing duties. These have been merely collected from the various Acts and reproduced in the Schedule; and the item relating to salt has been so worded as to preserve to the Central Legislature the right which it has so long exercised of voting annually on the rate of duty to be fixed."

—Gazette of India, 1943, Part V, page 243.

EXTRACT FROM THE SELECT COMMITTEE REPORT.

"The changes made in the Bill are nearly all of a formal nature dictated by the advisability of emphasising, more pointedly than the Bill as drafted did, the differences between salt and the other articles subjected to duties of central excise, and the difference between the salt duty and the other central excise duties, differences referred to in the judgment of the Federal Court in the case, Lahore Municipality v. Daulat Ram, 1942 F. C. R. 31. It is inadvisable to exhibit, as the Bill did, the duty on salt as indistinguishable from those other duties of excise. The competence of the Central Legislature to legislate on salt is derived from entry 47 of List I of the Seventh Schedule to the Government of India Act and extends to salt in all its aspects. Legislative competence in respect of other articles is derived from item 45 of that list and extends only to the imposition of duties of excise upon them and, in so far as provisions which might fall within the scope of entries 27 and 29 of List II of the Seventh Schedule are concerned, to the making only of such provisions as are essential for the purpose of effectively implementing the power of imposing such duties.

The changes made by us in the long title, preamble, short title, and clause (2) (d) and (e) recognise the peculiar status under the Constitution Act of salt as compared with the other excisable articles with which the Bill deals, while leaving the provisions applicable generally to all excisable articles applicable also to salt.

The alteration of clause (3) (1) again recognizes a distinction between other central excise duties and the duty on salt and is responsible for the small consequential amendment made in clause (5).

The limitations on the power of the Central Legislature to legislate on matters coming ordinarily within the scope of items 27 and 29 of the Provincial Legislative List have suggested the alterations made by us in clauses (6) and (8) and in the items (v), (x) and (xiv) of clause 37 (1).^a The extent to which incursion into the Provincial legislative field is necessitated for the purpose of effective legislation on the subject dealt with by the Bill is particularised. Under clause (6) the power to control manufacture by licence is essential for the purpose of effectively levying and collecting the excise duty in all cases, but so far as purchase, sale and storage are concerned the power is essential and has so far been taken only in respect of tobacco, though subsequent additions to the articles subjected to duties of central excise may necessitate further entries in Part A of the new Schedule II. Clause (8) dealing with the possession of excisable goods has been recast on similar lines for similar reasons. The alterations in clause 3 (1) again specifically state the limitations which are, under the Constitution Act, attached to Central legislation on the matters dealt with."

[a] This seems to be a discrepancy for clause 37 (2).

THE CENTRAL EXCISES AND SALT ACT, 1944.

(ACT I OF 1944.)

[24th February 1944.]

An Act to consolidate and amend the law relating to central duties of excise and to salt.

WHEREAS it is expedient to consolidate and amend the law relating to central duties of excise on goods manufactured or produced in British India and to salt;

It is hereby enacted as follows:—

CHAPTER I.

Short title, extent and commencement.

1. (1) This Act may be called the CENTRAL EXCISES AND SALT ACT, 1944;

(2) It extends to the whole of British India;

(3) It shall come into force on such date^a as the Central Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, appoint in this behalf.

[a] This Act came into force on 28th February, 1944.—See Gazette of India, 1944, Extraordinary, page 293.

Definitions. 2. In this Act, unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context,—

(a) "broker" or "commission agent" means a person who in the ordinary course of business makes contracts for the sale or purchase of excisable goods for others;

(b) "Central Excise Officer" means any officer of the Central Excise Department, or any person (including an officer of the Provincial Government) invested by the Central Board of Revenue with any of the powers of a Central Excise Officer under this Act;

Section 2 (b) — Note 1

[1] The words "including an officer of the Provincial Government" were inserted by the Select Committee.

"The insertion in cl. 2 (b) makes clear that an officer of the Provincial Government may be invested with the powers of a Central Excise Officer." — Select Committee Report.

- (c) "curing" includes wilting, drying, fermenting and any process for rendering an unmanufactured product fit for marketing or manufacture ;
- (d) "excisable goods" means goods specified in the First Schedule as being subject to a duty of excise and includes salt ;
- (e) "factory" means any premises, including the precincts thereof, wherein or in any part of which excisable goods other than salt are manufactured, or wherein or in any part of which any manufacturing process connected with the production of these goods is being carried on or is ordinarily carried on ;
- (f) "manufacture" includes any process incidental or ancillary to the completion of a manufactured product ; and
 - (i) in relation to tobacco includes the preparation of cigarettes, cigars, cheroots, biris, cigarette or pipe or hookah tobacco, chewing tobacco or snuff ; and
 - (ii) in relation to salt, includes collection, removal, preparation, steeping, evaporation, boiling, or any one or more of these processes, the separation or purification of salt obtained in the manufacture of saltpetre, the separation of salt from earth or other substance so as to produce alimentary salt, and the excavation or removal of natural saline deposits or efflorescence ; and the word "manufacturer" shall be construed accordingly and shall include not only a person who employs hired labour in the production or manufacture of excisable goods, but also any person who engages in their production or manufacture on his own account if those goods are intended for sale ;
- (g) "prescribed" means prescribed by rules made under this Act ;
- (h) "sale" and "purchase," with their grammatical variations and cognate expressions, mean any transfer of the possession of goods by one person to another in the ordinary course of trade or business for cash or deferred payment or other valuable consideration ;
- (i) "saltpetre" includes rasi, sajji, and all other substances manufactured from saline earth, and kharinun and every form of sulphate or carbonate of soda ;
- (j) "salt factory" includes—
 - (i) a place used or intended to be used in the manufacture of salt and all embankments, reservoirs, condensing and evaporating pans, buildings and waste places situated within the limits of such place ; as defined from time to time by the Collector of Central Excise ;
 - (ii) all drying grounds and storage platforms and storehouses appertaining to any such place ;
 - (iii) land on which salt is spontaneously produced ; and a "private salt factory" is one not solely owned or not solely worked by the Central Government ;
- (k) "wholesale dealer" means a person who buys or sells excisable goods wholesale for the purpose of trade or manufacture, and includes a broker or commission agent who, in addition to making contracts for the sale or purchase of excisable goods for others, stocks such goods belonging to others as an agent for the purpose of sale.

CHAPTER II.

LEVY AND COLLECTION OF DUTY.

Duties specified in the First Schedule to be levied.

3. (1) There shall be levied and collected in such manner as may be prescribed duties of excise on all excisable goods other than salt which

Section 2 (c) — Note 1

[1] "Clause 2 (c) has been made general in its terms so as to be applicable to other excisable goods than tobacco." — Select Committee Report.

Section 2 (e) — Note 1

[1] "The definition of 'factory' in cl. 2 (e) has been made inapplicable to a place used for the manufacture of salt." — Select Committee Report.

Section 2 (j) — Note 1

[1] The words "as defined from time to time by the Collector of Central Excise" were added in sub-cl. (i) of cl. (j) by the Select Committee. "Cl. 2 (j) has been amended to supply a definition of 'salt factory,' those words being substituted for 'salt-work' here and in cls. 31 and 32. The words added to cl. 2 (j) bring the definition of 'salt factory' into accord with the definition contained in the Madras Salt Act, 1889, S. 3 (f)." — Select Committee Report. The reference to S 3 (f) of the Madras Act, it seems, should be taken as a reference to S. 3 (i) of that Act.

Section 3 — Note 1

[1] As to the punishment of a person who evades the payment of duty, see section 9 (b) and (d). See also section 12.

are produced or manufactured in British India, and a duty on salt manufactured in, or imported by land into, any part of British India as, and at the rates, set forth in the First Schedule.

(2) The Central Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, fix, for the purpose of levying the said duties, tariff values of any articles enumerated, either specifically or under general headings, in the First Schedule as chargeable with duty ad valorem and may alter any tariff values for the time being in force;

(3) Different tariff values may be fixed for different classes or descriptions of the same article.

4. Where under this Act any article is chargeable with duty at a rate dependent on the value of the article, such value shall be deemed to be the wholesale cash price for the purposes of duty. Determination of value for the purposes of duty. for which an article of the like kind and quality is sold or is capable of being sold for delivery at the place of manufacture and at the time of its removal therefrom, without any abatement or deduction whatever except trade discount and the amount of duty then payable.

5. The Central Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, impose on any excisable goods other than salt brought into British India from the territory of any Indian State, not being territory which has been declared under section 5 of the Indian Tariff Act, 1934, to be foreign territory for the purposes of that section, a duty of customs equivalent to the duty imposed by this Act on the like goods produced or manufactured in British India. Power of Central Government to impose Customs duty on goods mentioned in the First Schedule.

6. The Central Government may, by notification^a in the Official Gazette, provide that, from such date as may be specified in the notification, no person shall, except under the authority and in accordance with the terms and conditions of a licence granted under this Act, engage in — Certain operations to be subject to licence.

- (a) the production or manufacture or any process of the production or manufacture of any specified excisable goods or of saltpetre or of any specified component parts or ingredients of such goods or of specified containers of such goods, or
- (b) the wholesale purchase or sale (whether on his own account or as a broker or commission agent) or the storage of any excisable goods specified in this behalf in Part A of the Second Schedule.

[a] For such notification, see Gazette of India, 1944, Extraordinary, dated 28-2-1944, page 297.

7. Every licence under section 6 shall be granted for such area, if any, for such period, subject to such restrictions and conditions, and in such form and containing such particulars, as may be prescribed. Form and conditions of licence.

8. From such date as may be specified in this behalf by the Central Government by notification in the Official Gazette, no person shall, except as provided by rules made under this Act, have in his possession any excisable goods specified in this behalf in Part B of the Second Schedule in excess of such quantity as may be prescribed for the purposes of this section as the maximum amount of such goods or of any variety of such goods which may be possessed at any one time by such a person. Restriction on possession of excisable goods.

Offences and Penalties. 9. Whoever commits any of the following offences, namely:—

- (a) contravenes any of the provisions of a notification issued under section 6 or of section 8, or of a rule made under clause (iii) of sub-section (2) of section 37;
- (b) evades the payment of any duty payable under this Act;
- (c) fails to supply any information which he is required by rules made under this Act to supply, or (unless with a reasonable belief, the burden of proving which shall be upon him, that the information supplied by him is true) supplies false information;
- (d) attempts to commit, or abets the commission of, any of the offences mentioned in clauses (a) and (b) of this section; shall, for every such offence, be punishable with imprisonment for a term which may extend to six months, or with fine which may extend to two thousand rupees, or with both.

10. Any Court trying an offence under this Chapter may order the forfeiture to His Majesty of any goods in respect of which the Court is satisfied that an offence under this Chapter has been committed, and may also order the forfeiture Power of Courts to order forfeiture.

Section 6 — Note 1

[1] As to the form and conditions of a licence, see the provisions of a notification issued under this section 7; for punishment for contravention of any of section, see section 9 (a) and (d).

of any receptacles, packages or coverings in which such goods are contained and the animals, vehicles, vessels or other conveyances used in carrying the goods, and any implements or machinery used in the manufacture of the goods.

11. In respect of duty and any other sums of any kind payable to the Central Government Recovery of sums due to Government. under any of the provisions of this Act or of the rules made thereunder, the officer empowered by the Central Board of Revenue to levy such duty or require the payment of such sums may deduct the amount so payable from any money owing to the person from whom such sums may be recoverable or due which may be in his hands or under his disposal or control, or may recover the amount by attachment and sale of excisable goods belonging to such person; and if the amount payable is not so recovered he may prepare a certificate signed by him specifying the amount due from the person liable to pay the same and send it to the Collector of the district in which such person resides or conducts his business and the said Collector, on receipt of such certificate, shall proceed to recover from the said person the amount specified therein as if it were an arrear of land-revenue.

12. The Central Government may, by notification^a in the Official Gazette, declare that any of the provisions of the Sea Customs Act, 1878, relating to the levy of and exemption from customs duties, drawback of duty, warehousing, offences and penalties, confiscation, and procedure relating to offences and appeals shall, with such modification and alterations as it may consider necessary or desirable to adapt them to the circumstances, be applicable in regard to like matters in respect of the duties imposed by section 3.

CHAPTER III.

POWERS AND DUTIES OF OFFICERS AND LANDHOLDERS

13. (1) Any Central Excise Officer duly empowered by the Central Government in this behalf Power to arrest. may arrest any person whom he has reason to believe to be liable to punishment under this Act.

(2) Any person accused or reasonably suspected of committing an offence under this Act or any rules made thereunder, who on demand of any officer duly empowered by the Central Government in this behalf refuses to give his name and residence, or who gives a name or residence which such officer has reason to believe to be false, may be arrested by such officer in order that his name and residence may be ascertained.

14. (1) Any Central Excise Officer duly empowered by the Central Government in this behalf Power to summon persons to give evidence and produce documents in inquiries under this Act. shall have power to summon any person whose attendance he considers necessary either to give evidence or to produce a document or any other thing in any inquiry which such officer is making for any of the purposes of this Act. A summons to produce documents or other things may be for the production of certain specified documents or things or for the production of all documents or things of a certain description in the possession or under the control of the person summoned.

(2) All persons so summoned shall be bound to attend, either in person or by an authorised agent, as such officer may direct; and all persons so summoned shall be bound to state the truth upon any subject respecting which they are examined or make statements and to produce such documents and other things as may be required :

Provided that the exemptions under sections 182 and 183 of the Code of Civil Procedure shall be applicable to requisition for attendance under this section.

(3) Every such inquiry as aforesaid shall be deemed to be a "judicial proceeding" within the meaning of section 193 and section 228 of the Indian Penal Code.

Section 14 - Note 1

[1] Sections 182 and 183, Civil P. C., deal respectively with exemption from personal appearance in Court of women who according to the custom and manners of the country ought not to be compelled to appear in public and with the power vested in the Provincial Government to exempt from personal appearance in Court any person whose rank, in the opinion of such Government, entitles him to the privilege of such exemption.

Sections 193 and 228, Penal Code, deal respectively with punishment for false evidence and intentional insult or interruption to public servant sitting in judicial proceeding.

15. All officers of Police and Customs and all officers of Government engaged in the collection of land-revenue, and all village officers are hereby empowered and required to assist the Central Excise officers in the execution of this Act.

16. Every owner or occupier of land, and the agent of any such owner or occupier, in charge of the management of that land, if contraband excisable goods are manufactured thereon, shall in the absence of reasonable excuse be bound to give notice of such manufacture to a Magistrate, or to an officer of the Central Excise, Customs, Police, or Land Revenue Department, immediately the fact comes to his knowledge.

17. Any owner or occupier of land, or any agent of such owner or occupier in charge of the management of that land, who wilfully connives at any offence against the provisions of this Act or of any rules made thereunder shall for every such offence be punishable with imprisonment for a term which may extend to six months, or with fine which may extend to five hundred rupees, or with both.

18. All searches made under this Act or any rules made thereunder and all arrests made under this Act shall be carried out in accordance with the provisions of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, relating respectively to searches and arrests made under that Code.

19. Every person arrested under this Act shall be forwarded without delay to the nearest Central Excise officer empowered to send persons so arrested to a Magistrate, or, if there is no such Central Excise officer within a reasonable distance, to the officer-in-charge of the nearest police-station.

20. The officer-in-charge of a police-station to whom any person is forwarded under section 19 shall either admit him to bail to appear before the Magistrate having jurisdiction, or in default of bail forward him in custody to such Magistrate.

Inquiry how to be made by Central Excise officers against persons forwarded to them under section 19.

21. (1) When any person is forwarded under section 19 to a Central Excise officer empowered to send persons so arrested to a Magistrate, the Central Excise officer shall proceed to enquire into the charge against him.

(2) For this purpose the Central Excise officer may exercise the same powers and shall be subject to the same provisions as the officer-in-charge of a police-station may exercise and is subject to under the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, when investigating a cognizable case :

Provided that —

(a) if the Central Excise officer is of opinion that there is sufficient evidence or reasonable ground of suspicion against the accused person, he shall either admit him to bail to appear before a Magistrate having jurisdiction in the case, or forward him in custody to such Magistrate;

(b) if it appears to the Central Excise officer that there is not sufficient evidence or reasonable ground of suspicion against the accused person, he shall release the accused person on his executing a bond, with or without sureties as the Central Excise officer may direct, to appear, if and when so required before the Magistrate having jurisdiction, and shall make a full report of all the particulars of the case to his official superior.

Vexatious search, seizure, etc., by Central Excise officer.

22. Any Central Excise or other officer exercising powers under this Act or under the rules made thereunder who —

(a) without reasonable ground of suspicion searches or causes to be searched any house, boat or place ;

(b) vexatiously and unnecessarily detains, searches or arrests any person;

(c) vexatiously and unnecessarily seizes the moveable property of any person, on pretence of seizing or searching for any article liable to confiscation under this Act ;

Section 21 — Note 1

[1] The words "either admit him to bail to appear before" and "or forward him in custody to such Magistrate" in Proviso (a) to sub-section (2) were added by the Select Committee. "The addition made to cl. 21 (2) makes it clear that a Central Excise officer has power to admit a person suspected by him of an offence to bail." — Select Committee Report.

(d) commits, as such officer, any other act to the injury of any person, without having reason to believe that such act is required for the execution of his duty ; shall, for every such offence, be punishable with fine which may extend to two thousand rupees.

Any person wilfully and maliciously giving false information and so causing an arrest or a search to be made under this Act shall be punishable with fine which may extend to two thousand rupees or with imprisonment for a term which may extend to two years or with both.

23. Any Central Excise officer who ceases or refuses to perform or withdraws himself from the duties of his office, unless he has obtained the express written permission of the Collector of Central Excise, or has given to his superior officer two months' notice in writing of his intention or has other lawful excuse, shall on conviction before a Magistrate be punishable with imprisonment for a term which may extend to three months, or with fine which may extend to three months' pay, or with both.

CHAPTER IV.

TRANSPORT BY SEA.

24. When any excisable goods are carried by sea in any vessel other than a vessel of the burden of three hundred tons and upwards, the owner and master of such vessel shall each be punishable with imprisonment for a term which may extend to six months, or with fine which may extend to one thousand rupees, or with both.

Exceptions.

25. Nothing in section 24 applies to —

- (a) any excisable goods covered by a permit granted under rules made under this Act ;
- (b) any excisable goods covered by a pass granted by any officer whom the Central Board of Revenue may appoint in this behalf ;
- (c) such amount of excisable goods carried on board any vessel for consumption by her crew or by the passengers or animals (if any) on board as the Central Board of Revenue may from time to time exempt from the operation of section 24.

26. When any officer empowered by the Central Board of Revenue, to act under this section has reason to believe, from personal knowledge or from information taken down in writing, that any excisable goods are being carried, or have within the previous twenty-four hours been carried, in any vessel so as to render the owner or master of such vessel liable to the penalties imposed by section 24, he may require such vessel to be brought to and thereupon may—

- (a) enter and search the vessel ;
- (b) require the master of the vessel to produce any documents in his possession relating to the vessel or the cargo thereof ;
- (c) seize the vessel if the officer has reason to believe it liable to confiscation under this Act, and cause it to be brought with its crew and cargo into any port in British India ; and
- (d) where any excisable goods are found on board the vessel, search and arrest without a warrant any person on board the vessel whom he has reason to believe to be punishable under section 24.

27. Any master of a vessel refusing or neglecting to bring to the vessel or to produce his papers when required to do so by an officer acting under section 26, and any person obstructing any such officer in the performance of his duty, may be arrested by such officer without a warrant, and shall be punishable with imprisonment for a term which may extend to six months or with fine which may extend to one thousand rupees, or with both.

28. (1) Every vessel (including all appurtenances) in which any excisable goods are carried so as to render the owner or master of such vessel liable to penalties imposed by section 24, the cargo on board such vessel and the excisable goods in respect of which an offence under this Act has been committed shall be liable to confiscation on the orders of the officer empowered in this behalf by the Central Government.

(2) Whenever any Customs-officer is satisfied that any article is liable to confiscation under this section he may seize such article, and shall at once report the seizure to his superior officer for the information of the officer empowered to order confiscation under sub-section (1) and such officer may, if satisfied on such report or after making such inquiry as he thinks fit, that the article so seized is liable to confiscation, either declare it to be confiscated, or impose a fine in lieu thereof not exceeding the value of the article.

29. Any offence punishable under section 24 or section 27 may be deemed to have been committed within the limits of the jurisdiction of the Magistrate of any place where the offender is found, or to which, if arrested under section 26 or section 27, he may be brought.

30. The Central Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, exempt the carriage of excisable goods within any local limits or in any class of vessels from the operation of this Chapter. the operation of this Chapter, and, by like notification, again subject such carriage to the operation of this Chapter.

CHAPTER V.

SPECIAL PROVISIONS RELATING TO SALT.

31. The proprietor of a private salt factory who has by virtue of a sanad granted by the British or any former Government, a special and permanent right to manufacture salt, or to excavate or collect natural salt, shall on application made in accordance with the rules made under this Act be entitled to a licence for such purpose and to the annual renewal thereof, unless on a breach of the provisions of this Act, his licence has been cancelled by an officer duly empowered by the Central Government in this behalf.

32. Every proprietor of a private salt-work, other than a private salt factory, to which section 31 applies, of which under the provisions of section 17 of the Bombay Salt Act, 1890, the proprietor was entitled on application to a licence to manufacture or to excavate or collect natural salt at such factory, shall continue to be entitled, on application made in accordance with the rules made under this Act, to a licence for such purpose and to the annual renewal thereof, unless on a breach of the provisions of this Act, his licence has been cancelled by an officer duly empowered by the Central Government in this behalf :

Provided that the Collector of Central Excise may at any time withdraw or withhold a licence from the proprietor of any such salt factory, if no salt has been manufactured, excavated or collected in such salt factory for the three years ending on the thirtieth day of June last preceding the date of his order, or, with the previous sanction of the Central Board of Revenue, if such salt factory has not produced, on an average, during the said three years, at least five thousand maunds of salt per annum.

Section 32 — Note 1

[1] Taking into consideration the intention of the Select Committee as expressed in their Report (see Note on S. 2 (j)), the words 'salt factory' ought to have been substituted for the words 'salt-work' where they occur in this section. By an oversight of the draftsman of this Act this has not been done in the place where these words occur for the first time in this section.

[2] Sub-section (1) of section 17, Bombay Salt Act, 1890, ran as follows: "Except as is hereinafter otherwise provided, every proprietor of a private salt-work, to which S. 16 does not apply and which is being lawfully worked at the time when this Act comes into force, or which was lawfully worked at any time within three years next before the date on which this Act comes into force, shall, unless his salt-work is suppressed under S. 24 of this Act or has been suppressed under S. 33 of the Bombay Salt Act, 1878, be entitled, on application, to a licence to manufacture salt or to excavate or collect natural salt at such work." The Bombay Salt Act, 1890, is now repealed by this Act.

CHAPTER VI.

ADJUDICATION OF CONFISCATIONS AND PENALTIES.

33. Where by the rules made under this Act any thing is liable to confiscation or any person is liable to a penalty, such confiscation or penalty may be adjudged —

(a) without limit, by a Collector of Central Excise ;

(b) up to confiscation of goods not exceeding five hundred rupees in value and imposition of penalty not exceeding two hundred and fifty rupees, by an Assistant Collector of Central Excise :

Provided that the Central Board of Revenue may, in the case of any officer performing the duties of an Assistant Collector of Central Excise, reduce the limits indicated in clause (b) of this section, and may confer on any officer the powers indicated in clause (a) or (b) of this section.

34. Wherever confiscation is adjudged under this Act or the rules made thereunder, the officer adjudging it shall give the owner of the goods an option to pay in lieu of confiscation such fine as the officer thinks fit.

35. (1) Any person deeming himself aggrieved by any decision or order passed by a Central Excise officer under this Act or the rules made thereunder may, within three months from the date of such decision or order, appeal therefrom to the Central Board of Revenue, or, in such cases as the Central Government directs, to any Central Excise officer not inferior in rank to an Assistant Collector of Central Excise and empowered in that behalf by the Central Government. Such authority or officer may thereupon make such further inquiry and pass such order as he thinks fit, confirming, altering or annulling the decision or order appealed against :

Provided that no such order in appeal shall have the effect of subjecting any person to any greater confiscation or penalty than has been adjudged against him in the original decision or order.

(2) Every order passed in appeal under this section shall, subject to the power of revision conferred by section 36, be final.

36. The Central Government may on the application of any person aggrieved by any decision or order passed under this Act or the rules made thereunder by any Central Excise officer or by the Central Board of Revenue, and from which no appeal lies, reverse or modify such decision or order.

CHAPTER VII.

SUPPLEMENTAL PROVISIONS.

37. (1) The Central Government may make rules^a to carry into effect the purposes of this Act.

[a] For the Central Excise Rules, 1944, see Gazette of India, 1944, Extraordinary, dated 28-2-1944, page 297.

(2) In particular, and without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing power, such rules may —

(i) provide for the assessment and collection of duties of excise, the authorities by whom functions under this Act are to be discharged, the issue of notices requiring payment, the manner in which the duties shall be payable, and the recovery of duty not paid ;

(ii) prohibit absolutely, or with such exceptions, or subject to such conditions as the Central Government thinks fit, the production or manufacture, or any process of the production or manufacture, of excisable goods, or of any component parts or ingredients or containers thereof, except on land or premises approved for the purpose ;

(iii) prohibit absolutely, or with such exceptions, or subject to such conditions as the Central Government thinks fit, the bringing of excisable goods into British India from the

Section 37 (2) (iii) — Note 1

- territory of any specified Prince or Chief in India, or the transit of excisable goods from any part of British India to any other part thereof ;
- (iv) regulate the removal of excisable goods from the place where produced; stored or manufactured or subjected to any process of production or manufacture and their transport to or from the premises of a licensed person, or a bonded warehouse, or to a market ;
 - (v) regulate the production or manufacture, or any process of the production or manufacture, the possession, storage and sale of salt, and so far as such regulation is essential for the proper levy and collection of the duties imposed by this Act, of any other excisable goods, or of any component parts or ingredients or containers thereof ;
 - (vi) provide for the employment of officers of the Crown to supervise the carrying out of any rules made under this Act ;
 - (vii) require a manufacturer or the licensee of a warehouse to provide accommodation within the precincts of his factory or warehouse for officers employed to supervise the carrying out of regulations made under this Act and prescribe the scale of such accommodation ;
 - (viii) provide for the appointment, licensing, management and supervision of bonded warehouses and the procedure to be followed in entering goods into and clearing goods from such warehouses ;
 - (ix) provide for the distinguishing of goods which have been manufactured under licence, of materials which have been imported under licence, and of goods on which duty has been paid, or which are exempt from duty under this Act ;
 - (x) impose on persons engaged in the production or manufacture, storage or sale (whether on their own account or as brokers or commission agents) of salt, and, so far as such imposition is essential for the proper levy and collection of the duties imposed by this Act, of any other excisable goods, the duty of furnishing information, keeping records and making returns, and prescribe the nature of such information and the form of such records and returns, the particulars to be contained therein, and the manner in which they shall be verified ;
 - (xi) require that excisable goods shall not be sold or offered or kept for sale in British India except in prescribed containers, bearing a banderol, stamp or label of such nature and affixed in such manner as may be prescribed ;
 - (xii) provide for the issue of licences and transport permits and the fees, if any, to be charged therefor ;

Provided that the fees for the licensing of the manufacture and refining of salt and saltpetre shall not exceed, in the case of each such licence, the following amounts, namely :

	Rs.
Licence to manufacture and refine saltpetre and to separate and purify salt in the process of such manufacture and refining	50
Licence to manufacture saltpetre	2
Licence to manufacture sulphate of soda (Kharinum) by solar heat in evaporating pans	10
Licence to manufacture sulphate of soda (Kharinum) by artificial heat	2
Licence to manufacture other saline substances	2

- (xiii) provide for the detention of goods, plant, machinery or material, for the purpose of exacting the duty, the procedure in connexion with the confiscation, otherwise than under section 10 or section 28, of goods in respect of which breaches of the Act or rules have been committed, and the disposal of goods so detained or confiscated ;
- (xiv) authorise and regulate the inspection of factories and provide for the taking of samples, and for the making of tests, of any substance produced therein, and for the inspection or search of any place or conveyance used for the production, storage, sale or transport of salt, and, so far as such inspection or search is essential for the proper levy and collection of the duties imposed by this Act, of any other excisable goods ;

(xv) authorise and regulate the composition of offences against, or liabilities incurred under, this Act or the rules made thereunder ;

(xvi) provide for the grant of a rebate of the duty paid on goods which are exported out of India or shipped for consumption on a voyage to any port outside India :

Provided that rules made under this clause shall provide that when steel ingots on which the duty of excise imposed by this Act has been paid, or articles of iron or steel manufactured in British India from such ingots, are exported out of India, there shall be payable to the exporter of such ingots or articles, subject to such conditions as may be prescribed, a refund at the following rates, namely :—

on ingots, blooms and billets—a refund at the rate of four rupees per ton ;

on other manufactures of iron or steel —

(a) not fabricated—a refund at the rate of five and one-third rupees per ton ;

(b) fabricated—a refund at the rate of six rupees per ton ;

(xvii) exempt any goods from the whole or any part of the duty imposed by this Act ;

(xviii) define an area no point in which shall be more than one hundred yards from the nearest point of any place in which salt is stored or sold by or on behalf of the Central Government, or of any factory in which saltpetre is manufactured or refined, and regulate the possession, storage and sale of salt within such area ;

(xix) define an area round any other place in which salt is manufactured, and regulate the possession, storage and sale of salt within such area ;

(xx) authorise the Central Board of Revenue or Collectors of Central Excise appointed for the purposes of this Act to provide, by written instructions, for supplemental matters arising out of any rule made by the Central Government under this section.

(3) In making rules under this section, the Central Government may provide that any person committing a breach of any rule shall, where no other penalty is provided by this Act, be liable to a penalty not exceeding two thousand rupees and that any article in respect of which any such breach is committed shall be confiscated.

38. All rules made and notifications issued under this Act shall be made and issued by publication in the Official Gazette. All such rules and notifications shall thereupon have effect as if enacted in this Act :

Provided that every such rule shall be laid as soon as may be after it is made before each of the Chambers of the Central Legislature, while it is in session, for a total period of thirty days which may be comprised in one session or in two or more sessions, and if before the expiry of that period, or where the period for which the rule is so laid before one Chamber does not coincide with that for which it is so laid before the other, before the expiry of the later of these periods, both Chambers agree in making any modification in the rule or both Chambers agree that the rule should not be made, the rule shall thereafter have effect only in such modified form or be of no effect, as the case may be.

39. The enactments specified in the ^a[Third Schedule] are hereby repealed to the extent mentioned in the fourth column thereof. But all rules made, notifications published, licences, passes or permits granted, powers conferred and other things done under any such enactment and now in force shall, so far as they are not inconsistent with this Act, be deemed to have been respectively made, published, granted, conferred or done under this Act.

[a] Substituted for "Second Schedule" by the Repealing and Amending Act, 1945 (6 [VI] of 1945), S. 3 and Schedule II. [16-4-1945].

Bar of suits and limitation of suits and other legal proceedings.

40. (1) No suit shall lie against the Central Government or against any officer of the Crown in respect of any order passed in good faith or any act in good faith done or ordered to be done under this Act.

(2) No suit, prosecution, or other legal proceeding shall be instituted for anything done or ordered to be done under this Act after the expiration of six months from the accrual of the cause of action or from the date of the act or order complained of.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

"The Religious Endowments Act, 1863 (XX of 1863), was the result of the decision of the Government to divest its officers of all direct superintendence and control of religious and charitable endowments in India, transferring their functions to manager or managing committees, and merely making provision for intervention by the Civil Courts on application made by any person interested in a particular institution. This policy, however, did not long remain unchallenged, and since 1866 there have been constant complaints, especially in the Madras Presidency, as to the inefficacy of the Act to prevent the squandering or misappropriation of the funds of such endowments, and suggestions for its amendment have from time to time been made to the Government of India. Mr. Ananda Charlu in 1897, Mr. Srinivasa Rao in 1903 and Dr. (now Sir) Rash Bihari Ghosh in 1908, for example, promoted amending Bills, but none of them became law. More recently in 1911, a private Bill was introduced in Bombay Legislative Council by the Hon'ble Sir Ibrahim Rahimtoola, to provide for the registration of all charitable trusts exceeding a certain value and for the annual audit of the accounts of such trusts by auditors approved by Government. Endowments of a purely religious nature were not included but the contents of the Bill made it clear that the ultimate object was to press for legislation for religious as well as secular trusts. About the same time a private Bill was promoted by two non-official members of the Madras Legislative Council to provide for the regular publication of the accounts of all religious endowments above a certain value and for their audit by an officer to be appointed by the District Judge. These proposals led the Government of India to reconsider the policy in force since 1863. In March 1914, the whole subject was discussed at a mixed conference of official and non-official gentlemen representing the Hindu, Muhammadan, Sikh and Buddhist communities. The present Bill, which is the outcome of the deliberations of that conference, has as its objects the simplification and cheapening of the legal processes by which persons interested can obtain information regarding the working of both religious and charitable trusts, and the exercise of a more efficient control over the action of trustees. The Bill provides that any person interested in a trust may apply by petition to the District Judge for an order directing the trustee to furnish him with information as to the nature and objects of the trust and of the value, condition, management and application of the subject-matter of the trust, and of the income belonging thereto, or as to any of these matters, and also directing that the accounts of the trust shall be examined and audited. Failure to comply with such an order of the Court would be deemed a breach of trust. In order, however, that such applications should not lead to protracted and contentious litigation, the Court is debarred from trying any question of title between the petitioner and any person claiming title to the trust, or any question as to the existence or extent of any trust. Under the Bill, it will be left to those interested to move in the matter; the initiative will not rest with Government, nor will anything be done where no one is sufficiently interested to take action. When the Court is moved the proceedings will be simple and expeditious; they will be held in the presence of all parties, and the order passed will be a judicial order of the Court. Further, in order to meet the objection that recourse to S. 14 of the Act of 1863 or S. 92 of the Code of Civil Procedure 1908, involves expensive litigation the Court is authorised, on the application of the plaintiff and after the defendant is heard, to direct the defendant either to furnish security for the expenditure incurred or likely to be incurred in bringing and maintaining the suit or to deposit in Court an amount sufficient to meet such expenditure.

It will be observed that the draft Bill only embodies general principles. It is intended that such details as the institution of some public record of the facts regarding these trusts, the publication of audited accounts, and the relaxation of some of the conditions governing committees constituted under the Act of 1863, e. g., the tenure of the membership of such committees, should be left to Provincial Legislatures."

COGNATE ACTS AND PROVISIONS

1. Charitable Endowments Act, VI of 1890.

2. Civil Procedure Code, S. 92.

THE CHARITABLE AND RELIGIOUS TRUSTS ACT, 1920.

(ACT XIV OF 1920.)^a

[20th March, 1920.]

An Act to provide more effectual control over the administration of Charitable and Religious Trusts.

WHEREAS it is expedient to provide facilities for the obtaining of information regarding trusts created for public purposes of a charitable or religious nature, and to enable the trustees of such trusts to obtain the directions of a Court on certain matters, and to make special provision for the payment of the expenditure incurred in certain suits against the trustees of such trusts; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

[a] For Report of Select Committee, see Gazette of India, 1920, Pt. V, p. 85, and for Proceedings in Council, see ibid., 1919, Pt. VI, p. 879, and ibid., 1920, Pt. VI, pp. 49 and 787.

The provisions of this Act, in so far as they are inconsistent with the provisions of the Bengal Wakf Act, 1934 (Ben. 13 [XIII] of 1934), do not apply to any Wakf property in Bengal: see that Act, S. 81.

Short title and extent.

1. (1) This Act may be called the CHARITABLE AND RELIGIOUS TRUSTS ACT, 1920.

(2) It extends^a to the whole of British India:

Provided that the ^b[Government of any Province] may, by notification in the ^c[Official Gazette] direct that this Act, or any specified part thereof, shall ^dnot extend to ^e[that Province or any specified area therein] or to any specified trust or class of trusts.

[a] This Act has been declared to be in force in the Khondmals District by the Khondmals Laws Regulation, 1936 (4 [IV] of 1936), S. 3 and Sch.; and in the Angul District by the Angul Laws Regulation, 1936 (5 [V] of 1936), S. 3 and Sch. [b] Substituted by A. O. for "Governor-General in Council". [c] Substituted by A. O. for "Gazette of India". [d] For notification directing that this Act shall not extend to the N.-W. F. P., see General Rules and Orders, Vol. IV, p. 563. [e] Substituted by A. O. for "any specified Province or area".

Preamble — Note 1

[1] This Act is intended to provide more effectual control over the administration of charitable and religious trusts. (Vol 14) 1927 Pat. 189 (190).

[2] The Charitable and Religious Trusts Act of 1920 applies only to trusts of a charitable and religious nature and not to private trusts. (Vol 30) 1943 Pat. 135 (137): 21 Pat. 815.

Section 1 — Note 1

[1] "We have added a proviso to sub-clause (2) of clause 1 which will enable any Province or a part of a Province to be excluded from the operation of the Act if it is found to be unsuited to special local conditions. As it appears that there are certain trusts within the scope of the Act which are subject to a satisfactory system of management and control, we have at the same time provided that the operation of the Act may be barred in the case of any particular trust or class of trusts."—Select Committee Report.

[2] The provisions of this Act are not repealed by the Madras Religious Endowments Act (2 [II] of 1927). (Vol 22) 1935 Mad 56 (56).

[3] The Charitable and Religious Trusts Act was passed earlier than Mussalman Wakf Act of 1923 and is applicable to persons of all creed, unlike the latter Act. The Act is not to be interpreted in the light of the Mussalman Wakf Act. (Vol 24) 1937 All 786 (789): I L R (1938) All I.

[4] The mere fact that this Act and the Mussalman Wakf Act, 1923, contain substantial provisions overlapping each other can in no way derogate from the provisions of this Act. Nor are the two Acts mutually exclusive or superfluous. (Vol 24) 1937 All 786 (789): I L R (1938) All I.

[5] Provisions under this Act are wider than those of the Mussalman Wakf Act, 1923. (Vol 31) 1944 Nag 190 (191): I L R (1944) Nag 775.

[6] Whereas the Mussalman Wakf Act, 1923, deals with a trust by a Muhammadan whatever its purpose, public or private or partly public and partly private, the Charitable and Religious Trusts Act, 1920, covers such trusts as are created or exist for a public purpose only. (Vol 16) 1929 Oudh 225 (228): 4 Luck 429 (F B).

2. In this Act, unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context, "the Court" Interpretation. means the Court of the District Judge ^a[or any other Court empowered in that behalf by the ^b[Provincial Government]] and includes the High Court in the exercise of its ordinary original civil jurisdiction.

[a] Inserted by the Charitable and Religious Trusts (Amendment) Act, 1923 (41 [XLI] of 1923), S. 2.

[b] Substituted by A. O. for "Local Government".

3. Save as hereinafter provided in this Act, any person having an interest in any express or constructive trust created or existing for a public purpose of a charitable or religious nature may apply by petition to the Court within the local limits of whose jurisdiction any substantial part of the subject-matter of the trust is situate to obtain an order embodying all or any of the following directions, namely :—

(1) directing the trustee to furnish the petitioner through the Court with particulars as to the nature and objects of the trust, and of the value, condition, management and application of the subject-matter of the trust, and of the income belonging thereto, or as to any of these matters, and

(2) directing that the accounts of the trust shall be examined and audited :

Provided that no person shall apply for any such direction in respect of accounts relating to a period more than three years prior to the date of the petition.

Section 2 — Note 1.

[1] Under this Act District Judge acts as a Court of law and not as a "persona designata" : District Judge's Court is a Court subordinate to the High Court. (Vol 16) 1929 All 581 (588) : 51 All 957.

9. Proviso.
10. "Public purpose."
11. Res judicata. — See Section 5.

1. Appeal or revision. — See Section 12.

2. Applicability and scope. — [1] A trust partly for public and charitable purposes and partly for private purposes falls under the Act and S. 3 can be applied to it. (Vol 23) 1936 All 411 (412) ; (Vol 24) 1937 All 786 (789) : I L R (1938) All 1 ; (Vol 24) 1937 Cal 313 (314). (Under a wakf certain properties were dedicated for the benefit of the heirs of the wakif and others were dedicated in the name of god in order that poor relations and helpless widows in the neighbourhood may get something : Held S. 3 would apply to the wakf.)

[See however (Vol 16) 1929 Oudh 225 (229) : 4 Luck 429 (F. B.). (The Act of 1920 applies to those cases where the benefit under the entire "wakf" or trust is allotted for public purposes.)]

[2] Trust (Wakf) partly private and partly public — Interested person can apply under S. 4, Mussalman Wakf Act, 1923, and not under S. 3, Charitable and Religious Trusts Act. (Vol 16) 1929 Oudh 225 (229) : 4 Luck 429 (F B).

[3] Land given to a Mahant and his heirs as occupancy tenants under a settlement decree without a right of transfer with condition that the grant to last so long as temple would be in existence — No condition of income being devoted to expenses of the temple — Grant is not for temple but is personal — Land covered by settlement decree is not wakf property — This Act does not apply. (Vol 15) 1928 Oudh 241 (244-246) : 3 Luck 392.

[4] Remedy of a mutwalli against a person claiming adversely to trust is to sue for ejectment. He cannot apply under the Act. (Vol 31) 1944 Nag 190 (191) : I L R (1944) Nag 775.

3. Essentials of trust. — [1] The term "trust" as used in S. 3 must be taken in a wider sense than the strict meaning of it under English law and must be deemed to include wakfs created for public purposes of a charitable or religious nature. (Vol 18) 1931 Pat 354 (355) : 10 Pat 506.

[2] The trust to which the Act applies need not be an express trust. The Act applies also to a trust which on the construction of the deed may be held to be created for a public purpose of a charitable or religious nature. (Vol 23) 1936 All 411 (412).

[3] Per Wazir Hasan J. — The essence of a trust for a public or a religious purpose lies in its characteristic of permanency. So where a tenure can come to an end on default or even on the volition of the trustee the possibility of such a trust cannot be conceived. (Vol 15) 1928 Oudh 241 (246) : 3 Luck 392.

[4] To constitute a trust "created or existing for a public purpose of a charitable or religious nature" the author or authors of the trust must be ascertained, and the intention to create a trust must be indicated by words or acts with reasonable certainty. Moreover, the purpose of the trust, the trust property and the beneficiaries must be indicated so as to enable the Court to administer the trust if required. (Vol 25) 1938 P C 195 (198) : 65 Ind App 252 : I L R (1938) Lah 453 : 32 Sind L R 821 (P C) ; (Vol 22) 1935 P C 97 (102) : 62 Ind App 146 : 57 All 330 (P C).

[5] The substance of a trust must be looked into to determine its character. Therefore, where a trust is in substance a public one the fact that a part of the income has been allotted for a private purpose cannot alter its character. Similarly, where it is private the fact that a negligible portion of the income is dedicated to public purposes cannot make it a public trust. (Vol 24) 1937 All 786 (789) : I L R (1938) All 1.

Proof. — [6] Before a private grant can be treated as public endowment very strong evidence is necessary to prove it. Unfettered and unrestricted user by the public must be proved. (Vol 17) 1930 Oudh 96 (106).

[7] If the public were concerned in the election of a new mahant it would be evidence that the public were intimately concerned with the trust and would suggest that the trust was for public purposes. (Vol 30) 1943 Pat 135 (141) : 21 Pat 815.

4. (1) The petition shall show in what way the petitioner claims to be interested in the trust, Contents and verification of petition. and shall specify, as far as may be, the particulars and the audit which he seeks to obtain.

(2) The petition shall be in writing and shall be signed and verified in the manner prescribed by the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, for signing and verifying plaints.

5. (1) If the Court on receipt of a petition under section 3, after taking such evidence and Procedure on petition. making such inquiry, if any, as it may consider necessary, is of opinion that the trust to which the petition relates is a trust to which this Act applies, and that the petitioner has an interest therein, it shall fix a date for the hearing of the petition, and shall cause a copy thereof, together with notice of the date so fixed, to be served on the trustee and upon any other person to whom in its opinion notice of the petition should be given.

Section 3 (contd.)

[8] The public nature of a trust must not be too readily inferred from the fact that worship by the public has not been interfered with or discouraged and offerings by the public even accepted. But that is also one of the factors to be considered. (Vol 30) 1943 Pat 135 (141): 21 Pat 815

[9] To constitute a valid public trust or endowment there must be proof of a grant with the intention that profits should be utilised for the services of the idol, and that the members of the family of the founder had not treated the property as their own personal property. (Vol 22) 1935 Oudh 96 (103, 104).

[10] There is nothing in the word 'Bishnuprit' to indicate that the property referred to as such is gifted to the idol for public purposes. (Vol 30) 1943 Pat 135 (139): 21 Pat 815.

[11] Performance of the ceremony known as 'prasad utarga' betokens the relinquishment of private property rights of the founder of the endowment and the dedication of the property to the idol in whose favour the property is given up. (Vol 22) 1935 Oudh 96 (106).

[12] By mere acquisition by a mahant, a property does not lose its secular character and assume a religious character. The descent from guru to chela does not warrant the presumption that it is religious property. (Vol 30) 1943 Pat 135 (138): 21 Pat 815.

4. "Examined and audited."—[1] Under S. 3 cl. (2), the Court is enabled to direct the examination and audit of the accounts in whosever's hands the funds or the properties may be. (Vol 25) 1938 Pat 280 (281).

5. Jurisdiction of Court.—[1] The existence of a public trust is the foundation for all proceedings authorized by S. 3 of the Act. (Vol 27) 1940 P C 7 (9): 67 Ind App 1: 15 Luck 1: 1 I L R (1940) Kar P C 25 (P C).

[2] The District Judge has jurisdiction in respect of a wakf the bulk of the income of which is devoted to public and charitable purposes. (Vol 18) 1931 Pat 354 (356): 10 Pat 506.

[3] Mere denial of trust by a non-applicant or the setting up of an adverse title cannot oust the jurisdiction of the Court. (Vol 31) 1944 Nag 190 (191): 1 I L R (1944) Nag 775.

[4] The Madras Hindu Religious Endowments Act of 1927 does not oust the jurisdiction of the District Judge to take action under this Act in respect of a religious endowment. The failure of the Hindu Religious Endowments Board is a good reason for his taking action (Vol 22) 1935 Mad 56 (56).

6 Nature of proceeding.—See section 5.

7. "Person having an interest."—[1] "We have considered a number of suggestions that the word 'interest' in this clause should be defined, but as the expression is not defined in section 92 of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, to which this Bill is merely ancillary, we have decided not to attempt a definition."—Select Committee Report.

[2] The words "having an interest in trust" must in each case depend upon the nature of the trust. (Vol 15) 1928 All 758 (759): 50 All 880.

[3] Members of the general public who worship at religious institutions are interested in the public trust for purposes of the Act. (Vol 21) 1934 Lah 949 (958).

[4] Secretary of another public institution is, as such and as one entitled to stay in Dharmasala, created by trust, interested in such trust (Vol 15) 1928 All 758 (759): 50 All 880.

8. Proper party.—See section 5.

9. Proviso.—[1] "We consider that no claim for accounts should be allowed to relate back for more than three years from the date of the presentation of the petition and have provided accordingly."—Select Committee Report.

10. "Public purpose."—[1] The substance of the trust and primary intention of creator must be seen. (Vol 16) 1929 Oudh 225 (228): 4 Luck 429.

[2] Benefit of specified person or class of persons such as kindreds, dependants and others is not a public purpose. (Vol 16) 1929 Oudh 225 (227): 4 Luck 429.

[3] A gift which benefits only a small section of the public may be a public trust. (Vol 30) 1943 Pat 135 (140): 21 Pat 815.

[4] Where a substantial portion of the profits of the endowed property is earmarked for the support of relations of settlor and remaining portion for public of Shia community, the wakf is not wholly for public purposes. (Vol 17) 1930 Oudh 53 (54).

[5] A trust providing for "sadabarat" and for contribution towards marriages and education of Brahmin children is a public trust though the deity to which the property was endowed may be installed in a private temple which is open to public. (Vol 16) 1929 Pat 723 (725).

[6] Dedication of property to idol is a trust of religious nature which this Act is intended to cover. (Vol 23) 1941 Nag 317 (319): 1 I L R (1942) Nag 469.

[7] A mosque built with public subscriptions and used by Muhammadan public for offering prayers was held a "religious trust" within the meaning of S. 3. (Vol 23) 1936 Lah 695 (696): 17 Lah 768.

[8] Where a grant by the disciple is described as 'Gurudakshina' and the grant is to be held by the grantee generation after generation, the gift is to the Mahant personally. (Vol 30) 1943 Pat 135 (139): 21 Pat 815.

11. Res judicata.—See Section 5.

Section 5 — Note 1

Death of trustee—[1] Cause of action against trustee terminates on his death and does not survive against his widow or daughter. (Vol 31) 1944 Nag 190 (192): 1 I L R (1944) Nag 775.

Further inquiries.—[2] Before passing an order under S. 5 the Court to which an application is presented under S. 3 must determine whether there is a trust to which the Act applies and also whether the petitioner is a person interested in the trust. It cannot

(2) On the date fixed for the hearing of the petition, or on any subsequent date to which the hearing may be adjourned, the Court shall proceed to hear the petitioner and the trustee, if he appears, and any other person who has appeared in consequence of the notice, or who it considers ought to be heard, and shall make such further inquiries, if any, as it thinks fit. The trustee may and, if so required by the Court, shall, at the time of the first hearing or within such time as the Court may permit, present a written statement of his case. If he does present a written statement, the statement shall be signed and verified in the manner prescribed by the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, for signing and verifying pleadings.

(3) If any person appears at the hearing of the petition and either denies the existence of the trust or denies that it is a trust to which this Act applies, and undertakes to institute within three months a suit for a declaration to that effect and for any other appropriate relief, the Court shall order a stay of the proceedings and, if such suit is so instituted, shall continue the stay, until the suit is finally decided.

(4) If no such undertaking is given, or if after the expiry of the three months no such suit has been instituted, the Court shall itself decide the question.

(5) On completion of the inquiry provided for in sub-section (2), the Court shall either dismiss the petition or pass thereon such other order as it thinks fit :

Provided that, where a suit has been instituted in accordance with the provisions of sub-section (3), no order shall be passed by the Court which conflicts with the final decision therein.

(6) Save as provided in this section, the Court shall not try or determine any question of title between the petitioner and any person claiming title adversely to the trust.

6. If a trustee without reasonable excuse fails to comply with an order made under sub-section (5) of section 5, such trustee shall, without prejudice to any other penalty or liability which he may incur under any law for the time being in force, be deemed to have committed a breach of trust affording ground for a suit under the provisions of section 92 of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908; and any such suit may, so far as it is based on such failure, be instituted without the previous consent of the Advocate-General.

Section 5 (contd.)

pass an order without enquiry. (1934) 1934 M W N 205 (206).

[3] Where on an application the other party objects on the ground that recourse to the Act was barred by an award in arbitration, the District Judge has jurisdiction to decide whether the trust was one to which the Act applies. (Vol 29) 1942 Oudh 387 (387).

"If no such undertaking is given." — [4] Where no undertaking required by S. 5 (3) is given, the District Judge himself can decide whether the trust is one to which the Act applies. (Vol 25) 1938 Oudh 262 (262,263).

Nature of proceeding. — [5] The decision of the Court under this Act, a decision from which by S. 12 there is no appeal, is a decision in a summary proceeding which is not a suit nor of the same character as a suit. (Vol 27) 1940 P C 7 (9) : 67 Ind App 1 : 15 Luck 1 : I L R (1940) Kar P C 25 (P C). (Doctrine of res judicata does not apply); (Vol 31) 1944 Nag 190 (191) : I L R (1944) Nag 775.

Proper party. — [6] Application under S. 3 — All the trustees of a temple should be made parties and given notice. (Vol 12) 1925 Mad 135 (136).

[7] A person who has claims adverse to the trust and who is not liable under S. 3 is not proper party. (Vol 12) 1925 Cal 537 (538).

"Question of title." — [8] The Court while deciding the question as to the existence of the trust cannot try or determine any question of title as between the petitioner and any person claiming adverse to the trust. (Vol 21) 1934 Bom 343 (344) : 58 Bom 623.

Res judicata. — [9] A person aggrieved with an order passed under this Act holding a trust as public can institute a separate suit to have it declared otherwise. The order passed being one in a summary proceeding does not operate as res judicata even though he was a party to the proceedings. (Vol 27) 1940 P C 7 (9) : 67 Ind App 1 : 15 Luck 1 : I L R (1940) Kar P C 25 (P C); (Vol 16) 1929 All 506 (508) : 51 All 805; (Per Niamatullah J.); (Vol 21) 1934 Bom 343 (345) : 58 Bom 623; (Vol 21) 1934 Lah 771 (773) : 16 Lah 85; (Vol 31) 1944 Nag 190 (191) : I L R (1944) Nag 775; (Vol 22) 1935 Oudh 96 (106).

Suit for declaration. — [10] In a suit by a trustee under S. 5 (3) of the Act that the trust is not a public trust and the Act does not apply thereto, the onus is on the party who alleges that the property is trust property held for public purpose. (Vol 30) 1943 Pat 135 (137) : 21 Pat 815.

[11] As to whether an appeal or revision lies from an order passed under this section, see section 12.

Section 6 — Note 1

[1] Under S. 6 once the breach is committed by disobedience of orders to produce accounts a suit under S. 92, Civil P. C., can be filed without sanction from the Advocate-General. (Vol 20) 1933 Mad 854 (854, 855) : 57 Mad 153.

[2] Once a breach of trust has been committed by a trustee by his refusal to produce the accounts, any person (who need not be the person who obtained permission from the Court) can institute the suit under S. 92, Civil P. C., though he may not be interested in the trust. (Vol 20) 1933 Mad 854 (854) : 57 Mad 153.

[3] A suit under S. 92, Civil P. C., for a breach of trust under S. 6 of this Act, can be prosecuted by the remaining plaintiffs though some of the plaintiffs happen to drop out and even though they happen to be the persons who obtained the permission to file the suit. (Vol 20) 1933 Mad 854 (855) : 57 Mad 153.

[4] In a suit under S. 92, Civil P. C., for breach of trust by virtue of S. 6, the reliefs claimed must be con-

7. (1) Save as hereinafter provided in this Act, any trustee of an express or constructive trust created or existing for public purpose of a charitable or religious nature Powers of trustee to apply for directions. may apply by petition to the Court, within the local limits of whose jurisdiction any substantial part of the subject-matter of the trust is situate, for the opinion, advice or direction of the Court on any question affecting the management or administration of the trust property, and the Court shall give its opinion, advice or direction, as the case may be, thereon :

Provided that the Court shall not be bound to give such opinion, advice or direction on any question which it considers to be a question not proper for summary disposal.

(2) The Court on a petition under sub-section (1), may either give its opinion, advice or direction thereon forthwith, or fix a date for the hearing of the petition, and may direct a copy thereof, together with notice of the date so fixed, to be served on such of the persons interested in the trust, or to be published for information in such manner, as it thinks fit.

(3) On any date fixed under sub-section (2) or on any subsequent date to which the hearing may be adjourned, the Court, before giving any opinion, advice or direction, shall afford a reasonable opportunity of being heard to all persons appearing in connection with the petition.

(4) A trustee stating in good faith the facts of any matter relating to the trust in a petition under sub-section (1), and acting upon the opinion, advice or direction of the Court given thereon, shall be deemed, as far as his own responsibility is concerned, to have discharged his duty as such trustee in the matter in respect of which the petition was made.

8. The costs, charges and expenses of and incidental to any petition, and all proceedings in connection therewith, under the foregoing provisions of this Act, shall be in the Costs of petition under this Act. discretion of the Court, which may direct the whole or any part of any such costs, charges and expenses to be met from the property or income of the trust in respect of which the petition is made, or to be borne and paid in such manner and by such persons as it thinks fit :

Provided that no such order shall be made against any person (other than the petitioner) who has not received notice of the petition and had a reasonable opportunity of being heard thereon.

9. No petition under the foregoing provisions of this Act in relation to any trust shall be Savings. entertained in any of the following circumstances, namely :—

(a) if a suit instituted in accordance with the provisions of section 92 of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, is pending in respect of the trust in question ;

- (c) if a scheme for the administration of the trust property has been settled or approved by any Court of competent jurisdiction, or by any other authority acting under the provisions of any enactment.

10. (1) In any suit instituted under section 14 of the Religious Endowments Act, 1863, or Power of Courts as to costs under section 92 of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, the Court in certain suits against trustees of charitable and religious trusts. trying such suit may, if, on application of the plaintiff and after hearing the defendant and making such inquiry as it thinks fit, it is satisfied that such an order is necessary in the public interest, direct the defendant either to furnish security for any expenditure incurred or likely to be incurred by the plaintiff in instituting and maintaining such suit, or to deposit from any money in his hands as trustees of the trust to which the suit relates such sum as such Court considers sufficient to meet such expenditure in whole or in part.

(2) When any money has been deposited in accordance with an order made under subsection (1), the Court may make over to the plaintiff the whole or any part of such sum for the conduct of the suit. Before making over any sum to the plaintiff, the Court shall take security from the plaintiff for the refund of the same in the event of such refund being subsequently ordered by the Court.

Provisions of the Code of Civil Procedure to apply. 11. (1) The provisions of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, relating to —

- (a) the proof of facts by affidavit,
- (b) the enforcing of the attendance of any person and his examination on oath,
- (c) the enforcing of the production of documents, and
- (d) the issuing of commissions, shall apply to all proceedings under this Act, and the provisions relating to the service of summonses shall apply to the service of notices thereunder.

(2) The provisions of the said Code relating to the execution of decrees shall, so far as they are applicable, apply to the execution of orders under this Act.

12. No appeal shall lie from any order passed or against any opinion, advice or direction Barring of appeals. given under this Act.

PROVINCIAL AMENDMENT.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

"On many occasions the want has been felt in India of an official capable of discharging the functions which are discharged in England by the Official Trustees of Charity Lands and the Official Trustees of Charitable Funds. The object of this Bill is to meet that want.

2. Much property has from time to time in different parts of India been vested by founders in public servants, such as the Collector, Director of Public Instruction, Accountant-General and Divisional Commissioner. With respect to a case in which an Accountant-General and a Divisional Commissioner had been named as trustees, the Officiating Advocate-General of Bengal and the Officiating Standing-Counsel stated in a joint opinion in 1885 that persons cannot, as holders of certain posts, be appointed trustees "unless these posts are corporate ones". "Neither the office of the Accountant-General nor that of the Commissioner," they observed, "is a corporate office; and even if appointed by the designation of their office only, and not by name, the trust-fund would vest in them as individuals, and they would remain trustees until they themselves appointed others to succeed them or until they died."

3. There is a difficulty in India in finding any corporation capable of acting as a trustee in such cases as this Bill is designed to meet. The Secretary of State for India in Council and the Governor-General in Council are incapable of being trustees (L. R. 15 Ch. D. 9). It has also been held that Anglican Bishops and Archdeacons in India, who have been constituted by Letters Patent to be perpetual corporations, with power to take and hold property under grant or licence from the Crown, are not capable of acting as trustees in some of the cases for which this Bill is intended to provide. To the question whether the Lord Bishop of Calcutta in his corporate capacity might not, under the Letters Patent for the Bishopric of Calcutta, bearing date the 14th May 1814, hold land upon trust for a Diocesan School so that, upon his ceasing to be Bishop, it would devolve without a deed upon his successor in the Bishopric, an eminent counsel in England, to whom the question was referred, has replied in the negative. "It is quite true," he remarks, "that the Bishop is a corporation sole, and in that capacity can hold the lands belonging to his See. He may, however, only hold such lands as by grant or licence from the Company (Now Her Majesty) he is authorized to take, hold and enjoy. I think it is clear that the Letters Patent only refer to lands belonging to, or purchased out of moneys belonging to, the Bishopric. . . . on the whole. I am of opinion that, if the land in question was conveyed to the Bishop as a trustee, it would pass on his death not to his successor but to his executors."

4. The Bill, it will be observed, is of a purely permissive character. The Government will be unable to make a vesting order or frame a scheme except on application for that purpose, and may, if it sees fit, refuse to act. The corporation sole in whom as Treasurer of Charitable Endowments property may be vested is, except as regards the disposal of any property by direction of the Government, to have nothing to do with the administration of the property. He is to be a bare trustee, the object of vesting the property in him by his name of office as a corporation sole being to secure the holding of the property by some one always present, and to avoid the difficulty and expense of appointing a new trustee on the retirement or death of any incumbent of the trust."

COGNATE ACTS AND PROVISIONS.

1. CHARITABLE AND RELIGIOUS TRUSTS ACT, XIV OF 1920.

THE CHARITABLE ENDOWMENTS ACT, 1890

(ACT VI OF 1890)^a

[7th March, 1890.]

An Act to provide for the Vesting and Administration of Property held in trust for charitable purposes.

WHEREAS it is expedient to provide for the vesting and administration of property held in trust for charitable purposes ; It is hereby enacted as follows :—

[a] For Report of the Select Committee, see Gazette of India, 1890, p. 65 ; and for Proceedings in Council, see ibid., 1889, Pt. VI, pp. 117 and 190, and ibid., 1890, Pt. VI, p. 37.

This Act has been declared to be in force in the Sonthal Parganas by the Sonthal Parganas Settlement Regulation (3 [III] of 1872), S. 3 ; in the Khondmals District by the Khondmals Laws Regulation, 1936 (4 [IV] of 1936), S. 3 and Sch. ; and in the Angul District by the Angul Laws Regulation, 1936 (5 [V] of 1936), S. 3 and Sch.

This Act has been amended in its application to Bengal by the Bengal Wakf Act, 1934 (Ben. 13 [XIII] of 1934).

Title, extent and commencement. 1. (1) This Act may be called the CHARITABLE ENDOWMENTS ACT, 1890.

(2) It extends to the whole of British India, inclusive of ^a[* * * *] British Baluchistan ; and

(3) It shall come into force on the first day of October, 1890.

[a] The words "Upper Burma and" were repealed by the Burma Laws Act, 1898 (13 [XIII] of 1898), S. 18 and Sch. V.

2. In this Act "charitable purpose" includes relief of the poor, education, medical relief and Definition. the advancement of any other object of general public utility, but does not include a purpose which relates exclusively to religious teaching or worship.

3. ^a[(1) The Central Government may appoint an officer of the Government by the name of Appointment and incorporation of Treasurer of Charitable Endowments. his office to be Treasurer of Charitable Endowments for India, and the Government of any Province may appoint an officer of the Government by the name of his office to be Treasurer of Charitable Endowments for the Province.]

(2) Such Treasurer shall, for the purposes of taking, holding and transferring moveable or immoveable property under the authority of this Act, be a corporation sole by the name of the Treasurer of Charitable Endowments for ^b[India or, as the case may be, the Province], and, as such Treasurer, shall have perpetual succession and a corporate seal, and may sue and be sued in his corporate name.

[a] Substituted by A. O. for the original sub-section (1). [b] Substituted by A. O. for "the territories subject to the Local Government".

^a[3A. In the subsequent provisions of this Act, "the appropriate Government" means, as Definition of "appropriate Government," etc. respects a charitable endowment, the objects of which do not extend beyond a single Province and are not objects to which the executive authority of the Central Government extends, the Government of the Province, and as respects any other charitable endowment the Central Government.]

[a] Inserted by A. O.

4. (1) Where any property is held or is to be applied in trust for a charitable purpose, the Orders vesting property in Treasurer. ^a[appropriate Government], if it thinks fit, may, on application made as hereinafter mentioned, and subject to the other provisions of this section, order, by ^bnotification in the Official Gazette, that the property be vested in the Treasurer of Charitable Endowments on such terms as to the application of the property or the income thereof as may be agreed on between the ^a[appropriate Government] and the person or persons making the application, and the property shall thereupon so vest accordingly.

(2) When any property has vested under this section in a Treasurer of Charitable Endowments, he is entitled to all documents of title relating thereto.

^c[* * * * *]

(4) An order under this section vesting property in a Treasurer of Charitable Endowments shall not require or be deemed to require him to administer the property, or impose or be deemed to impose upon him the duty of a trustee with respect to the administration thereof.

Section 4 — Note 1

[a] Substituted by A. O. for "Local Government". [b] For notifications issued under this section in conjunction with S. 5, see different local Rules and Orders. [c] Sub-section (3) was repealed by A. O.

5. (1) On application made as hereinafter mentioned, and with the concurrence of the person or persons making the application, the ^{Schemes for administration of property vested in the Treasurer.} [appropriate Government], if it thinks fit, may settle a scheme for the administration of any property which has been or is to be vested in the Treasurer of Charitable Endowments, and may in such scheme appoint, by name or office, a person or persons, not being or including such Treasurer, to administer the property.

(2) On application made as hereinafter mentioned, and with the concurrence of the person or persons making the application, the [appropriate Government] may, if it thinks fit, modify any scheme settled under this section or substitute another scheme in its stead.

(3) A scheme settled, modified or substituted under this section shall, subject to the other provisions of this section, come into operation on a day to be appointed by the [appropriate Government] in this behalf, and shall remain in force so long as the property to which it relates continues to be vested in the Treasurer of Charitable Endowments or until it has been modified or another such scheme has been substituted in its stead.

(4) Such a scheme, when it comes into operation, shall supersede any decree or direction relating to the subject-matter thereof in so far as such decree or direction is in any way repugnant thereto, and its validity shall not be questioned in any Court, nor shall any Court give, in contravention of the provisions of the scheme or in any way contrary or in addition thereto, a decree or direction regarding the administration of the property to which the scheme relates:

^b[Provided that nothing in this sub-section shall be construed as precluding a Court from inquiring whether the Government by which a scheme was made was the appropriate Government.]

(5) In the settlement of such a scheme effect shall be given to the wishes of the author of the trust so far as they can be ascertained, and, in the opinion of the [appropriate Government], effect can reasonably be given to them.

(6) Where a scheme has been settled under this section for the administration of property not already vested in the Treasurer of Charitable Endowments, it shall not come into operation until the property has become so vested.

[a] Substituted by A. O. for "Local Government". [b] Inserted by A. O.

PROVINCIAL AMENDMENT.

Bengal. — To section 5 the following proviso shall be added, namely:—

"Provided that the powers of the Provincial Government under this section for the settlement, modification or substitution of a scheme for the administration of any property shall, in respect of any wakf property in Bengal, be exercised, subject to the approval of the Provincial Government, by the Board of Wakfs appointed under the Bengal Wakf Act, 1934."

— Bengal Act 13 [XIII] of 1934, S. 79.

Mode of applying for vesting orders and schemes.

6. (1) The application referred to in the two last foregoing sections must be made,—

(a) if the property is already held in trust for a charitable purpose, then by the person acting in the administration of the trust, or, where there are more persons than one so acting, then by those persons or a majority of them; and

(b) if the property is to be applied in trust for such a purpose, then by the person or persons proposing so to apply it.

(2) For the purposes of this section the executor or administrator of a deceased trustee of property held in trust for a charitable purpose shall be deemed to be a person acting in the administration of the trust.

PROVINCIAL AMENDMENT.

Bengal. — After section 6 the following sub-section shall be added, namely:—

"(3) An application for the vesting of any property of the nature specified in sub-section (3) of section 4 may, notwithstanding anything contained in this section, be made by the Commissioner of Wakfs appointed under the Bengal Wakf Act, 1934, where such property is under the administration of an official mutwalli or of a mutwalli appointed under section 40 of that Act."

— Bengal Act 13 [XIII] of 1934, S. 80.

Section 5 — Note 1

[1] "We have provided more fully here for the ap- sion and protection of schemes settled under the pointment of administrating trustees, and the revi- section."—Select Committee Report.

7. [Exercise by Governor-General in Council of powers of Local Government.] Repealed by A. O.

8. (1) Subject to the provisions of this Act, a Treasurer of Charitable Endowments shall not, Bare trusteeship as such Treasurer, act in the administration of any trust whereof any of the property is for the time being vested in him under this Act.

(2) Such Treasurer shall keep a separate account of each property for the time being so vested in so far as the property consists of securities for money, and shall apply the property or the income thereof in accordance with the provision made in that behalf in the vesting order under section 4 or in the scheme, if any, under section 5, or in both those documents.

(3) In the case of any property so vested other than securities for money, such Treasurer shall, subject to any special order which he may receive from the authority by whose order the property became vested in him, permit the persons acting in the administration of the trust to have the possession, management and control of the property, and the application of the income thereof, as if the property had been vested in them.

9. A Treasurer of Charitable Endowments shall cause to be published annually in the ^a[Official Gazette], at such time as the ^b[appropriate Government] may direct, a list of all properties for the time being vested in him under this Act and an abstract of all accounts kept by him under sub-section (2) of the last foregoing section.

[a] Substituted by A. O. for "local official Gazette". [b] Substituted by A. O. for "Local Government".

10. (1) A Treasurer of Charitable Endowments shall always be a sole trustee, and shall not, Limitation of functions and powers of Treasurer. as such Treasurer, take or hold any property otherwise than under the provisions of this Act, or subject to those provisions, transfer any property vested in him except in obedience to a decree divesting him of the property, or in compliance with a direction in that behalf issuing from the authority by whose order the property became vested in him.

(2) Such a direction may require the Treasurer to sell or otherwise dispose of any property vested in him, and, with the sanction of the authority issuing the direction, to invest the proceeds of the sale or other disposal of the property in any such security for money as is ^a[specified in the direction], or in the purchase of immoveable property.

(3) When a Treasurer of Charitable Endowments is divested, by a direction of ^b[the appropriate Government] under this section, of any property, it shall vest in the person or persons acting in the administration thereof and be held by him or them on the same trusts as those on which it was held by such Treasurer.

[a] Substituted by A. O. for "mentioned in section 4, sub-section (3), clause (a), (b), (c), (d) or (e)". [b] Substituted by A. O. for "the Local Government or the Governor-General in Council".

11. If the office held by an officer of the Government who has been appointed to be a Treasurer of Charitable Endowments is abolished or its name is changed, the ^a[appropriate Government] may appoint the same or another officer of the Government by the name of his office to be such Treasurer, and thereupon the holder of the latter office shall be deemed for the purposes of this Act to be the successor in office of the holder of the former office.

[a] Substituted by A. O. for "Local Government" which had been substituted for "Governor-General in Council" by the Devolution Act, 1920 (38 [XXXVIII] of 1920), S. 2 and Sch. I.

^a[12. If by reason of any alteration of areas or by reason of the appointment of a Treasurer of Charitable Endowments for India or for any Province for which such a Treasurer has not previously been appointed or for any other reason it appears to the Central Government that any property vested in a Treasurer of Charitable Endowments should be vested in another such Treasurer, that Government may direct that the property shall be so vested and thereupon it shall vest in that other Treasurer and his successors as fully and effectually for the purposes of this Act as if it had been originally vested in him under this Act.]

Definitions. 2. In this Act, unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context,—

(a) "child" means a person who, if a male, is under eighteen years of age, and if a female, is under fourteen years of age ;

(b) "child marriage" means a marriage to which either of the contracting parties is a child;

(c) "contracting party" to a marriage means either of the parties whose marriage is^a [or is about to be] thereby solemnised; and

(d) "minor" means a person of either sex who is under eighteen years of age.

[a] Inserted by the Child Marriage Restraint (Second Amendment) Act, 1938 (19 [XIX] of 1938), S. 2. [9-4-1938].

The Child Marriage Restraint Act

Preamble — Note 1

[1] This Act aims at the restraint of performance of certain marriages. The question of validity of the marriages is beyond the scope of this Act. (Vol 23) 1936 All 11 (12) : 36 Cri L Jour 1483 : 58 All 402; (Vol 26) 1939 All 340 (340); (Vol 23) 1936 All 852 (853) : 38 Cri L Jour 301.

[2] An intention to give a child in marriage in contravention of this Act is an "unlawful purpose" within the meaning of S. 361, Penal Code. (Vol 20) 1933 Rang 98 (100) : 11 Rang 213 : 34 Cri L Jour 696 (F B).

[3] Though this Act does not mention the offence of abetting, yet there can be a prosecution under the provisions of the Penal Code for abetting an offence under this Act. (Vol 22) 1935 Pat 474 (475) : 37 Cri L Jour 227.

[4] Husband's obtaining possession of wife below 14 years is against policy of this Act. His right to possession may be enforced by recourse to the Court but not by use of force. (Vol 22) 1935 All 916 (917) : 37 Cri L Jour 35.

[5] There is no rule of Hindu law sanctioning early marriage. Sanction by usage also is disapproved by the Act. (1937) 1 L R (1937) 2 Cal 764 (766).

[6] Where mother of a Rajput girl of seven, bridegroom and priest were convicted under Ss. 6, 4 and 5, respectively and in revision it was urged that this Act was ultra vires as previous sanction of the Governor-General in Council was not given to the Bill as passed, it was held that the contracting parties being Hindus came within the scope of the original Bill; and that changes made by the Select Committee did not render inadequate the "previous sanction" accorded. (Vol 20) 1933 Pat 471 (472) : 35 Cri L Jour 20.

[7] In a case under this Act the Court should not apply strictly the principles with regard to setting aside of acquittals. It should derogate from the usual practice of not setting aside acquittals except in exceptional cases. (Vol 22) 1935 Pat 474 (476) : 37 Cri L Jour 227.

Section 1 — Note 1

[1] Clauses (a) and (b) were added to sub-s. (2) by Act 7 [VII] of 1938. This addition has the effect of making this Act applicable to the persons mentioned therein irrespective of the place where the marriage is celebrated. There was a conflict of decisions as to the applicability of this Act in such a case prior to the above amendment for which see the following cases : (Vol 24) 1937 Mad 273 (274) : 38 Cri L Jour 587. (Act applies to marriages celebrated outside British India.); (Vol 25) 1938 Nag 235 (237) : 39 Cri L Jour 651: ILR (1939) Nag 241. (Solemnization of a child marriage outside British India is not an offence.); (Vol 22) 1935 Bom 437 (438) : 37 Cri L Jour 211 : 59 Bom 745. (Marriage of a minor contracted outside British India does not give rise to an offence.)

[2] Minor's estate in hands of Receiver—Marriage in contravention of Act to be performed at place where it is not prohibited.—Court cannot sanction expenditure. (Vol 24) 1937 Cal 257 (258, 259) : 63 Cal 1153.

[3] An application in an administration suit for liberty to spend certain sum for a marriage in contravention of this Act but outside India, where it is not prohibited, cannot be granted. (Vol 28) 1941 Cal 244 (245).

[4] Mortgage effected by a manager of a joint Hindu family for the performance of the marriage of a minor in contravention of the provisions of this Act cannot be said to be for a necessary purpose and hence is not binding on the minor. (1941) 1941 Nag L Jour 282 (283).

[5] Held that the presumption was that the accused were British subjects and the place of birth being within their special knowledge, it was for them to rebut this presumption. (Vol 27) 1940 Nag 245 (246) : 41 Cri L Jour 645.

Section 2 — Note 1

[1] Certificate of birth of a person is conclusive evidence of his age so long as it is not disproved by evidence of the party denying its correctness. (Vol 22) 1935 Pat 474 (476) : 37 Cri L Jour 227.

Punishment for male adult below twenty-one years of age marrying a child.

3. Whoever, being a male above eighteen years of age and below twenty-one, contracts a child marriage shall be punishable with fine which may extend to one thousand rupees.

Punishment for male adult above twenty-one years of age marrying a child.

4. Whoever, being a male above twenty-one years of age, contracts a child marriage shall be punishable with simple imprisonment which may extend to one month, or with fine which may extend to one thousand rupees, or with both.

5. Whoever performs, conducts or directs any child marriage shall be punishable with simple imprisonment which may extend to one month, or with fine which may extend to one thousand rupees, or with both, unless he proves that he had reason to believe that the marriage was not a child marriage.

6. (1) Where a minor contracts a child marriage, any person having charge of the minor, whether as parent or guardian or in any other capacity, lawful or unlawful, who does any act to promote the marriage or permits it to be solemnised, or negligently fails to prevent it from being solemnised, shall be punishable with simple imprisonment which may extend to one month, or with fine which may extend to one thousand rupees, or with both :

Provided that no woman shall be punishable with imprisonment.

(2) For the purposes of this section, it shall be presumed, unless and until the contrary is proved, that where a minor has contracted a child marriage, the person having charge of such minor has negligently failed to prevent the marriage from being solemnised.

Section 3 — Note 1

[1] A Court sentencing an offender under S. 3 cannot direct that, in default of payment of the fine imposed, he shall undergo any term of imprisonment. See S. 7.

SECTION 5—SYNOPSIS

(1) Section 5.

(2) Sections 5 and 6.

1. Section 5.—[1] The words 'perform, conduct or direct' mean completing union and indicate solemnization of marriage. Mere participation by parents in ceremony of kanyadan is not penal. (Vol 27) 1940 Bom. 363 (364); 42 Cri L Jour 62; I L R (1940) Bom. 709.

[2] Performance of marriage is complete as soon as ceremony of marriage is performed. Consummation or Gauna is not part of marriage ceremony. The marriage being complete before the consummation, a person may be convicted under this Act though consummation has not taken place. (Vol 23) 1936 All 11 (11, 12); 36 Cri L Jour 1483; 58 All. 402.

[3] Section 5 takes account only of performing, conducting or directing actual marriage ceremony itself, and not of negotiation, preparation or any other preliminary acts. (Vol 25) 1938 Nag. 235 (236); 39 Cri L Jour 651; I L R (1939) Nag. 241.

[4] Merely applying for permission for conducting festivities on occasion of marriage does not amount to "performing, conducting or directing a child marriage," and clearly is no offence under S. 5: (Vol 28) 1936 Oudh 311 (312); 37 Cri L Jour 616; 12 Luck 363. (Permission asked was for holding nach with music and fire-works.)

[5] Merely advancing money to enable infant to marry in violation of the Act is not by itself punishable: (1937) I L R (1937) 2 Cal 764 (767).

[6] Where the person conducting the marriage of a minor has acted upon the certificate about the age from a person of qualifications lower than that of a Civil Surgeon, it cannot be said that the person has acted in good faith. The fact may however be taken into consideration when fixing the punishment. (Vol 21) 1934 All 331 (332); 35 Cri L Jour 677.

[7] Section 5 contemplates that purohit who solemnises marriage must make some reasonable enquiry as to the ages and satisfy himself that neither of the participants is a child. (Vol 24) 1937 Mad 490 (492); I L R 854; 38 Cri L Jour 594.

[8] Sentence upon the priest or other celebrant should be deterrent. (Vol 20) 1933 Pat 471 (472); 33 Cri L Jour 20.

[9] This Act is a penal statute and is applicable to all crimes committed under it in British India. The fact that the accused are foreigners makes no difference even if such an act is not an offence in the foreign place. This matter can be considered in mitigation of punishment. (1936) 37 Cri L Jour 757 (757) (Cal).

[10] Section 5 is wide enough to cover a case of fathers of both bridegroom and bride. (Vol 28) 1936 All 11 (12); 58 All 402; 36 Cri L Jour 1483.

[11] For fixing up the place of trial for the offence under S. 5, it is immaterial where the tilak ceremony took place. It is the place where the marriage ceremony was solemnized that fixes the place of trial. (Vol 21) 1934 All 829 (829); 57 All 83; 35 Cri L Jour 1175.

2. Sections 5 and 6. — [1] Sections 5 and 6 deal with different offences. For an offence under S. 5 the marriage is not contracted by the minor and is performed, conducted or directed by the accused, while for an offence under S. 6 the marriage is contracted by the minor and the accused being one of the persons mentioned therein promotes it or fails to prevent it. (Vol 23) 1936 All 11 (12); 58 All 402; 36 Cri L Jour 1483.

[2] Where a Hindu parent or guardian takes part in a child marriage, he is liable to punishment only under S. 6 and not for two offences under Ss. 5 and 6 respectively. Section 5 does not include bridegroom and parent or guardian of minor contracting party. That section applies to others. (Vol 19) 1932 Nag 174 (177); 28 Nag L R 802; 34 Cri L Jour 311.

[3] Section 5 applies only to solemnisation of marriage by others than parents and hence S. 6 alone applies to parents who participate in child marriage. (Vol 24) 1937 Mad 490 (491); 38 Cr L J 594; I L R (1937) Mad 854.

[4] In the case of complaints under Ss. 5 and 6 it is essential that the trying Magistrate should find definitely that either or both of the contracting parties to the marriage were infants, that is, the bridegroom was under the age of 18 or that the bride was under the age of 14. (Vol 26) 1939 Cal 288 (288); 40 Cri L Jour 605.

Section 6 — Note 1

[1] Application of section is not confined only to cases where the minor child directly enters into agreement

7. Notwithstanding anything contained in section 25 of the General Clauses Act, 1897, or section 64 of the Indian Penal Code, a Court sentencing an offender under Imprisonment not to be awarded for offences under section 3. section 3 shall not be competent to direct that, in default of payment of the fine imposed, he shall undergo any term of imprisonment.

8. Notwithstanding anything contained in section 190 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, Jurisdiction under no Court other than that of a Presidency Magistrate or a ^a[Magistrate of the first class] shall take cognizance of, or try, any offence under this Act.

[a] The words "Magistrate of the first class" were substituted for the words "District Magistrate" by the Child Marriage Restraint (Second Amendment) Act, 1938 (19 [XIX] of 1938), S. 3. [9-4-1938].

^a[9. No Court shall take cognizance of any offence under this Act after the expiry of one year from the date on which the offence is alleged to have been committed.] Mode of taking cognizance of offences.

[a] Section 9 was substituted for the original section by the Child Marriage Restraint (Second Amendment) Act, 1938 (19 [XIX] of 1938), S. 4. [9-4-1938].

10. The Court taking cognizance of an offence under this Act shall, unless it dismisses the Preliminary inquiries into offences under this Act. complaint under section 203 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, either itself make an inquiry under section 202 of that Code, or direct a Magistrate of the first class subordinate to it to make such inquiry.

Section 6 (contd.)

for marriage. The parent or guardian will be liable for the marriage of the minor, by whomsoever the agreement and arrangement may be made. (Vol 32) 1945 All 306 (306) : 1 L R (1945) All 272 : 47 Cri L Jour 43.

[2] Expression "when a minor contracts a child marriage" in S. 6 is wide enough to cover a case of marriage to which both parties are minors as well as to one to which one party is minor. (Vol 19) 1932 Nag 174 (177) : 34 Cri L Jour 311 : 28 Nag L R 302.

[3] This Act does not mention the offence of abetting but under the Penal Code there may be a prosecution for the abetment of an offence under this Act. A person may be convicted of abetting an accused who is not the father of a minor who is married, so long as the other party to the marriage is a minor. (Vol 22) 1935 Pat 474 (475) : 37 Cri L Jour 227.

[4] Section 5 applies only to other persons than parents and hence S. 6 alone applies to parents who promote child marriage or permit it or negligently fail to prevent it. Parents of bridegroom cannot be convicted under S. 6 merely because bride was under 14 years. (Vol 24) 1937 Mad 490 (491) : 1 L R (1937) Mad 854 : 38 Cri L Jour 594.

[5] When the father is alive and is in charge of minor daughter, the grandfather cannot be convicted for her marriage. (Vol 32) 1945 All 306 (307) : 1 L R (1945) All 272 : 47 Cri L Jour 43.

[6] The mother of a minor bridegroom not in actual charge of the minor and not able to prevent the marriage commits no offence by mere participation. (Vol 24) 1937 Mad 490 (492) : 1 L R (1937) Mad 854 : 38 Cri L Jour 594.

[7] The argument that though under certain circumstances the marriage of a minor may not be an offence under this Act, permitting such a marriage is punishable is not tenable. Section 6 aims at permitting or failing to prevent a marriage which is penal under the earlier sections. When the marriage is not penal, permitting such a marriage is not punishable. (Vol 22) 1935 Bom 437 (438) : 59 Bom 745 : 37 Cri L Jour 211.

[8] Section 6 has reference only to promotion of prohibited marriage referred to in Ss. 4 and 5. (Vol 25) 1938 Nag 235 (237) : 39 Cri L Jour 651 : 1 L R (1938) Nag 241.

[9] See also Section 5 Note 2.

Section 8 — Note 1

[1] A trial under this Act may be summary. The fact that the offences are to be tried only by the Magistrates mentioned therein does not bar a summary trial. (Vol 21) 1934 All 331 (332) : 35 Cri L Jour 677.

[2] Additional District Magistrate with powers of District Magistrate is empowered to try case under the Act. (Vol 24) 1937 Mad 637 (638) : 38 Cri L Jour 664 : 1 L R (1937) Mad 1034. (Case before amendment of section in 1938.)

[3] A report by Magistrate conducting local investigation, recommending prosecution of complainant also under S. 6, constitutes a complaint under, S. 4 (1) (h), Criminal P. C. (Vol 20) 1933 Pat 87 (88) : 34 Cri L Jour 237.

Section 9 — Note 1

[1] In the absence of a certificate of the Political Agent or sanction of the Local Government a charge of an offence under this Act committed in the French territory cannot be inquired into in British India as there is nothing to the contrary in this Act. (Vol 26) 1939 Mad 577 (577).

[2] A Magistrate can take cognizance under S. 9 in respect of a marriage performed in an Indian State before certificate is obtained under S. 188, Criminal P. C., but cannot enquire into the charge before that. (Vol 27) 1940 Nag 245 (247) : 41 Cri L Jour 645.

[3] Offence under S. 5 is not cognizable. So when such a case is forwarded to an Assistant Superintendent of Police for investigation a letter from him to the District Magistrate is a "Police report" and not a "complaint". (Vol 25) 1938 Rang 257 (258) : 39 Cri L Jour 776 : 1938 Rang L R 150.

[4] Where a complaint to one Court is made prior to the expiry of one year from the date of the marriage and another complaint is made to a different Court after the expiry of the period of one year, the latter complaint is barred by time. Section 14, Limitation Act, which applies to civil proceedings only, cannot validate the latter complaint on the strength of the former complaint made in time. (Vol 26) 1939 Mad 512 (513) : 40 Cri L Jour 816.

Section 10 — Note 1

[1] A preliminary inquiry under this section is absolutely essential before the Court can take cognizance of an offence under this Act. (Vol 26) 1939 Mad 530 (531) : 40 Cri L Jour 818 : (Vol 21) 1934 Lah 155 (155) : 15 Lah 63 : 35 Cri L Jour 1436 : (Vol 18) 1931 Lah 56 (56) : 32 Cri L Jour 616 : 12 Lah 383.

[See also (Vol 26) 1939 Mad 294 (295) : 40 Cri L Jour 514 (2). (Transfer of a case under S. 10 to a Sub-Divisional Magistrate without an inquiry under S. 202, Criminal P. C., is illegal.)]

[2] Omission to hold preliminary inquiry under S. 202, Criminal P. C., vitiates later proceedings. (Vol 27) 1940

11. ^a[(1) When the Court takes cognizance of any offence under this Act upon a complaint made to it, it may, for reasons to be recorded in writing, at any time after examining the complainant and before issuing process for compelling the attendance of the accused, require the complainant to execute a bond, with or without sureties, for a sum not exceeding one hundred rupees, as security for the payment of any compensation which the complainant may be directed to pay under section 250 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, and if such security is not furnished within such reasonable time as the Court may fix, the complaint shall be dismissed.]

(2) A bond taken under this section shall be deemed to be a bond taken under the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, and Chapter XLII of that Code shall apply accordingly.

[a] This sub-s. (1) was substituted for original sub-s. (1) by the Child Marriage Restraint (Second Amendment) Act, 1938 (19 [XIX of 1938], S. 5. [9-4-1938].

^a[12. (1) Notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained in this Act, the Court may, if satisfied from information laid before it through a complaint or otherwise that a child marriage in contravention of this Act has been arranged or is about to be solemnised, issue an injunction against any of the persons mentioned in sections 3, 4, 5 and 6 of this Act prohibiting such marriage.]

(2) No injunction under sub-section (1) shall be issued against any person unless the Court has previously given notice to such person, and has afforded him an opportunity to show cause against the issue of the injunction.

(3) The Court may either on its own motion or on the application of any person aggrieved rescind or alter any order made under sub-section (1).

(4) Where such an application is received, the Court shall afford the applicant an early opportunity of appearing before it either in person or by pleader; and if the Court rejects the application wholly or in part, it shall record in writing its reasons for so doing.

(5) Whoever knowing that an injunction has been issued against him under sub-section (1) of this section disobeys such injunction shall be punished with imprisonment of either description for a term which may extend to three months, or with fine which may extend to one thousand rupees, or with both;

Provided that no woman shall be punishable with imprisonment.]

[a] This section was inserted after S. 11 by the Child Marriage Restraint (Second Amendment) Act, 1938 (19 [XIX] of 1938), S. 6. [9-4-1938].

Section 10 (contd.)

Sind 213 (214) : I L R (1940) Kar 442 : 42 Cri L Jour 83 ; (1937) 20 Nag L Jour 115 (116). (Section 537, Criminal P. C., does not cure the defect.)

[3] It is proper in revision to send a case back for correction of illegality such as omission to hold preliminary enquiry provided under S. 10, when that can be done before the case is tried, but after judgment, the case should not be remanded, unless there is a failure of justice. Where the Court had decided the case without objection, mere omission to comply with S. 10 is irregularity curable under S. 537, Criminal P. C. High Court will not in such a case interfere under S. 439, Criminal P. C. (Vol 27) 1940 Nag 375 (377) : 42 Cri L Jour 37 : I L R (1940) Nag 488.

[4] Object of the preliminary enquiry is to inquire whether there is a prima facie case or not. If the accused objects to his trial without an inquiry and the Magistrate proceeds in disregard of the objection of the accused, his order would be set aside. But where the accused makes no objection to the trial, he cannot raise it subsequently if there was a substantive case against him. (Vol 26) 1939 Pat 525 (525, 526) : 40 Cri L Jour 887.

Section 11 — Note 1

[1] A complainant should not be exempted from giving a security bond except for reasons to be recorded in writing. Giving security bond without assigning reasons is an irregularity which cannot be cured by S. 537, Criminal P. C. (1937) 20 Nag L Jour 115 (116); (Vol 20) 1933 Cal 433 (433) : 34 Cri L Jour 554.

[2] Ordinarily, the Magistrate ought, under S. 11, to record his reasons for exempting complainant from executing bond, but if complaint is by Judicial officer, omission to record reasons for not requiring him to execute bond cannot vitiate proceedings. (Vol 20) 1933 Pat 87 (88) : 34 Cri L Jour 237; (Vol 23) 1936 Oudh 311 (312) : 12 Luck 263 : 37 Cri L Jour 616.

[3] The mere fact that the security bond furnished by the complainant was defective will not vitiate the trial. (Vol 23) 1936 Oudh 311 (312) : 12 Luck 263 : 37 Cri L Jour 616.

[4] In a prosecution under this Act the prosecution has to prove that the marriage was of a minor. But for compensation under S. 250, Criminal P. C., the position is the reverse. It must be proved that the complainant's allegation regarding the minority was false. Where there is merely lack of evidence as regards the age of the party alleged to be a minor, it does not necessarily follow that the allegation was false. (Vol 23) 1936 All 363 (364) : 37 Cri L Jour 424 (2).

Section 12 — Note 1

[1] Where a father gives his minor daughter in marriage after an injunction of the Court against him was passed, he is entitled to an opportunity to show that he had no notice of the injunction before he is punished. (Vol 19) 1932 Cal 719 (720).

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

"The Royal Commission of Labour found evidence in such widely separated areas as Amritsar, Ahmedabad and Madras of the practice of pledging child labour, that is, the taking of advances by parents or guardians on agreements, written or oral, pledging the labour of their children. In some cases, the children so pledged were subjected to particularly unsatisfactory working conditions. The Commission considered that the State would be justified in adopting strong measures to eradicate the evil, and the Bill seeks to do so by imposing penalties on parents by agreements pledging the labour of children and on persons knowingly employing children whose labour has been pledged."

THE CHILDREN (PLEDGING OF LABOUR) ACT, 1933.
(ACT II OF 1933)

[24th February, 1933.]

An Act to prohibit the pledging of the labour of children.

WHEREAS it is expedient to prohibit the making of agreements to pledge the labour of children, and the employment of children whose labour has been pledged; It is hereby enacted as follows :—

Short title, extent and commencement.

1. (1) This Act may be called the CHILDREN (PLEDGING OF LABOUR) ACT, 1933.

(2) It extends to the whole of British India, including British Baluchistan and the Sonthal Parganas.

(3) This section and sections 2 and 3 shall come into force at once, and the remaining sections of this Act shall come into force on the first day of July, 1933.

Definitions.

2. In this Act, unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context,—

"an agreement to pledge the labour of a child" means an agreement, written or oral, express or implied, whereby the parent or guardian of a child, in return for any payment or benefit received or to be received by him, undertakes to cause or allow the services of the child to be utilised in any employment :

Provided that an agreement made without detriment to a child, and not made in consideration of any benefit other than reasonable wages to be paid for the child's services, and terminable at not more than a week's notice, is not an agreement within the meaning of this definition ;

"child" means a person who is under the age of fifteen years ; and

"guardian" includes any person having legal custody of or control over a child.

Agreements contrary to the Act to be void.

3. An agreement to pledge the labour of a child shall be void.

Penalty for parent or guardian making agreement to pledge the labour of a child.

4. Whoever, being the parent or guardian of a child, makes an agreement to pledge the labour of that child, shall be punished with fine which may extend to fifty rupees.

Penalty for making with a parent or guardian an agreement to pledge the labour of a child.

5. Whoever makes with the parent or guardian of a child an agreement whereby such parent or guardian pledges the labour of the child shall be punished with fine which may extend to two hundred rupees.

Penalty for employing a child whose labour has been pledged.

6. Whoever, knowing or having reason to believe that an agreement has been made to pledge the labour of a child, in furtherance of such agreement employs such child, or permits such child to be employed in any premises or place under his control, shall be punished with fine which may extend to two hundred rupees.
